ASC FEED-GRAIN

 1964 are unchanged from 1963 levels, a slightly larger proportion of the supports will be available as loans or purchases, with corresponding decreases in price-support payments.

Payments to any producer are limited and not more than 20 percent of the fair market value of any acreage involved.
 The maximum payment rate will apply to all the acreage diverted where the total diversion on the farm is 40 percent or more of the base.

Support prices for grains included in the 1964 Feed Grain Program were announced earlier and are as follows: Corn per bu., $1.10 loan, 15-cent price support; payment, $1.25 total support; grain sorghum (per cwt.), $1.77 loan, 23-cent payment, $2 total support; barley (per bu.), 84-cent loan, 12-cent payment, 96-total support.

The Chairman suggests that farmers become fully familiar with advantages of the 1964 Feed Grain Program before completing their crop plans for next year.

MAIL ROUTE

 Aunt Minnie.
 Buy plenty of stamps now while post office windows are uncrowded.
 For Christmas, the Postmaster recommends the attractive 5-cent Christmas stamps showing the National Christmas tree in Washington, D.C. Use of this stamp insures first-class mail treatment—meaning the card may contain personal messages and may be forwarded or returned free of extra charge.

For example, if Aunt Minnie has moved without telling you, your card will be returned to her (presuming she has left a forwarding address). If the card cannot be forwarded, it will be returned to you, provided you have put your return on the envelope as the postmaster has forwarded it.

Incidentally, to speed Christmas card handling, letter carriers and post offices will have free supplies available of "local" and "out of town" bands for Christmas cards. If you will use these to separate your local and out of town cards, it will expedite delivery and assist your post office.

The Postmaster emphasizes that Zip Code can also help insure against loss due to poor addressing for letters and parcels. The five-digit Zip code identifies one specific area.

No other area has that same Zip code number. Therefore Mr. Smith explained—in view of the great number of opportunities for error that arise from the fact that there are many streets and cities with similar names—the Zip code is a real asset.

For Christmas mail, as well as for regular mailings.
 For example, if a letter is addressed to "Mineola" and the state is left out or illegible, we can tell from the Zip code, if used, whether it goes to Mineola, Iowa, New York or Missouri, each of which have a city by that name," Mr. Smith said.
 "Mailing early with Zip code is such a help to the mailer, as well as our Post Office, that I really can't see why everyone doesn't do it," he added.

"The low-cost and abundant power supplied by Jackson County RECC was the deciding factor in locating our new lumber mill in laurel County,"

says Dennis Reynolds, Owner
Reynolds Pellet Company
Victory, Kentucky

"Low-cost, abundant power and the cooperation of Jackson County Rural Electric in running 1 1/2 miles of 3-phase line enabled me to locate my pellet mill in Laurel County."

Did you know that there are 266 industrial plants in Kentucky that get their operating power from rural electric co-ops? These plants—and the jobs that they offer hundreds of Kentuckians—would not be here without rural electricity and RECC's. And it does make sense to move the plant to the labor—rather than try and move the labor to the plant. Electric co-ops don't just supply power to plants; they have a working program to find and develop plant sites... to attract new, profitable industries. The RECC's were originally developed to help the farmer. But from this one-purposed beginning has grown a force big and powerful enough to help all Kentucky.

ASC Urges Growers To Divert Feed Grain Program Acreage

The 1964 Feed Grain Program can furnish the answer to some farm operators' questions about what to do with their land next year, according to Shelle Mullins, Chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

While the total price supports for the three grains in price-support payments, the average yield figures will be based on the 4-year average (1959-1962) instead of the 2-year average (1959-60).

The feed grain base of any producer who planted up to 30 acres of wheat for home use under the feed grain exemption during any one of the years, 1959, 1960, and 1961 will be increased to the extent the 3-year average of such wheat acreage exceeded 15 acres.

Mail Route Extension, Mailing Tips-- James Smith

Postmaster James O. Smith announced that Rural Route CR has been extended 3.6 miles effective Dec. 21. This addition to the route will include Jim Whittaker and others, he said.

Postmaster Smith said that his annual Christmas "present" ready today for six patrons and, to nobody's surprise, it was his perennial suggestion, "Mail Early."

Christmas shopping and mailing is, for most people, one of the heaviest chores at Christmas. Mrs. Sarah said, "I can persuade some of them to get it done right away. I think they will agree when they are taking packages for the last minute."

Buy Christmas cards now and address them right away, separating them into out of town and local bundles. Mail them immediately with Zip Codes on them and you've got it made, except for the last minute card you forget to send. (Continued on page 4)

Moisture Shortage Affects Orchards

Ground water-shortages more pronounced now than at any time in recent years, could have an adverse effect on orchards, says James Stacey, UK Ag Extension Service horticulturist.

"Kentucky is entering the winter period with one of its greatest ground water shortages of recent times. Susceptibility to disease by orchard trees is likely to be higher than in normal circumstances. This is especially true with disease that results in cankers of limbs in the fruiting area of the tree. Golden Delicious and Rome Beauty apple varieties are particularly affected by moisture stress, although most fruit crops are affected by a shortage of moisture," Stacey says.

For non-terraced orchards, a simple plow furrow will be effective to intercept runoff water. Cultivating around the trees will also help absorption. Mulching will help control moisture; for this, mulch six inches deep over the entire area underneath the branches, using hay, straw, conestalks or even wild grasses for mulch material. To cut back runoff and fire hazard with mulches, keep the material 3 to 4 feet from the trunk and use a good poisoning program.

Stacey points out any one of these recommended practices (plow-furrow, cultivating, and mulching) is helpful, but more helpful, but following all three practices will give the best results obtainable.

Beef Herd Owners Get Handling Tips

Watch beef cows for nutritional deficiencies at this time of year, says Nelson Gay, UK Ag Extension Service specialist.

Such deficiencies can occur easily this year because of prolonged drought conditions.

Brood cows ought to get 8 to 10 pounds of green, leafy legume hay per day, he advises, if such feed is available. If the cows are nursing calves, they may need some grain; corn is excellent but a protein supplement should be added. If poor quality roughage is being fed, protein supplement and vitamin A feeding are important.

Remember that calves born in July, August and September are at a disadvantage compared to spring-born calves. Their dams generally milk poorly, the calves don't have the capacity for roughage, and living conditions stresses have more pronounced effects. To avoid such summer calves, bulls should not be run with the cow herd until mid-January, or even later.

If calves are dropped in September and October (or roughage, and living conditions stresses have more pronounced effects. To avoid such summer calves, bulls should not be run with the cow herd until mid-January, or even later.

between November and January) they and the dams will need additional care. Such fall and winter calves will need concentrates (both energy and protein) and some supplemental vitamin A generally fed in a fortified supplement.

Gay says it isn't a paying proposition to feed an open cow until spring, particularly if she missed dropping a calf previously.
