Butler Predicts A Top Season For Burley

Calling this year's crop "good, thin and the type desirable to buyers," State Agriculture Commissioner Wendell P. Butler predicted top prices for Kentucky Burley tobacco producers. First day sales on the market established a new record—$71.87 per hundred on a total of 20,602,553 pounds of leaf. This exceeded the previous record of $68.63 set last year. Receipts totaled $14,806,381. Butler officially opened the season by purchasing a 500-pound basket at the (Old) Globe Warehouse at Shelbyville for $72 per hundredweight. Pointing out that demand for flyings, lugs and better grade leaf was brisk, Butler said these were up from $1 to $2 over last year. He also noted that lower grades sold $12 to $15 over support levels. There is no exact figure on how much leaf went under government loan. Graded tobacco, failing to sell for its support price, is guaranteed a minimum price by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Opening-day volume was about 10 per cent greater than last year when almost 18.7 million pounds were sold for slightly more than $12.8 million. Across the eight-state Burley Belt, a total of 32,174,114 pounds of leaf brought growers $23,152,907 for an average price of $71.96—another record high figure. It was $2.82 better than the opening at an average last year, the Federal-State Market News Service reported. Bell-wild, the 1967 Burley crop is estimated at 558 million pounds. Of this total, about 385 million pounds are grown in Kentucky. Sales are scheduled to end Dec. 20 for the Christmas and New Year's holidays, then resume on Jan. 3.

 Christmas, the universally observed and beloved season, symbolizes for most of us a time for rejoicing, of happiness, family solidarity, childlike wonder, faith and reverence.

 The universality of the celebration of Christmas is well illustrated in the library's book collection.
 Materials relating to Christmas may be found in almost every subject field.
 For those wishing to browse in the literature and lore of Christmas, the library offers the following suggestions:

Seasonal Periodicals.

FIRST KENTUCKY "GOURMET QUALITY" HAM SOLD—State Agriculture Commissioner Wendell P. Butler (right) holds the honor of purchasing the first country ham certified by the State Agriculture Department as a "Kentucky Gourmet Quality" product. Noted poet-author Jesse Stuart examines the ham, which was given to him by Butler following Stuart's address to a Frankfort gathering. The State has begun a $30,000 advertising and promotion program to give national publicity to Kentucky country hams bearing the quality-seal label.

Fadiman on Children's Books
 With Christmas near, Clifton Fadiman writes, in the November issue of "Holiday", of his favorite books for children, taking a forthright stand on what young people should and should not read.
 "It is in the classroom that the child is taught to read" says Fadiman, "but his acceptance of the idea of reading takes place usually at the age of about 18 months, in the home, that is in a home where books seem like plumbing, to be a part of life, and where the child's parents are visible habitual readers."

Mr. Fadiman divides his list into two parts: those books published before 1920 and the ones after 1920.
 In the later list, Fadiman has placed some of the more recent titles, such as,
 Mr. Popper's Penguins by Richard R. and Florence
 Atwater.
 Madeline by Ludwig Bemelmans.
 The Trouble With Jenny's
 Ear, by Oliver Butterworth.
 The Matchlock Gun, by Walter D. Edmonds.
 King Of The Wind, by Marguerite Henry.
 Kon-Tiki, by Thor Heyer-
 dahl.
 Smoky, The Cow Horse, by Will James.
 Pippi Longstocking by Astrid Lindgren.
 The Story of Dr. Dolittle
 by Hugh Lofting.

The World of Christopher
 Robin by A.A. Milne.
 Any books by Dr. Seuss.
 The Talking Dog and the Barking Man by Elizabeth
 Seaman.
 The Borrowers by Mary
 Norton.
 Charlotte's Web by E.B.
 White.

Books mentioned on this list may be borrowed from your Rockcastle County Library.

 Refusing a Job
 Two men, both out of work, put in claims for unemployment insurance. Each was asked if he had tried to find another job.
 The first man said:
 "I was offered a job driving a taxi cab, but I turned it down. The cab had an automatic transmission, and I happen to prefer a stick shift."
 The second man said:
 "I was offered a job as a paint sprayer, but I turned it down. Although I could do the work, I am extremely allergic to paint."
 Were these men, having refused to take jobs that were offered, thereby disqualified from collecting unemployment insurance? All state do disqualify, in varying degrees, the person who refuses a job — but only if the job he refuses is "suitable."
 In the above cases, the first man

cab driving had disqualified. The cab in which job was suitable, because his only objection to it was petty and unreasonable. But the second man was held not disqualified. The painting job was not suitable, because it involved a real danger to his health.

Another factor that may affect the suitability of a job is the distance the person must travel to get there. For example:
 A man was held disqualified for unemployment insurance because he refused a job located only 11 miles from his home. Good transportation was available, and hundreds of other employees were making the same trip every day.

But an older man was held justified in refusing a job 34 miles away. In his case, the only way he could have gotten there was by driving an old and silted automobile. Hours and wages, too, may be taken into account. Thus:
 A stenographer who refused a 9 to 6 job, because she preferred 8 to 5, was held too finicky — hence disqualified for unemployment insurance. But a man was held not disqualified when he refused a job at wages substantially below those prevailing in the community.

In this way, weighing individual factors, the law seeks to carry out the basic philosophy of unemployment insurance — to draw a reasonable line between those who do want to work and those who do not. As one court put it:
 ("Unemployment insurance) was designed to alleviate the financial hardship of those unemployed through no fault of their own. It was not intended to provide a vacation with pay.

Posthumous Awards Made To Sp 5 Gary Taylor

On Friday, October 27, the families of nine servicemen killed in Vietnam gathered at Xavier University in Cincinnati, Ohio to accept posthumous awards for bravery by the servicemen.
Floyd J. Taylor, formerly of this city, accepted the awards for his son, Sp5 Gary Taylor who was killed June 12. He was the grandson of Mrs. Laura Taylor of Mt. Vernon.

The awards were presented by Col. Richard Dooley, professor of Military Science at the University.
Sp5 Taylor was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal and the Purple Heart.
The Distinguished Flying Cross was awarded for voluntary service above and beyond the call of duty. This service was performed on June 12 when Taylor volunteered to participate in Operation Firefly. This operation involved much low flying after hours of darkness and was considered so dangerous that participation was on a strictly voluntary basis. On that night, the mission involved seeking out and destroying enemy shipments of personnel on nearby waterways. Sp5 Taylor took time out from his duties as crew chief to act as a gunner on a helicopter. On the second mission of the night, the helicopters were heroism in Vietnam.

"For heroism in connection with military operations against a hostile force: On this date, Sp4 Carpenter was participating in a search and destroy operation in War Zone C.

In the early afternoon, he and his unit were moving through dense Viet Cong infested jungle when they were subjected to intense enemy small arms and automatic weapons fire from their left flank. Specialist Carpenter immediately related with highly effective bursts of automatic rifle fire. Exposing himself to the enemy barrage, he moved from position to position and directed accurate fire on the enemy. During the initial encounter, the patrol sustained several casualties.
Disregarding his own safety, Sp4 Carpenter moved into the intense hostile to the casualties, administered first aid and helped them to a clearing designated as a landing zone for helicopters. As Sp4 Carpenter was carrying a casualty to a waiting helicopter, he was wounded and had to be evacuated.
Carpenter was decorated at Fort Benning, Ga. by Colonel Farm. He was also commissioned a Kentucky Colonel by Governor Breathitt.

LIVINGSTON DEFEATS ANNVILLE & SHOPVILLE
The Livingston Blue Devils are stacking them up on the win side with two victories in their last two games.
On Friday night, the Blue Devils defeated Annnville on Annnville's home floor by a score of 57 to 46. It was a nip and tuck game until the fourth quarter when LHS managed to score 17 points and the cold shooting Annnville team could only put through 7 points.
Coach Preston Parrett commented that he was "very well pleased with the teamwork." Our big boys, Tyree and Jackson, played their best game of the season. As a whole, our defense and rebounding were excellent." Coach Parrett said.
Individual scorers for Livingston were: Mink 26, Reynolds 4, Owens 15, Tyree 8, and Jackson 4.
The Devils were also victorious Tuesday night in a game played at Shopville when they managed to squeak by Shopville by a score of 45 to 43.

However in the third period, the Tigers managed to outscore Nancy to be ahead by one point at the end of third period play and they managed to stay ahead to win by a score of 70 to 68.
Individual scores for Mt. Vernon were as follows: Helton 6, Renner 10, Saylor 11, Kirby 13, and Towell 4.
The next regular meeting of the Mt. Vernon Lion's Club will be held at Belly Acres Restaurant on Thursday, December 7 at 6:30 p.m.

tional facilities.
In order to perform this service for the club, Mr. Winstead had to resign as a member of the Board of Directors. W. O. Nelson had previously been named to supervise the construction.
With Mr. Winstead's resignation and also Mr. Nelson's, who was transferred to Richmond by Kentucky Utilities, as board members, the Board of Directors had to appoint two others to fill these vacancies. Charles Alfred Mullins and C. B. Owens, Jr. were named to the board.
Further details of the loan will appear in next week's issue of the Signal.

Scoring for Brodhead were: B. Bussell 23, Brown 9, Stevens 11, Moberly 8, Sargent 2, Ballock 8, and Daugherty 9.
It was practically the same Tuesday night when the Tigers met Berea and emerged victorious by a score of 57 to 55. However this time BHS was behind only at the end of the first period and then went ahead to stay.
Scorers for Brodhead were: B. Bussell 12, Brown 10, Stevens 24, Moberly 7 and Ballock 4.

MT. VERNON WINS FROM LIBERTY LOSES TO ANNVILLE

Mt. Vernon also chalked one up on the win side last Friday night with a 60 to 10 victory over Liberty.
It was nip-and-tuck for a while however as the Red Devils biggest margin at the end of any quarter stops was four points at the end of third quarter play.
However MVHS scored 20 points in the fourth quarter while the Casey County team could only manage 12.
Scoring individually for Mt. Vernon were: Helton 6, Allen 4, Renner 22, Saylor 10, Kirby 14, and Towell 4.

Individual scores for Mt. Vernon were as follows: Helton 9, Renner 10, Saylor 11, Kirby 13, and Towell 4.

Welfare Payments To Be Cut In January

More than 190,000 persons receiving welfare payments from the state will receive smaller amounts next month as the state prepares to try to make up a deficiency of $24.3 million in tax revenues.
Workers in the local public assistance office told the Signal that they had no local facts and figures available at the present time and had received no official word from Frankfort.
The cut was ordered after tax revenues failed to come up to official estimates on which the spending budget is based.
One of the biggest cuts, of $3.47 million, was ordered in the Department of Economic Security, which handles such federal-state welfare programs as public assistance benefits for needy aged, blind, disabled and dependent children and the state's "medical" program for the medically indigent.
Since the federal government matches state money for these programs, the cutback represents an overall reduction of about $10 million in economic security programs.
Commissioner C. Leslie Dawson said the decision to reduce public assistance benefits "is the hardest decision I've had to make since I've been here."

"We have done everything we know how to do to reduce the impact," Dawson said. "Some of our choices are bad choices which have to be made."

MINI-BLIZZARDS AND BIG CITIES

Big cities are girding against their annual battle with those most persistent and costly foes: snow and ice. Good old-fashioned snowstorms, the municipalities seem able to take in stride. It's the mini-blizzards—the small storms—that throw them for a loss.

BOSTON BACKLOG

Amongst the first of the mini-blizzards this season to plague a major U.S. city was a sneak attack on Boston in mid-November. Downtown, the snow accumulation was a mere three inches; even in the outer suburbs, five-inch cover was rare. Yet in a matter of two hours, this stormletted Greater Boston supper-hour traffic into one huge knot that was to take eight to ten hours to unravel. Movement on flat stretches of road was theoretically possible but drivers could do no more than inch along—their passage slowed or blocked completely by cars unable to negotiate even small grades, or stalled because the long hours of delay had drained batteries

IS IT TIME TO RENEW YOUR DRIVER'S LICENSE?

IT MAY BE IF YOUR BIRTHDAY IS IN DECEMBER

Published as a public service by this newspaper.

DRIVER DEFICIENCIES

During and immediately after practically every snow and ice storm, traffic problems are vastly increased. It is more difficult to attain. This is true in the city, in the suburbs, and along rural roads. But the whole problem is compounded as drivers—ill-prepared to cope with winter conditions—fumble and flounder.

Yet driver deficiencies are by no means the only cause of trouble. By and large, snow tires are more effective for braking on snow or ice than for obtaining and maintaining traction on slippery roads. And, let's face up to it: Cars made here in the U.S. are easily thrown off balance when the going gets rough because they carry the bulk of their weight forward and their power wheels behind.

FOREIGN-CAR ADVANTAGES

By contrast, most foreign-made cars have their power directly under their motors, whether these are located in the front or the rear. As a result, these foreign cars do possess a considerably greater degree of road stability for driving under snow and ice conditions than do our larger, poorly balanced U.S. autos. Ideally, of course, small cars propelled by electric—or perhaps nuclear—power are what we need for winter driving, especially in big cities. And such cars would prove an excellent solution for our rapidly increasing air-pollution problem in urban areas. They would also make for less wear and tear on highways and city streets and would require less parking space. But, alas, electric or nuclear-powered cars are far from being economically feasible.

SALT AND SAND, INFORMATION AND IMAGINATION

Big cities still tend to rely too much on salt and sand to solve winter traffic problems. Often even these are used too little and too late. Ordinances with teeth to restrict the size of trucks on city streets—winter and summer—and to limit truck deliveries to offpeak hours are urgently needed. Another remedy would be more widespread synchronization of traffic lights in downtown areas and on the major roads approaching central city business sections.

TV and radio could also be more frequently and more effectively used to alert drivers to dangerous conditions and to solicit their co-operation. And, in the interest of public safety as well as public convenience, big cities should be making better and more consistent use of professional weather services and of helicopters to obtain advance notice of approaching storms and to locate potential trouble spots before they become so clogged as to defy untangling.

GOOD FISHING ALL YEAR LONG—In Kentucky the fishing season is always open and, according to the State Parks Department, good catches are made at all Kentucky reservoirs during the late fall and winter months. Testifying to this fact are Byron Watson of Lexington and John Lyon of Frankfort who took this string of mixed bass from Lake Cumberland. State Park boat docks remain open the year-round to accommodate fishermen.

PICKLES COULD MEAN $2 MILLION INCOME FOR KENTUCKY FARMER

How many pickles will two million dollars buy? Kentucky farmers may find out next year, says Hubert W. Davis, UK Extension vegetable specialist. Kentucky's 1968 crop of cucumbers grown under contract to pickle processors could bring a two million dollar income to Kentucky farmers if the state's total acreage quota is contracted and if average yields are obtained, he says. This state's cucumber acreage has more than doubled and income from this crop has more than tripled since 1964, Davis points out. In 1967, Kentucky farmers planted 3,790 acres of cucumber acreage ever planted in the state. Kentucky farmers have been offered an opportunity to grow an additional 600 acres more in 1968. With a 5 per cent increase over the price paid for cucumbers in 1967.

Although the 1967 growing season was considered very poor, 43 producers received more than $1,000 for their cucumber crops this past year—the average income for these 43 producers was $1,128 per acre. Miles Tomes, Butler county, had the top yield, with a $1,506 per acre average. In addition, 98 other growers received $800 or more per acre for their cucumbers. Their average cash expense was $50 an acre.

Davis notes that the state's average yield per acre was down about 50 bushels in 1967, probably because of cool, wet weather at planting time and excessive rainfall during the harvest period. With normal weather conditions in 1968, yields should be much higher, he says. More information on growing cucumbers under contract is available from your county Extension office.

PASTURE RENOVATION TIME HERE NOW

Pasture-renovation time is here again, says Warren Thompson, UK Cooperative Extension Service Specialist. Here are some rules-of-thumb:

1. Grazed selected fields while the grass still is tasty. Keep stock on a small area in each field, to get top growth down quickly. 5 to 10 cows or twice that many young animals, will graze a heavy growth clean in a week or 10 days or less.
2. Take soil tests, and follow recommendations for lime, phosphate and potash. Don't put nitrogen on fields to be renovated. Fall liming and fertilizing is easier than spring and just as productive.
3. Use a tiller or disk to tear out about half a good sod. (On mowing land, till the contour.) Leave the ground rough till just before seeding in February or early March.

How's Your Stock Of First-Aid Items?

Would an accident at home or on vacation find your family without adequate first aid supplies? The American Medical Association points out that emergencies are unpredictable and you should assemble materials now, before you need them. At home, keep them in a special cabinet or box beyond the reach of small children. When traveling, keep your supplies in a moisture-proof box.

The following items (labeled clearly and with instructions for use) should be included in your first aid kit:

- Individual package-type sterile dressings (2-inch by 2-inch and 4-inch by 4-inch) for open wounds or burns.
- Roller bandages for finger bandages (1-inch by 5 yards) and for holding dressings in place (2-inch by 5 yards).
- Roll of adhesive tape to hold dressings in place.
- Bath towels and bed sheets which can be cut into sizes necessary to cover wounds.
- Triangular bandage (37-inch by 37-inch) for a sling, for a dressing, or as a covering.
- Safety pins, blunt-tip scissors, tweezers, measuring spoon, eye dropper, and wooden tongue blades.
- Splints (1/2-inch thick, 3/4-inch wide, 12 to 14 inches long) for broken arms and legs.
- Tourniquet (wide strip of cloth, or flexible rubber tubing 20 inches long) to use in severe injuries when no other method will control bleeding.
- Short stick to use with tourniquet.
- One bar of mild soap for cleaning wounds, scratches, and cuts. Antiseptics generally are not available.
- Paper drinking cups.
- Flashlight—replace batteries periodically.
- Syrup of ipecac (1 ounce) to induce vomiting.
- Essential personal prescriptions.
- A first aid guidebook, such as the American Medical Association's First Aid Manual.

Other items you should pack when traveling by auto include a blanket to keep an injured person warm or to make a stretcher, and warning flares if your car is stalled on the highway. 1168
