Taylor Celebrate 85th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Taylor celebrated their 85th wedding anniversary Oct. 26, with an open house at Brodhead High School.

They were married in Lincoln County when she was 15 and he was 20. Her maiden name was Leta Elder. They are now 80 and 85 and in good health.

Taylor is a retired merchant and farmer. He owned a general store and raised corn and tobacco on a large farm near here.

They have eight children, 10 grandchildren, 13 great-grandchildren, and one great-great-grandchild. Most were present at the open house.

The children are: Mrs. Leslie Owens, Louisville; Mrs. Joe Herrin, Xenia, Ohio; Vernon Taylor, Cincinnati; Mrs. John Mobley, Crab Orchard; and Mrs. Jim Baker, Mrs. Theo Nantz, Mrs. J. C. Long, and Willis Taylor, all of Brodhead.

Cunningham - Parsons Take Vows In Ohio

Miss Jennie Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hankens of Richmond, Ind., became the bride of Raleigh C. Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Parsons of Snider, at the Church of Christ, Cincinnati, Ohio, Oct. 8. Rev. Hugh, pastor, performed the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white street length dress with shoulder veil. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace. She carried a white Bible-topped with white carnation. Mrs. Mary L. Lykins served her sister as maid of honor. She wore a pink satin street length dress with pink and white accessories. James Cunningham served as best man.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held at the bride's home. Mr. and Mrs. Parsons are making their home in Lexington where he is employed.

Clark-Gibson Vows Said

Miss Linda Lee Clark became the bride of Larry Gibson in a double ring ceremony Oct. 14 in Trinity Lutheran church. Rev. Thomas K. Rehl performed the ceremony.

The bride is the ward of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Moorman of Richmond. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Gibson of Richmond. He is the grandson of Mrs. Otto Mullins of Livingston.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. David Duning, organist, and Norman Daubey, soloist.

The altar of the church was banked with palms and pink gladioli.

The bride was given in marriage by her foster father, William J. Moorman.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta. Fashioned with a fitted bodice, the gown had a bouffant skirt with tiers of tulle and lace which ended in a short train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a tiara of Chantilly lace.

The bride carried a bouquet of red roses and white lily gladioli on a white Bible.

Miss Sandra Gibson of Richmond, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Her street-length frock of peacock blue taffeta was fashioned with a matching tulle overskirt. Her gown had a bouffant skirt with tiers of tulle and lace which ended in a short train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a tiara of Chantilly lace.

Two Bridesmaids

Bridesmaids were Miss Janice Mullins of Dayton, Ohio, aunt of the bridegroom, and Miss Carol Hawkins of Richmond. They were gowned in identical street-length frocks of deep rose taffeta with matching tulle overskirts. Their corsages were pink roses and white lily d'Amour.

Anita Rose Moorman was flower girl. Dressed in a deep rose taffeta frock with white nylon organza overskirt with pink rosebuds, she carried a basket of pink rose petals.

Ring bearers were Craig and Gary Moorman, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Moorman. The rings were carried on white satin plip.

Larry Percifield of Columbus, Ind., was best man. Ushers were Ronald Gibson and Roger Black, both of Brownstown, David Gibson and Victor Mullins, both of Richmond.

A reception for 30 guests was held in the social rooms of the church immediately following the ceremony.

Assisting with the serving were Miss Joella Gallion and Miss Marta Gibson, both of Brownstown, Ind., and Miss Beverly Mullins of Richmond, all cousins of the bridegroom.

Following a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Gibson will live in Richmond.

The bride attended Richmond senior high school,

KENTUCKY NEEDS WILSON WYATT IN THE U.S. SENATE-

- a Democratic Senator to help a Democratic President and Democratic Administration bring you:

- 1 Really good medical-hospital care for your parents and for you, in your old age—under Social Security, and without the pauper's oath—with your own choice of doctors—costing you only 25c per week.
- 2 Federal aid for education, to help pay for better teaching, better schools, better education—with local control of how the Federal dollars are spent.
- 3 Fair prices for farm products—continuation and extension of the Democratic tobacco program—expansion of rural electrification—opposition to the Benson policy of liquidating 2,000 family farmers.
- 4 Tax reforms that will help American industry meet foreign competition, and reduce prices to American consumers—while preventing tax evaders from deducting yachts, hunting lodges, pleasure trips to Europe, etc. as "business expense."
- 5 Let the U.S. Government ACT for a square deal for everybody, instead of a lopsided deal that benefits only the rich, the privileged, the powerful.
- 6 Help Kentucky get its fair share of the money and jobs that the Nation has set up for its 48 BILLION-dollar Defense program—almost none of which is now spent in Kentucky, thanks largely to our do-nothing Senator Morton.

Why Democrats Are Voting For Morton

During the last two years, Wilson Wyatt, with much publicity, spent five million dollars of Kentucky taxpayers' money under the pretense of bringing new industry to Kentucky.
The facts show that he has failed except in his effort to build a favorable image of himself.
Using Wyatt, list Chairman of the left-wing A.D.A., to lead our manufacturing development can scare the daylights out of business executives who might have considered Kentucky for a new plant.
Large and questionable expense accounts and increased personnel used to advertise Wyatt personally, have taken their toll of the taxpayers' money. Wyatt's false image and his past record are beginning to be exposed. A favorable press and paid publicity on Wyatt's staff have helped to create this image.
Now, the true facts are being made known and many Democrats are voting for Morton. Democrats regard Morton as a statesman, a man of honor and integrity whose concern about the people of Kentucky and the nation then is with political expediency.
A billion dollars of Federal money dedicated for Kentucky last year is evidence of what Morton is doing in Washington without a lot of belly-ache and self-glory.
The above is a paid political advertisement sponsored by Democrats for and Hon. Ernest Reid Martha, Chairman.

Once Over Lightly

B. M. ATKINSON
A NEW YORK chiropodist said in a paper the other day that, for better feet, we ought to go barefoot. Evidently he never went barefooted as a boy, or, if he did, he never walked on anything rougher than living room rugs, golf greens and the tops of pool tables.

Walk any other place than those and you're going to stomp a toe and stumping toes improves feet about as much as slamming car doors on fingers improves hands.

Remember those days? First, you'd have to convince your folks that it was warm enough to go barefooted, then you'd have to convince them that this was going to be one season that you weren't going to stomp any toes. A week later you'd have so many toes in bandages that it looked like you were wearing gloves on your feet.

And the agony and suspense that each one of those bandages represented! The agony would come when you stumped a toe and the suspense would follow when you were trying to talk your mother out of putting iodine on it. You hated iodine as much on your outside as you did castor oil on your inside.

Then Sunday would come. With bandaged toes, it wasn't a day of rest but a day of pain. For the simple reason that your parents had the idea that you weren't acceptable in the eyes of the Lord if you showed up at Sunday School barefooted. That meant you had to wear shoes and putting stumped toes in anything smaller than a suit case is excruciating.

Of course, there would be times during the summer when you wouldn't have stumped toes. Instead you'd have stone bruises and either thorns or splinters in your feet. That was always a great time around the house, wasn't it? Your father with a needle, that looked the size of a suber, removing that splinter. From the noise you made, it sounded more like he was removing your appendix.

But from one standpoint, I guess we'll have to agree with the New York chiropodist: At the end of the summer our feet were in better shape than they didn't have any athlete's foot or other fungi. One reason being that fungi got plenty of fresh air — another being that fungi just couldn't stand up under the punishment those feet got.

VOTE FOR SENATOR MORTON

VOTE FOR YOUR KENTUCKY TEAM

AN APPEAL FROM SENATOR COOPER

Dear Friends:

The country does not need a rubber-stamp Congress.

It needs members who have respect for their responsibility to the people, members who will subject the proposals of the Administration to public examination and debate.

I support Senator Morton in his race for re-election with all my energy and enthusiasm. He is able, independent in thought, a man of conviction and integrity, and a Senator highly respected in the Senate and in Kentucky. I urge you to keep the Cooper-Morton team together.

Of the hundreds of recorded votes cast in the past 6 years while Senator Morton and I have served you in the U. S. Senate, we have voted on the opposite side of only 10% of the major issues, which means we have voted together 90% of the time!

I urge you to vote for Senator Morton and to work for his re-election on November 6th.

Sincerely yours,
John Sherman Cooper

cially the Rockcastle River Dam. They believe that other projects in Eastern Kentucky could easily be sidetracked by Congress in the future if $151 million is spent on Devils Jump so close to the Eastern Kentucky area.

Sidetracking the Rockcastle project would necessarily cause worry in the five counties. They are in need of a large body of water. The area has been rushing water carry millions of tons of top soil, homes and personal property into Lake Cumberland. In March of this year, Rockcastle County alone suffered a half-million dollars worth of flood damage.

The five-county area is also in need of an economic boost in the arm. A lake would provide a source of water to grow industry, as well as provide a recreation area. A dam about a mile northeast of Livingston in Rockcastle County would back water into sections of the five counties and would be a readily available recreation area for residents of the area as well as for tourists who will travel the proposed I-75. U. S. 25, Ky. 421 and Ky. 80 industrially speaking. Livingston and McKeen could benefit because of the industrial water the lake would provide.

Could Be Controversial
The story of the Rockcastle River Dam, which has been allocated $20,000 for a survey, could go much deeper than congressional and engineering approval. It could, like Devils Jump, become controversial, but in a less-expensive way.

Should it finally be de-

Rockcastle could be controlled to allow a quick Roundstone Creek flow-off. The Corps said it is considering both sites and both are acceptable.

Go With Majority?
At this point, there is a feeling here that the Corps will listen to the "voice of the people," make a decision for a dam and then again at a public hearing, hear the views of the people most affected by the dam and to go along with the majority.

There still remains some uncertainty as to the fate of the Rockcastle River Dam. But there is also hope that at last some attention has come to a project that has been a "certainty" but also a mystery, for a long time.

PROCTOR
seasonal snow that had been on the ground over three weeks and it was still snowing. It was at least a foot deep and winter had hardly started. On top of that, there wasn't much food in the town.

Everybody hid what he had not only from the soldiers, but from his neighbors. It was even hard to find feed for the cattle and horses. But now, there were few cows and horses left. He should have either moved North or South when war came. It would be better to be right in the middle of the North or South than to be in the middle of nowhere with nowhere to go. He was positive, if he had it to do over again, they all would be safe somewhere.

The loud pounding on the door startled him. He jumped out of the chair. William sat up in bed. "Who is it, Pa?"

"I don't know. But let me handle it. Lay down. He saw William's uniform and threw it to him. William shoved it under the covers.

"Who's there?" Granville called through the door. The voice was booming. "Captain James Anderson, Confederate States Army. Open Up!"

Granville slid the wooden bolt and opened the door. The captain strode in followed by a sergeant. They shook the snow from their uniforms.

"It's cold out there," Granville noticed and motioned toward the fireplace. The two men went over.

"Hey, Captain, coffee!" The sergeant smiled.

"Have some," Granville got two cups and poured the steaming liquid. The two men drank in silence. The captain looked at Granville.

"This is some place. We've been looking for Mt. Vernon for hours and now that we're here, there's nothing."

"There's coffee, captain," the sergeant said.

"About all, but it sure tastes good," the captain said, looking over the edge of the cup. He then saw William in the bed at the far end of the long room with just his nose outside the covers. "Who's that?"

"My son," Granville said, and added quickly, "He's kind of a sickly." Granville changed the subject. "What brings you here, captain?"

"We don't have many visitors here," Granville replied. As you say captain, we don't have much here, so most folks just go on."

"It takes a little thought and work to have things," the captain walked toward William. "What's your trouble?" His eyes wandered around the room.

"It's my chest," William coughed.

"The captain appeared not to hear. Then his eyes found William's boots near the bed. Beads of melted snow still clung to the tops, shining like crystals in the light. The captain leamed over and felt the boots.

"They're wet."

Granville hurried over and picked them up. "I should have put my boots by the fire when I came in."

"Pretty bad night to wander around," the captain noted. He then turned to William. "By the way fellow, where's your clothes?"

William could feel the uniform under the covers like live coals against his feet. "Clothes?" William's voice had a tremble in it.

"I said where are your clothes?" The captain frowned.

"Well, you see Captain," William's voice took on a halting sound. "A couple of your men came by earlier and needed warmer clothes, so they took mine."

There was a moment's silence. "More coffee, gentlemen," Granville smiled and poured two more cups of coffee. The two soldiers drank. The captain broke the silence:

"I was just thinking, sergeant, let's go on down through town. A Union soldier would never be dumb enough to stop at a livery stable."

(NOTE: The preceding conversation in this story is, of course, not authentic. It is merely used as a frame work with which to explore the life and times of that winter of 1862.)

Burley Farmers Can Lose Money

Kentucky burley farmers stand to lose four to 10 cents per pound on tobacco if they strip it before it is fully cured, State Agriculture Commissioner Emerson Beachamp has warned.

Beachamp reported that one of the major tobacco companies report they cannot pay full prices for leaf that has excessive moisture or is not completely cured.

E. T. Reed, tobacco marketing specialist for the Kentucky Division of Markets, pointed out that the chemical composition of burley tobacco has changed in recent years making it more difficult for the grower to determine when leaf is cured enough to strip. This chemical change has caused the leaf to retain a high percentage of moisture longer and, consequently, has delayed its complete curing.

"When the tobacco seems ready to strip," Reed advised, "it will pay the farmer to postpone the stripping operation for at least two more weeks."

This additional time gives an opportunity for more moisture to disappear from the leaf and should also delay the stripping operation into a period of more favorable climatic conditions, he said. Reed reports that he has seen several barns where the stripping was performed when the temperature was 70 to 80 degrees and the tobacco was damaging in the bulks.

Reed reminded growers of the rule-of-thumb that has been offered by the Kentucky Extension Service to test the maturity of tobacco. This rule is: Grasp a leaf stem between the forefingers and the thumb about one inch from the stalk. If the stem breaks, the tobacco is ready for stripping.

"The outlook for burley is very good," Beachamp concluded, "so it is imperative that we maintain and improve its quality. Careless handling of the crop at stripping time will do much to destroy that quality."
