In sweet corn, where the disease usually hits young plants hard, yellowish streaks develop in older leaves. They may turn brown and die. The plant is stunted and may have a premature white tassel. When an infested stalk is cut, a yellowish substance may ooze from the stalk; very young, infested plants may die.

Dent of field corn is much less susceptible to the disease than sweet corn. Infected plants show long pale green streaks on leaves. These turn yellow and finally straw colored. This phase is known as leaf blight and occurs most often after tasseling.

225 GIRLS TO BE RECRUITED FOR JOB

The Kentucky Employment Service is helping recruit some 225 girls for the Job Corps by the end of June, says State Economic Security Commissioner C. Leslie Dawson.

The Employment Service, which has recruited only boys, joins Women in Community Service, Inc., in recruiting girls. Federal officials, asked that the Employment Service recruit in areas where the WICS has not reached enough girls or does not have offices.

Girls may contact any local employment service office or a WICS office in Louisville, Lexington or Paducah.

The Job Corps is a residential training program to give boys and girls, ages 16 to 21, basic education, skill training and work experience. It is operated by the Federal Office of Economic Opportunity.

The State Employment Service has recruited and screened some 4,200 boys for the Job Corps since March 1965.

Dawson explained that new centers for girls have opened recently and that the Bureau of Employment Security in the U. S. Department of Labor has been asked by Job Corps officials to recruit some 5,000 girls nationwide by June.

All The Things You Are
It's not what you have, but what you do with it that counts. Everything about you combines to create your image. The trick is to take stock of yourself and always put your best face forward. So maybe your nose is a trifle large—or a trifle short—or even a little crooked. Don't panic! Learn to focus attention on your best features. You can do it with your personality and with a little extra beauty care.

GRADUATES.—George Wilton Griffith, son of Dr. and Mrs. George H. Griffith, graduated, Saturday, May 6, from the University of Kentucky, Somerset Community College in Somerset. He will enter the University of Kentucky, Main Campus at Lexington in the fall for further pre-medical training.

Knowing When To Let Your Hair Down
How you manage to look so glamorous on Saturday night should remain your very own closely guarded secret. It's part of your intrigue. So why risk going to the store with your hair in rollers? If he sees you, who's to say which picture he will remember? Take a curlier cue from us—let your hair down before you go out, particularly when you're not sure who's watching.

WILL YOU LOVE THE WEATHER. IN DECEMBER AS YOU DO IN MAY?

Electric heating will sure help!

There's little you can do about the changing seasons. But maintaining perfect summertime comfort indoors, right on through the worst winter, is simple — if you include modern electric heating in your home building or remodeling plans. Electric heat responds quickly and automatically — quietly, too — and it's unbelievably clean because flameless electricity just can't make dirt. No dusty pipes or ducts, either, or sudden bursts of air. And you can enjoy individual room-to-room thermostatic control — to dial in a cool bedroom, toasty bathroom, cozy nursery.

For planning help or more information without obligation, stop in at your local KU office and ask about electric heating — the way of today!

Sick and tired of chasing dust? Will cutlure your annoying dust problem. All cleaners use airflow to clean. Because they force it through bags or dry filters, airflow is reduced and so is their ability to pick up dirt. As dirt clogs bags and filter pores, airflow is further impeded. Your gentle face and pleasant smile, with sadness we recall; oh, bitter was the trail, to part when you left us all.

You are not forgotten - Mother, nor will you ever be as long as life and memory last, we will remember thee.

We miss you now our hearts are sore, as time goes by we miss you more, surrounded by friends we are lonely. In the midst of our love we are blue.

With a smile on our lips we have heartaches. Our lips can not tell how much we miss you.

Our hearts can not tell what to say, God only knows how we miss you. In a home that is lonely today.

Walnut

Walnut timber is a crop, and a valuable one. As such, the mature trees should be harvested in an orderly workmanlike manner to insure that:

- the smaller trees (the crop of tomorrow) are not damaged, and
- selective cutting gives trees every opportunity of reaching maturity in the shortest possible time, and,
- a forest management plan be drawn up which would include the plan of seedling.

This Wood-Mosaic is prepared to do under the careful supervision of graduate, trained foresters. This has been our business for more than eighty years.

The purchase price was approximately $100,000. Mr. Dean bought the land from several landowners in the area and resold it to Standard Oil. Involved in the transaction were: Hubert and Mandy Vanzant, Paul and Latheda Detherage, George and Pearly Deatherage, Charles and Ruby Treadway, Chester and Mary McClure, and Bill Thomason.

Clark Brown of Mt. Vernon will operate the service station, restaurant and truck stop. Mr. Brown presently operates White Star Truck Stop near Livingston. According to Mr. Harper, the business will remain open under new management and will be sold outright.

Standard Oil has also purchased a location on the south side of Interstate-75 near Renfro Valley from W. L. Oliver of Erlanger. This location contains approximately two acres and construction is expected to begin about July 1. Only a service station will be erected on this site.

JEFFERSON COUNTY JUDGE MARLOW COOK...
Republican Candidate For Governor in the May Primary

Cook Brings Campaign To Rockcastle County

Marlow Cook, County Judge of Jefferson County, spoke to a crowd estimated at 100 at the Rockcastle County Courthouse Thursday morning.

Before the speaking, Judge Cook visited in Mt. Vernon, meeting with many people and shaking as many hands as possible. He was accompanied to Mt. Vernon by Elmer Begley, candidate for Secretary of State, Jack Jenkins, candidate for State Treasurer, Lester Burns, candidate for Attorney General, Dick Vermillion, candidate for Clerk, Court of Appeals, and Mr. Cook's campaign chairman from Madison County.

Magistrate Wally Phillips, Cook's County Chairman, welcomed the crowd and introduced Mr. Begley, who is presently county judge of Leslie County, and a candidate for the office of Secretary of State. Mr. Begley said one of the youngest county judges ever elected in Kentucky and is president of the Kentucky County Judges' Association. Mr. Begley told the audience that "we were very fortunate to be able to hear the issues of this campaign."

He also spoke at length on Judge Cook's achievements since coming to office in Jefferson County and he told his listeners that the people of Jefferson County loved Marlow Cook as evidenced by the fact that in Cook's first campaign, he was elected by a majority of 20,000 votes and in his second campaign, he was elected by a majority of 55,000 votes. Mr. Begley said "I believe he (Cook) will be the next governor of this great state of ours, and if he were president of this great country of ours, it would be in better shape."

Attorney Carl Clontz introduced Judge Cook and said that Cook had proven to be a man who is not afraid to propose a program and to then carry it out.

Judge Cook began his talk by tackling one of the side issues of the campaign, that he was not a native Kentuckian. He told the crowd that "one of the things that can't be helped is that you must be where your mother is when you are born, and my parents were in Akron, N. Y."

According to Judge Cook, his father had been sent there to open up a branch of the Louisville Cement Company. Cook named some prominent Republican leaders of the land that are not natives of the state which they presently serve, such as: Reagan, Romney, and U.S. Rep. William Cowger.

He also told his audience that in the latter part of '66, he told Nunn that if Nunn should defeat him in the primary, he (Cook) would be his Campaign Chairman in the fall, if he so desired.

Judge Cook then read an article in which Nunn was quoted as saying, in reference to Cook's offer, "I don't need him." Cook reminded his audience that the Republican candidate, whom ever he may be, would need everyone he could get since there were only 470,000 registered Republicans in Kentucky and 1,250,000 registered Democrats.

One of the major issues of the campaign was brought up when Judge Cook explained to the crowd how the texted of the state and school transportation issue had gotten started. According to Nunn, Cook had stated on a TV show in Louisville that from textbooks and transportation were phases of schooling that I feel could be eliminated."

Judge Cook explained that he had been a guest on "What's Your Question," a TV show originating out of Louisville and at that time in Jefferson County over 60,000 school children were on double session. A tax increase proposal to build needed additional schools and classrooms had been turned down by the voters.

During the program, a viewer telephoned the station and asked what was going to be done about the double session situation. Judge Cook stated that at that time he said he didn't have a solution, but perhaps one answer would be to go to the East end of Louisville, where residents have 2 or 3 cars sitting in their garages and let them furnish their own school transportation and textbooks.

According to Cook, the Fiscal Court of Jefferson County, which has nothing to do with the county school system, appropriated $700,000 out of its budget to help the school system build a few additional classrooms to enable a few children to be taken off of double session.

"The county also installed about 400 street lights in order to have a street light at every school bus stop," Cook stated.

Judge Cook also answered charges that Jefferson County had let the Republican ticket down in 1963. He quoted some facts and figures from districts throughout the state, such as: Fifth District which had 156,691 registered Republicans and from which Nunn received 71,193 votes; Seventh District with 87,141 registered Republicans and 66,627 voted for Nunn; Second District, which includes Barron County, Nunn's home territory, with 53,509 registered Republicans and 50,823 voted for Nunn, and the Third District, which includes Jefferson County, and had 60,649 registered Republicans and where Nunn received 49,491 votes. "I am proud of this Republican organization," Cook said.

Cook also chided the previous administration.

Buckeye Road Petition Answered

J. P. Noonan, District Engineer from the Somerset office of the Kentucky Department of Highways has informed Magistrate G. H. (Hobe) Griffin by letter that "serious consideration will be given to aid you by the reconstruction of this road (Buckeye Road)."

A petition, signed by approximately 200 persons, was forwarded to Mr. Noonan requesting the improvement of Buckeye Road in order that Buckeye Christian Church might be attended.

In part, Mr. Noonan's letter read, "As you know, the first 0.5 mile of this road has been improved and is now under the County Aid Road Program beginning with its junction with US 25. I have been informed that this section of road approximately 1.5 miles from US 25 and after its completion, serious consideration will be given to aid you by the reconstruction of this road."

"You may inform the petitioners of the statements I have made in this letter and we will keep their petition for future reference."

According to Magistrate Griffin, this leaves the door open for possible help in the near future.

DEADLINE NEARS
Less than three months for veterans of World War 11 to use their guarantee privileges for a loan to purchase a home, farm or for business purposes. This warning came from W. Stratton, chief benefits director of the Veterans Administration.

Present statutes provide that the absolute cutoff date for World War 11 veterans will be on July 25, 1967. This deadline is the result of Congressional action which has delayed the final date of eligibility several times.

The cutoff will not affect veterans of the Korean Conflict or veterans who have served since January 31, 1955. Stratton pointed out, as these veterans are covered by different legislation.

Almost seven million loans have been guaranteed by the Veterans Administration to veterans since the beginning of the program following the World War 11. One out of every five homes constructed in the United States following World War 11 was with VA guarantee.

The Veterans Administration will guarantee 60 percent of a loan of $7,500, whichever is less, for home loan purposes.

Stratton urged veterans planning to purchase a home to make their selection as soon as possible, avoiding the last minute rush for certification.

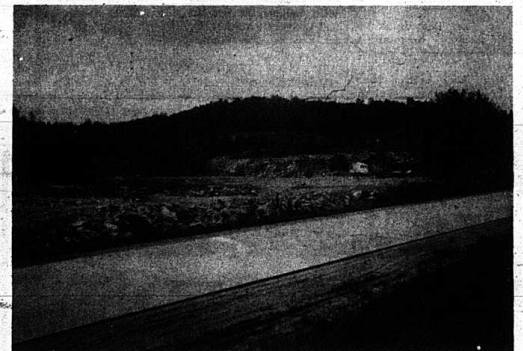

Mt. Vernon Hosts District Play

Thirteen is not always an unlucky number as Casey County High School and Kinney High School proved in opening rounds of district baseball play at Mt. Vernon Monday.

Casey downed Houstonville by a score of 13-3 and McKinney downed Waynesburg Memorial 13-2. In a night game, Mt. Vernon earned its way into the semi-finals by edging Liberty 6-5 in an extra inning game.

Jerry Hodges had a home run in the bottom of the 7th to tie the game and David Nicely scored the winning run in the eighth when Liberty catcher Jim Witt touched home plate, thinking it was a base play, instead of tagging Nicely.

Mt. Vernon met Crab Orchard, Wednesday afternoon, and in this game were not available at press time.

SITE PURCHASED- The above 37 acre site, located on US 25 near the Burr Interchange of Interstate-75, has been purchased by Standard Oil of Kentucky (see lead story) for a service station, restaurant, truck stop, and motel complex. This will be one of the largest establishments of its kind in the state. Construction is expected to begin this summer.

EVERGREEN BAGWORM INFESTATIONS STARTING UP AGAIN IN KENTUCKY

Check evergreen around homes for the telltale cigar-shaped spindles that show the evergreen bagworm is here again. These small, cigar-shaped containers—about 1 1/2 inches long at maturity—house the evergreen bagworm caterpillar, says Dr. Rudy Scheinbein, U.K. Cooperative Extension Service entomologist. The pests can defoliate evergreens in a short time. Spray with Malathion or carbaryl (sevin). Dr. Scheinbein recommends. Follow label directions for amounts, safety procedures and techniques.

"While the caterpillars are still small is the best time to use insecticides," he says. "Later in the season sprays will not be as effective."

If you have only a few shrubs or slight infestation, hand-pick the bags from the shrubs and burn them.

ANTHRACNOSE FUNGS IN PLANT BEDS MAY POSE PROBLEM NOW, U.K. SAYS

Watch anthracnose fungus in tobacco plant beds, warns Dr. J. H. Smiley, U.S. Cooperative Extension Service specialist. It is very destructive to young plants and is present wherever tobacco is grown.

Sprays or dusts of one of these usually are effective: Ferbam, Five level tablepoonfuls per gallon of water, or a 15 percent strength dust; Zineb, 2 1/2 level tablepoonfuls per gallon of water, or a 10 percent dust; or Manco, one level teaspoon per gallon of water or a 2 percent dust.

Anthracnose causes small spots on tobacco leaves. These are reddish-brown at first, later turn papery white. Brown, sunken elongated spots appear on undersides of leaf midribs and veins, causing the leaf to pucker or break. The disease can be unusually severe in wet weather, Dr. Smiley says. It also probably gets into the bed from turned under infected soil, or by water that flows into the bed from outside. "Well-ditched and raised beds should be safer than beds on the level," Dr. Smiley notes.

Sprays should be applied at 100 pounds pressure to get coverage of both sides of the leaves. A hand-powered crank duster does well with dusts. Spray or dust two or three times a week until setting-out time.

SOIL INSECTICIDES MAY HELP AGAINST WIREWORMS, CJTWORMS

Tobacco fields can be treated to control wireworms and cutworms, two insect pests that sometimes damage newly set tobacco plants.

Broadcast applications of Aldrin, Heptachlor, Dieldrin, or Diazinon usually are effective, says Dr. Richard Thurston, U.K. Experiment Station entomologist. The materials can be sprayed on, applied as dusts or put on in granular forms. Two pounds of actual insecticides per acre is the recommended rate, regardless of form (spray, dust or granules).

After material is applied, the ground should be disked lightly to get the insecticide into the top inch or two of soil. Apply materials about 10 days to two weeks before setting out, though applications closer to setting-out time usually will give good control.

Such applications to soil need not be done often than every three years for wireworms. Wireworms are usually not a problem unless the ground is newly plowed from fields which have been in sod.

Farmers were cautioned about crops that follow tobacco, such as potatoes, alfalfa, ect. Crops on such treated fields (with Heptachlor, Aldrin or Dieldrin) may pick up harmful residues of the insecticide.

If cutworms are problems after setting-out, use DDT to control them.

Follow label directions carefully, Dr. Thurston emphasized

Library Notes

The following new books have recently been received from the Department of Libraries in Frankfort, according to Mrs. Phillip Davis, librarian, Rockcastle County Public Library.

ANTIQUE COLLECTING FOR EVERYONE, by Katherine McClinton. For the many thousands of would-be collectors who have a love for fine antiques but limited means with which to buy them, this beautifully illustrated volume provides the ideal solution.

DICTIONARY OF ELECTRONIC TERMS, by Skillfitt Library. A valuable reference for the beginner, student and hobbyist. Contains easy-to-understand definitions of the most popular words and terms used in electronics.

DIRTY POOL, By George Boggy. Thrust into a car pool during a New York transit strike a pretty young woman is almost murdered in a bewildering chain of events.

THE DRAFT AND THE VIETNAM WAR, by Jocquin

Sanders. A guide to the complex mechanics of the Selective Service System - quotas, classifications, deferments, service opportunities - and a penetrating analysis of Vietnam and the great society.

INSIDE SOUTH AMERICA, by John Gunther. An eye-opening firsthand report about the ten South American Republics.

AN ISLAND TO MYSELF, by Tom Neale. Long after the last page of this book is turned, the story of Tom Neale's isolation, hundreds of miles from the nearest inhabited island, will continue to enrich the lives of all who read this book.

THE RIOT, by Frank Hill. This novel is a taut, tense, minute-by-minute account of a two-day riot in a maximum security penitentiary in the Midwest. A hard-hitting tale with its appropriately rough dialog.

TODAY'S TEEN-AGERS, by Evelyn Duvall. Forthright expert guidance for parents and all other adults on how to live and work with modern youth.

VANISHING ANIMALS, by Phillip Street. This is an informative and absorbing study of how to preserve the earth's remaining animal wildlife.

Some of the new children's books which have just been received from Frankfort are:

THE CASE OF THE GONE GOOSE, by Scott Corbett.

For the younger fans a mystery with the "Inspectors" who is only twelve, Watson, and the Inspector's sister whom the boys can't get rid of. How they go about solving the brutal murders of Tom, Dick, and Harry (Prize Geese) makes a delightful story.

THE CRYSTAL TREE, by Jennie Lindquist. Impatiently waiting for spring and time to move into the little "silver" house which has been boarded up for more than 30 years, Nancy Bruce, with the help of relatives and friends, gathers clues and pieces together the history of the long empty house and the family who had lived there.

Babson's Authentic Report

OUR TROOPS IN GERMANY
 The death of Dr. Konrad Adenauer, West Germany's strong man and father of the postwar Federal Republic, and the shocking treatment accorded Vice President Humphrey on his recent visit to Europe provide good reasons for us to focus our attention on that sector of the world.

EUROPE TODAY
 Europe today is a vastly different continent. Both the victorious and the vanquished nations are more powerful and more prosperous than ever before. The scope and the completeness of the reconstruction from the ashes of World War II are amazing. West Germany alone in a number of important respects is better off than was the whole of Germany in the years immediately preceding the beginning of the war. Yet West Germany is fearful of the future. For, although Moscow has loosened its grasp on most of the East European Communist satellite states, she has tightened her grip on East Germany and she still maintains close ties with Red Poland.

WEST GERMAN STRENGTH
 There is no chance that the partition of Germany into two states -- one pro-West and fiercely capitalistic and the other militarily anti-West and solidly Communist-oriented -- will be healed soon. The two Germans are in reality divided by quite a good deal more than the barbed wire and the mines strung along their mutual border. This heritage of Nazi excesses and collapse, and of Soviet imperialism, could well last for several more decades.

But even before Stalin's death in 1953, Adenauer had made West Germany strong enough to resist Communism and Communist threats against his government and its territorial integrity. Of course, the presence of our troops helped, too, but there is ample evidence that West German resoluteness and prompt support from all the NATO countries were the big factors governing the Soviet decision not to follow up its threats.

ARE OUR TROOPS REALLY NEEDED?
 The Soviet Union is not at present rattling sabres in the direction of West Germany. And, undeniably, West Germany is now strong enough and dangerous enough to make greater provisions for her own military defense than was the case in the earlier postwar years. In the light of these facts, would it not be common sense for us to withdraw a substantial portion of our military garrison in West Germany? And might it not be worthwhile to make a reassessment of the situation to determine whether our troops are really needed at all?

Right now we are maintaining upwards of a quarter of a million servicemen in West Germany...more than half as many as are concentrated in Vietnam. Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Democratic majority leader, strongly believes that so large a military commitment is not warranted and is pressing for a cutback far beyond the token reduction proposed by the Administration.

DRAIN ON OUR RESOURCES
 It may not be feasible to pull all of our troops out of West Germany in the foreseeable future. But neither is it wise to maintain so large an Army there and to further undermine our shaky balance-of-payments situation by agreeing to additional costly arms purchases from Britain to enable her to support her own sizable armed forces in West Germany.

In this country -- from the grasshops on up -- there is urgent need to develop a much more critical approach to federal spending, including military spending. All proposals for new funds for whatever purpose must be scrutinized more closely. And we must strongly and consistently oppose unnecessary or marginal spending. Failure to do this will substantially lower our standard of living and will, in time, reduce our nation to second-class rank.

DRIVERS' POINT SYSTEM REVISED BY STATE
 A change in the State's point system for drivers designed to enable the Department of Public Safety to concentrate more on habitual violators has gone into effect.

The time in which a motorist may lose his license for accumulating 12 points was changed from three to two years. The change is expected to result "in fewer suspensions and to enable the State to reach problem drivers sooner," Public Safety Commissioner Glenn A. Lovren says.

Drivers who accumulate points rapidly are considered a more serious menace than those who collect the same number of points over a longer period, says Lovren.

Points are assessed on the basis of court convictions, forfeiture of bonds and payment of fines by mail for traffic violations.

Lovren said suspension periods will remain the same; six months the first time, a year the second and two years the third time.

He emphasized that the state's aim is to help motorists improve their driving rather than to suspend their driving privileges.

Lovren announced these other changes in the point system:

Drivers accumulating six points during two years will receive warning letters urging improvement of their driving.

A driver with 8 to 11 points may be put on probation and called to a hearing by a driver-improvement officer. The officer will determine whether the driver will be required to attend a driver-improvement clinic. A driver who fails to appear for a hearing may have his license suspended.

Successful completion of a driver-improvement clinic may entitle a driver with 6 to 11 points to a three-point reduction.

THE MODERN COWPOKE

Today's "Cowpoke" might own a horse, but more than likely, his bronco is a racing bike or small scooter to zip him to his way of life.

Today's cowpoke is just that. His attire is nothing more than the good old American western-influenced fashion, reflecting the best of previous generations.

Take the low-slung hip-hugger trousers of cowboy days, add the chunky rawhide belts of the frontier, then add the fabric picture "Riverboat Gambler's" striped pattern, and you have the youthquake look of '67.

There is another important ingredient which the old "stovepipes" didn't have: the durable, permanent press in synthetic blends of Avril rayon and polyester. What was once the permanent-wrinkle has now become the permanent-press, with all those new Avisco fibers available.

Some have called the young fashion trend "mod," but remember, the look is not imported anything. It's good old fashioned frontier: exported.

then imported again, acquiring the best features of each generation, and interpreted by JBC slacks. Put them all together in style, color, pattern and new fabrications and today's hip young man has the best in fashion, durable good looks and wearability.

SUPPLEMENTAL PASTURE

Pastures are really growing now, but will you have as much pasture in July, August, and September? May and June are the most productive pasture months, but hot, dry weather can cause you to be short in later months. Grasses go through a dormant period, too, when they are less productive and less palatable too.

Clipping of pastures to prevent the forming of seed heads will increase the amount of forage produced by most pasture grasses. This helps to keep them palatable too. If your livestock is keeping your pastures grazed down now, you will probably be short on pasture in the summer months. Now is the time to make plans to provide supplementary pastures.

Sudan grass, sorghum-sudan crosses and hybrids can help fill your pasture needs. These forage crops have become more widespread in use in a shorter time than any new crop I know of. The fabulous yields that are proclaimed are not the common production on the average farm.

For good yields on these forages, one should fertilize as he would for 100 to 125 bushels of corn, plus 30 to 40 pounds of nitrogen after each cutting or round of pasturing. Each ton of forage removes the equivalent of 100 pounds of a 40-14-28 fertilizer ratio.

Research has shown that the protein content of sorghum-sudan hybrids drops rapidly as the plant matures. The forage is in a lush state for only a few days after reaching the best grazing height of 20 to 30 inches. Within 30 days the protein drops to, less than half, and it also becomes less digestible.

The practical application of this, means that the farmer should graze this forage down immediately after it reaches the 20 to 30 inches stage, then remove the livestock, clip the crop at a height of 5 to 6 inches (closer clipping
