THE MORTON MEDICAL ASSISTANCE BILL

- 1 Provides coverage for everyone who wants it.
- 2 Pays your physician, your dentist and for your medicines (The Wyatt plan pays none of these.)
- 3 Provides hospital coverage beginning the first day. (The Wyatt plan demands payment by you of at least $50 for first 9 days.)
- 4 Provides skilled nursing home care! (Under the Wyatt plan, only one Kentucky nursing home can presently qualify.)
- 5 Requires no jumper's oath... no assignment of assets... No physical examination - everyone is qualified!
- 6 Provides freedom of choice. You choose your doctor, hospital or nursing home... your family doctor only determines duration of hospitalization. (Under the Wyatt plan, you have no choice. Only participating hospitals and qualifying and participating nursing homes can be used... admission and duration of stay is determined by a government "utilization committee." No provision is made for your family doctor... or your doctor's bills.)
- 7 Calls for no tax or other costs to married couples over 65 with social security and other income of $2400 or less per year!
- 8 Adds no payroll tax to persons any age! (The Wyatt plan places direct payroll tax on every working man and woman in America... rich and poor, alike, paying the same amount... paying for someone else, since they can gain no benefits until after they are 65.)
- 9 Is voluntary... based on ability to pay - the American way... not socialized medicine. (The Wyatt plan... taking your money and providing, in return, a rigidly controlled service, rather than a product or money, IS SOCIALISM.)

The Morton program provides 100% care for all the people! (Wyatt's plan cheats the people with a half-way measure providing for less than 25% of the medical needs of the nation's senior citizens)

Wyatt, termed a 5% Democrat, supports a bill dreamed up by his left wing, ADA cronies and turned down by 21 of the nation's leading and most respected Democrat senators - 11 Major Committee Chairmen!

AN EDITORIAL That New Word, 'Plan'

The word "plan" stands out in everyone's mind as a word that denotes progress, looking ahead, being "on the move."

It is with a great deal of satisfaction that this word has suddenly come into many local stories that have appeared recently in the Signal.

Let us look at some of the "plans" as well as other projects that are being planned, planned, planned.

County Plans Courthouse-Jail
Brothhead Plans Sewer System
Mt. Vernon Plans Sewer System
Mt. Vernon Plans Swimming Pool
Bookmobile Plans New Building
County Plans Increased Road Work
Interstate 75 Planned Through Area
New GPSCA Building Constructed
New Bank At Brothhead
New School Annex Building
Catholics Plan Church, Recreation Center
Livingston Completes Park Area
Plans For Dam Dusted Off

Although there are diverse opinions on many of the projects, that have been undertaken and planned by Mt. Vernon, Brothhead and the county, we feel sure no one can deny that the people who are guiding the interests of the town and county are looking ahead to the betterment of the area.

We venture to guess that not all these projects will be completed, but there is considerable money now available through federal grants and loans that will help realize these goals, and officials are right in their efforts to bring this money into the county.

We are positive all the projects are worthwhile and will make the area a more desirable and attractive place in which to live.

Rockcastle Dam Survey Bogged Down

A proposed Rockcastle River Dam was plummeted into the state and national spotlight this past week when Senators and Representatives in Washington conferred on a water appropriation bill for the coming year.

The bill, which a Senate House Committee finally agreed upon, postponed for a year the expenditure of 151 million dollars for a dam on the South Fork of the Cumberland River in McCreary County, more generally known as Devil's Jump.

During the proceedings in Washington, it was brought out that the million dollars spent on Devil's Jump might jeopardize all other Eastern Kentucky water conservation projects for years to come. It was also noted that more information on the Devil's Jump project was needed.

The Rockcastle River project came into the picture mostly through political maneuvering that went on between political candidates in Kentucky. It was pointed out by Rep. Frank Burke, of Louisville, that very little had been done on the Rockcastle project where the need was immediate as an economic shot-in-the-arm for the area and as a deterrent to floods.

Both the Courier-Journal and the Lexington Herald Messenger have editorialized on the Devil's Jump and Rockcastle projects. The editorials are re-printed on Page 4 of this issue.

So make sure there will be no waiting line to get the vaccine, every effort is being made to get a registration form into the hands of as many people as possible.

The forms are being distributed to all school children and are available at Maggard Drug Store, Owens Dinner Bell Sundry, both at Mt. Vernon; C. H. Webb's Store, Livingston, and Maggard Sundry Store, Brothhead.

WHY VETERANS ARE VOTING FOR MORTON

When war was declared in December, 1941, Thurston Morton gave up his job as President of Ballard and Ballard Flour Mills — and joined the U. S. Navy.

For four years, he served his country with distinction in active duty in both the Pacific and the Atlantic. He is still serving in the Naval Reserve.

During his three terms as Congressman, four years as Assistant Secretary of State and six years as your U. S. Senator, he has fought to keep America strong — so we could keep the peace.

His outstanding record has gained for him the support of other veterans and all citizens who know that the way to keep the peace — is to keep America strong.

There is no substitute for experience.

A SOUTHERN STATES COOPERATIVE STORE

WHY FARMERS ARE VOTING FOR MORTON

The farmers of Kentucky know and trust Thurston Morton. He has been the farmers' friend during his services in both the United States Senate and while in the House of Representatives. He has always been aware of our state's great stake in Agriculture and the absolute need to insure the Kentucky farmer a fair return on his investment and time — without oppressive government controls. The tobacco farmer knows that it has been through the efforts of Senator Morton and Senator Cooper that his acreage allotment has been protected and with Senator Morton's help, burley allotments were increased in each of the past two years. Senator Morton has opposed any increased restrictions being imposed on farmers and particularly the fantastic Freeman-Cochran Bill which, as introduced, would have given the Secretary of Agriculture complete control over every farm in the United States.

Property Assessment

Kentucky law now requires that the County Tax Commissioner revalue each piece of real estate in the county during the second year of each term of office. By the end of 1963 I must check on the value of your property and assess it at about one-third of its actual value.

At present the property assessment in Rockcastle County averages about one-third of its value. However, some property is assessed too high and some too low. You know and I know that no Tax Commissioner can ever set the exact value on all property. But it could be much more equal than it is now.

During the next assessments you will be asked to list your property at approximately one-third of its present day value. If this means a raise on your property remember that other people in the county are paying on one-third assessments too.

The Tax Commissioner will not intentionally assess any piece of property above the average county assessment. But if any person thinks his assessment is too high he can always appeal to the Board of Supervisors. In Kentucky tax assessments should be based on present day values and not on what the property cost years ago. If cost alone were used some people would pay no taxes because their property was inherited and cost them nothing.

It is always better when the tax commissioner and the taxpayer can agree on assessments. Since this is not always possible the Board of Supervisors is set up for the protection of the taxpayer.

A large part of the property tax is used to maintain the schools and the county roads. Part of it is used for public health services, hospital service, agricultural extension service and soil conservation.

If each taxpayer will be fair and honest, Rockcastle County can have the tax load distributed equally in proportion to what each person owns. Please look over the assessment on your own property. If your assessment is about one-third of the actual value of your property you are carrying your fair share of the tax load. If the assessment on your property is too low or too high come into the office and talk it over.

No Devil's Jump This Year

Last Friday, as Congress struggled to agree on a water appropriations bill so it could adjourn for this session, the Signal made every effort to get Congressmen to postpone for this year a 151 million dollar appropriation for Devil's Jump Dam in McCreary County.

We literally took the matter directly and indirectly to senator and representative involved in the compromise of the bill. Thursday, we editorially asked that the appropriation be eliminated from the bill, and it was eliminated for this year.

For several reasons we hoped this project would be delayed, and we are extremely sorry that it has to be at the expense of McCreary County, which, like Rockcastle County, needs an economic shot in the arm. We hope at some future date, if the benefits are proved to outweigh the costs following a public and Congressional hearing, that the project will be approved. But we still maintain that under any circumstance, the Eastern Kentucky area will benefit more if smaller, less expensive, flood control projects are completed first.

For the benefit of our readers, we reproduce below, first, an editorial from the Courier-Journal that appeared Saturday. It is followed by excerpts from a Lexington Herald editorial that appeared Monday.

SUDDEN ARDOR FOR DEVIL'S JUMP

From: Courier-Journal

Devil's Jump is a narrow spot on the South Fork of the Cumberland River in McCreary County where the Army Corps of Engineers proposes to build a high power dam. Last week it appeared to be a lost cause, as Congress refused to appropriate money for it. This week it has come to resemble a satire on American politics.

Overnight, and for reasons hard to understand, Devil's Jump has suddenly become synonymous with home, mother, flag and American Way of Life. Candidates who have never been near the place are racing to its rescue with the fever of men heading off Castro or going to the relief of the Alamo. We trust that their new-found enthusiasm is evidence of a deep belief in high dams and cheap power, and of an indication of a desperate need of a campaign issue as cynical observers might think.

At any rate, Congressman Frank Burke, who had reasonably proposed to wait until he found out what the project was all about, has now vowed undying love for Devil's Jump. Wilson Wyatt has fired off telegrams to all concerned demanding that the sacred project be spared. Thurston Morton barely finished berating Wyatt and Burke for associating with wild speculators and advocates of socialistic projects (such as public power) when he raced onto a Washington-bound plane to throw his weight behind this $131,000,000 public power project. The least Gene Snyder, Milton's running mate and Burke's opponent, can do is flash a lapel button declaring "I'm ready to jump for Devil's Jump." He and Morton scolded Wyatt (who favored it) and Burke (who once questioned it) for being inconsistent. Devil's Jump. The least we can do is sing their public-power-sounding song in the same key.

What they hope to gain politically is hard to see. Burke and Snyder are running only in Jefferson County, and there is no evidence here of rampaging interest in the McCreary County project. Mr. Wyatt, it would seem, has little to lose by his support for Devil's Jump. But Mr. Morton, while he may shore up his reportedly shaky support in Southeast Kentucky by this dramatic gesture, could lose as many votes from his conservative followers who do not like public power very much indeed, the political ore to be mined even in Southeast Kentucky as of dubious quality, for the sentiment here concerning the dam is by no means unanimous. A lot of people in Laurel and Rockcastle counties fear approval of the project will prejudice their chances of getting the Laurel Rockcastle dams built.

Their fears, based partly on rumors started by private utility opponents of the dam, are probably groundless. According to Senator John Cooper, who has supported the project from the start, construction of Devil's Jump will probably increase rather than hurt chances for getting money next year to start on the long-winded and much-needed Rockcastle dam. We hope he is right, for while Devil's Jump will be useful as a flood-control dam and as a means of stabilizing the level of Lake Cumberland (since it will furnish water for power that will make drastic drawdown of the lake unnecessary during the tourist season) the Rockcastle project has more immediacy for the people in the Laurel-Whitley-Rockcastle region. This area badly needs the flood-control, the water supply and the recreational opportunity that the dam would provide. Whatever happens to Devil's Jump, we trust that the campaign ardor of our candidates will not blind them to the equal allure of Rockcastle.

"LOVERS' LEAP" IS A BETTER WORD

From: Lexington Herald

Events of the past few days have served to convince us that "Lovers' Leap" perhaps would be a far better name for the proposed Devil's Jump dam down in Southeastern Kentucky's McCreary County, because we never have seen such devotion to an unnecessary and presumably unwanted project as has been shown by our candidates for office. Maybe "Politician's Jump" would serve even better to identify this project that some contend will become one of the bigger issues of the campaign.

... if the Devil's Jump is built that this will end for the next 20 years any likelihood of a coal-burning plant going to Southeastern Kentucky. Such a project also undoubtedly would nullify the efforts of public power advocates in Whitley, Rockcastle, Laurel and other counties to get something started on the Rockcastle River project. The Devil's Jump plan, which would create a recreation lake mostly in Tennessee, certainly would end any immediate prospects for development of the Rockcastle project.

of action. "All this project is waiting for at this time is for someone somewhere to make a move," he said.

He also reported it would be helpful if leading Kentucky newspapers would begin a drive to publicize and promote Eastern Kentucky projects.

Mr. Caldwell noted it is highly likely that the Corps would be receptive to two reservoirs on the river. He indicated there is enough water in the Rockcastle River for two reservoirs.

Congress to date has appropriated $25,000 for a study of the Rockcastle River reservoir. The Corps of Engineers has not released official information as to how far the study has progressed.
