Bureau Urges OK Of Tobacco Control

The results of the Burley tobacco referendum vote Feb.

25 is of vital interest and importance to growers, says Farm Bureau officials. The vote will determine whether producers will or will not keep the tobacco program as it is now with the acreage control and price support. It also will be on whether to continue the program for the next three years. But also of importance - and it is something farmers must not overlook - is the final number voting "yes" of the eligible voters. If the percentage vote is small compared to the number eligible then the vote could be interpreted as a lack of general interest in the tobacco program. Farm Bureau is not only urging that farmers vote "Yes" for the tobacco program as it is now, but the organization is working hard to get a good turnout at the polls as are many other groups and organizations. In a joint statement to county Farm Bureau presidents released recently Jack

BASKETBALL GAMES NEARING END
MVHS Saves Its Ball Season
Winning Two Home Games

The Mt. Vernon Red Devils saved their basketball season from last season's Friday night when they combined hustle and rebounding to down Estill County 66-60 for their first win of the season.

Monday night MVHS took an early lead in the game as they went on to defeat Casey County 60-55 for their second win.

Mt. Vernon fans, used to the Devils losing at the last quarter, stayed until the last whistle sounded in both games before making up their minds. And fans had some uneasy moments in the final minutes of the game with Estill County.

With 2 minutes, 40 seconds left in the game, Mt. Vernon apparently had it wrapped up with a 15 point lead.

But instead of playing a cautious game, the Devils got excited and started playing wild game, and took unnecessary shots at the basket that were nearly impossible to make.

Estill County then went into an all-court press and controlled the game with MVHS floor errors to cut the score to 6 points with 30 seconds showing in play. It was only then that Mt. Vernon began to hold on to the ball and force Estill County to foul.

It was Mt. Vernon's first win against 16 losses.

For MVHS, it was Jerry Hodges that stole the show as the little guard shined in every department—bounding Estill players, stealing the ball, driving under the basket for lay-ups, and generally forcing the other MVHS players to keep up with him. He collected 20 points and tied with forward Orvie Richmond for high point honors.

Though not high in the scoring column, George Cloud and Ronnie McCleure had 8 and 4 points respectively, played their best games of the season. No doubt Cloud's rebounding and Children's floor fight contributed considerably to Mt. Vernon's victory. Children's and Cloud were both found in nearly every pile-up of tangled players fighting for the ball.

McCleure also contributing 8 points and a good game was Clarence Coffey. Also playing well during the time they were in the game were Ronnie McClure with 4 points, and Joe Lambert with 2 points.

Sewell was high for Estill County with 10 points.

With the exception of the first two minutes, Mt. Vernon led the entire game. Quarter scores were: 14-9, 30-14, 51-38, and the final 66-64.

In the game with Casey County, Orvie Richmond, Clarence Coffey and Jerry Hodges combined to carry Mt. Vernon to its second season win.

Richmond got 19 points, Coffey 15, and Hodges 11.

Mt. Vernon led from the start of the game with McCleure changing hands only briefly in the first quarter. MVHS floor control was in the hands of Cliff Burdette, 12-11, 33-25, 48-42, and the final 60-55.

Others scoring for Mt. Vernon were George Cloud with 7, Joe Lambert with 4, Ronnie McClure with 2, and Sandy Chiles with 3.

Leading scorer for Casey County was Williams with 16.

Saturday afternoon MVHS journeyed to Silver Grove in Campbell County and ran in to the tallest and the best jumper this year in the state, and took their 17th loss of the season, 107-75.

It was the second time in the history of the school that a Mt. Vernon team has allowed a foe to score over 100 points in a game. The only other time was a game at Broadhead about 1960.

High scorers for MVHS were Clarence Coffey with 20 points and Jerry Hodges with 18. Dunn was high for Burgin with 28 points.

In a game Tuesday night, Mt. Vernon visited Burgin and came home with a 68-38 win.

While Mt. Vernon was playing Friday night, so was Broadhead and Livingston.

At Eubank, Broadhead played the host team on even terms the first half, but a 16-0 lead spree by Eubank in the third quarter and 19 points in the last quarter secured Broadhead's 74-47 win.

ROUNDSTONE CHEER LEADERS were also ready to whoop it up when the grade school tourney got underway. From left, Janice Harding, Janice Burdette, Judy Chastain, Brenda Croucher, Vicki Burdette, and Sue Wynn.

Also scoring for Livingston were: Hinton with 4, Wyatt with 2, Sams with 6, Newcomb with 6, and Taylor with 8.

IT'S EASY TO FORGET

We had forgotten how well Nell Wanda Travis sang until we heard her sing "I Walk Into A Garden" at the Christian Church last Sunday. It was sweet and lovely song. Once upon a time, Nell was asked to sing at the heart and blood week activities in Rockcastle, and at many in other counties. How wonderful it must be to have a lovely voice.

Tobacco Vote Feb. 25

Growers of burley tobacco throughout the eight-state burley belt will be voting this week—Thursday, Feb. 24—in a referendum to determine whether they want to continue marketing quotas for price supports for the next three years—1965, 1966 and 1967.

One of the largest turnouts of eligible voters in the history of the burley program is anticipated because of intensive campaigns at the local, as well as state and national, levels to focus attention on the importance of the burley grower's showing of interest, by his vote, in the value of the program.

Voting places and time of balloting have been announced by local ASC offices in Rockcastle. They are: From 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., at Phelps Store, 210 S. Main St., in the head City Hall, S. B. Parsons Store, Wildie, and Zananzas Store at Orlando.

Referendum campaign committees, representing various agricultural, business and community interests, have been organized in most counties to stress the importance of referendum.

In the counties, a heavy concentration of interest in getting out the vote is planned for the week preceding the referendum, which is held every three years.

Leaders of the Referendum Committee pointed out that the voting in this referendum will be on the burley tobacco program, which does not exist—acreage quotas and price supports. Discussion of other issues are not concerned in this referendum.

It was also noted that any change in the present program would require a referendum in the law and would be submitted to the growers in a special referendum.

John M. Berry of New Castle, a burley producer who is also national chairman of the Burley Tobacco Referendum Committee, said growers should not be confused about the issue in this referendum.

"It must be emphasized," he said, "that growers will be voting only on the present program. In this referendum, they will be voting either yes or no on the question: 'Are you in favor of marketing quotas for burley tobacco for the next three marketing years beginning Oct. 1, 1965?'

At the county level, bankers, merchants, agricultural organizations and other community leaders have joined with growers in organizing referendum committees to stress the importance of a record vote this year.

Leaders feel that the time has come when there must be a definite interest shown in the tobacco program, which, with its vital price supports, is a critical economic factor in the areas where it is produced. Loss of the program would have widely felt consequences which would bring 24 years of stability and 24 years of hardship, they fear.

Eligible to vote in the referendum are all burley tobacco growers and all persons who shared in the 1964 crop or the proceeds of the crop as owner, operator, tenant, or sharecropper. Also, each person who was either the owner or operator of a farm for which a 1964 burley tobacco allotment was established is eligible to vote, though no tobacco was produced on the farm in 1965.

Questions concerning persons eligible to vote will be answered by the local ASC office.

In the previous burley referendum, held February 20, 1963, 82.6 percent of the 178,826 growers voting.

Since the present tobacco program was started, associations handling the support program have taken over one billion pounds of surplus burley and have sold all but the heavy takes of the last two years.

During the past 10 years, the average price of burley has ranged from 19 cents to 24 cents. In the 10 years from 1945 through 1954 the average was $47.20. For the 10 years from 1955 through 1964, the average was $16.50, a 65 percent drop.

Before price supports, an acre of burley brought an income of less than $200 a year, an acre of burley has produced an income of more than $1,231.

Discussed by the Historical Society members was a general meeting possibly to be held sometime in March when a speaker would be invited. Several speakers were discussed, including Dr. Thomas Clark of the University of Kentucky's History Department. No definite arrangements for the meeting were made.

The group also discussed various projects that would lend themselves to Historical Society efforts.

Alfalfa Weevil Pest This Spring

Get a jump on that alfalfa pest the alfalfa weevil, says Dr. Richard L. Miller, U. K. Ag Extension Service entomologist.

This is a very destructive pest and close watch and control are needed to save the valuable forage crop.

"No one recommendation as to treatment time will apply to the entire state," Miller points out. "Growers will have to inspect alfalfa fields as soon as growth begins this spring, and at weekly intervals, estimate the weevil population in each of their fields. Weather is important in determining when this pest appears in the spring. In southern Kentucky damage probably will appear when alfalfa is but a few inches high. In northern Kentucky, the weevil may not damage the first cutting, but the second. Generally, damage is confined to the first cutting in most of the state."

First step is to examine the terminal bud areas when there are a few inches high for numerous small holes in the leaves. Larvae are so small they may not be seen, but holes in the leaves are a good sign the weevil is present. Spraying is recomended when 10 percent of the field shows leaf damage. One treatment may be enough. If needed, two treatments may be necessary before the first cutting. Some fields may need two treatments early and the new growth of the second cutting treated.

Where treatment is needed, use one of the following: Malathion, 57 percent strength liquid concentrate at 1 two-thirds pints per acre; methoxychlor, 25 percent liquid concentrate at 3 quarts an acre; Guthion, two-pound strength concentrate at one quart an acre; or Diazinon, four-pound strength concentrate at one quart an acre. Apply any one of these in 15 to 20 gallons of water per acre.

1965 Fed Cattle Price Going Up

Fed-cattle prices during 1965 may average slightly higher than during 1964. The University of Kentucky's cooperative Extension Service agricultural economists department said this week in its bi-weekly business outlook letter.

The letter pointed out that market weight of fed cattle in recent months has been lighter than earlier. This suggests that cattle feeders continue to feed cattle to desired weight and finish during the winter.

Several factors are responsible for the relative strength shown in cattle prices since the start of 1965. The government has purchased large quantities of beef for the military and the market weight of cattle has been lighter than earlier. There also has been an increased demand for beef for the military and the present cattle cycle is approaching a peak, after an upward swing starting in 1963. This year the number of cattle on farms as of January 1 will again increase—but the increase will be considerably below the average increase for the period 1959-1963.

To Careful Sowing Tobacco Seeds

Here's a good point to remember when tobacco planting seedling time comes around: The amount of seed sown can affect the money return of the crop. Dr. J. H. Smiley, University of Kentucky's Agriculture Extension Service specialist, reminded farmers this week.

Over-sowing can change the money value as much as $100 an acre, he reported.

"A plant-bed seeding rate of about two teaspoonfuls of each 100 square yard of bed will be considered a substantial, economical and desirable plants that will perform well in the field. High seedling rates below this produce stockier but fewer transplants that perform well in the field. Transplants that are spindly, more vulnerable to transplanting and slower in establishing themselves in the field. The field tobacco thus is later maturing, lower in yield and lower in value."

Be careful and do not over-seed (or under seed) plants

Smiley says two level-teaspoonfuls of cleaned and tested (certified) seed should be planted to each 100 running feet of bed which is nine feet wide. Use 2 1/2 level-teaspoonfuls of each 100 running feet of a bed which is 12 feet wide. Seed when weather permits, usually the last half of February or in March. Complete seeding by April 10 at the latest.

A tobacco seed distributor will do the best job in broadcasting the seed evenly. If no distributor available, use fine sand, screened wood shavings or a small amount (about 10 pounds) of a complete fertilizer with one percent fertilizer with one percent fertilizer. Do not mix the seed with any other material if you use a seed distributor. Go over the bed at least three times to get even distribution if you are sowing by hand. Cover the bed site immediately after seeding (either method) with good tobacco canvas.

Letter To Editor

Signal
Mt. Vernon, Ky.

Dear Friends: Will you kindly enter my subscription to the Signal, sending to me the interest me to know if your new courthouse has been completed. I am not the exact date of completion, as I would like very much to be there on that occasion. After 30 years on the California bench, I have retired and spend most of my time at my Oregon ranch, but I have many pleasant memories of the good folks of Mt. Vernon. Respectfully, Judge Ida Mae Adams.

(Editor's Note: The new courthouse has been occupied, but the dedication ceremonies and open house will not be held until about April. A definite date has not been set by Judge C. C. Carver. When it is the Signal will report it.)

Kraft Foods

For 1965, Kraft Foods will offer Kentucky farmers a complete year-round program to help them toward maximum production of home-grown forage and feed grain for their dairy herds.

Full Feed Program, fieldmen through the new Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service, will provide recommendations for producing these crops economically as possible.

The Kentucky Full Feed Program was developed by Kraft and dairy and forage crop specialists with the University of Kentucky's Cooperative Extension Service.

It was started on a limited basis in the fall of 1964. This is the first year for the program to be offered on a complete year-round basis.

For the program, recommendations for types and varieties of crops and amounts of seed; types and amounts of fertilizer; seeding times; and management practices have been provided by Warren Thompson, extension forage crop specialist, and Elmer Scheidehinde and John Milk, extension dairy specialists.

In addition to providing and helping producers use the extension recommendations, the fieldmen will help Kraft patrons arrange financing for their purchases of seed and fertilizer if needed. For patrons who want it and are qualified, financing will be provided by dealers
