Death Toll Mounts

During the last few days, the highway traffic death toll has passed the 500 mark, some 70-plus more deaths than last year on Kentucky highways.

In fact, the state has become so concerned with the mounting toll that Safety Commissioner Glenn Lovern his authorized State Police cruisers to be unmarked, thereby allowing troopers to spot traffic offenders and follow them unnoticed.

unnoticed.

The unmarked police cruiser is not new in the United States. Several states have used it for many years, and successfully. Although the unmarked police cruiser does have tinges of secretiveness, it is never-the-less a proved potent deterent to the reckless and irresponsible driver.

Under the circumstances, with the death toll reaching tragic proportions, we believe this stern method must be initiated to halt the slaughter, not only for the protection of the caseful motorist, but for the protection of the caseful motorist, but for the protection of the caseful motorist. less motorist as well.

We hope there will be cooperation on the part of state we hope there will be cooperation on the part or state police, local police, judicial representatives and the public. This cooperating will go a long way to stem the bloody tide on Kentucky roads. If you are driving, please observe the rules and regula-tions, drive carefully, and come home safely.

The Truth Shall Make You Free

The rights and freedoms guaranteed in the basic documents of our country, and secured by men who gave their lives to protect them, would be icopardized if dictystorial control were impassed upon our search for truth. For, not only will knowing the truth make you free, you must be free in order to know the truth.

To find the truth, there must be free access to all facts related to a subject, and the mind must be trained to use the facts in drawing intelligent conclusions. An education in a free society opens the way to all knowledge.

In our country we have such freedom of education: Schools are open to all, rich and poor alike. Schools are supervised by the will of the people, with each school district governed by parents within that district. And, most important, students are free to seek any source for knowledge; they are free to think.

And, in our country, education need never end. Not only are educa-n courses open to adults, but public libraries, fine inexpensive books, sciedlized magazines, and your own fact-filled newspaper all offer im-reant knowledge and a way to truth,

A nation whose people are educated to think for themselves and will do so, is a nation of strength — a bulwark of freedom. It is, then, not only our privilege to have an education, and to think freely and intelligently — it is our duty to do so for freedom rests on truth. This opportunity we are given to know truth is our Right — it is our American Heritage.

4. If you're in the habit of taking your wife and children for a Sunday afternoon drive, forget it mild Cetober. With a car full of small children, the only way to keep cool is to let them swab out your-ears with their ice cream cones ... which they usually do anyway, especially if they're chocolate.

5. If you're in lown don't ride on any bus that contains more than 50 percent women. No matter how hot it is, women on busse want all the windows closed. They would rather arrive with heat rash, forged up glasses and steam coming only the dear stan have their hairdon just have an air conditioner in your business et in there with it ... and it you haven't got a bedroom any more, you've get a hotel lobby.

7. Don't listen to weather seporat. You'll always wind up arguing with the announcer. For the simple reason that you always know good and well that it's 10 degrees hotter than he says it is.
