SCHOOL IN RURAL APPRAISING SET FOR U.K. Sept. 25-29

A national school in professional rural property appraising will be held at the University of Kentucky Sept. 25-29.

Cumhann House, the University's meeting center on the Newton Pike is the site.

Sponsors are the U.K. Cooperative Extension Service, agricultural economics department, the American Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers, and the Kentucky Association of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers.

Bondurant, U. K. Cooperative Extension Service economist. Information on the school is available through Dr. Bondurant of the Experiment Station building here in Lexington, or James H. Reynolds, P.O. Box 882, Lexington, a member of the Kentucky association and chairman of the appraising school.

BEEF CATTLE SEPTEMBER CHECK-LIST

1. Keep mineral boxes up and backrubber charged.
  2. If calves were vaccinated for blackleg at birth, they will need second shot at weaning time for safety.
  3. During September will be a good time to effectively treat for grubs. Follow recommendations of area Extension Agent and above all follow directions printed on container that the material comes in.
- Many calves will be weaned during September thus completing the yearly production record of many beef cows. So that you may have a complete set of cow records, weigh each of the calves and enter the weaning weight in the cows record for future reference.

NEW TREE INSECT PEST NOTED IN KENTUCKY; NO CONTROL YET

As if things weren't bad enough! Here's another new insect pest for which entomologists can't recommend an insecticide.

Dr. Rudy Scheibner says the new arrival—first found in Kentucky in Harlan county in 1962—is the Asiatic oak weevil. "Several areas of Kentucky, particularly the eastern half, are being hit by the pest, now. This beetle or weevil looks a good deal like the alfalfa weevil. But it is different. It attacks leaves of sapling, oaks, hickory, hazelnut, beech, dogwood and various shrubs. They are also attracted by house lights at night, and swarm around doorsteps. They have been reported as far west as Louisville. It is believed to be mainly a forest pest, but its gathering around house lights makes it somewhat of a residential nuisance, too.

Says Dr. Scheibner apologetically—and somewhat ruefully: "We don't know enough about this pest to give a chemical control recommendation, now. It first was found in the U.S. in 1933 and I said before in 1962, in Kentucky. We know too little about its habits now to make a sound recommendation. I'm afraid we'll just have to live with this pest for awhile until we have worked out control materials."

PRICES FOR FEEDER CATTLE SHOULD CONTINUE TO SHOW STRENGTH, UK SAYS

Feeder cattle price prospects appear favorable as the fall marketing period approaches, and should continue to show strength.

That's one statement this week in the U.K. Cooperative Extension Service agricultural economics department's bi-weekly outlook letter.

"Feeder cattle prices rose around $1 a hundred pounds in May and June," says Zack C. Saufley, economist and author of the letter. "In late July, choice grade 550-750 pound feeder steers at Kansas City averaged $27.75 a hundred, compared to 26.39 in April, 1967, and $26.76 in July, 1966. The price increase for lower grade steers was even larger, with good grade 550-750 pound feeder steers at Kansas City averaging $26.50 a hundred pounds in late July, up $3.24 a hundred from April levels."

One reason for this strength, he says, is that supply of feeders for the remainder of the year likely will be below the level of 1966. By July 1, 1967, he notes, total supply of feeder's (excluding this year's calf crop) was down 100,000 head from the 1966 level. "The supply for feedlots could be reduced even more if the number of heifers added to breeding herds this summer and fall is larger than a year earlier," Saufley says.

He thinks feeder cattle this fall will hold around current levels, "with a good possibility of some further strength." One factor involves adequate pasture and range feed supplies, meaning feeder-cattle producers may be able to hold feeder animals on grass longer. There also may be a higher demand for replacement heifers, reducing the supply of animals available for feedlot placement.

A court said yes, he had—by implication, and held him liable for the loss. The court pointed out that the dentist knew the woman had brought a coat, that there was no other place for her to put it, and that she obviously could not wear it during treatment.

What about the contents of a garment? They may or may not be included in the bailment, depending mainly on whether they are items "normally to be expected" in such a location. Thus:

A customer in a clothing store, trying on a new suit, left his hat and one in a poorly protected dressing room. During his absence at the mirror, his pockets were filled with not only $41 in cash but also a valuable diamond ring.

When he used the store, the court observed that cash was normally to be expected in a suit pocket—but not a valuable ring. So the store was ordered to pay for the stolen money, because it was part of the bailment, but not for the stolen ring, because it was not.

Bursitis---
Joints Need Special Care

Sometimes it's "housemaid's knee." Or "police man's heel." By any other name it's still bursitis, and it is one of mankind's more painful and disabling ailments.

Bursitis, says the American Medical Association, means inflammation of a lubricating sac about a joint. The sac, called a bursa, is similar to a collapsed balloon, with some fluid inside. It is located at various places in the body where joints or tissues touch and rub, and without cushioning there would be friction.

Bursitis can hit at many points in the body, but most often occurs in the shoulder, elbow or knee. In almost every case bursitis follows unaccustomed strain or overuse of an extremity. By taking a little time to work up to your physical condition, and especially by working up the muscles that you plan to use in any repetitious motion outside your normal activity (strengthening your wrist and arm before starting to paint the house, for instance) you can probably keep clear of this common and painful ailment.

If you get bursitis, no one need suggest that you see a doctor. The pain is so acute that you will be the first to seek relief.

The law's logic is that if there is no transfer of possession, then in all fairness that would be no transfer of responsibility either. Coat-watching was more reasonably a job for George, who had hung the coat up, than for the manager, which had not touched it. On the other hand, if the customer delivers his garment to a checkroom and it gets lost there, he is usually in a position to demand payment. Unfortunately, it is not always easy to tell whether possession has really been transferred. Consider the case of a woman whose fur coat was stolen from her dentist's waiting room while he was working on her teeth. Had the dentist accepted possession of the coat?

Convict Johnson Escapes While Attending Funeral

A daring escape was effected about noon Tuesday by a prisoner from Edgelyville State Penitentiary while he was attending the funeral of his brother in the Climax area of Rockcastle County.

Johnnie Johnson, 24, a Rockcastle resident had been brought home from the penitentiary Tuesday morning to attend the funeral of his brother, Melvin Johnson, who was shot and killed Saturday during a barroom brawl in Dayton, Ohio, allegedly by a man with whom he had previously had trouble.

During the funeral service which was held in the home of the slain man's mother, Mrs. Ida Johnson, prison guards remained in the yard to watch the house. After the service was over and those attending left to go to the cemetery, it was discovered that Johnnie Johnson was not with them. A thorough search of the house revealed he was missing.

Rockcastle County Deputy Sheriffs Billy Kirby and Frank Deborde said an observer claimed he saw Johnnie Johnson run from the house and through a vacant field into a wooded field.

Prison guards said he was handcuffed and shackled at the time he made his break. State Police and local authorities believe Johnnie Johnson to be armed, said Tip Reppert, "Rockcastle sheriff. Roadblocks have been set up at all roads leading from the Climax area.

Another brother, Paul Johnson, who is serving a life sentence at Edgelyville on a rape conviction but allowed to come home for the funeral told Rockcastle County Jailor Elmer Alcom that he advised Johnnie Johnson not to attempt the escape, but he would not listen to him. (See Melvin Johnson obituary elsewhere on front page.)

Babson's Authentic Report

INVENTORIES AND ECONOMIC CHANGE

Total inventories dropped to lower levels in June for the first time in six years. Some economists feel that this downturn has corrected one of the last obstacles to a strong business upturn that could get under way during the final months of this year.

LONG UPTREND

The June dip in total inventories to $137.0 billion from a May level of $137.4 billion — seasonally adjusted — brought an end to a 72-month climb. However, since the beginning of 1967, the rate of rise had been losing steam. At the end of January, total business inventories amounted to $136.6 billion. When they made their peak four months later, they had edged up only 0.6%. So, in effect, the inventory adjustment has been in process during five of the six months of the first half of this year.

INVENTORY-SALES RATIO

It should be noted that June's drop in inventories coincided with a boost in sales, thus bringing the inventory-sales ratio down to 1.55, — the lowest level this year. But one swallow does not make a summer, nor do single dips in total inventories and / or inventory sales ratios indicate that a turnabout in the economy is assured. The hard cold facts are that both inventories and inventory-sales ratios are still well above their year-ago levels.

Of course, it may very well turn out that the inventory adjustment — slight and brief though it has been — is just about over. Or it may be that it has only begun and that a further shaking out will take place over the next two or three months until businessmen feel they have reduced stocks to a more realistic balance with sales. Most likely, inventories and inventory-sales ratios will hold fairly close to current levels over the next month or two, following which there will probably be a gradual — not sharp — buildup in stocks.

PLANT AND EQUIPMENT EXPENDITURES

Right now, it is hard to imagine where a sufficient stimulus to business could come from that would warrant a sharp rise in stocks carried. Those who anticipate an early upsurge in business are placing a good deal of faith in a further broad rise in government expenditures and in a new wave of capital spending. If both government and capital spending do spurt smartly, inventories will respond on the upside.

But government spending alone at an accelerated rate will not turn the trick. Indeed, too great a rise in government spending (and borrowing) will tend to slow down the rate of capital expenditures by draining off funds that could be used for that purpose. As the money supply tightens further — and as interest costs are locked in a high range — business men whose profits are already being squeezed by higher labor and materials costs and who faces the prospect of higher taxes are more likely than not to trim their capital expansion programs.

DON'T BE CARRIED AWAY
A sizeable percentage of business failures are directly traceable to poor inventory control. Indeed one of the tests of a successful business — whether manufacturing, wholesaling, or retailing — you should bear in mind that inventory holdings which you as an individual can decide to build up or to cut back constitute both a danger and a source of flexibility in our economic system.

In the matter of inventories, the best policy is not to be carried away by what others are doing, or by what you surmise they may be doing. Instead, study actual trends, especially in your own and related businesses, and make your decision on the basis of facts and the needs — current and prospective — of your business. Do not be afraid to boost stocks if conditions warrant it, but do not rush into large-scale forward commitments without thinking through what they entail. Above all, avoid going too deeply into debt. If you get in a tight spot later, it's cash you'll need, not goods.

EKU Registration Scheduled Sept. 13

Registration for the fall semester at Eastern Kentucky University will begin Wednesday, September 13, with classes scheduled to get underway the following Monday. More than 8,500 are expected to register, according to Dr. Charles Ambrose, Dean of Admissions.

Students will register alphabetically at fifteen minute intervals beginning at 8 a.m. Registration will be held in the Bert Combs and Weaver Health Buildings. Upperclassmen will register Wednesday. Freshmen and sophomores register Thursday and Friday. Registration for graduate students and participants in the continuing education program is scheduled for Saturday, September 16 at 8 a.m. The continuing education program is offering 99 courses, accounting for 295 semester hours of credit this fall. The program is designed especially for the adult student who wishes to broaden his education without full-time college enrollment. These classes are scheduled weekday evenings and Saturday morning to permit working adults to attend in their leisure time. Participants in the continuing education program 65 years of age or older may qualify for the W.F. O'Donnell Senior Citizens Fellowship program, under which they may enroll without cost in University courses. The program is named in honor of Eastern's president-emeritus, who was instrumental in the expansion of Eastern's in-service education program.

Those electing to register for the fall semester should apply to the Dean of Admissions as soon as possible. One-third of existing data processing jobs are going begging because of a shortage of trained personnel, and the number of computer jobs is rapidly increasing. But secretaries—human variety—are't about to go out of style.

With these facts in mind, Eastern Kentucky University's College of Business gears three programs to high school graduates interested in data processing or secretarial science but reluctant to enroll in a four-year degree program.

Two-year programs in each field lead to the Associate of Arts degree, and a one-year secretarial science curriculum provides certification.

A feature of the programs which differentiates them from special data processing and secretarial school is that the credits earned under any of the three programs may be applied toward a four-year degree in Business Education or Office Administration, should the student later decide to gain the baccalaureate.

Expanding its service to college as well as high school graduates, the College of Business this fall is adding the Master of Business Administration degree to its curriculum. Introduction of the program follows establishment last year of departments in management, marketing and finance.

Need for the new degree program was felt when records showed that the College of Business has produced half of the University's non-teaching graduates. The same college, however, continues to graduate an increasing number of teachers.

A number of courses in all four programs have been scheduled on weekday evenings or Saturday mornings for the convenience of adults who cannot enroll fulltime.

Fall semester registration begins September 13. Classes begin the week of September 18.

Inquiry may be made of the College of Business, Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond. Application for admission should be made to Dean of Admissions.

PTA Schedules A Count-In

Every child counts, with the PTA. That's the reason the National Congress of Parents and Teachers is planning a special "count-in" of their parents and teachers, as schools reopen this fall.

"The PTA believes that every child must be provided with what he needs to grow up healthy, secure, well-educated and useful to his community," says Mrs. Irvin E. Hendryson, of Albuquerque, N. Mex., president of the National PTA.

"To help secure these rights

Every single child counts, with the PTA—a nationwide organization of volunteers concerned for children and for the parents and teachers who nurture and educate them.

Hampton's parents at Brodhead, during the weekend.

Mr. John Wayne Badida has returned home from a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Estil McBee.

Mrs. Glenis Dick and family have returned to their home in Columbus, Indiana after spending the summer with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Estil McBee.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Purcell and children, Deany and Regina of Dayton, Ohio visited Mrs. Rilla and Anna Brown last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Mullins have returned to their home at 2010 Grassmere Drive, for all children," she declares. "The PTA counts on every citizen to work at expanding the opportunities of all America's children."

Parent-teacher associations (PTA's), organized in the 50 states, the District of Columbia and schools for American dependents overseas, begin enrolling new members with the first PTA meeting of the school term and usually concentrate on membership enrollment during October.

This year, they will give particular attention to reaching parents in low-income areas. One of the many valuable services any PTA provides, Mrs. Hendryson believes, is "the opportunity for parents and teachers to know each other in a social situation. They are the people most important in a child's world, and the child can't help benefiting from their friendly collaboration."

"In poor areas, especially," she notes, "this friendly relation between home and school is of particular value because it's where children most need help."

PTA's can work to improve educational opportunities, to protect dependent or delinquent children, to improve health care and to provide the leadership for vibrant community programs that will serve all children. Mrs. Hendryson points out:

Louisville, Ky., after spending the summer in Mt. Vernon. Mr. and Mrs. Don Pinn and daughters of Louisville were the weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baker and Mrs. Chester Halcomb of Livingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baker and Mrs. Doris Durham and children were in Stanford Sunday. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Viryar Sains and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Granville Halcomb and son Eddie of Dayton, Ohio were dinner guest Saturday evening, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses Hansel.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Thomas and son Timothy of Dayton, were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Ulysses Hansel.

Bone
Bro. James Watts of Cincinnati, Ohio preached at the New Testament Baptist Church at Roundstone Saturday night, August 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Anglin

Because every child counts with the PTA, its activities cover all the varied needs of children—for kindergarten, adequately financed schools, well-trained teachers, along with the proper nourishment, good health and favorable emotional climate in which to learn from them. "We need many members to cover such wide-ranging programs," says Mrs. Hendryson. "So our task this time is to persuade every parent and every teacher that he too counts, with the PTA."

As PTA's start their "count-ins" this fall, Mrs. Hendryson is urging them to demonstrate that "PTA is where the action is."

She has suggested, for example, that local units take the lead in sponsoring "cultural happenings" for youngsters. Some branches of the National PTA, she notes, have developed art mobiles, comparable to the popular bookmobiles, which bring traveling exhibits of painting and sculpture to school children in remote areas. Other PTA's regularly sponsor musical concerts or provide tickets for theatrical productions to children who would not otherwise attend them.

"With something as simple as a folk festival," says the PTA's national president, "we can do much to enrich the lives of children."

returned home Monday from Covington where they have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Paul David Anglin, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Anglin and family and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Anglin and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Fielden Isaacs were married 55 years ago on August 29. We wish this couple many more years together. They have one son, Alvin, living.

W.R. Durham, Carl and Nancy, visited Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Durham Tuesday.

Word has been received that Jess Loman of Danville will undergo surgery soon at a Danville Hospital. A speedy recovery is wished for him.

Notice To Unregistered Voters

As chairman of the registration committee for the Republican party, I want to take this privilege to inform you that if you have been purged by the purgation board that you will need to re-register in order to be eligible to vote in the forthcoming election, and if you will be 18 years of age by November 7, 1967 you will be eligible to register and vote also in the coming election.

I want to express the importance of your being able to vote in this election, because we feel the best chance of electing a Republican Governor and entire ticket this time in many years. We must preserve the great two-party system in order to remain a free people. If one party remains in power too long as it is today, we, little by little, lose our freedom to a bureaucracy such as is in power in Frankfurt today.

So please take your time and come in and register to vote as Saturday September 9, 1967 will be the last day for you to be able to register to vote in this election.

Your Friend,
Money Ed Cummins
