

ASCS—Conservation Partnership

By: ASCS Office Personnel
Conservation farming has vastly improved dairy farming in this county.

Most of the people directly involved in dairy farming are aware how closely the Agricultural Conservation Program is connected with the objective of improvement of pastures and water supplies or essentials of dairy farming.

People indirectly involved may not be aware of the part the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) has in the Conservation Partnership. Some farmers still are not aware of the help available to them where conservation problems exist on grazing land, cropland and forest land.

Conservation farming is more than "just good farming". It includes protection and benefits for the public, as well as for the farmer, in both the short-run and the long-range future. The ACP is an arrangement with the public jobs with the farmers to share the cost of needed conservation measures that protect, improve, and renew soil, water, woodland, and wildlife resources on private land. Effectiveness of the ACP helps insure that needed conservation work will be done adequately and in time.

The ACP in your county is run by your Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee. This committee is composed of local farmers, ASC County Committeemen who are also farmers assist their neighbors and the county committee. ACP funds are limited. Decisions as to the best use of available funds are made by your committee. This committee has been elected by you and your neighbors to make fair and just decisions. Requests for cost-sharing are considered on their merits.

There is no limit on the number of needed conservation practices for which you may receive approval under ed on your farm. The next time you drive through the rural areas of the county, look at the lush green pastures that have been established by the clean stock ponds or tanks for stock water and be assured that the majority of these have been established by a "Conservation Partnership" between the farmer, and at least three local government agencies and the public who supports these programs.

Everybody benefits—wildlife food, cover, and water is increased. Natural beauty is created and protected by the curving terraces, strip-cropping and soil waterways, and the trees, grass, and farm ponds. City workers and their families find more hunting, fishing, swimming, and other recreation places.

Forestry income and employment potentials are increased for the first time, through planting and improvement of timber. Folks in town benefit from the stable-agricultural industry which conservation and land use efforts help to bring about. Merchants sell and use more equipment. Employment is up. Business is better. Tax revenues improve. It is not easy for farmers and ranchers to bring you these benefits. All conservation work takes money. Farmers cannot fairly be expected to apply, without financial aid, all the conservation measures needed on their land.

"The Land is Your Supplier" and "Everybody Benefits". You can get benefits from the ACP by becoming involved in putting conservation objectives in organizations to which you belong. Get other citizens interested in conservation and in encouraging farmers to take part in the programs that help do this. People buy more. The result can be better protection for soil, woods, wildlife and America's future.

Your conservation efforts will help protect your land for continuous use into the distant future. When you have set a conservation goal, ACP can help bring it within your reach. Don't ask for help on the practice easiest to do. Use the practices most needed.

Cain Discusses Dairy Month

Lloyd Cain, Vocational Agricultural Department

Once again June has rolled around, the month we, as private citizens, business men, agricultural workers, farmers and others have come to know as national dairy month.

Without thinking, we may ask why do we have a dairy month. If we should ask a number of people, we would get several different answers. However, the one which I think is best, would be to honor the people who work throughout the year to produce a high quality milk in sufficient quantities to be processed into any dairy products which we buy on any given day.

Often when we go to the grocery or supermarket to buy dairy foods we fail to recognize that many hours of labor and many dollars have been invested by farmers in order that these products may be on our food counters.

Although farmers are now more advanced than ever in the production of milk, the margin of profit going to the farmer becomes smaller and smaller because of the increase in price of products farmers buy and the lack of increase in price of the products they produce.

Farm income from dairying may be increased through a good feeding program. We should make use of all of the feed possible on the farm where it is to be fed. It is a known fact that home grown feeds are the cheapest farmers can use. Many people could get more milk and have a higher quality feed by harvesting home grown feeds at the proper stage of maturity. For example alfalfa may lose one fourth of the protein if it is not harvested at proper maturity. Corn silage fed in the field too long is less palatable and lower in feed value than when cut early. Selection of good breeding stock and good breeding management is also very important. Good replacement or additional cows bought to increase the size of the herd should be bought from high producing herds with production records available. Only proven bulls should be used. Most dairymen can't afford to own a high priced bull, but all can use artificial insemination and know that only the best bulls are being used.

Cows should be bred to freshen in the fall. Research shows that cows freshening

Dairy Herd Still Very Important

By: W. E. Proctor
President, Rockcastle Livestock Association

The dairy industry is still very important to the economy of our country. Not only does it furnish a substantial income for the dairymen but supplies jobs for many more people.

The outlook for dairying looks brighter than ever before. According to reports, dairymen all over the country are selling out and going to public works. So looks like a good time to increase our herds, not only in number but in production as well.

Most dairymen could increase their herd and still produce most of the extra feed required by doing a better job on our pastures and hay crops.

Most citizens, there would be no added expense for equipment, and would require very little more labor.

Higher Taxes And Agriculture

By: Roy G. Brown, Field Representative
Production Credit Assn.

We hear farmers every day saying they would like to make more money farming, and they are right. The farmers are on the short end of the income of our nation. Also, we, as farmers, face a more difficult chance of being heard and helped due to the ever decreasing number of farmers.

Today, we are only about seven percent of the total population of our country. We are confronted with one man-one vote ruling by courts and also 100,000 assessments bringing on higher taxes and reduction in tobacco acreage.

The picture isn't all dark in spite of all adverse conditions. There is a brighter side to look to for those who have the desire, courage and willingness to work can increase the income in farming. It will require good management, efficiency, record keeping, willingness to do a good job in whatever farm program is used on the farm.

One of the better ways to increase farm income is through forage crops, pasture, hay and silage and selling it through meat, milk or eggs. Today the milk companies could use 1,000,000 pounds of milk from Rockcastle County. There is a good market for beef cattle, feeder pigs, hogs and eggs. With the increase in population and each year we lose about 1,000,000 acres of land to lakes, roads, sub-divisions and other things, the demand will increase for food and farm products.

We, in farm credit, have faith in the future of farming and believe those who have the determination have a bright future and we would be glad to sit down and help work out ways to increase a better farm program and income.

This is your farm friend wishing you a happy Dairy day and every day throughout the year.

This chapter is known as the Lord's prayer. It was prayed about midnight on a little after. I guess we could call it the Mid Night Prayer. It was the last prayer Jesus prayed for his disciples before he was crucified. Jesus had a lot to say about the world in this chapter. In fact he mentions the word World 19 times in it. Jesus left Heaven and the glories with the Father and came to the world to live in it with the world for about 34 years to tell them about God and Heaven and that God loves them (John 3:16) and is concerned about them and will save everyone that will believe him. And that he is the saviour and redeemer of the world. He is now ready, the hour has come for him to pay the terrible price of redemption by being crucified, and leave the world to go back to the Father and the glories of Heaven. But he is leaving the disciples here in the world to be hated and mistreated by the world as it had done unto him. The world did not love Jesus, nor his followers and never will love them. The world hated God and Jesus and his followers, verse 14, but Jesus is leaving them here in the world to witness to the world about him and win all the souls out of the world for him that they can. So he prays for them that they may be kept from the evils of the world and be a light to the world for him. He prays also for all who will believe their words and follow him. So if you are a disciple (a follower) of Jesus trying to win souls for him, you are included in this prayer. Matt. 28:19, 20 says go and I am with you to the end. God is going to destroy this world some day and only those who have accepted Jesus as their redeemer will be spared and permitted to share the glories of heaven forever with him. Have you accepted him as your redeemer yet? Then do it now before he cancels your invitation. When once the invitation is canceled, it will be forever too late then.

ALL ABOUT SCHOOLS—Several education and business people in Rockcastle County attended a Teacher-Community meeting Saturday at Mt. Vernon High School to discuss a Supplementary Educational Center at Somerset. From left are: Jim Bishop, editor of Bureau of School Services, University of Kentucky; Mrs. Neaural Mirciole, Charles B. Parsons, County Judge Wayne VanHook, Clyde Linnville, County Agent H. Les Durham, and Otis Mirciole.

Group Discusses Schools

A short look at all phases of education in Rockcastle County was taken Saturday by 14 persons in the fields of education and business at a Teacher-Community Conference at Mt. Vernon High School.

The meeting, under the direction of Sam Jones, planning director for the Regional Supplementary Educational Center at Somerset, was the first meeting to be held during with Public Law 10, Title III, of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

Also noted was that a teacher laboratory should be set up to help prepare teachers in the arts, and keep them up to date with changes in all phases of education, something that has been left to the colleges and the teacher.

Also discussed was the problem of drop-outs and how to handle the problem. The school principals present called the drop-out problem one of their most pressing.

In the Rockcastle County area, those present agreed that more buildings, more teachers, and less children in classrooms, were needed, including a central high school.

The specific questions to be answered by the group were: What are the most important educational needs of the schools in your county? In planning future educational programs, what changes

The group found, among several things needed, in the schools in the 16 districts of the region, that cultural activities should be stressed more than they have been in the past.

The group generally agreed the Supplementary Educational Center at Somerset should see to it that art, music, drama, and speech be emphasized more in the years to come.

Also noted was that a teacher laboratory should be set up to help prepare teachers in the arts, and keep them up to date with changes in all phases of education, something that has been left to the colleges and the teacher.

should be considered in school purposes, instructional content, materials and equipment, facilities, school organization, structure, and professional staffing?

What factors are present in the county which seem to block the development of better programs? What services should a Supplementary Educational Center provide that individual school districts cannot provide? What human and physical resources can you identify that might be used by a Supplementary Educational Center in this area?

On hand to discuss the Supplementary Educational Center and its uses were Jim Peyton, editor, Bureau of School Services, and Arthur Cotterill, Bureau of School Services, both of the University of Kentucky.

Dairy Future Bright

By Clay A. Colson
Soil Conservation Service

The future for dairying is a bright one. Marketing experts predict higher prices and expanding markets for milk. Processors are turning out new and imaginative dairy foods. A rapidly expanding population is skyrocketing consumer demand.

Great things are happening in the dairy industry, and even greater prospects lie over the horizon.

But what does the future hold for the individual dairy farmer? What must dairymen of today do to be ready to take part in the future of dairying?

Higher, more efficient herd production will be a must. It is likely top dairymen of 1980 will be culling cows that today's average dairymen couldn't maintain. Herd averages of 20,000 pounds will be common averaging top-notch dairymen.

His facilities will be designed to minimize labor. Labor needs per cow will drop from the present 80 hours per cow to around 40 hours. Records will gain new importance as a herd improvement tool.

Less acres per cow is the trend. Forage harvest by machine, not the cow, is proving best for yield and efficiency. Harvesting crops and feeding stored forage the year around is the thing of the future. This allows more uniform feeding all year. At the University of Tennessee, this stored forage system furnished feed for 32 percent more cows per acre and produced 31 percent more milk. Legumes remain in the stand longer.

Predictions by experts indicate cow numbers will continue to decline. But the number of farms will drop even more, so dairymen will be handling more animals than he is today. Facilities to handle more cows in less time with less labor must be planned for. The big trend is to covered, loose housing and free stalls. Free stalls simplify manure handling and a loose housing seems to stimulate milk production. In this system, cows are confined in a covered drylot where they have access to feed, water and open or "free" stalls for resting. The design allows cows to choose between open air and sunshine or shade and protection from the elements. It makes them more self-sufficient, minimizes labor.

DAIRY DAY COMING
Next Wednesday is Dairy Day in Mt. Vernon, which includes a parade, crowning of county Dairy Princess by the reigning state Dairy Princess, prizes, and a lot of fun. Plan to join in the fun next Wednesday.

A FRIENDLY REPEAT
Material in the stories on this issue are related to the dairy industry. Dairying and tobacco are two of our most important products in Rockcastle and deserve special space at least once a year. If you had a story that does not appear this week, please bear with us. We'll eventually get it in.

BRODHEAD PROJECT
In case you'd forgotten, the City of Brodhead has a dam and lake pending in Washington for a much needed water supply for the city. A check shows the project is under routine review, which is one of the steps that has to be taken in any major project. Just what routine review means as far as the Brodhead project is concerned, we don't know, but the project does not seem to have progressed much further past the application stage.

RENFO MOVIE
John Lair tells us the movie "The Renfro Valley Banducance" is still set for a premiere in Louisville on July 20. We will give a more detailed report closer to the date and in plenty of time for those who wish to attend to get tickets. Mr. Lair says tickets will be on sale at Renfro Valley, but it is a little early.

ON DISPLAY
A sign in which an article on Kentucky wildlife appeared was on display last week at the annual convention of the League of Kentucky Sportsmen at the Sheraton Hotel, Louisville. We appreciate the free publicity. We're always happy to report on work done by wildlife conservationists. They do a good job and their work often goes unnoticed.

IT'S REALLY STARTED
The tourist season is really on and the fact was most evident this past week end. How do we tell the difference, other than an upturn in the number of cars? We look at the full luggage racks on the top of cars. They were much in evidence. Tourists are going somewhere and spending money. Wish we had something to keep them here a few days. We have all the basic ingredients that Gatlinburg has. It just needs promotion.

PLAN REVIVAL
The Clear Creek Baptist Church will hold a revival beginning Sunday June 19 with services nightly at 7:30. The evangelist will be Bro. Wayne Harding.

APPOINTED—Magistrate G. W. Griffin has been appointed Civil Defense Director of Rockcastle County by State Civil Defense officials at Frankfort and replaces Jack Crawford of Renfro Valley, who has served for the past three years. Mr. Griffin took over his duties last week.

Agent Looks At Livestock

By: H. Lee Durham
County Agricultural Extension Agent

The Rockcastle County Livestock Improvement Association was organized in 1965. Since that time, considerable progress has been made in livestock production and improvement in Rockcastle County.

From the beginning, a complete program for the Association has been planned annually through the use of various committees such as Disease Control, Sanitation and Research, Fairs, Shows and Sales Committees, Publicity Committee, Green Pasture Committee, Livestock Field Day Committee and Youth Work Committee.

We feel that the Rockcastle County Livestock Improvement Association has been successful because of the operation of these various committees in carrying out a planned program of work.

Some of the activities initiated and carried out by the Livestock Improvement

- Association are as follows:
- (1) Participation in feeder calf sales at Stanford and Richmond.
 - (2) Participation in feeder pig sales at Stanford and Richmond.
 - (3) Work on artificial breeding program for Rockcastle County.
 - (4) Work on DHIA and Way-A-Day-A-Month Program.
 - (5) Initiating and carrying out Brucellosis Education Program. Rockcastle was the twelfth county in the state to reach a modified-certified brucellosis status. The work was done through the Livestock Improvement Association Brucellosis Committee cooperating with state and federal veterinarians.
 - (6) Assisted in adding several dairy cows and heifers to the cow population of the county.
 - (7) Sponsored Dairy Days, farm tours, Dairy Princess contests, dairy meetings.
 - (8) Sponsored Harvest Festival, dairy and beef shows at the county.
 - (9) Cooperated in holding

- feeder pig meetings and sales.
- (10) Sponsoring and carrying out a Brucellosis calfhood vaccination program.
- (11) Participation in leader recognition program in 1959 the Rockcastle County Livestock Improvement Association was awarded a plaque by the Kentucky Livestock Improvement Association for the greatest progress in their Livestock Improvement Program.
- (12) Sponsored beef field days.
- (13) Recommended agricultural

Award Made In 2 Land Suits

Two condemnation suits for land to be used for construction of Interstate-75 in Rockcastle County were heard in Rockcastle Circuit Court last week, and may be heard again.

A jury awarded James W. and Lou Lena Smith $2,400 for 7.7 acres of land in the Green Hill section of the county.

In another trial, Warren and Nora Poytner were awarded $5,500 for 52 acres of land on Flat Gap Road near the Madison County line.

An attorney for the property owners called the price "very low" and indicated he would file a motion and grounds for a new trial in both cases.

Comparatively speaking, both judgments were considered below two previous condemnation awards made in circuit court.

PROMOTED—James V. McKinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McKinney of Route 1, Brodhead, was recently promoted to Specialist-4 in the Army. He is now stationed at a missile base at Bihl, Minn. He entered the service in 1965. He is a graduate of Brodhead High School, Class of 1962.

An application for a $300,000 extension center of the Somerset Vocational School has been made to the State Department of Education by the Rockcastle County Board of Education.

The board unanimously approved a motion to apply for the school at a meeting last week.

The center will serve Brodhead, Livingston, Mt. Vernon, and Berea Independent School students.

Berea entered into an agreement which will furnish 80 percent of the money required.

The Rockcastle County Board of Education will furnish 20 percent out of its capital outlay fund, or the federal and state will come up with $240,000 and the county school system, $60,000.

The site for the new modernistic, one-floor, 25,000 square-foot building, is yet to be chosen. The county will take several options on property, with a minimum of 35 acres needed. The county then will choose the site.

Several vocational schools have been constructed over the state in the past several years. The state, Governor and Russell County in this area of the state.

Students who are in school may take classes, as well as students who are not attending school.

The Board of Education has been working on plans for the new vocational school for several months. The planning had reached the advanced stage of Public Instruction, has held school officials that prospects are excellent for the school being constructed.

Harry Sparks, state Superintendent of Public Instruction, has told school officials that prospects are excellent for the school being constructed.

ful remodeling of existing structures.

The free-stall housing of cows will take no more room than now being used and will reduce the amount of bedding needed by about seventy-five percent. Land now being used for production of bedding can be turned to supplying high grade forage thus allowing the dairyman to increase his milk production for the farm.

Cows housed in free-stalls stay cleaner and with much less labor. This saves time daily at milking plus time saved in bedding, liquid-manure pits will be another change leading to the saving of much labor during the year. These pits are a natural with free-stall housing and make manure handling a fast job for one man.

Several Rockcastle county farmers are presently installing with liquid-manure handling in their hog-feeding operations.

Dairymen have observed these and some have indicated they may change over to this type of operation within the next year.
With the decreasing supply of farm labor and its increased cost it will be necessary for the dairyman to upgrade his operation in every way possible to make dairying an attractive enterprise from both the profit and work-destrability standpoints.
Dairying has always been one of the most profitable and confining enterprises for Rockcastle county farmers. Changes which will reduce the drudgery and increase the profit will be welcomed by those farmers engaged in producing the world's finest food — milk.

What does it take to produce... a Glass of Milk

Dairying today is a far cry from the pioneer days when many folks had a family cow... and dairymen worked from dawn till dusk with pitchfork and team in the fields and milked their herds before dawn and after dark to take care of people's needs for this wonderfully refreshing and nutritive food.

This is where we come in.

We're specialists ourselves, in providing the dairy farmer with the modern equipment, the new machinery, that helps him to more efficient operation of his modern farm.

This, in turn, helps him to a better profit on his operations... something to which he is so much entitled for the services he renders the people.

Today's population explosion with its growing demand for more and more milk — of highest quality — and the many tempting dairy foods derived from milk, has made a specialist of the farmer who produces milk.

If still takes hard work. But more than this, it requires good management of a herd and a farm, business acumen, if you will.

We salute the Dairy Farmers of our country, in providing the dairy farmer with the modern equipment, the new machinery, that helps him to more efficient operation of his modern farm.

This, in turn, helps him to a better profit on his operations... something to which he is so much entitled for the services he renders the people.

Susanna Bradford, 19, of Tallahassee, Fla., American Dairy Princess for 1965-66, offers a milk toast above to the success of June Dairy Month. She will crown her successor at ceremonies scheduled for late this month in Chicago.

American Dairy Princess, 'First Lady' of Industry

Whoever is selected as the American Dairy Princess is qualified to rule as the "first lady" of the dairy industry. She knows the dairy industry for her father is a dairy farmer. She knows about milk — from milking a cow to using milk and other dairy foods in nutritious recipes. When she is probably a home economics major in college and has studied nutrition and the importance of milk and dairy products in a balanced diet. She knows how to "speak up for milk" for she has participated in food demonstrations and state princess contests. In addition to beauty, poise, intelligence and the ability to communicate effectively, the Princess is a refreshing presence of poise in a time of publicity contests.

She knows her job and she does it well. She calls attention to the importance of milk and dairy products for good nutrition from coast to coast in her appearances on network television and radio.

She "earns" editorial space in syndicated columns and food editors' columns with her newsworthy comments. Her attractive appearance epitomizes the product she represents. And with her ability to personalize her message, she is an effective communicator to many publics.

Thousands of qualified young ladies will compete in state contests for the privilege of competing for the national Princess crown.

The state winners will take part in the 12th Annual American Dairy Princess Contest, June 21-24.

The current Princess, 19 year old Florida State University Junior, Susanna Bradford of Tallahassee, will crown her successor on June 24 at the coronation ceremony in Chicago.

The new Princess, who becomes the youngest of American Dairy Association, will reign for 1965-67. Truly a Princess and a perfect spokesman for milk — nature's most nearly perfect food.

Rabid Dog Here

The first rabies found in a dog in many years in Rockcastle County was reported this week by the State Health Department at Frankfort.

A dog owned by Lou Hunt of near Broaddhead was found to be rabid when tests were made on the dogs head at the state laboratory at Frankfort.

The Health Department said they had been expecting rabies to turn up in dogs in the county for the past two summers, but to date the county had escaped.

Dr. Rudolph Burdette reported it was his first positive rabid case since he had been practicing here. Dr. Burdette said he had had rabies in cattle and in two skunks, but not in dogs. As a reminder a series of rabies clinics will be given by Dr. Burdette next week.

Below is a listing of the clinics where animals may be taken for vaccination:

STEAL CATTLE

There's been some cattle rustling in Rockcastle County the past few weeks, according to Sheriff Tip Reppert, who is investigating.

Mrs. Pattie Baker of Quail reported to Sheriff Reppert that sometime during the night of June 14, someone backed a truck up to a pasture fence, cut the fence and hauled away a white-face cow. They left her calf.

Sheriff Reppert said he had heard of two others that had been stolen at Conway, and another near the Lincoln County line, but owners have not reported them.

IN MEMORY OF W.E. TAYLOR

Oh, Daddy how we miss you, no one will ever know. We loved you so much Daddy, more than we showed. Someday we will be with you in Heaven so bright, where we will all be together and there will come no night.

Oh, Daddy we miss you why did you have to go. Your footsteps are one your presence no more. But some day we will meet you on that happy shore.

Home is so lonely since you have been gone. It makes me so sad to see your empty chair. You were always so kind, so true no one else on earth was just like you. The last time we saw you was in your casket surrounded by flowers so pretty and gay, but God had called you, you had to leave us that day. Too late to thank you for being a wonderful Dad. You were one of the best anyone ever had. We will always remember you deep in our heart and some day we will meet you where we shall never part. Sadly missed by his wife, and children.

IN APPRECIATION

We would like to thank our many friends for all the kindness shown us in the illness and death of our beloved wife and mother, Jennie Baker. We are especially grateful to Bro. J.W. Hall for his comforting prayer, to Lee and Laura Durham for the beautiful songs they did so well, to all who paid tribute with flowers, and the ones who prepared the delicious food. We say thank you from the very bottom of our hearts. Truly we are grateful. Ann B. Mullins The Baker Family 35917 especially those in this area whom we've known as customers, friends and neighbors!

During the many, many years we have worked quite closely with our local dairy farmers—serving their personal and family banking needs; helping them, through prompt low-cost credit services, to further their plans for the care and improvement of their land, livestock, equipment and buildings—we have become keenly aware of their special effort and enterprise, as dairy farmers, in producing a great variety of products essential to the health and vitality of our nation and its people.

Therefore, because JUNE IS DAIRY MONTH, we want to take this opportunity to join our fellow citizens throughout America in saying "Thank you!" and in praising the dairy farmers, their families and their "dairy foods—the best refreshers under the sun!"

To our local dairy farmers and neighbors we add a year-around invitation: Come into our "Fall Service" bank and see how many ways we—and our services—can help you, your family and your farm. Come in soon!
