GOOD BIOGRAPHIES IN THE LIBRARY

Who are your heroes? Read about them at your Library. Bravery, honesty, strength of character are the stuff of hero-worship. At the boys' level this gravitates toward the deeds of spectacular deeds; on the average adult level, toward the wielder of power, or toward idealism and moral qualities. By embodying the qualities of character which are admired and respected by all ages, "heroes" are chosen. So it is that American biography also presents the inspiring picture of American history as seen in the faces of its chosen heroes.

Following is a suggested list of interesting biographies which may be borrowed from Rockcastle County Library.

LEE OF VIRGINIA, by Douglas Southall Freeman. A review of the Confederate general's life in his many phases.

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, by Benjamin Franklin. The personal story of a most versatile man.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN, by Henry B. Kranz. A new portrait of the famous Kentuckian.

THE SEVEN WORLDS OF THEODORE ROOSEVELT, by Edward Wagenknecht. A lively review of T.R.'s many sided-life.

THE ROOSEVELT FAMILY OF SAGAMORE HILL, by Herman Hagedorn. Life with one of the most public spirited and provocative men in the U.S. was usually gay, sometimes, sad and often astonishing for his family.

EDISON, A BIOGRAPHY, by Matthew Josephson. Life-story of Thomas A. Edison, the famous inventor.

THE SPIRIT OF ST. LOUIS, by Charles A. Lindbergh. An exciting, moving account of the famous Lindbergh flight to Paris in 1927.
THE HERO, CHARLES A. LINDBERGH AND THE AMERICAN DREAM, by Kenneth Sidney Davis.

THE YOGI BERRA STORY, by Gene Roswell. The life of the New York Yankees' famous catcher in a brisk biography. It combines high lights of Berra's personal history with a competent report of his diamond career.
GREAT LADY OF THE THEATRE, SARAH BERNHARDT, by Iris Maly. A fascinating biography of the great actress which will be of particular interest to young people.

GEORGE GERSHWIN, MAN AND LEGEND, by Merle Armitage. Includes a note on the author by John Charles Thomas, a list of Gershwin's works, and "Gershwin Discography."

the strength of God and yet enabling them to fan out into the whole world bringing this Catholic message to all men. The church will seat approximately 165 people with additional space for temporary seating which will bring the total seating to about 200 people. All the new ideas that have been presented by the church which gives the most up-to-date expression of the Catholic church to be found anywhere in the state.

We as yet are not certain at what time the church will be finished, but there is a great hope that it will be finished for Mass on Christmas day. At the present time, the hall which is adjacent to the church and rectory is available to all people of the county for wholesale purpose they may wish to use it. We hope to establish recreation programs this fall which will be for the teenagers and young children and at the same time keep it available for the adults in the community as well. Anyone interested in using the facilities or obtaining the services of the volunteers that will be associated with the church should call me, Fr. Ralph Beiting, and the phone number is 256-4230.

FOR A PORTRAIT, by Ven Wych Brooks. Well-written, account of the struggle of a girl-stricken blind, deaf and dumb in early childhood, and how she was helped toward living a normal life and becoming one of America's great women.

MR. AUBBON'S LUCY, by Lucy Kennedy. A biographical novel presenting a remarkable portrait of a valiant woman who dedicated her life to the success of her artist-naturalist husband.

THE NIGHT THEY BURNED THE MOUNTAIN, by Thomas A. Dooley. Dooley continues the story of his work in Southeast Asia begun in "The Edge of Tomorrow." The present account covers the founding of "Medico" dedicated to providing medical aid for undeveloped countries, his return to Laos with a team of two American volunteers to establish a village hospital six miles from the border of Red China, and the struggle they carried on against disease.

A MAN CALLED PETER: THE STORY OF PETER MARSHALL, by Catherine Marshall. Chaplain of the Senate, minister in Atlanta and Washington, D.C., a preacher noted for his pungent metaphors and vigorous faith. Peter Marshall made an indelible impression on the religious life of the country.

DR. SCHWEITZER OF LAMBARENE, by Norman Cousins. In this perceptive account of his visit to Lambarene the writer shows the work being done by Schweitzer and his staff, and portrays the doctor as a contemporary symbol of man's capacity for service to his fellow men.

A member of the Infantry Division, Moore received his basic training at Ft. Benning, Ga. and then received 9 weeks of jungle training at Fort Polk, La.

The Mt. Vernon Junior Varsity football team was defeated Thursday, September 28 by a score of 8-0 by Burgin. The junior team, newly organized by Coach Jim Cox, had a turnout of 21 members for their first football game. This is an exceptionally good turnout for a team and it is hoped that starting the youngsters earlier in this sport will increase their interest for the game in high school.

ence throughout Eastern Kentucky that we have been highly instrumental in acquiring industry to come if these industries knew that there was a Catholic church in the area and one that was interested in the community. We hope that this same kind of thing might reflect an added approval for the fine people of Rockcastle county. In other words, we are going to try to do our very best to further the cause of the economical as well as the spiritual development of Rockcastle county. Churches have often been accused of being strangely unaware of the people within their midst and of the situations about them. We hope that the energy and the vision that we are giving to the church in Mt. Vernon will truly point out that religion is not dead and neither is God dead, but that it has a very vital role to play in the lives of the people in the community.

Already at the present time, the small church that we have been using on School Street has proven inadequate this summer. People standing at times out into the street. Tourists in increasing numbers are stopping at Mt. Vernon and staying over night because of the fact that they knew that they could obtain Sunday services at Mt. Vernon. In addition to this, many of the non-catholic people of the community have started to come and as a result our building, which can seat 40 people for church services has already proved to be inadequate.

In conjunction with the building of the church, it is also our plan to bring into the community qualified lay volunteers. People who have educational backgrounds that will equate them to contribute much to the social and economic relations to the people and also to help in their religious development. It is our plan eventually to have as many as eight of these people working from the church center out of every aspect of the people's lives, not asking the question "are they catholic?" but simply asking the question "are you in need and would you like to improve yourself." This fall we already have four of these people assigned to Rockcastle county. Three of them are girls and one of them is a fellow. All three of the girls have college education. One has been a teacher for a year in a New York state, another has been a registered nurse, still another is a graduate of the Boston School of Pediatrics. They will endeavor to be of assistance to the community and to the people that make it up. The rectory or the living quarters will house these people. It is our idea that these buildings will serve as living quarters not merely for the priests but for the lay volunteers who will assist this community in whatever capacity there is a need for. During the course of the summer and on weekends, we hope that many other young people throughout the United States will come to assist in Bible school, recreation, and social involvement in every field. The building is designed so we could accommodate 24 volunteers, the eight permanent and the sixteen temporary volunteers that would come in.

The design of the church is unique in Eastern Kentucky and we feel that it has a great deal to do to portray the christian idealism. The outward structure of the church is fan-shaped and the idea there is to bring all the peoples from all the world to the house of God, and as they come in they are drawn to the altar and to the crucifix, a symbol of our Lord's redemption and His great love for us on Calvary. As they enter the church itself, they will come through the Baptistry and here they are reminded of the idea of the beginning of their spiritual life, and with the new birth that takes place with Baptism. After they renew their Baptismal promises, they will enter the church itself. Once they leave the church, coming down the aisle were from Mt. Calvary they pass again the Baptistry font taking forth as it were the waters of Baptism to the whole world to fulfill the words of our Blessed Savior "go forth into the whole world and baptize every creature." The building is not only fan-shaped but is partitioned in such a way that the roof moves upward starting at a low point about 12' at the altar and going to a head of about 25' by the time the front of the church is reached. Again, it is like a great funnel that will bring people into God giving them

BABSON'S REPORT Should U. S. Own Panama Canal?

PANAMA AND SUEZ CANALS
 Neither the Panama nor the Suez Canal is top news at the moment. But perhaps they both ought to be; for there are rumblings concerning ownership and operation of these international waterways which could tip the scales for war or peace on some tomorrow.

SHOULD U.S. OWN PANAMA CANAL?

For many months past, the governments of the United States and Panama have been relinquish sovereignty over this area, and it is widely believed that President Johnson may already have decided to do so.

LATIN AMERICAN NATIONALISM

It is easy to sympathize with the burgeoning nationalism of Panama and other Latin American countries, and to understand why their people can so easily be led to believe that the United States—the great colossus to the North—looks down its nose upon the nations of Central and South America. Perhaps in another burst of misguided generosity we are about to make a strategic withdrawal from a situation and a posture that we had hitherto regarded as sensible and morally justified. If we do relinquish our sovereignty of the Panama Canal Zone and make other concessions regarding the operation of the canal itself and the disposition of the revenues obtained from it, we must risk having our altruism misinterpreted as a sign of weakness. Hence, in following such a course, we might be inviting outbreak of fresh "brushfires" in Latin America and perhaps ultimate closure of the canal by insurgent elements in Latin America backed by Castro and financed by Moscow.

SUEZ STILL CLOSED

The problem of what to do about the Suez Canal, on the other side of the world, is equally grave. It is four months now since the end of the Arab-Israeli conflict and the Suez still remains closed. Apparently, President Nasser of Egypt and his Russian mentors and benefactors feel that closure is hurting the Free World more than it is hurting the Egyptian economy, though it is hard to follow this line of reasoning.

Quite obviously, Cairo and Moscow expect the world to believe that closure of the canal will impel Western interests to put pressure on the Israelis to withdraw their troops from the east bank and, ostensibly, leave the way clear for reopening. Whether Nasser and Kozygin believe it themselves is another matter. Meanwhile, there is the real possibility that Israel might seize the canal if hostilities with the Arabs should be resumed.

INTERNATIONAL ACCORD

Despite the ineptness of Secretary-General U. Thant in prematurely recalling, on his own initiative, the 3,400-man UN peace-keeping force which had been guarding the Sinai desert frontier between Israel and Egypt—a move which many observers believe triggered the Mid East War—the dream of international accord lingers. Disillusioned we may be, but still we hope for peace in our day. The time is not yet. But one day, perhaps, the UN will reach closer to its full potential as a peace-keeping organization. When that time comes, hopefully a meaning full accord on the use and operation of international waterways like Panama and Suez can be arrived. Meanwhile, we must grope for partial solutions compatible with our own sovereignty and national interest, and with our sense of international responsibility and fair play.

no defense against a Russian missile attack on this country. If Russia should suddenly decide to launch intercontinental ballistic missiles against us, millions of Americans would lose their lives. Estimates range as high as 120 million.

Of course, we have missiles to launch a devastating counter-attack which would destroy untold millions of Russians, if we were able to launch them. Russia knows this and for this reason there has been an atomic missile stalemate. But we know that Russia has begun building an anti-missile system to protect key cities from attack.

Up until a few days ago, this Administration sat back on its haunches and let Russia go along. But due to constant heavy pressure, Defense Secretary McNamara yielded his usual inch. He agreed to build a "thin" system that will cost about $5 billion dollars. But McNamara said this "missile defense system is being deployed mainly because of the threat from Red China's rapidly developing nuclear capability. At the same time, he urged Russia to "join us" in what he called a "race toward reasonableness" instead of an arms race. But in the meantime, Russia continues to build an anti-missile defense system.

What concerns many of us on Capitol Hill is whether this "thin-system" measures up to the challenge. What catastrophe could happen if Russia struck while our missile defenses were solely Red Chinese-oriented? Those are grave questions that must be answered in the coming months.

I leave you with this thought — handed down by Teddy Roosevelt. "Speak softly and carry a big stick." This is still good advice today in the face of potential attackers.

IMPROVED BENEFITS FOR DEPENDENTS

Widows and children of deceased veterans of all military conflicts will receive greater benefits under the Veterans' Pension and Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967 (Public Law 90-77), which becomes effective October 1.

Signed into law by the President on August 31, 1967, PL 90/77 made many more widows eligible for benefits by reducing the marriage time requirement from five years to one year. Further, a veteran's widow may qualify for benefits if a child was born to the couple before or after the marriage.

Eligibility for death pensions on a basis of need was extended to widows of veterans who served during the Vietnam era — since August 5, 1964. Death pensions are for widows of veterans who survived their service period, but die later for reasons not related to their military service.

Widows on the current pension rolls will receive cost-of-living increases of $5 $3 and $2 a month, depending on their current income, with the largest increases (about 1/2 per cent) going to those with the greatest need. A $1 monthly increase will be paid to each child in the custody of a veteran's widow.

Where there is no widow, children on the current pension rolls will receive increases at the rate of $2 monthly for the first child and $1 a month for each additional child.

A special monthly pension of $50 (in addition to benefits they are receiving) was created for widow pensions of all wars if they are patients in a nursing home, or when the veterans Administration determines they are in need of regular aid and attendance. Widows of Spanish-American war veterans, currently receiving pensions of $65 a month, will receive $70 a month.

The new law provides additional income exclusions for purposes of determining a widow's need for a pension. Previously a widow could exclude from her current income the amount she paid for the last illness and allowances will be paid by the VA on receipt of proof of entitlement and the proper application, which must be made within two years from the enactment date of the new law, August 31, 1967, or within two years of the veteran's death. Pension rate increases for the month of October will be included in checks received in November. These increases will be paid automatically to persons already receiving such benefits.

Mt. Vernon PTA Meeting Scheduled For October 9

The Mt. Vernon PTA will hold a meeting Monday night, October 9 at 7 p.m. at the school, according to Ed Hunt, president of the organization.

The future of the local PTA will be determined at this meeting if a sufficient number of parents turn out to make it worthwhile to continue the meetings.

The Mt. Vernon PTA has always been a very worthwhile and successful organization and the 1966-67 meetings were no exception. We managed to accomplish many projects even though the turnout was always very low. When it was time to elect new officers the nominating committee, through no fault of their own, were unable to obtain officers for the coming year. This is what will be done at the coming October election and plans

Church Construction Progressing Completion Expected This Year

The first Catholic Church to be built in Rockcastle County is well under construction. According to Fr. Ralph W. Beiting, tentative plans are for the church to be ready for Mass on Christmas Day.

We asked Fr. Beiting, who has been active in every phase of the planning and construction of the church adjacent rectory to give us an article concerning the new church.

Fr. Beiting very kindly agreed to do so and the article which he gave us was of such an interesting and informative nature that we felt that we would just reprint as a whole rather than attempt any editing. The article is reprinted below. We in the Catholic church feel that the responsibility of any Christian church reaches beyond their own congregation and must have a great deal to do with the community and the people that live in the entire county, it was with this in mind that we decided to build a church of the size that we have begun and living quarters that accompany the church. We felt that in county like Rockcastle County many people, in fact most people, have never made a commitment to any church what so ever. This great portion of unchurched people certainly deserve a great deal of effort made in their behalf, and this is an effort we certainly hope to contribute to their well being in the county.

We of the Catholic church know the potential and resources we possess. These are not necessarily financial resources but resources with business and people who are settling in the community. We know from past experience

Rabies Clinics Scheduled

The Rockcastle County Health Department will hold a series of Rabies Immunization Clinics beginning Monday, October 9 and continuing through Saturday, October 14 with the exception of Wednesday, October 11.

The clinics will be located throughout the county for the convenience of county residents and will be conducted by Dr. William L. Adams and Dr. R.C. Burdette.

The cost of the three-year vaccine will be $1.50.

The local clinics are being held in conjunction with clinics all over the state to combat the growing fear of a rabies epidemic. Rabies have more than doubled since 1966 and unless all dogs are immunized a serious outbreak could result with the loss of many human lives and farm animals.

The threat of rabies hangs over all Kentucky, and can be expected to reach epidemic proportions periodically unless adequate prevention and control measures are taken. Dr. J.W. Skaggs of the state Health Department told a symposium in Louisville recently.

A regional control plan, involving several states and costing about $5 million was advocated by Dr. Keith Sikes, chief of rabies control at the National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta.

He suggested to the symposium

FHA NEWS

The officers of the Mt. Vernon Chapter of Future Homemakers of America attended the Wilderness Trail FHA Fall Leadership Conference at Laboratory School in Richmond on September 23. During the conference, the officers learned their duties and plan on making their chapter a more successful one. Officers are Barbara Rader, president; Rose Rowe, first vice president; Joey Thacker, second vice president; Judy Kirby, secretary; Andrea Anglin, Treasurer; Linda Miller, reporter; Pam Ramsey, parliamentary; LeZetta Kirby, Historian; DeLilah Barnett, recreation leader, and Jenny Coffey, song leader.

COMMUNITY MEETING

The Macedonia-Cove School held their first community meeting September 27 with an attendance of twenty. The following officers were elected at the meeting: Mrs. Donald Bullock, president, Mrs. Joe VanWinkle, vice president, and Mrs. Betty Laswell, secretary.

Several small projects and improvements were discussed and decided upon but the largest community project which received the highest number of votes was to install inside rest rooms. This is the only thing that our school lacks to be classed as a completely modern school. We are very proud of our oil stove which we installed last school year. We will just be as proud if we can get our inside rest room project completed this year. Larry Bell and his Girl's Choir presented a wonderful musical program. Our regular meeting date was set for the 27th of each month.

During August the sales of Series E and R Savings Bonds and Notes in Rockcastle County were $8,488 and sales for the year reached $47,661 of the annual goal of $90,500. Sales a year ago were $63,911. In Kentucky, the sales for the month were 4,600,350

We Salute!

4-H

LEADERS MEMBERS PARENTS

By: Mrs. Faith N. Plymmer

All of us have at one time or another listened to speaker say the future of the next generation is in the hands of youth today.

Of course, it's today's youth are tomorrow's leaders, but sometimes we wonder what exactly is being done to prepare boys and girls for the difficult, and challenging tasks that lie ahead.

National 4-H Week to be observed in the United States Sept. 30 - Oct. 7, will salute 4-H'ers everywhere. With its theme—4-H, a World of Opportunity, activities will focus on local, state, national and international achievements of the head, heart, hands and health program. The "learn by doing" concept carried out in dozens of project areas illustrates the 4-H way of preparing young people for tomorrow. For example, 4-H automotive projects offer a solid basis for marketable skills in mechanics. Young girls now involved in nutrition work can easily make the transition into the world of consumer and homemaker. They gain valuable experience that would often be more costly later on.

Good citizenship is part of the 4-H project. You learn to be a good citizen by being one. Members have a chance - through 4-H citizenship projects - to contribute to America long before they are voting age. On Sept. 23, five Mt. Vernon 4-H'ers showed their good citizenship by becoming volunteers for the 1967 Arthritis Fund. Ann Stewart, Carolyn Rappert, Alma Gentry, Danny Ford, and Larry Ponder collected $102.75 to be used by victims of arthritis in the state of Kentucky. We should be proud to have 4-H in Rockcastle County. We salute its efforts in behalf of two and three-quarter million 4-H members across our Nation!

A-Hunting We Will Go

Whether it's a duck or deer you're going after, here are some tips for happy hunting. Waiting in a duck blind can get cold and damp. Maybe a Thermos Swivel Seat Shell Box isn't as cozy as your favorite fireside armchair, but it spells comfort in the marshes. Built of heavy-gauge steel for long and rugged use, it holds six to eight boxes of shells and the durable sponge rubber swivel seat adjusts quickly to either high or low position. To keep the inner man feeling toponotch, be sure your gear includes a Thermos vacuum bottle of hot coffee or soup. Make your equipment do double duty on hunting trips. For instance, an ice chest can keep food fresh for days out in the field. Use it homeward bound to carry small game. For a roof over your head, take along a "Pop-Tent" and set up camp in seconds. CCC INVESTMENT FIGURE DOWN

Fiscal year-end summary of Commodity Credit Corporation activities released Sept. 13 shows a total investment in agricultural commodities in inventory and under loan down to $3,361,550,000 according to reports received by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Staff Office. This is the lowest investment figure since mid-1953 and about $2 billion below a year ago.

Continued declines in the quantities of wheat, feed grains, and cotton represented by the investment figures are responsible for the drop and reflect the success of the commodity programs in reducing surpluses. Wheat and feed grains comprised about 30 percent of the total investment on June 30, 1967, as compared with more than 70 percent a few years ago. CCC investment will drop further as the 3.3 million bales of cotton sold for delivery after August 1 are included in subsequent CCC summaries. Reflecting the stocks reduction, total CCC storage handling, and transportation costs for the 1967 fiscal year which ended on June 30 were less than two-thirds of these costs for fiscal year 1966.

who have been exposed, The biggest problems are "wildlife and the inadequacy of human treatment," he said. He listed skunks, foxes, cattle, bats and dogs, in that order, as being most often infected with rabies, according to national statistics.

Dr. Richard F. Dieks, chief of the Rabies Investigations Laboratory, Atlanta, said potentially safer human vaccines are being developed, and should lower the number of neurological complications.

Destructive Noise
One problem of the "sonic boom" caused by supersonic aircraft is the destruction of historic landmarks. A boom from a military plane recently caused an 80-ton landslide on the prehistoric cliff dwellings in Mesa Verde National Park.

posium that a five-state program including Kentucky would reduce rabies immediately.

Such a program would not eradicate rabies, but would reduce it substantially, Dr. Sikes said.

About 100 persons attended the symposium at the state Health Department Auditorium. It was prompted by the "alariming increase" in rabies among wildlife both in Kentucky and nationwide.

There were 125 laboratory-confirmed cases of rabies in Kentucky during 1966, and 135 cases in the first six months of 1967. This year's cases were reported from 34 counties in the Cave region, and in scattered counties in East and southeast Kentucky.

Dr. Skaggs, medical epidemiologist in the state Health Department said: "Foxes constitute Kentucky's primary reservoir for rabies virus at the present time. However, skunk rabies is also increasing and the bat remains an unknown quantity in the 'alariming increase'."

Of the 135 cases, 75 were foxes, 40 were second, with 24.

Dr. Skaggs said Kentucky has had no human rabies since 1961, when two persons in Eastern Kentucky died after being bitten by rabid foxes.

"Total death, though certainly tragic, in themselves, do not constitute a very real measure of the impact of rabies on human health," Dr. Skaggs said.

"In order to appreciate the public health importance of this most feared of all infectious diseases, we must realize that every animal bite represents a potential exposure."

Dr. Skaggs said more than 4,200 animal biting incidents were investigated by the Jefferson County Health Department in 1966.

In each case, the offending animal must be captured, confined and observed for rabies symptoms.

If the animal escapes or develops signs of the disease during the quarantine period, the person bitten must undergo 14 days of painful rabies shots.

"Consider further the anxiety of the patient, therefore, one can appreciate the over all public-health aspects of the disease," Dr. Skaggs said.

Dr. Sikes said a cleaner, safer and stronger vaccine is needed to treat humans.

Horse built by a committee.

It's an old joke. But the moral is as good today as it ever was. Henry Ward knows that the most inefficient way to get efficiency in state government would be to appoint another committee. Yet, that's what Henry Ward's opponent would like to do.

Therefore, if you want more efficient state government, you have a choice. You can vote for appointing a 50-man committee to study the matter again for a couple of years... or you can vote for Henry Ward who knows what needs to be done now, and has already done it wherever he has been in state government. His record proves it.

If you want efficient government now...
