Once Over Lightly

I DON'T know who originated the term, "Hell on Wheels," but I've got a strong suspicion that it was either a mother or a father just back from a long trip with a car full of small children.

I used to feel the same way about travelling with my children until I worked out a system that cut the damage to my nervous system by 50 percent. After that, they were able to drive me only half crazy.

Now, in case you'd like to use the system on your next vacation trip, here it is: Just resign yourself to the fact that the same things that happened last trip are going to happen this trip but this time, don't fight 'em. Instead, take the coward's way out.

For example, you should resign yourself to the fact that even though you are starting out on a 1,500 mile trip, you won't get halfway down the driveway before your six-year-old hangs over the front seat and says, "How much further?"

Now, according to the child experts, you should patiently explain to this child the basic factors involved in getting from one place to another—distance, speed, time, Einstein's Theory, etc.—But forget it. No matter what you tell the child he is going to keep asking that same question on an average of every 10 miles.

But don't get mad at him. He is automatically asking the question without thinking so you automatically answer the question without thinking. Tell him anything: 1,500 miles, 5 miles, 80,000 miles, 90 light years. Just so long as it's an answer, he won't care. And, when he notices that you're not foaming at the mouth like you usually do, he may even stop... but don't count on it.

Another thing you should resign yourself to is the fact that before you even reach the city limits they're all going to start getting bored. This is really the time to take the coward's way out. Don't try to entertain them with games and don't try to get them interested in the scenery. The games will always wind up in fights and the scenery they're interested in is soft drink signs and filling station restrooms.

Instead, just reach under the front seat and start passing out the comic books you've bought for this occasion. Comic books may be trash but the fact remains that given a choice of Mt. Rushmore, the Grand Canyon, Old Faithful and a comic book to look at, the child will look at the comic. So load them down. I bought $10 worth of comic books once and still consider it the wisest investment I ever made.

In other words, my system hinges on this: If you can't beat 'em, join 'em!

State Expands Medical Care A major expansion of the State's medical-care program designed to provide better nursing home care for the needy aged will go into effect Jan. 1.

The program has been approved by the Advisory Council for Medical Assistance, a group appointed by the Governor, and will be administered by the Department of Economic Security and Health.

The new program will provide up to 120 days of full per diem costs of care in selected "Highly-criteria" nursing homes for some needy cases. All licensed nursing homes in the state will be eligible for $125 monthly payments from the State for pre-authorized aged and public assistance recipients.

The Council also approved a broadened dental care program for indigents to include 14 additional dental services, including denture repair and fluoride treatment, subject to review by the Health and Economic Security departments. The fluoridation program could reduce the incidence of cavities among youngsters requiring nursing home care by 60 percent and save thousands of dollars of State funds in the future, according to Dr. C. D. Carter, a council member.

State Health Commissioner Dr. Russell Teague said the new program is "admittedly conservative, but it is the best we can do now. Let's start with this and reconsider as it becomes necessary."

Earle V. Fowell, economic-security commissioner, said the program "is the best possible timewise and moneywise."

County Halts Polio Plans

Dr. Russell Deane, state health commissioner, said this week Kentucky will abide by the recommendation of the United States Public Health Service and discontinue temporarily the use of Type III oral polio vaccine for adults.

Rockcastle County children were scheduled to get Type II or Type III the first two weeks in October, whichever was made available to county health officials.

The local department has announced the next immunization program will be the latter part of October, on the same basis of whichever type is available at that time. A decision should be made by that time on the type III vaccine.

Name Jack Craig Police Recapture Prisoner To Water Job

Jack Reed Craig of Mt. Vernon, was hired superintendent of the Mt. Vernon Water Works at a meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council Monday night.

Mr. Craig replaces Henry Cox, who resigned. The council agreed to hire Mr. Craig at a salary of $350 per month, plus a 90 cent hourly supervisory fee. When Mr. Cox leaves on Nov. 30, Mr. Craig's salary will increase to $300 per month, plus $1 an hour supervisory fee.

The supervisory fee is effective when Mr. Craig does work other than water duties, such as street repairs and major water extension work and repairs.

The council also announced at the meeting the new $3.30 base water rate will go into effect with the November billing, instead of October as previously announced.

Mr. Craig is currently employed to give breakfast to Cox and two other prisoners. Cox suddenly jumped Jailer Hoskins knocking him to the floor and ran out of the cell. The other prisoners made no attempt to escape.

Name Jack Craig Police Recapture Prisoner To Water Job

A prisoner in the Rockcastle County jail, who was involved in a gunfight with police at Renfro Valley on August 23, is back in jail after an attempted escape early Wednesday.

William Burch Cox, 24, of Woodbine, Whitley County, was captured by Jailer Sam Hoskins with the aid of State Troopers Johnny Sims, Willie Martin, Paul Bevins, and Mt. Vernon Policeman Walter Shepherd about 20 minutes after he escaped and about a mile from the jail. He offered no resistance when challenged by Jailer Hoskins.

Cox is charged in Rockcastle County with shooting at without wounding with intent to kill and grand larceny. He is wanted in Knox County on an armed robbery charge, and in Chicago, Illinois, on a rape charge, police reported.

Jailer Hoskins reported he went to give breakfast to Cox and two other prisoners. Cox suddenly jumped Jailer Hoskins knocking him to the floor and ran out of the cell. The other prisoners made no attempt to escape.

On Aug. 23, Cox exchanged shots with State Troopers near Renfro Valley after State Trooper Darrell Steele tried to stop Cox's auto on a traffic charge. During the

County Judge Carter Says 'No' To Doctors' Tax Pleas

LETTER TO FISCAL COURT

September 17, 1962

TO: FISCAL COURT

We as members of the Rockcastle County Board of Health having been charged by statute with grave responsibilities relating to the protection of the health of the people of this county and having by those same laws been delegated certain clear and unmistakable authority by which to discharge those responsibilities, have, in accordance with the law and the fulfillment of our obligation as we see it, requested a vote of the people on the question of whether the local share of Health Department financing shall be obtained by a special tax.

We cannot understand why the Fiscal Court has thus far failed to comply with KRS No. 212.720 and carried out the due process of law to place the issue on the ballot. If this is not done within the week, you will in effect be denying the people the right to vote on an issue that vitally concerns every person in the county.

We say "vital concern" because we have good reason to believe that the very existence of a Health Department in this county may well be determined by the outcome. We know that every decrease in contributions to the Health Department by local sources means a corresponding and proportionate decrease in State funds. This means that for every $100.00 we fail to get locally next year, the State will decrease its contributions by $700.00. Some of the voluntary contributors to our budget have already served notice that they are suspending their contributions to the Health Department next year if they want one. This, coupled with the knowledge that the Fiscal Court can ill afford to foot the whole bill, we feel that we lose the professional staff we now have.

Furthermore, we feel very strongly that a county as poor and with so great a need as Rockcastle cannot continue to operate an effective Health Department without more state funds. The State's policy is very clear on this matter. In effect it says that no county will share in the increased Health purposes 1.7 cents per 100 dollars of actual property value in the county, which for Rockcastle County this year is $4,364.00. If that amount is raised annually, the county share would be $10,000.00. If that amount is raised annually, the county share would be $10,000.00. If that amount is raised annually, the county share would be $10,000.00.

A portion of the sales tax and the income tax which all Rockcastle County people pay is appropriated for public health programs. At present, this money does not come to us, but is given to foundation counties like Pulaski, McCreary, Jackson and Clay.

We are fortunate to be able to get a Health Officer for one day per week. Dr. Shepherd is eminently qualified, being a physician of high qualification and with wide experience and training in Public Health. In addition to the M. D., he holds a degree in Public Health Administration from the University of North Carolina School of Public Health. We feel that the people and the voters when they must spend so much of his time in this county going from agency to agency begging for money in order to have any Health Department at all.

We, therefore, request that you call a special meeting this week for the purpose of acting on this important resolution in time to give the people the chance to vote for themselves.

Signed: R. G. Webb, M. D.
John D. Henderson, D. D. S.
E. M. Lyons, D. M. D.
J. D. Lewis, M. D.
George H. Griffith, M. D.

The Rockcastle County Health Department gave up its fight this week to get a health district tax on the November ballot.

After reading the letter, Judge Carter told the Signal he would not call a special session of the court.

Dr. Shepherd and the Board of Health indicated back in March they would ask the court to put the tax on the ballot. But they never asked the court. Now, with time for getting on the ballot limited to a few days, they come up and try to force the issue. I cannot justify calling a special session of the court since the matter has already been before the magistrate," Judge Carter said.

The Board of Health wants the county under a taxing district and Foundation Program similar to the one which already exists in a program voted by taxpayers in McCreary, Clay, Pulaski and Jackson counties in which the state matches local appropriations by about $10 to one dollar.

The program would cost county residents from 10 to 10 cents per $100 of property evaluation. The time remains to be seen. Dr. Shepherd has indicated he would like to see the measure before the voters.

Whether the county department will be able to keep its doors open until that property evaluation. The time remains to be seen. Dr. Shepherd has indicated he would like to see the measure before the voters.

Whether the county department will be able to keep its doors open until that property evaluation. The time remains to be seen. Dr. Shepherd has indicated he would like to see the measure before the voters.

25th Anniversary

During the Kentucky State Fair the Renfro Valley Folks celebrated the 25th anniversary of their radio-stage show.

It must be with a great deal of satisfaction to John Lair to look back over the years and remember all the many, many people who have visited the show from all over the world, and still have standing room only audiences at the fair. It surely attests to the continued popularity of the show and its future popularity. Incidentally the anniversary show from the fair was proclaimed as one of the best in the history of the show.

It is also worthwhile here to point out even the obvious: No other commercial enterprise has done as much to sustain the business climate of Rockcastle County than Renfro Valley.

We extend to John Lair and the Renfro Valley Folks our heartiest congratulations on their 25th anniversary, and wish for them the continued success they have experienced over the years.

- It is a fact that people in Rockcastle county, recognize ing that they pay school tax and income tax like everyone else, are beginning to wonder more and more: Why other counties have home nursing care programs and we don't; Why other counties have hearing conservation services and we don't; Why counties that are even poorer than we are have new health centers? Why don't we accept state and federal aid? And besides, we could use the money it brings into the county as well as the badly needed services.
