important issues he said he disagreed with was the ruling of no prayers in the schools. "If they want to pray let them," Burns said. The road program also came under fire when Burns stated that Ward had black-topped more private driveways and put more gravel on private drives than he had state roads during his time as Highway Commissioner. He also asserted that the only way Ward could win the coming election was for Nunn to die of a heart attack.

Vows To Be Said

Burns speech seemed to have overtones of extending the olive branch to the Happy Chandler faction of the Democratic Party. At one point he asserted "that the Republican could train Chandler and Nunnpeople to drive the yellow Highway Department trucks too."

After Burns' speech, W.L. Oliver, land speculator with a residence in Renfro Valley got up and declared that the hat would be passed for donations. Over $200. was collected by this spur-of-the-moment method.

Mr. Burns informed the Signal that Nunn would definitely make an appearance in Rockcastle before the election.

BELL PEPPERS CAN ADD A MILLION DOLLARS TO SOUTHEASTERN KENTUCKY FARM INCOME

A million dollars can be added to 1968 farm income to southeastern Kentucky through the production of bell peppers, says Hubert W. Davis, UK Extension vegetable specialist.

A Tennessee Processor has agreed to buy the total production from as many as 1,000 acres of bell peppers in southeastern Kentucky next year. Davis points out. If planted, the 1,000 acres should add about one million dollars to farm income in the area.

"Production of bell peppers for processing had an encouraging beginning in southeastern Kentucky this year," he continues. "Some 40 acres were grown in Laurel, Clay, Rockcastle and Harlan counties and most growers were pleased with the results."

Growing peppers fits well into many farming operations, especially where labor is not fully employed in late summer and early fall. After the crop is set, very little labor is needed until harvest begins. Total labor requirements for growing and harvesting an acre of bell peppers is about 150 man hours to 15 man days. The average production cost is $110 to $125 per acre.

The 1968 price expected is $65 per ton for table peppers delivered to a local collecting station, Davis says. The average yield per acre is 7 to 10 tons, but when good cultural practices are used an acre may yield 13 to 18 tons. Only four peppers per plant, with a 10,000 plant per acre population, is needed for a 10-ton yield.

No special equipment is needed for growing bell peppers and no cultivation is required if chemical weeding/killer is used. The plants are usually set with a tobacco setter about May 15. Harvest starts in late August and continues until the crop is killed by frost in October.

The time of harvest is not critical since the pepper can be left on the plant after it is ripe for as long a week without damage. Peppers may also be picked and stored for five to six days without damage. A pepper crop is usually harvested every 7 to 10 days or about 5 to 6 times during the season.

Pepper production fits in well on farms where cucumbers soil for processing ends in early August and pepper harvest does not begin until after mid-August. With both crops, a grower would have a weekly cash income from early July until the middle of October, Davis notes.

For more information on producing bell peppers for processing contact your county Extension office.

FALL WINTER PASTURE MANAGEMENT TIPS GIVEN

Pasture production next year may depend on how farmers handle their improved pastures this fall and winter. Here are some tips, from Warren Thompson, UK Cooperative Extension Service agronomist:

1. Apply fertilizer and lime now (where needed) on good grass-and-legume stands. If the stand has 25 percent or more legumes, and the grass, the field is producing the needed nitrogen, only phosphate and potash fertilizers will be needed for economical yields.
2. Soil tests are the best guide to amount and kind of fertilizer to use. Without such test, a rule of thumb is 400 to 600 pounds of an acre of 0-10-20, or 300 to 400 pounds of an acre of 0-20-20 fertilizer.

3. Clover, like alfalfa, requires a resting phase before winter comes. When such pastures are used between now and the first freeze, they have little chance to build food reserves in the rootstock for winter survival and production next year.

If grazing these now, take the animals off (if possible) and rot until freeze-down to put them back on. If a field produces more growth than can be grazed, make hay or silage after freeze down.

4. Avoid too close grazing on rolling land, to keep away from erosion.

TIME ELEMENT, MONEY SAVING FACTORS IN FALL SOIL TESTING, U. OF K. SAYS

Fall soil test? Of course—they save time and money, says Harold Miller, U. of K. Cooperative Extension Service soils specialist.

Samples submitted in the give the area agent more time to run the tests and make recommendations. Then, you may save money by buying fertilizer this fall for next spring's use.

There are just two of the reasons for fall-testing. Others are that there are little changes in soil over the winter, so fall tests results are just as accurate as spring tests; if limestone is needed on the soil, it can be applied in the fall and have all winter to react with the soil; and phosphate and potash applications (if needed) can be made in the fall with little chance of leaching-out over the winter.

Only-nutrients limiting plant growth should be applied. Thus, a soil test is the most accurate index of that need, and, level of a valuable plant foods can vary from field to field depending on past fertilization practices and differences in soil type.

So check with the area extension office in the county for more details and take that soil test.

By: Mrs. Phillip Davis

Kentucky—land of the "Dark and Bloody Ground," famed for its bluegrass, Bourbon, and bluebloods of the turf, has moved many a writer to try to capture on paper some of its color and romance. Following is a list of recent books about our state.

NATHAN COULTER, by Wendell Berry, Nathan Coultter is a novel of the Kentucky tobacco country. It is the story of Nathan's family-of the father and the grandfather, who have the same stubborn devotion to their own lives and their own land; of Uncle Burley, who never owned anything-whose joy was in fishing and hunting, and who had time to understand a boy or an old man. And there is Nathan's brother, Tom, who grew so much like his father that he had to leave home. Finally there is Nathan's story of growing to manhood. The author is a native of Henry County.

THE SONG OF THE RIVER, by Billy C. Clark. The big Sandy in Eastern Kentucky forms the setting for this short novel in which the main character is an elderly shantyboat man who knows and loves its water. From lonely old John's need for the company of the village boys and his ambition to catch a giant catfish named Scorpion Jack, the author has woven a constellation of life on the river.

LAND BEYOND THE MOUNTAINS, by Janice Holt Giles. This story of the association between Cass Cartwright and General James Wilkinson is interwoven with the stories of the fight for Kentucky, of the settling of Cass's land grant and of the two women loved-Rachel, the gentle and inflexible Quakeress and Tattie, the waif he rescued from the Philadelphia almshouse.

Other books by this popular Kentucky author include: HANNAH FOWLER, THE KENTUCKIANS, MISS WILLIE, AND TARA'S HEALING.

THAT FAR PARADISE, by Gene Merkey. In the year 1794 Jared Ken said he decided to move his family from Virginia to the wilderness country of Kentucky despite his wife's objections. Jared's involvement with an attractive runaway who travels with the Kearsal expedition and his breaking up of an English plot to stir up trouble west of the Alleghenies make the overland journey an active one. A realistic historical novel with colorful details.

GOD'S ODDLING: THE STORY OF MICK STUART, MY FATHER, by Jesse Stuart. In these warm, moving recollections of a father he loved, Jesse Stuart tells about the land and the home he has known all his life. The narrative portrays with humor and affection the proud and independent hill farmer, unlettered but earth-wise, who loved the land, its natural beauty, and all living things. It also recalls Jesse Stuart's own boyhood and describes in realistic yet poetic terms the way of life led by his hard-working, closely-knit family.

The author says in his preface: "When I set out to write this book I discovered that I had already been writing it all my life, from the time I started writing, 'God's Oddling,' then, is the harvest of all my writing sessions. It is the best book I could write, and I hope it is worthy of the man I have tried to portray." And according to the critics, Jesse Stuart's best is very good indeed.

Other useful books include Dr. Thomas D. Clark's HISTORY OF KENTUCKY, and THE KENTUCKY one of the Rivers of America series, also by Dr. Clark. QUAIL Mr. and Mrs. M. J. McMullin visited Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hysinger Monday afternoon. Mrs. Jessie Taylor and

Flowers

By Ruth Fain SNAKEROOT A Valuable Flower
This is an odd name for a plant, and there are several that have this name. The reason is that the roots of these plants look like snakes.
Many years ago it was believed that the roots of these plants could cure snake bites.
Many of the snakeroot plants do have medicinal value. Some are used for tonics, but the most famous is "reserpine," and it is used as a tranquilizer in treating nervous disorders. All snakeroot plants have beautiful clusters of flowers.
We feel all our flowers are "good medicine." Send an arrangement to a sick friend or child. There is no other gift that says as much.

2 Arrested At Livingston Returned To Dayton Ohio

A hunch paid off last Friday night for Livingston policemen, Dick Artley. It all began when Artley noticed a 1963 Cadillac going through town that seemed to be riding a "little low" on the ground. He decided to pull them over for a routine check and found that his hunch had been right.

The trunk of the car was full of "loot," chain saws, power saws, generators, etc. and it was finally uncovered where it had all come from. Roy Morgan and Earl Smith, both about 20, of Dayton, Ohio occupants of the car finally confessed to stealing the equipment from Al's Rental Shop in Ohio Thursday night. They were reportedly traveling to Hyden to dispose of it. The owner of the equipment came to Livingston, identified the merchandise and placed a value of $4,000 on it.

Detective Robert Hill of Dayton, Ohio came for the boys who waived extradition.

Overflow Crowd Hears Candidate Burns Speak

"It was one of the largest turnout ever for anything in Rockcastle County," Nunn County's Campaign Chairman, Sheriff Tip Reppert reported Friday night. He was, of course, referring to the crowd which gameted the Republican Rally Friday night, October 6, at which Commonwealth Attorney Lester Burns, 36, was the featured guest speaker.

Prior to the speech-making the local Republican organization furnished food and drinks for about 1,000 people at Jim's Car Wash across from the courthouse. The crowd then dispersed to the Circuit Court Room and overflowed into the hall. The evening was led off with a welcome to the crowd by Sammy Ford, Rockcastle County Young Republican Chairman, who introduced State Representative Harold DeMarcus, State Representative for Rockcastle and Lincoln counties.

DeMarcus expressed his heartfelt thanks for the support the people of Rockcastle have given him during his campaigns. Rep. DeMarcus told the crowd, "I promise you this, as long as I live I will be trying to pay my debt to you." Touching upon the upcoming state election, DeMarcus reminded those present that "recently the Breasheit Administration lowered the tax on whiskey and raised the tax on your home and farms. I have seen many things done in Frankfort in my two years which I didn't want done but come January I will have plenty of help in Frankfort to keep these things from happening. Maurice Howard of Crab Orchard, Veterans' Chairman, spoke briefly on the man, spoke for more active support of veteran's service clubs.

Rep. DeMarcus then introduced Lester Burns as "the most forceful speaker in today's political arena."

Burns opened his speech by declaring his confusion as to who his opponent was since he hadn't come out from under Ward's coat tails long enough for him (Burns) to know.

Referring to the attacks made on Nunn and his running mates by the Courier-Journal and Lexington Herald Leader, Burns said, "the Courier Journal has never told the truth about a Republican candidate in its life and it's the 'Lying' Journal. Burns said he wondered where the money was that the person who wrote the editorial against him in the Lexington Herald said he would send him for a television debate. He said he hadn't gotten it yet and sure could use it since he was broke because he was on an LBJ (Lyndon B. Johnson) diet. "I make it, he takes it."

The candidate made it quite clear what his position would be on several issues if he were elected to the post of State's Attorney General. One of the most Robinson, and Mrs. Leo Hopkins; Minutes and Mrs. Jess Bullock, Hootenanny, Curt Roberts, Membership, Mrs. Freddie Noe and Mrs. Agnes Ponder and drinks, Harold Jones and Freddie Noe.

Freedom of the Press Belongs to the People

By Theodore A. Serrill

Executive Vice President, National Newspaper Association

Who ever told that nosey editor he had a right to pry into what happened at our council meeting? What gave that reporter any idea that he could write about the school directors the way he did?

The answer is that there is no law, rule, regulation or order that specifically requires a newspaper reporter to cover city council, school board or court sessions. The Constitution says "Congress shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom of the press." One can search out all of the laws of the Federal Government, right down to the Freedom of Information bill passed by the 89th Congress, and find nothing further about "the press."

The same can be said of state law. Most state constitutions recognize freedom of the press to publish news, but none particularize these rights, or set down any press responsibilities.

The newspaper is not required to report the city council meeting or send someone to the school directors' sessions. The reporter could stay home. Nor do laws specify that "the press" be accorded any special treatment before any public body. "Open meeting laws" never mention newspapers, reporters, or news media. They simply affirm the right of the public at large to attend and observe meetings of governing assemblies.

Mrs. Smith, then, can "cover" the city council — for her club, her neighborhood, or just for herself. The principle of open government meetings was established for the people — the resident, the voter, the taxpayer, all the governed — not solely for the press or its representatives.

Then why is it that "the right to know" and "freedom of information" always seem to be linked with the press? In the very early days of American settlement all of the people of a local community would gather in the town meeting and determine the affairs of the community. Almost everybody attended, and those who didn't, soon learned from the informed majority.

But villages soon grew into cities, and the "pure democracy" of the town meeting gave way to representative democracy. Government was growing more remote from the people. It was also growing more complicated. Yet the citizen, as a voter, had the same responsibility to keep himself informed.

It followed naturally that the Nation's fledgling press should fill the role of reporter and commentator on public affairs. No one passed a law requiring it. The Founding Fathers simply had faith that a private press, given the guarantee of freedom to do so, would accept the responsibility. And of course it has. For nearly two centuries newspapers have attended meetings of governing bodies, reporting and interpreting in behalf of the public.

The reporter attends city council meetings as a member of the public. He has a right to be present only if the public retains that right. The editor comments on the council's decisions — or lack of them — as an ordinary citizen. While he is aided in his function by the printing press at his disposal, it gives him no special rights. He can comment only so long as the public has a privilege of commenting.

The "right to know" and "freedom of information" are concepts with which the newsman works every day. The same professional tradition which sends him to the city council meeting compels him to resist intrusions on these public rights. For he knows, and the public should always realize too, that in all that he does, the newspaperman acts as a citizen, in behalf of his fellow citizens.

Strong consumer buying power and a disposition to use it will be combined this year with greater availability and wider selection of merchandise than ever before. This combination promises to add up to at least a 6% boost in dollar volume of Christmas sales over the record trade achieved in 1966. Because of higher prices, however, the increase in physical turnover may not be more than 3%-4%.

Retailers should find their increased volume leading to bigger gross margins with the first three quarters of this year. But they will be hard put to improve profitability over their experience at Christmas time last year. Stores that will chalk up the best profit records will be those who managements make a wise — though not excessive — use of promotions while at the same time keeping a sharp eye on sales personnel performance. And above everything else, hold a tight rein on costs without scrimping on customer services.

BABSON'S REPORT Bigger Christmas Spending Forecast

CHRISTMAS SALES — Sales of retail stores just chalked up a new all-time high for September. That is good news for everybody, especially for merchants from coast to coast. For the late summer surge came to the nation's cash registers, come Christmastime.

CONSUMERS HAVE THE CASH

Recent months have seen personal income persistently poking into new ground. . . to the tune of average monthly chunks of better than $4 billion each. Disposable personal income (what's left after taxes and other payments) had been lagging total personal income. The gap seemed to be the result of a greater disposition on the part of consumers to save more.

Most manufacturers, wholesalers, jobbers, and retailers are already optimistic with regard to sales performance during the upcoming holiday season. Some, however, are more cautious, — fearing perhaps that this year's higher prices may prove to be an unfavorable factor. In our opinion, the balance of factors favors optimism.

Neither war in Vietnam nor strikes here at home will have too serious an impact on the flow of available goods. Unless, of course, the expected upsurge in store sales should be even greater than we anticipate. In that case some shelves could be bare for last-minute shoppers. Fact is, supplies of most goods are plentiful. Not only are we pretty well assured of having both guns and butter; we can also count on generous amounts of quality and luxury items. Next year may be a different story, but for Yuletide 1967 "shelves will be well stocked and quality and variety will be more evident than ever.

PLENTIFUL SUPPLIES — Neither war in Vietnam nor strikes here at home will have too serious an impact on the flow of available goods. Unless, of course, the expected upsurge in store sales should be even greater than we anticipate. In that case some shelves could be bare

The Rockcastle County Health Department exists to serve you through protection of the health of the people of this County. Each year we present a report describing what has been done to maintain public health in Rockcastle County.

COMMUNICABLE DISEASE CONTROL

We are proud to announce that, due to the continuing effective long range Public-Health programs and the long hours of work and planning on the part of the staff with the cooperation of all the citizens of Rockcastle County, we have had 100% success in the prevention of Typhoid, Syphilis, Smallpox, Diphtheria, Lockjaw, Polio, Rabies, and a host of other deadly diseases that were commonplace only a few years ago. In addition to having whipped out these diseases, significant ground has been covered in our march toward the complete eradication of most other infectious diseases, notably among which are Measles, Whooping Cough, Tuberculosis, Strep Throat and Intestinal Tract Infections.

We submit to you the following list of activities which were carried out during July 1, 1966 through June 30, 1967 in the course of achieving the aforementioned results. We must call attention to the fact that the task grows greater year to year in direct proportion to the increases in population, in travel, in urbanization, and in public apathy about disease as we become further removed from experience with epidemics. These factors not only compound and expand our responsibilities, but they doubly increase the likelihood of our community being overrun by epidemic disease should we drop our safeguard.

IMMUNIZATION

Number Given	2,460
Type Given:
Diphtheria	Poliomyelitis
Tetanus	Smallpox
Whooping Cough	Measles

Immunization Clinics are held the first and third Fridays of each month.

TUBERCULOSIS

Through the Tuberculosis Control Program, the tide against TB is gradually turned, not only in Rockcastle County, but over the entire state.

Cases supervised during the year 106
Patients admitted to TB hospital, London 6

X-rays taken on cases, contacts, suspects
Out-Patient Clinic - London 173
X-rays taken by Mobile Unit 401
New cases reported to State Health Dept. 11
TB skin tests given 62
Office and Home visits - Active and Inactive cases 96
Office and Home visits - Contacts 50

CHRONIC ILLNESS

More people die of heart disease than from the second and third leading causes (cancer and strokes) of death combined. Our rheumatic fever prevention program is one action by which the Health Department can try to prevent some of the early deaths from heart disease. Persons, with rheumatic fever, when requested by their family doctor or specialist, can receive medicine necessary to control rheumatic fever and prevent future heart damage.

Each year, Kentucky Physicians may report as many as 1,000 new cases of the uterine cancer (mouth of the womb). When this kind of cancer is discovered early enough, treatment can be started and lives can be saved. By means of diagnosis early and corrections made before obvious symptoms are noted by the woman or her physician. This test is known as the "Pap" test.

Rheumatic fever cases on medicine	23
Home and office visits	126
Pap tests for cancer detection	356
Diabetes screening tests	552

SCHOOL HEALTH

A good school health program takes the cooperation of many groups; the Board of Education, the private doctors, the Health Department and the parents. Health supervision of the pre-school and school age child provides the chance to detect conditions early and corrections made. This year, with the assistance of the school-health nurse, every child has been screened for vision and hearing defects.

Visits to schools	79
Children examined	534
Children referred for defects	15
Dental examinations by dentists	318
Dental corrections made	966
School bus drivers and other school employees examined	83

MATERNAL AND CHILD HEALTH

There are many conditions of children which, if not found early and corrected, may lead to invalidism. The Health Department spends a great deal of time finding these children and securing help for them. PKU tests are done on all newborns before leaving the hospital. Tests on babies born at home are taken by the Health Nurse. This test is for a defect which, if not found in the first weeks of life, will lead to mental retardation. Since prenatal medical supervision is the key to successful childbearing, the Health Department gives advisory services to expectant mothers and assists them in arranging for good maternity care.

Family Planning Service is a component part of public health service and of maternal care which should be continuous and based on the individual needs of each family. Family planning services are made available at the Health Department to those who are unable for any reason to obtain this care elsewhere. Physicians in private practice refer eligible patients for services.

Home and office visits - Prenatal and postpartum	12
Patients receiving advisory services	11
Family Planning advisory service	76

CRIPPLED CHILDREN

The Health Department spends many hours finding and visiting crippled children in Rockcastle County. These children are referred to various clinics for diagnosis and treatment of types of crippling conditions such as congenital deformities, cerebral palsy, scoliosis, injuries causing orthopedic defects, plastic surgery for such cases as burns, cleft lips and palates, congenital and acquired heart conditions, epilepsy, neurosurgical conditions and eye conditions requiring surgery and unusual treatment.

VITAL STATISTICS

All births and deaths occurring in Rockcastle County are recorded at the Health Department.

Physicians and others in attendance are required to file birth certificates with the Registrar. The original is sent to the State Health Department in Frankfort and a copy kept on file in the local office. Notifications of the birth registrations are mailed to the parents. Certified photostatic copies are mailed from the State Health Department upon request.

Deaths are registered by the Undertaker or person in charge. The original is sent to the State Health Department and a copy kept on file in the local office. Death certifications can be furnished by the local health department; certified photostatic copies may be obtained from the State Health Department upon request. A burial permit must be obtained in all instances before burial.

Births	277
Deaths	103
Stillbirths	3

SANITATION

Good sanitation is a very important part of our Health Department work. In addition to the activities listed below, a strict inspection and supervision is made of the plumbing, sewage disposal, etc. of all new non-farm buildings. We expect this to greatly upgrade sanitation in the whole county.

Water Samples collected	91
Inspection of restaurants, schools and school cafeterias	286
Inspections of Hotels, Motels and schools	18
Nuisance complaints investigated	31
Visits for Rabies control	66
Animals quarantined	14
New connections to public sewer	43
Plumbing Inspections (with the State Plumbing Inspector)	205

HEALTH EDUCATION

Pamphlet distribution to general public on Public Health Matters, News papers, articles, Radio Programs (Tuesdays and other groups). Talks to parents in Headstart program and other groups.

The Rockcastle County Health Department was sponsor for the Health Fair. This was held for one week and was located at the Mt. Vernon School. Various films, exhibits, games, pamphlets and information were available. Approximately 4,000 Rockcastle Countians were in attendance throughout the week.

Nunn Calls For A ud it

Louise Nunn today called for a "thorough, complete audit of the Highway Department." And he told the Kiwanis Club that, when the audit was done, he would "take the Highway Department by the scuff of the neck and give it a good shaking."

Said Nunn: "I'm going to shake out the Highway Department. I'm going to shake out those on the payroll who have spent more time playing politics and golf than they have in building roads. Then we'll get down to the business at hand - the business of building roads for the people of Kentucky - for all the people."

The Republican gubernatorial candidate said he would bring into state government "men from business and industry who have the technical know-how to put the Highway Department on its feet - men who can make of it a business-like operation, men removed from the selfish self-centered influence of partisan politics."

"We'll build your roads and you can count on that. And we won't look at the county election results to determine which roads should be built first."

Nunn said that bond issues had provided Ward when he was Highway Commissioner, with more than 325 million dollars and that this, matched by Federal Funds, converted to more than 3 billion dollars. He said that Ward had spent 2 billion dollars while building 625 miles of interstate and local roads and levees also.

Nunn said he was "sick and tired of hearing Henry Ward brag about himself."
