"Dad and Mom say our family deserves the best and that's why we cook electrically"

Mom says, "With electric cooking you get a lot more for your money." How about the cleanliness of electricity? How about the hours of scouring and scrubbing saved? How about the walls that don't have to be washed or repainted? How about the curtains that don't have to be laundered or replaced so often? What are all these extras you get from electricity worth? Quite a bit, I'd say.

All through the house electricity gives extra values. So many you can hardly name them. Take TV for example. A half-million-dollar sports spectacle — electricity brings it to you for about a penny an hour. How's that for value? Just count the uses you make of electricity in your home. Would you give up any of them? Not for any money! You know the few extra dollars you spend a month to live better electrically couldn't be spent better — because your family, too, deserves the best.

Social Security Needs Clarification

Are you 65 or older and still working? If so, it is possible that you and your family may be eligible to receive some social security benefits.

cial security benefits even though you continue to work after you are 65.

Donald Carden, Field Representative of the Lexington, Kentucky social security office states that in order for these people to receive social security benefits they must first file a claim with their social security office.

The social security office serving Rockcastle County is located at 900 Winchester Road, Lexington, Kentucky. A representative from that office is in the courthouse at Mt. Vernon on Mondays to accept claims for social security benefits and to discuss various individual problems arising in regard to social security. The amount a person can get in benefits when he works after he files a social security application depends on his yearly earnings and on the amount of benefits payable to him and his family. A person who earns $1200 or less during the year can get all his benefits. A person who earns more than $1200 during the year can in many instances draw part of his benefits. Also, a person can get a social security check for any month of the year in which he neither earns wages or more than $100 nor renders substantial services in self-employment. This is true despite the amount of his total yearly earnings. A person 72 or older can receive all benefits due on his past earnings regardless of how much he
