FARMERS' SHARE OF FOOD DOLLAR MAY DECLINE WITHIN NEXT YEARS Farmers probably will get a smaller share of the dollars consumers spend for food in the next few years. That's because cost and value of services added to farm products (processing, etc.) will increase, says Wilmer Browning, U.K. Cooperative Extension Service agricultural economist, in his department's bi-weekly business letter.

More food and fiber will be produced, and there will be more consumers (population increases) but costs will be higher for production and consumers will make higher demands for "extra services." The latter includes such things as pre-cooked convenience foods, pre-packaged meat cuts and others. Economists lump these services under "built-in maid services." "The food marketing bill (equipment) have increased. He notes "a reduction in profits of the food marketing agencies would not reduce costs significantly because the corporate profits component of the food marketing bill is small relative to labor, transportation and other costs." The food marketing bill has risen rapidly in recent years, but portion of income spent for food has declined. For the period 1947-1949, consumers spent about 26 percent of their income for food; in 1966, consumers spent only 18.2 percent. Increases in farm productivity (efficiency for one) and by food marketing firms have brought this decline."

Babson's Authentic Report

WAR ABROAD AND AT HOME
Imagine headlines in U.S. papers telling of rebellion in Leningrad; others reporting widespread looting and arson in Novosibirsk; still more giving accounts of snipers atop the new apartments in Kiev holding troops and police at bay. Quite likely many of us would feel that the Communist hierarchy was in deep trouble, the Soviet "rebellion" might cause a letup in Russian shipments of arms to North Vietnam. Undoubtedly such a Russian uprising would be viewed here as a help to our efforts in Southeast Asia.

GREAT COMFORTS TO SOVIETS
But it is the U.S. that is wracked with insurrection arson, and looting. Damage to physical properties is counted in the hundreds of millions. Destruction of human values defies assessment. Buildings can be repaired and rebuilt. Looted inventories can be replaced. Now, therefore, however, to heal the burned-out souls of the looters, or to cool the hatreds of the antagonists? And our "home" is doing even greater damage to the foreign image of this country. Openly our allies are asking: "Can he who is incapable of keeping order in his own house be expected to restore peace to a jungle area where brother is pitted against brother?" If this is the attitude in the Free World, surely each outbreak of violence here brings great comforts to the Soviets. To them it is proof that their grueling efforts to bolster Hanoi have not been in vain.

REACCENTUATE THE SPIRIT
In our hearts, we know the solution does not lie in pulling out of the far corners of either the earth or space. Nor will the removal of greater male evil comforts assure freedom from insurrection. Gifts will not bring peace at home any more than foreign aid has abroad. Surely, every effort should be made to correct the conditions that cause rebellion.

HOT BY WAR ALONE
It is widely heard today that the U.S. is "overextended" throughout the world. The implication is that we should be less aggressive in trying to maintain peace—that we should "pull in our horns." It is recommended by one school of international thought that we should draw the line as to what parts of the earth we would defend and what sections we would be willing to "let drop." Recently it has been touched on whether the Administration should call up the reserves to increase pressure on the Viet Cong. Widespread use of the National Guard in our cities, however has led to even stronger demands that we keep our reserves at home. Pleas are made not to let the "peace front" deteriorate. These developments point up one of the greatest lessons of history: It is not by war alone that nations are beaten and civilizations destroyed; it is the weakness within, the rot at the core, that paves the road to downfall.

Cornwich Stacks

Tentacle parties or easy summer suppers are marvelous occasions for versatile Cornwich Stacks. They make mealtime a relaxed event for mother. She assembles the sandwiches in the cool of the morning, wraps and sets them aside until serving time. Try baking the tender corn bread a day or two in advance. Double the recipe and save the breads in their baking cans for snack foods, or quick lunches. A zesty filling of ground ham, deliciously stretched with pickle relish, creamy mayonnaise, and spiced with horseradish is a perfect "go-together" with corn bread. Slices of tomato and onion, plus stuffed olives complete the towering sandwich. This make-ahead dish is easy on the cook when enriched self-rising flour and corn meal are used. The baking powder and salt precluded in self-rising products allow you to stir the batter together, refrigerate overnight and bake at leisure the following day. The enrichment formula in self-rising flour, corn meal contains 16 times as much calcium as regular flour plus four other important nutrients—thiamine, niacin, riboflavin and iron.

- CORNWICH STACKS
4 sandwiches
- | | |
|--|--------------------------|
| 1 3/4 cups sifted enriched self-rising corn meal | 2 1/2 cup milk |
| 1 tablespoon sugar | Ham Salad |
| 2 eggs, beaten | 3 large tomatoes, sliced |
| 1/4 cup oil | 2 onions, sliced |
| | Stuffed green olives |
- Combine corn meal and sugar. Blend together eggs, oil and milk. Add all at once to dry ingredients, mixing lightly until moistened. Add more milk if necessary to make a thin batter. Pour into 2 well-greased no. 2 cans (1 lb. size). Bake in preheated 425° oven, 30-35 minutes, or until done. Cool for 10 minutes; remove from cans. Cool completely. Cut each loaf into 12 slices. Spread 19 slices with Ham Salad. Place 8 tomato slices, corn meal covered slices, cornmeal remaining ham-covered slices, second side up. Top each with 1 slice of corn bread, tomato, and onion, making 8 sandwiches. Top with stuffed olives.
- Ham Salad
- | | |
|------------------------------------|--------------------------|
| 1/2 cups (8 oz.) cooked ground ham | 1/4 cup diced celery |
| 3/4 cup sweet pickle relish | 1/2 teaspoon horseradish |
| | 1/2 cup mayonnaise |
- Combine all ingredients. Mix thoroughly. If you don't stir and in the absence of other ingredients, spoon flour directly from container into a one-cup dry measure, level off, then remove two level tablespoons per cup, according to USDA recommendations.

Flowers
BY RUTH FAIN
ROSE WATER FROM ROSES
Rose water is a clear solution made from fresh roses and used in making perfumes and certain medicines. The odor of roses is very much like a fresh rose. It is made by distilling the highly fragrant petals and sepals of the rose with water. The flowers are placed in the water and boiled. The vapor is separated into a vessel. The vapor is then condensed back into a liquid and this liquid is called "Rose Water". The best medicine in some instances is a lovely floral gift. If you want to say a special "get well" to someone... say it with flowers. Our wonderful assortment! Call 256-2091

REALIZE ABOUT $14,000 FROM THE CONTRACT

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court voted at its regular meeting Tuesday to accept the Equipment and Rental Contract from the State Highway Department for the hauling of 16,405 tons of crushed limestone at $85 per ton. This is a continuation of an equipment rental program which has been in effect for several years in Rockcastle County and has proven very satisfactory. The county should

According to daily papers, the jet fuel fire aboard the carrier USS Forrestal off the coast of North Vietnam killed at least 71 sailors and injured at least 50 others; 112 sailors, officers and men, are listed as missing in the bowels of the carrier or in the South China Sea. Many injured men jumped into the sea when the explosions began. No hope is held for their survival.

The carrier, the third biggest in the world, lifted slowly from the Gulf of Tonkin Sunday, toward Subic Bay, in the Philippines. Seven huge holes gaped in its steel flight deck and the crumpled burned-out remains of a dozen aircraft were sprawled out grotesquely.

A total of 26 jet planes were either destroyed or jetisoned overboard during the disaster.

Two, loans are made to small businesses to purchase buildings, repair buildings, to purchase stock, equipment, and other facilities to improve or establish a business.

These loans are available at a 4 1/8% interest up to $3500.00, and the repayment period is up to 15 years. If you need to increase your income, contact the Farmers Home Administration.

first three hours of the disaster. It is thought it all began when an F4 Phantom jet, preparing to launch, shot a sheet of flame from its jets, igniting a rocket in an aircraft behind it and setting off a chain reaction.

Navy officers on the Forrestal were reluctant to make any estimate of damage. But the plane losses alone were expected to amount to at least $70 million, with damage to the ship possibly $20 million more.

The pilots of most of the aircraft that exploded on the flight deck were saved. Significant damage to the ship was reported in the top six of the 10 decks. A major battle was fought to prevent the blaze spreading from hangar bay three to hangar bay two, where a score of planes, armed with bombs, were waiting to be lifted to the flight deck for the launch.

The men still trapped inside cooks, ship fitters, maintenance men and machinists.

Area Agent's Notes

BY: H. LEE DURHAM
AREA EXTENSION AGENT
WATER-DAMAGED TOBACCO CROPS

Anyone who has been driving around in Southeastern Kentucky during the last week doesn't have to be told that tobacco growers have been struck a blow by the heavy rainy period we have just gone through. Most tobacco growers in the area have experienced some damage, with some growers experiencing as much as fifty percent damage to their crop. Tobacco which comes through with a growing bud can be helped considerably by a side dressing of nitrogen, and, if the plants are not too tall, a cultivation and hoeing of the smaller plants would aid in their recovery.

WINGED APHIDS INVADING TOBACCO, AND CONTROL MEASURES ARE NEEDED

Heavy flights of the winged aphid (known as the green peach aphid) have been noted in Kentucky tobacco fields. "If weather stays favorable, there is likely to be a heavy buildup and damage by these insects to tobacco," says Dr. Richard Thurston, UK Ag. Experiment Station entomologist. He recommends treatment to control these pests if buildups become heavy. Check fields first. "Be careful of all varieties of tobacco," he says. "As aphids will get on all of them. But, be especially careful if you are growing Ky 12 or Ky 10, or hybrids with either of these two varieties as parents. All these are very susceptible to aphid damage. The damage is done by the sucking action of the insects."

Recommended materials are Thiodan or Malathion or Diazinon. Thiodan is used at the rate of one-quarter to one-half a pound actual material per acre; Malathion, one half to one pound actual; and Diazinon, one-quarter to slightly less than a half 3 Brts) of a pound actual an acre. Spray carefully to get thorough coverage underneath the leaf. The lighter dosage of insecticides recommended here are for smaller plants, Dr. Thurston notes.

Check area extension offices in the counties for more detailed information. Follow safety precautions. Consult the extension services miscellaneous publication No. 270E, the recommendation chart for field tobacco in 1967.

CONTROL BAGWORMS NOW FOR RESULTS

Those spindle-shaped bags hanging from evergreens or deciduous trees and shrubs in your lawn mean the bagworm is causing trouble. These bags contain small caterpillars with big appetites. The bagworm can do serious damage to the plants on which they feed. Evergreens, in particular, may be killed by bagworm infestations.

Two control methods are recommended. The best one is to pick the bags from the trees or shrubs in the fall or winter and burn them. This prevents the caterpillar from hatching and feeding on the plants, as bagworms overwinter as eggs in the old bags.

The second method involves using a spray when the eggs hatch and caterpillars are seen. Mix two tablespoons of Sevin, 50 percent wettable powder, or one tablespoonful of Malathion liquid emulsion concentrate in each gallon of water. Spray the plants thoroughly.

As soon as the caterpillar hatches, it starts building its bag. It carries the bag around wherever it goes, sticking its head out to feed, not enlarging the bag as it grows.

HEAT EXHAUSTION AND SUNSTROKE

Precaution must be taken to avoid heat prostration and sunstroke and also we should be prepared to treat these conditions if they do occur in the fields or at home. Heat exhaustion and sunstroke are entirely different, although both result from over-exposure to high external heat. With heat exhaustion, the victim's skin is cool to the touch and dry. In applying first aid treatment to a person suffering from heat sickness, keep in mind this simple rule:— if the victim is COLD, make him WARM, if he is HOT, make him COOL.

To avoid these serious consequences of hard work in hot weather, be sure to get plenty of water, enough salt to replace vital body salt lost in perspiration, wear light, loose-fitting clothing and stick to light meals. In addition set a schedule of frequent short rests, in shade if possible.

SEASON HERE WHEN POISON ALGAE INFECT PONDS, ENDANGER LIVESTOCK

Watch farm ponds for development of blue-green algae says Dr. James Heron, UK Cooperative Extension Service weed control specialist. Blue-green algae in sufficient concentration can kill livestock who take them in while drinking at farm ponds. Hogs and chickens seem most susceptible to the algae, he says. "There are five kinds of blue-green algae, all of them poisonous to livestock. They grow more rapidly this time of year because pond waters are warmer, particularly if these ponds are fed by surface runoff. Ponds are lower this time of year, too, from the hot weather," he says.

Check along banks of ponds. If you see a bluish-green cast on the banks, keep livestock away from the pond.

Treat ponds with bluestone at the rate of 8 pounds of bluestone (copper sulfate) to each million gallons of water in the pond.

Check area extension offices in the county for more information. Ask for leaflet 119, entitled "Control of Algae in Kentucky Farm Ponds."

"If the season is hot and dry more than one application of bluestone may be needed to clear the pond.

tain he can hear the teacher) and vision (to make sure he can see the blackboard) it is better if this examination can be made, and booster immunization given, a few weeks before school starts.

School boards in some communities require a health exam for beginning students. Many schools also require certain immunizations against infectious disease. Your doctor will know of the requirements in your neighborhood.

Most doctors feel that four or five thorough examinations during the school years are sufficient for healthy youngsters. These usually are spaced at the start of the first school year, about the fourth grade, about the seventh grade, at the ninth or tenth grade, and upon graduation. And, of course, if any untoward symptoms arise at any time, a visit to the doctor is in order. A thorough examination also is important if the child is participating in school athletics. The doctor should be told that junior is going out for football, so that he can look for any health problems that might be heightened by rough contact sports.

In the excitement of the first few days of school, the smaller child may forget all of the safety warnings you've been teaching him. Each parent should make sure the child knows how to cross streets and intersections en route to and from school. He should know that "testing grounds" are there for his protection, and obey them. He should know about proper equipment on the school bus. He should know the rules of bicycle safety.

LOCAL HOLSTEIN HAS LACTATION CREDITS

Janet Maytad Tu Pine Victor 5175714, a six-year-old Registered Holstein cow owned by George Depp, Hustonville, has produced a noteworthy record of 16,080 lbs. of milk and 571 lbs. of butterfat in 305 days.

The University of Kentucky supervised the production, weighing and testing operations in cooperation with the official breed improvement programs of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

This level of production may be compared to the average U.S. dairy cow's estimated annual output of 8,513 lbs. of milk containing 315 lbs. of butterfat.

School--- Health Exam Is Important

School days are almost here again for millions of American youngsters.

With the approach of the fall term, the American Medical Association reminds parents once again that there are health and safety considerations that are important in preparing the small fry for another nine months of studies.

The A.M.A. recommends a thorough health examination for 7- and 8-year olds who are starting school for the first time. Your physician will know what to do. His examination will cover all aspects of your child's health, and will encompass hearing (to make cer-
