Letter To Editor

Editor, Signal

Dear Sir:

After looking over Governor Breathitt's proposed Budget, I would like to call attention to one item in particular. This item is entitled "Fish and Wildlife Resources" and appears under the heading of "Proposed Expenditures".

This should not have been a budget item, but since it has been placed there, a footnote should have been inserted to point out the fact that this money is not taxpayer money and neither is it an expenditure from the State General Fund.

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources operates from revenue received from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses and not from money of the State General Fund. All purchasers of hunting and fishing licenses should take note of this and not be misled when proposed legislation would tend to change in any way the present operation of the Fish and Wildlife Commission.

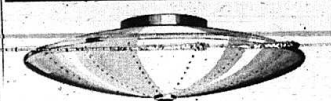

Yours very truly,
Robert L. Cummins
Mt. Vernon, Ky.

Mount Vernon Signal

WHERE THE BOONEWAY JOINS THE DIXIE

VOLUME 70—NUMBER 18

MOUNT VERNON, KENTUCKY

THURSDAY, JANUARY 20, 1966

HERE and THERE

By Ray McClure

NEW PUBLISHER

This week sees James Anderkin, Jr., brother of Elmo Anderkin, the new publisher of the Mount Vernon Signal. Mr. Anderkin takes the Signal on a lease basis. He comes back to Rockcastle County after several years on the Woodford Sun at Versailles, Mr. and Mrs. Anderkin and their two children have moved to Mt. Vernon.

ASKS FOR FUNDS

County Judge Wayne Van Hook asked the U. S. Department of Commerce this week to designate Rockcastle County as an eligible area to receive grants, loans, and other benefits under the Public Works Program. He pointed out several projects completed in the county and several pending that could use federal funds. The request by Judge Van Hook is a formality that the government asked. The county has already received some federal funds.

FOR THOSE WHO ASKED

As far as Washington, and a story on this page indicates, the best bid for section of Interstate-75 will be opened at Frankfort on March 21. You may have not heard anything about a new date around the late of March. A check with John Whisman, who shows the date is still March 11.

THEY'LL TRY AGAIN

Whether Virgil Mullins, Rockcastle County Board of Education member, will resign or be removed is to be decided Saturday by Judge R. C. Tarter. The case is scheduled for about a month. Mr. Mullins will be off the board at the end of the hearing because of his educational qualifications.

CHANGES DATE

The regular monthly meeting of the Mt. Vernon City Council, scheduled for this week, has been postponed until Feb. 4. Rep. Jim Lee Carter wants to attend the meeting and the council has decided a meeting already scheduled on Feb. 3.

TWO MORE SUITS

Suits involving land to be used in the construction of Interstate-75 are falling like rain in Rockcastle County Court these days. Two more suits filed this week, one against Ray W. H. Cox.

FRIENDLY REMINDER

County Court Clerk Clifford Bales asks us to give a minute in a break-in this past week that the deadline for auto and truck license plates is outgiving. Main Street and get license plates now. Incidentally, if you have other licenses to purchase, this is a good time to do it.

JUST LOOKING AROUND

There is nothing that makes sense in a break-in this past week at the residence of Hobart Harris on Brindle Ridge. The culprit got into the house, left footprints, but didn't take anything at all. At least nothing was missed.

OPENING STORE

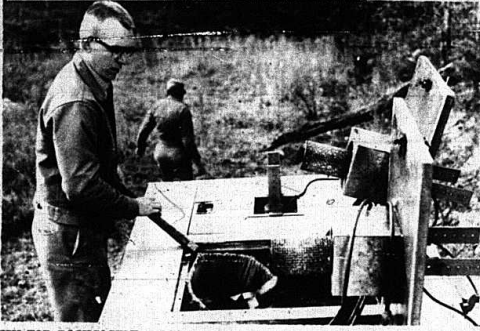

Floyd Owens tells us he will open a variety discount store at Brodhead on Feb. 1. The new store will be located at the intersection of Main Street formerly occupied by Dillingham Sunday Store. Floyd Owens, who keeps his store at a restaurant at Mt. Vernon.

NEW BUSINESS

Mrs. Elmo Anderkin and Mrs. Guy C. Martin graduated from the University of Chicago in Chicago, Ill., and have opened a shop at 242 East Main Street. Information of an appointment.

BAPTIST MEET DAY

The Ottawa Baptist Church, 242 East Main Street, will have a meeting Sunday, Sunday, Jan. 23. Laymen will speak at 10 a. m., services and at 7:30 p. m., services and music. The public is invited.

FISH FOR ROCKCASTLE—Taking a hand in stocking Kentucky waters with trout is John Sargent, manager of the Madison Pike Hatchery, Wallsville, South Carolina. He is being helped by a group of children from the Madison Pike Hatchery. The children are helping to stock Crocked Creek in Rockcastle County. During December Edwards and his assistants, Lewis Kiser, brought more than 2,000 brook and rainbow trout to Kentucky for stocking of streams in the Cumberland National Forest. The trout, each weighed between one-half and one pound.

Plan Rural Housing Here

Fifteen counties in the Eastern Kentucky mountains including Rockcastle, will be used as the test for the federal experiment in developing low-cost housing for rural families. According to a story by Walter Jackson, writing in the Courier-Journal.

E. J. (AJ) Walsh, housing consultant for the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) in Washington, said yesterday that between 600 and 800 six-to-eight family houses may be built this year in a project testing new techniques in financing, building and marketing low-cost dwellings.

Walsh, speaking at the annual day of the Kentucky Dealers Association convention at the Kentucky Hotel in Louisville, said the program could begin this spring. He said that financing arrangements and other details would be completed at a meeting next month at Berea College of representatives of the federal government and housing industry.

Counties scheduled to be in the project are: Breathitt, Clay, Floyd, Jackson, Johnson, Knott, Lawrence, Leslie, Magoffin, Martin, Owsley, Perry, Pike, Rockcastle and Wolfe.

Actually, one such house is now under construction on Sand Springs Road. It was learned this week it was not learned who owns it.

Walsh said that although Kentucky has been selected for the pilot project, the problem of rural housing are the same as those in Arizona, New Mexico, or other states.

"What will happen here, with a little modification, can happen throughout the United States," he said.

One of the major obstacles to low-cost, rural housing has been that FHA and other loan plans have standards inapplicable to rural areas. Walsh said this problem may be solved by "creating a new kind of financing customized to the needs of rural communities."

Walsh said that the guiding policy of the OEO's housing program "is based on the idea that the government will stimulate the housing industry and not be any kind of government giveaway program."

He challenged the lumber dealers to meet this basic need of millions of badly housed families," by saying that 70 per cent of the low-cost housing market will have to be serviced by the American housing industry."

Walsh said the experimental houses would be constructed by local builders from their own plans—if they met federal standards—and would use local unskilled and semi-skilled labor. He added that an experimental housing project at Berea College showed that "one well-trained foreman or supervisor would build the houses."

Walsh said that builders and lumber dealers will share the responsibility in "motivating low-income families into buying new housing by knowing and understanding their own needs."

He quoted a study which reported that 31,000 of 51,000 housing units in eight rural Kentucky counties were substandard.

"I suspect that all 31,000 families are not ready to buy," he said.

"Many of them fear the social stigma of being 'uppity,' fear moving away from their friends, and are suspicious of inexpensive new housing."

Clay County Tourney Site

The 49th District Basketball Tournament will be played this year at Clay County High School Gymnasium near Manchester, Mar. 1 through 5.

Mt. Vernon, Brodhead, and Livingston high schools will participate in the 49th District Tournament for the first time. The three teams were moved to the 49th District from the 46th District in October by the Kentucky High School Athletic Association.

Other schools in the 49th District, besides Clay County, are the schools in the district, it was voted to rotate the 49th District Tournament to be held at Mt. Vernon, and the following year at another location.

Coaches Preston Parrett of Livingston, and Jack Lawwell of Mt. Vernon, said they approved the rotation of the tournament.

"It makes a square deal for the schools in Clay County were very cooperative," Coach Parrett said.

Meeting the three county teams of the 49th District also prompted a move from the 12th Region at Somerset to the 13th Region including Knox Central, Pineville, Williamsburg, Bell County High, Middleboro, Lone Jack, Harlan and Bourbouisville.

Coach Parrett also reported the tournament will possibly be played Mar. 1, 2, 4 and 5, with no game on Mar. 3.

Drawings for position in the tournament will be held at a later date.

Homemakers Meet

Brodhead and Livingston chapter of Future Homemakers of America both held meetings recently.

At a meeting of the Brodhead group, Chapter mothers were chosen. They are: Mrs. Bernice Adams, Mrs. Alfie Adams, and Mrs. Zula Lane. Plans were also discussed for the FHA Sweetheart Party to be held Feb. 12.

At a meeting at Livingston, Dr. Thomas B. Cowan, pastor of the Berea Union Church, was the speaker. His subject was "Moral and Manners." Jane Hebb, president of the chapter, discussed plans for selling coats.

Report Break-In

Thieves broke into Farmers Feed and Supply at the intersection of KY 70 and US 150 over the past week according to Sheriff Ty Report.

Entrance to the building was gained through a door. The thieves damaged a candy vending machine and a cash register. They also stole money and candy. Several pairs of gloves and wrenches were also taken.

State Trooper Talks At Community Club

A Kentucky State Trooper spoke on traffic safety at a meeting of the Buffalo Community Club last Wednesday.

The trooper also discussed driver tests and traffic rules and regulations.

A group of Brodhead High School students entertained with songs and instrumental music.

Mrs. Ivy Reece, VISTA volunteer, presented the club a gift from a men's club in Lincoln, Neb.

The group voted to accept an electric range from the Council of the Southern Mountains, and agreed to ask the Rockcastle County Board of Education to help in wiring the school so the range could be used.

Climax Honor Roll

Eighteen students were on the honor roll at Climax School during their third weeks. They are: Ernie Barbara Abrams, Wonetta Abrams, Jean Cook, Carolyn Clark, Brenda Rice, Marion Sexton, Benny Galbreath.

Seventh: Douglas Clark; sixth: Louise Baker, Patricia J. M. Dodson; fifth: Ann Winkles, first: LeAnn E. Mullins, Helen Mullins, Sharon Clark, Diane Abrams; fourth: Teren Gaffner, Marjulia Van Dyke, Louise Clark; third: Ronnie Chastain.

No Need For Concern Yet Over Renfro Lake Project

ORDER OF THE DAY—June Burdette, left, and Margaret Stokes, did what most other Rockcastle County residents did Tuesday and Wednesday—shoveled snow. About one inch fell during Tuesday night, but a warm sun Wednesday melted most of the snow. It was the first measurable snow this season.

Homer Hale Resigns Tax Job

Homer Hale, Rockcastle County Tax Commissioner, resigned his job as commissioner effective Jan. 15.

Mr. Hale was re-elected without opposition in the November general election and took office for a four-year term on Jan. 3.

He told the Signal a lack of cooperation on the part of the State Department of Revenue was the cause of his resignation.

"They promised and promised me they would send materials and new stories and other items down here to help inform the public on the new tax assessments, to go into effect this year, but they never did. All they did was come down here and tell me to send them $100 per cent valuation or get fired. I just got tired of it all," Mr. Hale said.

A special examination will be held to qualify candidates for appointment as tax commissioner to fill the office until the November 1966 general election.

Persons who qualify by this examination will also be eligible to seek election in the 1966 primary and general election for the remainder of the 1965-69 term.

WHISMAN REPORTS ON TWO PROJECTS

Two local projects—the Renfro Valley and the new Appalachian Highway connection between Somerset and Interstate-75—were discussed briefly this week by John Whisman, assistant to Gov. Edward Breathitt.

Mr. Whisman said there is no need for concern at this time over the outcome of the Renfro Valley Dam and Lake.

He said even though the dam and lake is drawing over close, he believes "something" will be worked out before the deadline.

He explained that there is grant money for the Renfro project, but to date no specific agency has been given the authority to dispense the funds, therefore, the state does not know to whom an application can be made.

He said Rep. Lyndon Johnson assigned a "task force" to study the problems of community water resource development, and select one agency to handle the project. But to date the task force has not announced an agreement on one agency. Currently five agencies in Washington handle some phase of water and sewer projects.

Mr. Whisman said he planned to meet this week with Bill Davis, who is Kentucky's representative on the program, and they in turn would "re-acquaint the appropriate officials in Washington on the design problem involved at Renfro Valley."

This is a chance, he said, that the state and city will be able to go ahead with the project on an application basis, and not have to wait for final approval of the application.

Mr. Whisman also discussed briefly the Appalachian Highway connection between Somerset and Interstate-75.

He reported the Appalachian Regional Commission in Washington, that was scheduled to take up the question of the final connection at the January meeting, did not discuss the route.

He said he thought the Commission would take up the route about mid-February.

To be decided is an I-75 connection for a highway between Somerset and Interstate-75 somewhere between London (Continued on page 2)

Farm Bureau Week

Gov. Edward Breathitt has declared the week of Jan. 24-29 as Farm Bureau Week in Rockcastle County. The Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation will officially launch its 1966 membership campaign this week. More than 60,000 rural and farm families are members of the Farm Bureau.

Sand Springs Roll

Eight students were on the honor roll this six weeks at Sand Springs School. They are: Sixth: Dallas Graves, Dearl Philips, Lois Renner, Virginia Miller, fourth: Brenda Moore, third: Betty Miller; first: George Evans and Donnie Phelps.

Teachers Plan Walk-Out

The Kentucky Education Association Monday set Feb. 3 for its one-day statewide teacher walk-out to protest low salaries. The KEA's directors conferred by telephone and on Saturday approved a resolution suggesting that local education associations use "professional protest" to conduct meetings on "professional problems in the struggle for increased salaries." The KEA Executive Secretary J. M. Dodson then sent a letter to all local education associations, asking for 100 per cent participation in this unprecedented action.

Dodson pointed out that the KEA delegate assembly on Saturday approved a resolution suggesting that local education associations use "professional protest" to conduct meetings on "professional problems in the struggle for increased salaries." The KEA Executive Secretary J. M. Dodson then sent a letter to all local education associations, asking for 100 per cent participation in this unprecedented action.

On The Hardwood--

At Brodhead

The Brodhead Tigers added two more wins to their record in basketball Friday and Saturday nights by downing Casey County 77-65 and McCarty County 86-64.

The Tigers boosted their season record to 12 wins against three losses, the best record in the county.

In the Casey County game, Bruce Sargent and Earl Reynolds were the scorers, 23 and 20, respectively, as Brodhead led all the way. At the quarters it was 23-20, 44-34, 68-62, and 77-65.

Also scoring for Brodhead were: Ronnie Bray 12, Barry Van 8, Randall Adams 6, and Gory Scott 6.

Saturday night, BHS came back even stronger to lambast McCarty County 84-64.

With Ronnie Bray hitting for 50 points, second highest individual scoring this season in the three county schools, BHS was never headed as the McCarty County team.

Bruce Sargent, for the second night in a row, got 23 points, or one less than the previous night, to give BHS a good boost to victory.

Others scoring for BHS were: Vanhook 16, Reynolds 10, Scott 6, Brown 4, Doughton 3, and Hector 2.

Brodhead's next game will be at Liberty on Jan. 21.

At Livingston

Livingston's Blue Devils had the worst drubbing of the season Friday night when they lost to the Blue Devils 80-36 at Lily.

Playing without the services of Lee Smith, who is sidelined with an ankle injury, the contest this evening in doubt as the Lily team out-ran and out-shot LES from start to finish. Only in the first quarter could Livingston mount anything of an offense against the 12th Region's second ranked team.

In the fourth quarter, with high scoring Vernon Samu out via the foul route, LES got only one hit for three points.

Lily led at all the quarter stops: 17-12, 47-22, 63-32 and the final 80-36.

Scoring for Livingston were: Billy Wyatt 11, Samu 8, Delbert Owens 6, Gary M. Devlin, Vanzant and Lonnie Mink, 2 each.

Livingston's next game will be at Mt. Vernon on Jan. 21.

At Mt. Vernon

Two Garrard County forwards—Campbell and Hurt—combined for 90 points Friday night to sink Mt. Vernon 94-54 at MVHS.

Hurt got 40 points and Campbell got 19, or more than this season. Mt. Vernon team in the second worst drubbing this year for the Garrard County, with a team nearly as powerful as Louisville's downed MVHS 105-65 this season. Had things well in hand from the opening whistle. So tight was the Garrard defense, MVHS could only score 11 points in the first quarter, while giving up 23 points to Garrard.

MVHS will be at home to Livingston Friday night.

Berea Baptist Church Plans For Meeting
