FREQUENCY OF SOIL TESTING FOR VARIOUS CROPS
The question of how frequent to test soil for a particular field usually comes up each year. The following recommendations by extension personnel in soil and fertilizer are offered to help answer this question.

1. Continuous tobacco and continuous corn land should be tested each year.
2. Tobacco land in rotation should be tested in the fall or spring just prior to the tobacco crop.
3. Permanent pasture and reference land should be tested every three or four years, or once during the rotation. It is preferable to test rotation land just before the small grain crop.
4. Alfalfa land should be tested before seeding.

A. If this test is high or very high in phosphorus and potassium no fertilizer is recommended and this field should be tested every second year to determine when fertility is reduced to a point where an application is needed.

If the initial test indicates a need for either phosphorus or potassium but not for the other, this field should be tested every second year for the nutrient not applied at seeding.

B. If the initial test indicates a need for phosphorus and potassium, this need should be supplied; then if the farmer follows the top dressing recommendation of 60 pounds of P2O5 and 120 pounds of K2O per acre annually, no further test is needed as long as the crop produces well.

C. Where alfalfa is growing but no soil test has been made, a test should be made to determine which of the above categories the field falls into. If the field should be treated accordingly.

D. For other vegetables continuously should be tested annually.

6. Strawberry land should be tested before setting the plants.

SOYBEANS FOR GRAIN PURPOSES INCREASING IN KENTUCKY, UK SAYS
Soybean production for grain purposes is getting very popular in Kentucky, says S. H. Phillips, U. K. Cooperative Extension Service agronomist.

Prices are favorable if good yields are obtained; soybeans perform well on poorly drained soils; double cropping with small grain is possible; and corn equipment can be used and there is a lower fertilizer investment than

Recommendations for 1967:
Very early: Wayne and Shelby; early: Kent and Clark 63; medium maturity: Hill; late maturity: Hood.

Plant from May 1 to May 20 for best yields. Test soil and usually apply 200 to 400 pounds an acre to 0-20-20 analysis.

Narrow rows may produce higher yields, Phillips points out. But no crop will do well unless weeds are controlled by chemicals or cultivation, or both. Check with your area agent at the county extension office for information.

CROCUS-BING OF SPRING
Crocus is a very early flower that is grown in gardens in most parts of the world. They bloom and wither weeks before it is time to cut the grass. They are inexpensive and easy to grow.

The crocus is an ancient flower and many stories are given in Greek mythology about this member of the lily family. The plant also produces a substance called Safron, which was used as a stimulant in medicines; also it was used as a coloring in cakes and candies.

Flowers can be yours the year around. We keep them in an abundant supply at all times. We are as close as your telephone, call 256-2091.

SOUL CONSERVATION NEWS
CLOVERS STAY IN SOIL
Pastures or hay fields with a good mixture of legumes and grass is the goal of all good farmers. Just what are the ways to maintain this balance of legumes and grasses? Here are some of the answers and some or all may be useful to you in maintaining good pastures and hay crops.

The first requirement for keeping a balance of grasses and legumes is to maintain plenty of lime in the soil. Limas is necessary too, for maximum yields. In fact, some of the clovers will grow if the soil is too limeless. This should be done with a soil test. Too much lime will tie up fertilizer elements of phosphate and potash and the plants will perish from starvation.

The next practice to add in long lived legume and grass stands is to keep a proper balance of phosphate and potash in the soil. Fertilizer such as 5-20-20 is much better in treating fields to maintain this balance than an analysis such as 4-12-4. Legumes are heavy feeders on potash. Another practice to help maintain well balanced grass and legume stands is weed control. To do this several management practices are required. Keeping high fertility, so the pasture or hay crops grow luxuriantly and the weeds can't get started, is important. How grasses and legumes are managed after you get a stand, determines how well they yield and how long you have a good ground cover. Never let your cattle over graze a pasture.

EDA Helps Finance Study For Industrial Development

Approval of $59,830 to help finance a study to determine the feasibility of an industrial plant to be built somewhere in a four-State region of Appalachia was announced today by the Economic Development Administration, U. S. Department of Commerce. The EDA assistance was requested by the Council of the Southern Mountains Inc., a non-profit organization located at Berea, Ky., which is interested in promoting industrial development in the Appalachian Region. The organization is furnishing $11,000 toward the $70,830 project cost. The one-year technical assistance project will involve the evaluation of resources and capabilities of 105 counties in Kentucky (including Rockcastle), North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia, which are eligible for EDA assistance. The applicant said the study would attempt to determine

City Council Approves Sale Of Natural Gas Franchise

W. K. Kindrick and an associate from the W.K. Contracting Co. of Dahville met with the Mt. Vernon City Council Thursday night to discuss further natural gas for the city of Mt. Vernon. Mr. Kindrick explained to the council some of the steps which would be necessary for the council to take in order to acquire this public utility. One of the first things the City must do is to advertise the franchise for sale, on a certain date, to the highest and best bidder. In this week's issue of the Signal, a notice of sale, along with Ordinance No. 291, will be found. This legal advertisement must run for three weeks and the franchise will be let April 28, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. The Public Service Commission requires that any firm bidding on the franchise must apply for a permit certifying their qualifications. After the franchise is awarded, a Certificate of Necessity and Convenience is issued by the PSC. Then according to Mr. Kindrick, the purchaser must apply to the Federal Power Commission for a gas allocation. Mr. Kindrick told the council that this part of the procedure usually took the longest amount of time, sometimes as long as 6 months. Section 6 of the ordinance states that the purchaser must be given a reasonable length of time to complete requirements of the franchise. If the purchaser should fail to "meet" the requirements within the specified length of time (usually two years), the franchise is null and void. Since the purchaser bears the expense for all necessary transactions, the only thing the city could possibly lose is time. Mr. Kindrick stated that the necessary construction would be completed within 60 days once the necessary paperwork was completed. In other business before the council, Mayor Linville informed members that L & N officials had asked the city to terminate their lease on the old L & N Railroad depot. Mayor Linville asked the council if this was agreeable with them and if so, he would negotiate with the railroad company for the termination of the lease on the condition that the depot be torn down. The Mayor also suggested that the city ask L & N for the space to be used as a city parking lot on a lease basis. A motion was made and passed on this matter. John Lair was present at the meeting to ask the council if there might be a possibility of the old Chastain home, located at Renfro Valley, being given to him to be moved to his property, at his expense, and restored to its original condition. According to Mr. Lair, he felt that since this was now the oldest house in Rockcastle County it should be preserved as an historical landmark. Mr. Lair said that once the house was moved and restored, it would be open to the public. Mayor Linville told Mr. Lair that he felt this was an excellent idea and would personally like to see this done. However, Mayor Linville said a final decision would have to be postponed until the council had decided definitely what would be the disposition of the buildings on the city's lake property at Renfro. The council also decided that for economic reasons, it would be necessary to cut back the city police force. Dennis Cromer, who has been on the force about 15 years, was laid off. The city is encountering difficulty meeting its present operating expenses and are taking a series of economy measures to try and help correct this problem. WEATHER

Increased cloudiness Thursday with chance of showers.

WHAT GOES HERF!! seems to be the query of these youngsters out for a streech at noon-time as they watch County Attorney Jimmy Lambert's house go rolling by. Attorney Lambert is moving the dwelling, formerly located at the corner of Newcomb and Richmond Streets, to the former D. C. Bullock property now owned by Mr. Lambert. He plans to construct a new brick home at the old location.

Library Week Set For April 16 - 22

County Judge Wayne Van Brock has proclaimed the week of April 16 through 22 as Library Week. During this period, communities throughout the United States will celebrate the tenth National Library Week. In addition, each participating library will receive a "Thorndike & Bamhart Dictionary." "So visit the library, bring new readers and let's read new books, and also get the Dictionary," Mrs. Davis said. During National Library Week, all overdue books will be fine free for the entire week. If you have long-overdue books, bring them in and there will be no charges.

the most suitable types of industries and the best possible site for location of a plant. Once a site is selected, the applicant intends to assist in the formation of a company, help with the financing and provide other needed assistance. The applicant told EDA that the project, if successful, could provide the experience and knowledge to promote the location of other industrial plants at various locations in Kentucky. New employment opportunities are needed in the Appalachian Region, where many areas have unemployment rates in excess of 10 per cent and one-third of the families have annual incomes less than $3,000. EDA was created to assist the Nation with lagging economies. In addition to technical assistance funds, the agency provides public work grants and loans and business loans.

Funds Allocated For "Awareness" Program

The University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service has allocated $7,400 for three extension areas for an "Awareness Program" for 4th graders of the areas. The three areas are: Wilderness Trail (which includes Rockcastle County), Quick Sand, and Pine Mountain. These areas consist of a total of 19 counties. The program was kicked off with a dinner April 4th at the Renfro Valley Lodge with 4th grade teachers, county school officials, and members of the extension service present. The objectives of this program, "Exploring Your Community," are: (1) To provide young people of the 4th grade level in the 19-county Eastern Kentucky area an opportunity to develop a greater degree of understanding of the career opportunities available. (2) To provide experiences for the youth that will introduce them to the "world of work." (3) To aid youth in becoming aware of the problems and opportunities associated with migration as it affects their families and its relationship to their own future. (4) To aid the schools, community, and youth of the area in raising the level of aspirations of the 4th grade youth. Under the first objective, the students will be asked to find out some of the more interesting places in the county to visit and to make oral reports on the places. In the program, pupils will be given the opportunity to visit some enterprises in the county, such as:

Babson's Authentic Report

TEACHERS' STRIKES All across the country school budgets are skyrocketing. Funds have to be provided for new or improved buildings and facilities, for updated textbooks and visual aids, and for raising salary requirements for teachers and administrators. But in spite of all efforts, teachers by and large apparently are not satisfied. There is real danger that teachers' strikes—once unheard of, but now by no means rare—will spread and intensify.

WHAT DO TEACHERS WANT? During the past decade or so, teachers have become much more fully organized than ever before. Their federations and labor unions are more aggressive and more articulate in local communities and they have stepped up their lobbying at state capitols. What are they after? The essence of most teacher demands of late has been money. Even in cases where local school boards have (often quite reluctantly, to be sure) agreed to improve mentally large salary increases, greater fringe benefits, and improved working conditions, teachers are reported to be still unhappy.

PROFESSIONAL RECOGNITION They are also groping for something which their profession has lost during the past several years,—the spontaneous respect of the child and everybody understood education's general purpose. Now there is much confusion and difference of opinion between teachers, school officials, parents, and businessmen regarding educational goals. An eminent American professor, Rev. Dr. Henry Vfn Dyke, once said: "The true object of education is to train one to think clearly and act rightly." That and other wholesome definitions of teachers' educational goals have been obscured in recent years as we have overemphasized diplomas and degrees while undervaluing the development of human qualities of mind and spirit not measurable by tests and examinations. UNCLEAR THINKING Most of us are sadly aware that the influence of the church upon our young people is nowhere near as pervasive as it once was. Unfortunately, too, there has been a breakdown of discipline in the home. On the one hand—alert to the competitive nature of our society—we urge our children toward diplomas and degrees that we hope will open the door to good-paying jobs. On the other hand, we give our children the bad example of rating comfort, ease, and self-indulgence much too highly.

We try to hard to insulate ourselves from tension, forgetting that tension is itself a sign of life and that some anxiety is the price we must pay for being intelligently. Is it any wonder our teachers have difficulty emphasizing and encouraging clear thinking?

NEW PERSPECTIVES NEEDED Teachers' strikes are a mistake. They are against the public good and they do grave harm to teachers' interests. They are a wrong approach and are tantamount to an admission that teachers themselves are not thinking clearly in acting nobly. Where persistent negotiations have left teachers short of their goals, the truculence and antagonism implicit in a strike—only emphasizes that the strike weapon is still not the answer.

Most school boards recognize the importance of teachers in community life. In most cases the stubbornness and recalcitrance of officials in the matter of teachers' salaries is based on cold fiscal facts rather than on indifference toward teachers' needs. Everybody loses when there is a hardening of hostility between school boards and teachers. What is needed are new perspectives on the whole question of education and how it is to be financed... and a closer relationship between our secondary schools and our colleges and universities.

STATE SENATOR
 Republican Primary, May 23

Friends,
 I want to be your Senator from the 19th Senatorial District. I am a young man, married, and have one child. My home is in Laurel County. I have served two terms as State Representative from Laurel County. I have tried my best to do a good job as their representative and I want to help my neighbors in Rockcastle and the other counties in the 19th District as their State Senator.

I am working hard trying to see as many of you people as I can. However, I realize, at this time, that it will be impossible to see all of you.

Traveling through the counties, I find many people already working for me since they already know my record as Laurel county's representative and they know I will do a good job as State Senator.

My opponents, except one, are employed full-time at a good salary. Your local man, Charles Carter, is 72 years old, draws three pensions, and has his living made. I, being a young man, must do a good job as your State Senator to protect my future.

Another opponent stated recently that he was a member of an 11-man legislative committee whereby he helped convince Governor Erath that he had approximately $24,000,000 that he did not know he had. This is an absolute falsehood. This man couldn't have been a member of any Legislative Committee when he wasn't a member of any Legislature. I and the rest of the Republican members of the Legislature, as a group, found this money and it was put to the proper use.

Regardless of what my opponents may tell you, I will get at least 80% of the vote in my county of Laurel. Laurel has 15,000 registered Republicans, which is more than twice as many registered Republicans and nearly three times as many as any of the counties in the district.

My county officers have asked me to relay in this message the fact that they are all for me and are working hard and hope that the people in the other counties do so.

I am in good shape in Jackson and Owsley Counties, and I expect to carry the counties with a substantial majority. Don't pay any attention to political rumors, desperate men say desperate things trying to gain the lead.

If elected, I will make you the kind of State Senator you deserve and never make you ashamed of having voted for me. I will make you the hardest working State Senator you have ever had.

In Memory
In loving memory of Robert Crocker who passed away Oct. 3, 1965. This is the 3rd day of April. Just six short months ago; since God called you away, Oh Robert how we miss you. No one can ever know, and why you were called away so sudden it don't seem it can be so. Your vacant place can never be filled. No one to cheer me now. No smiles to see no more, but how happy we can be, when we meet on the other shore. Robert your worries is all over. I know the Lord knowed best. And he had a cause to take you home to rest, but the memories of you still lingers in our hearts. But some day we can be together. Where we want have to part—saddy missed by wife Mollie and children.
