He was a native of Rockcastle County and had previously lived in Florida.

Fiscal Court Proposes County-wide Fire Dept.

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court went on record as favoring the organization of a county fire department at the regular meeting of the court Tuesday.

The court also voted to maintain the fire department once it has been organized and established.

In March, the Rockcastle County Farm Bureau donated a $1200.00 bond to the fire department upon completion of the department being organized and equipped to meet requirements of the State Fire Marshal's office.

Once the department is organized and established to meet requirements of this office, fire rates would be lowered with an approximate radius of 5 miles of Mt. Vernon.

One of the first steps to be taken in the organization of a county fire department is that of recruiting a crew of about 12 men to serve as volunteer firemen. After these volunteers have been attained, an application will be submitted to state agencies for state funds to help the county buy an acceptable fire truck and other necessary equipment.

Steve Bullens, local forest ranger, informed the court that he had corresponded with the forestry department concerning a program which they have under which certain areas are supplied with a fire truck.

Mr. Bullens told the court that the forestry department felt that at present the best they could do for Rockcastle would be a surplus 2 1/2 ton truck upon which the county could mount a water tank of at least 1,000 gallon capacity and equip with a pump.

Judge Wayne Van Hook reminded the court that while this equipment might be of some use during an emergency, it would not come up to the standard requirements of the state to reduce insurance rates. Judge Van Hook noted that as long as the department was being organized, it may as well be organized in a manner that would reap the most benefits from it including the lowering of insurance rates.

The court then decided to appoint a temporary chief who could begin acquiring the needed 12 men and to ask that an employee of the Division of Fire Prevention meet with the court at its next regular meeting to give them full details on this project.

In other business before the court, Charles Baker, administrator of the Rockcastle County Baptist Hospital, introduced Don Shelton of Shelton Architectural Firm in Lexington and told members of the court that Mr. Shelton had met previously with the hospital board to discuss the hospital's need for a new hospital building.

Mr. Shelton then spoke to the court and explained exactly what would be involved in this project. According to Mr. Shelton, the cost for the building would be at least 50 to 75 per cent of the needed funds would be provided by the federal and state government leaving between 25 and 50 per cent of the cost for local financing, probably through a bond issue.

The addition would provide care up to 190 days per year for elderly persons who had been released from intensive hospital care.

Present facilities could be utilized for this, even though the hospital does contain two wings, since one entire wing would have to be turned over to this program in order to qualify for funds under the medicare bill.

Mr. Shelton could not give the court a definite cost for the addition, he said, since the cost would be determined by the number of beds the addition would serve. According to Mr. Shelton, the cost could range anywhere from $100,000 to $500,000. He also informed the court that his architectural firm operated on a contingency basis in these matters. This means, the architectural firm would draw up a preliminary report containing needed facts and figures and which would aid the court in deciding for or against the project. If the court decided not to go ahead with the addition, there would be no charge by Mr. Shelton's firm.

If, however, the court should decide to build the wing, Mr. Shelton's company would be architects for the project.

Mr. Baker then told the court that during an epidemic or when the present hospital was operating at capacity, the addition could be utilized for regular patients.

Members of the Fiscal Court informed Mr. Shelton and Mr. Baker that the proposal would be taken under consideration and an answer would be given at the next meeting of the court.

Another road was added to the rural road program during the meeting. The Chastreen Road, which is located on the West side of Scaffold Cane Road and leads to Fairview, a distance of 1.6 miles, was added to the program.

An addition was made and paved to ask the State Highway Department to replace the present bridge at the mouth of Wolf Creek

12 Day Split Season Set For Wild Turkey

Besides showers, April brings smiles to a large number of Kentucky sportsmen-- those who hunt wild turkey.

Only in Kentucky can sportsmen find pure wild turkeys, according to the State Fish and Wildlife Resources Department. Harry Towles, director of public relations, says the Land Between the Lakes National Recreation Area in West Kentucky where hunting is permitted "boasts the only remaining flock of true wild turkeys in the United States."

These birds, Towles said, are direct descendants of the turkeys which were found at the time of our Pilgrim forefathers."

All other birds called wild turkeys, while sharing a common ancestry with their West Kentucky cousins have crossed blood-lines with domesticated birds since the days of the Pilgrims, Towles said.

"A large number of these mixed-breed birds have been hunted and raised in captivity, and then released in the areas where they once were beautiful. This has been done in a 16-county area of Eastern Kentucky where turkey hunting is also permitted," said Towles.

In the S.E. region, turkey hunting is allowed each April on what formerly was the Kentucky Woodlands National Wildlife Refuge. Control of the refuge for migratory waterfowl and upland game was turned over to the Tennessee Valley Authority in 1964 for development as part of the outdoor recreation and conservation education center.

TVA officials report that a total of 19 birds were taken last April during a limited four-day season. Hunters are looking forward to a longer season this year. Three two-day hunts have been set for Western Kentucky. They are: April 7-8, April 14-15, and April 21-22.

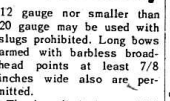

In Eastern Kentucky, two three-day turkey hunts have been scheduled for April 21-23 and April 28-30. Shooting hours for Eastern Kentucky hunters are from daylight until noon. Shooting in the L.B.L. area must end at 11 a.m. Persons hunting government lands will have to check in and out at two check points located within the area.

"A successful hunter may not assist another hunter in taking a wild turkey, and use of dogs is prohibited. Shotgun not larger than 12 gauge nor smaller than 20 gauge may be used with slugs prohibited. Long bows armed with barbed broad-head points at least 7/8 inches wide also are permitted.

The bag limit is one bird per hunter for the season and hunters may take only gobblers with visible beards. "By carefully controlling the hunting, we are hopeful the flock will grow and flourish," Towles stated.

Eastern Kentucky counties in which hunting is permitted are: Pulaski, Perry, Breathitt, Knott, Clinton, Leslie, Jackson, Owsley, Wolfe, Bath, Menifee, Powell, Laurel, Rockcastle, and portions of McCreary and Whitley Counties. Turkeys may also be hunted in season on the 8,000-acre private weapons area of the Daniel Boone National Forest.

"ONLY IN KENTUCKY-- can sportsmen find true North American wild turkeys; direct descendants of the wild birds hunted by the Pilgrims; similar to this bird at the Frankfurt game farm.

Babson's Authentic Report
 Although not all farmers had a good year in 1966, by and large agriculture did very well. Farm income rose to new high ground and export volume was encouragingly large. This year the outlook for farmers is not quite so rosy; nevertheless, 1967 promises to be good over all and generally profitable.
1967 FARM OUTPUT
 The Agriculture Department reports that 257 million acres will be seeded to 17 major crops in 1967, if farmers stick to their planting intentions. This would be 3% above last year's acreage. In spite of expected heavy increases in corn and sorghum plantings, it looks as if total feed-grain production would dip some 7 million tons from the goals set earlier by the Administration.
 Although farmers plan to up corn acreage this year by a hefty 7%, there is no guarantee that this would result in a proportionate output gain. Size of the final output will be determined by the rate of yield per acre. Our forecast is that total corn supply in the 1967-68 season (plus carryover) will be less than 5 billion bushels, and will top actual demand by only a nominal margin.
CATTLE AND HOG MARKETS
 Assuming farmers persevere in their intentions to rebuild cattle herds -- and chances are good that they will cutbacks in cattle and calf marketings later this year may just about cancel out expected heavier-than-year-ago hog runs. To put it another way: Whatever increase we see in hog output this year will not make for larger total livestock production.
 Over the next couple of months slaughter of steers and heifers will continue heavily, reflecting the large numbers still in feedlots. This will tend to limit cattle price upturns well into May at least. Even so, the bulk of factors suggests that cattle prices during the second quarter will average a bit higher than in the January-March period.
PRICES AND NET INCOME
 It is widely expected that agricultural prices will be higher this year than in 1966, but close examination of supply-demand trends indicates this will not be so. Best bet is that the average of farm product prices in 1967 will actually show a small decline. Much larger corn and sorghum crops, and a sizable upturn at least in wheat output, will mean lower quotes for these items. Hog, poultry, and egg prices also promise to be down from last year. And these projected price declines are unlikely to be offset by higher quotes for cattle, dairy products, and perhaps some selected grains.
 Of course the larger farm productivity in prospect will result in some increase in total receipts from agricultural marketings. A new record for gross farm income seems to be in the making. Realized net will be a different story, however, for farmers' expenses are rising rapidly. Labor cost, machinery prices, and taxes are all trending up. As a consequence, farmers' realized net income this year may be off from 1966 possibly by as much as 5%.

KEEP AHEAD OF CHANGE
 Farmers and others who depend on farm purchasing power for their own bread and butter cannot fully insulate themselves from the impact of high costs. But they can become more prosperous, keeping abreast of the economic and technological developments affecting agriculture. They must be prepared for a further decline in the number in the number of farms and for additional increases in farm size.
 Make no mistake about it, farms having less than 20,000 in product sales annually are on the way out. But larger farms will become still more highly mechanized and more profitable. And the market for feed, seeds, and equipment will grow far beyond current expectations.

SILAGE - FORAGE CLINIC HELD

Livestock industry can be increased through grain and silage production according to S. H. Phillips, U.K. Co-operative Extension Service Agent.

Mr. Phillips, Manuel B. Arnett, Area Extension Agent in Agronomy and George Turner, Extension Specialist in Agricultural Engineering, all participated in a silage clinic which was held last week at the Rockcastle County Courthouse.

Mr. Phillips told those present that the corn surplus has virtually disappeared and prices are more favorable. Mr. Phillips further stated that high yields are most desirable and gave some tips on getting them:

1. Use high-yielding hybrids, single-cross inbreds for the top producers. Buy seed early as some hybrids are in short supply.

2. Plant early - April 20 to May 10 for best yields. Delayed plantings reduce per-acre yields a half bushel in mid-May to as high as three bushels an acre for June plantings. Fertilize for top yields. Check needs with a soil test first. Continuous-corn fields need about 100 to 150 pounds an acre of nitrogen.

3. Plant thickly. Use 16,000 to 18,000 stalks for the taller, full-season corn. Use 20,000 to 24,000 stalks for the very early, short-height hybrids. Plant population (plants per acre) are tied in with soil potentials, natural or applied fertility and type hybrid used. Narrow-rows might increase yields 3 to 5 bushels an acre under Kentucky conditions.

4. Even stands help good production. So, plant slowly; run the tractor from 3 to 4 miles an hour to avoid skips. Be sure your grade of seed corn matches the planter-plate.

5. Insects are big enemies. Control soil insects such as wireworm, cutworm, rootworms and root aphids. Soil insecticides should go on before planting. Check with area agents in your county for information on this.

6. Weeds are moisture-robers. Control them with chemicals or cultivation, or a combination of the two. Check with your area agent for this information. He is at your area extension office.

Mr. Phillips' recommendations on corn-silage production are:

1. Use high-yield, grain-type hybrid corns (stay away from the late, tall-growing leafy hybrids). Plant at the same rate as for a grain crop, 16,000 to 18,000 stalks an acre (seven to eight inches apart in 40-inch rows) and 20,000 to 24,000 plants an acre for short-maturity hybrids.

2. Fertilize for high yields. Extra nitrogen produces a high grain yield, and uses the protein level.

3. Knock out weeds - they reduce yields.

4. Don't mix other crops, such as sorghum or soybeans, in the row. Let the corn grow alone.

5. Cut silage-corn at full-tender stage for best quality and highest tonnage.

Mr. Arnett talked about the proper selection of land for forage-crop production and Mr. Turner dealt with types of silos, equipment, and methods of handling and feeding silage.

Others participating in the clinic were: Lloyd Cain, Tommy Mink, Clay A. Colson, Harlan Parthing, Gatliff Craig, Leo Hunt, C. B. Bussell, Earl Roberts, Jack R. Whitaker, Kenneth Stewart, Howard Lind, John Lasswell, John L. Bullock, W. S. Stewart, Bill Norton, Harley Adams, Charles E. Hackley, Smith T. Powell, and H. Lee Durham.

MINIMUM WAGE FOR FARMERS

MINIMUM WAGE FOR MINIMUM WAGE FOR FARMERS

In the fall of 1966, the President of the United States signed into law a bill to amend the Fair Labor Standards Act - The Federal Minimum Wage Law. This bill extends, for the first time, federal minimum-wage coverage to about 390,000 farmworkers.

This new act specifies that for a farmer to be covered, he must have used 500 man-days of labor in any one quarter in the preceding calendar year. A "man-day" is defined as any day during any portion of which an employee performs any agricultural labor (including Saturdays and Sundays). This means that if a farmer had in his employment seven men for 72 days (7 men x 72 days equals 504 man-days) in one 3 month period during 1966, he must pay the minimum wage in 1967. Under the definition of a workday (being one hour workday), it will mean a 7-day work-week on many farms.

In determining the number of man-days, the new law specifically exempts the following people: An agricultural employee who is a parent, spouse, child or other member of his employer's immediate family; and a hand-harvest employee paid on a piece-rate basis in an operation which has been, and is customarily and generally recognized in the region as having been paid on this basis, who commutes daily from his permanent residence to the farm where he is so employed, and who has been employed in agriculture less than 13 weeks during the preceding calendar year.

Farmers who used more than 500 man-days in one quarter in the preceding calendar year will be required to pay the following minimum wages: $1.00 per hour beginning Feb. 1, 1967; $1.15 per hour beginning Feb. 1, 1968; and $1.30 per hour beginning Feb. 1, 1969.

WILD GARLIC, CRAB GRASS TREATMENTS OUGHT TO GO ON NOW

Treatments to control wild garlic (wild onion) and crab grass, two weed pests in home lawns and in pastures, ought to be done now, says Dr. James Herron, U.K. Co-operative Extension Service weed-control specialist.

Applications ought to be done before mid-April, he says, for best results.

WILD GARLIC IN HOME LAWNS: Treat when temperature in the 60's and 70's can be expected for four or five days. Use straight 2, 4-D (low volatile or amine type) at label directions. Combinations of 2, 4-D and 2,4,5-T, or 2, 4-D and Banvel-D, or 2, 4-D and Silvex, or Silvex alone, are also suitable. Observe label directions for rates, safety, and times. Avoid drift of spray onto ornamentals, flowers, home gardens.

Sprays prior to mid-April are recommended to stop garlic bulbs from developing.

Any material containing Banvel-D or Silvex will also kill chickweed.

PASTURES: Use two pounds active material per acre of 2, 4-D, low volatile or amine type. Keep livestock off treated areas for 7 days after application. Try to spray when temperature will be in 60's and 70's for four or five days. This application will also get many broadleaf weeds.

At the two-pound rate, Dr. Herron warns, legumes in pastures may be injured or killed.

CRABGRASS IN HOME LAWNS: In established lawns, use a pre-emergent treatment. Materials recommended are one of the following: Azax, Bandane, Benefin, Betasan, Dacthal, Tupersan or Zyrton. (These materials are marked as active agents in various trade-name crabgrass killers).

In new lawns, use only Tupersan (Sidoron). This material is selective in bluegrass or fescue; that is, will kill crabgrass without killing young bluegrass or fescue seedlings.

Follow label directions for either established or newly-seeded lawns.

WHAT'S FOR LUNCH?
When the noon hour comes immediate mixing with a cup of milk.

For added interest, place a spoonful of thawed frozen or fresh sliced strawberries in the bottom of the glass before you drink the prepared strawberry flavor shake. Or as a variation, try a Soda Shake:

1/2 cup cold milk
1 pouch strawberry flavor
shaker mix
1/2 cup cold club soda
1 scoop vanilla ice cream

Pour milk into shaker or jar with tight-fitting cover. Add contents of pouch. Cover. Shake vigorously for 15 seconds. Add soda. Stir. Pour into glass; add ice cream. Makes 1 serving.

In the meantime, arrange a salad of tomato wedges, carrot and celery sticks, and lettuce on the side of luncheon plates. Then make up a batch of new strawberry flavor Great Shakes Shake Mix. So easy to do, since each serving is individually packaged for they are about the same. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Longand daughter of Plainfield, Ind. have been here visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hoy Taylor and other relatives.

IN MEMORY OF
Mrs. George Parrett

I Will Meet You Up There

While lonely I gaze at the vacant chair, but dear someday I will meet you up there.

Then dear darling in our sorrow we so sweetly together shared.

So we'll be over there, so in all of the pain we shared together, here it will all be over when we meet again up there.

So while I am so lonely down here in my sorrow all alone to share but I know it will be over up there.

So I know when sorrows have come to an end and looking to Heaven so so fast, I know I will meet you up there.

So I know darling in all of the heartaches we bore together here does not compare to what Heaven will be when we meet up there.

So darling all I could say down here but it will be good morning up there.

Husband,
George Parrett

To The Voters of Rockcastle County

I wish to thank you people for the encouragement you have given me since my announcement in Rockcastle County for State Senator. However, I know my opponent, Mr. Carles, has support in the County. I have spotted the district enough to know the shape-up of the race, and I am now ready to begin the campaign in full swing. I will not be able to see all of you personally, but I want each of you to know I want your help, by strength in Rockcastle County should be in my friends, my devotion to the Republican Party, my ability to work with the Administration in power and not be a rubber stamp for anyone.

I am studying the possibility of legislation that will make it mandatory for all gravel roads to be blacktopped soon. We have the money and with proper use, it can be done without any further taxes.

I am placing a call on you for the property tax rate to stop this increase of property taxes.

I was one of an eleven member legislative committee in 1966 that helped convince Governor Breathitt that he had approx. 24 million dollars that he didn't know he had. None of my opponents have cited a contribution to such a cause, even though one was a member of the Legislative Committee, was drawn by lot on a committee of nine, including eight Democrats and myself in Investments and recommended to the Senate in 1962 the contract of Pennac (Dem.) versus Swove (Rep.) Swove, the Republican was named.

I am not involved in other races, but I will support the Republican nominees in November, as I have always done in the past.

I ask your help. I need your help. I need your help and I shall be grateful to you for your help.

THANK YOU!

DON'T GO!

Where? Anywhere - unless you go insured. Perhaps your business or your social life takes you to the far corners of the country, to Europe, to exotic places. Perhaps you never go beyond your office or your own neighborhood.

But accidents can strike anywhere, on a luxury liner, or in the parking lot behind your local movie. Why risk your family's financial health. Ask us about low-cost travel insurance. Just phone.
