

Lockland Marine Corps Hero Is Dead!

Much-Decorated Wiley Cable Is Victim Of California' Copter Crash

Ed's Note: The following article, connecting Major Wiley Cable, is a reprint from the Millcreek Valley News in Ohio. Major Cable, son of Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Cable of Bodohed, was a native of Rockcastle County and was killed in a helicopter crash in California February 17.

Back in 1945 and 1946, Wiley Cable was a student at Lockland High School. Many Lockland people remember the energetic youngster who, after school each day, "busily circled" the East Lockland "Loop", working at Berg Drug Store, Hartman-Bailey Hardware, Homan Paint Store and at several other places. His ambition then pointed toward success in later life.

That success came, Wiley joined the Marine Corps. He advanced through the ranks, took college courses when he could while in the Marines and he eventually became what he wanted all along, a helicopter pilot. He finally earned the rank of Major in the Marine Corps.

Much-Decorated Major Wiley Robert Cable became one of the most decorated heroes of the Vietnam War. He was presented the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Cross of Gallantry and Bronze Star from the President of the Republic of Vietnam; 12 Air Medals and finally, the Gold Star.

Major Cable completed 20 years of service to his country and was sent home to be retired in December. Instead, the Marine Corps, asked him to stay in active service and help train young helicopter pilots in California.

He gladly agreed to the offer and moved Mrs. Cable and their five daughters to California in the interim. Things looked bright for the hero and his family that had waited so long for retirement in Florida where Wiley planned to complete his college education.

Now Wiley Cable is dead! Saturday night, the training copter in which he was instructing two pilots-to-be fell from the air in mountainous terrain near San Francisco. First, Mrs. Cable received word at 6 o'clock Saturday that the copter was missing. An hour later, the final notice came. Mrs. Cable was told that the wreckage had been found. Major Cable and the two trainees all were killed. With a lifetime of heroism and ready to "retire" at 39, the dream was twisted into a snarled pile of steel in a California mountain. It was shattering news for Mrs. Cable, the five little girls and his mom and dad who once lived in the building next door to the First National Bank of Lockland on William Street. It was also a sad day for America and to the Republic of Vietnam.

First Medal Major General A.K. Kier, tells us, "On January 22, Major Cable was assigned to a mission to retract a 13-man reconnaissance team that had been split into two groups and was surrounded by large enemy force. Flying in marginal weather, he fearlessly proceeded into the Viet Cong controlled mountain terrain and skillfully located the first group of Marine off a steep hillside covered with tall grass.

"Hovering for eight minutes, while waiting, desert

he had lived through. Quite a story, isn't it. We hope that all of the City of Lockland and Lockland High School, in particular, will honor the memory of this heroic American. It would be some repayment for the services he rendered on behalf of America.

On the next trip to extract the remaining group, flying in steadily deteriorating weather conditions, Major Cable located the men on a ridge line. "While executing an expert approach to the confined landing zone, he once again came under enemy fire. Undaunted by the hazardous conditions, he quickly embarked the ground unit and returned them to safety at Ba To."

This was the 13th time Major Cable had been decorated. He had already received 12 Air Medals. This time, he was presented the Gold Star, the decoration that comes rather than an unlucky 13th Air Medal.

Life Saver That was just the beginning of the heroism shown by this Lockland High graduate. General Kier tells us, "On February 3, just eight days later, Major Cable was given the job of extracting three teams who positions in the vicinity of Ba To had been compromised during Operation Double Eagle. In the first rescue attempt, Major Cable realized that a rescue was impossible in the brush and tall trees that covered the area.

"Although constantly exposed to sniper fire by the Communist Viet Cong forces, he exhibited exceptional aeronautical skill in hovering his helicopter among the trees while those trapped below scrambled up the steep of the cabin door. When Major Cable landed in a rice paddy where the second team awaited, rescue, the volume of enemy fire increased. While members of his crew temporarily suppressed the enemy, Major Cable assured that the team was embarked and was leaving when one of the Marines fell from the helicopter.

"With great presence of mind and composure he landed again and remained in the hazardous zone while the fallen Marine was retrieved and placed aboard. As the helicopter approached for the third rescue attempt, the men on the ground prematurely set off a smoke flare, revealing their location to the enemy.

"Aware of the necessity for quick action, Major Cable began an immediate approach without aid of escort aircraft and quickly embarked the stranded team. While leaving the area, an enemy mortar shell exploded just behind his aircraft. His daring effort was largely responsible for saving the lives of the team members. That was just one instance of his concern for the welfare of others."

For the life-saving mission, or the three missions, Wiley Cable was presented the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Gallantry Cross It was just a month later that he earned the Cross of Gallantry from the President of the Republic of Vietnam.

At 11 p.m. on the night of March 4, Major Cable was requested to carry an emergency supply of ammunition to Viet Namese troops who were engaged in a fire fight with the Viet Cong. They were running out of ammunition.

Realizing that the zone was insecure, Major Cable still maneuvered in under 50 caliber machine gun and 81 mortar fire. Making a landing approach with no light he was into an area surrounded by trees and enemy fire and successfully located the Viet Namese troops and delivered the ammunition.

Besides that, he had seven critically wounded men loaded aboard his copter and delivered them to Quang Ngai Hospital, resulting in the saving of lives, both of the wounded men and the Viet Namese soldiers were without ammunition.

After all this life-saving, Major Wiley Cable lost his own because he wanted to help prepare younger men to face those conditions

"SHOOTING" (Cont. From Front Page) Kentucky Telephone office in Mt. Vernon was broken into and a small money box taken. The box was reportedly empty. Entrance to the building was gained by breaking out the front door glass. No arrests have been made in the case.

DeMarcus' motion, which in effect postpones any action on the bill in this session, was passed by a vote of 36 to 30.

Funeral services were held Saturday, March 9 at the Watson Funeral Home in Broadhead by Father Ralph Beiting. Burial was in the Piney Grove Cemetery.

Local Teachers Attend Science Institute

Jim Shepherd gets up at five every Saturday morning to drive from Harrison, Ohio.

Harold Gordon and One Perkins travel 230 miles round-trip from Jellico, Tennessee.

And Mrs. Lena Bentley makes a round-trip of 350 miles each week from Millstone, Ky.

These four teachers and 15 others cheerfully gave up their Saturday for a National Science Foundation Institute in Earth Science, conducted on the campus of Eastern Kentucky University.

Two of the teachers, Mrs. Sallie Overbey, Mt. Vernon, and Mrs. Ona S. Coffey, Rockcastle County, work in rural one-room schools. Others like Kenneth Flowers and Linda Whitt of Lexington teach in big, metropolitan buildings.

All are delighted with their institute which offers, according to its director Professor Robert Lathrop, a bit of astronomy, geology, meteorology and oceanography.

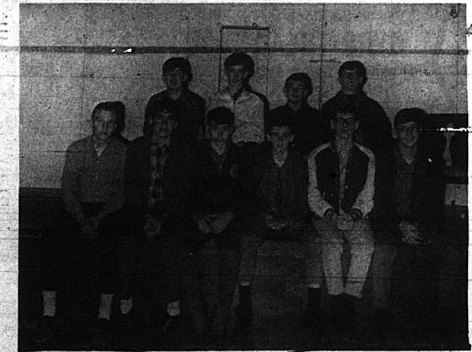

Five of the Institute's teachers are graduates of Eastern, and the others are from Union College, Cumberland College, Mississippi State University, Kentucky State College, Ashbury College and the University of Kentucky.

James Frye, who earned two degrees at Eastern, is one of two teachers in the group with a master's degree.

LANGUAGE BARRIERS

Communications and transportation developments continue to make our world smaller and to knit the whole human family into closer patterns. But differences of language still present formidable barriers to economic progress, education, understanding, and peace. For the languages and dialects of the world number into the many hundreds. Indeed 135 of them are each spoken by at least one million people.

DIVERSE TONGUES

Because of the great diversity of tongues within her borders, India had to write her Constitution in 14 languages. Misunderstandings arising from language differences are rife throughout India and quite common in Communist China where many millions neither speak nor understand, the official Mandarin, but converse in other tongues such as Wu, Min, Hakka, and Cantonese. In France, German is the dominant language in a number of the border towns, some of which, down through the centuries, have at times been under German rule. On the Franco-Spanish border, sizeable numbers of Catalan-speaking people have settled. And in Spain itself, fierce political differences—stemming in part from language barriers—feature everyday relations between the Catalan-speaking inhabitants of the northeastern sector and the rest of the nation. While by contrast, Italy is fairly free of serious language problems, Romans often have a time making themselves understood in places like Bologna and Naples.

CANADA AND BELGIUM

During much of this century the English-speaking majority and the French-speaking minority in Canada have squabbled over language and its use in business, in schools, in parliament, and in courts of law. The French in Canada are still agitating to obtain for their language equal status with English in a struggle which has threatened to jeopardize Canadian federation. A recent accord may ultimately solve this problem, but it must still be implemented. In Belgium, over the past several months, the whole nation has been racked by a language war between Flemings and Walloons that at length resulted in the fall of the Belgian Cabinet. One of the glories of tiny Belgium is the prestigious University of Louvain situated in the Flemish-speaking sector. Bilingual since its founding in 1423, the university is now rent as the dominant Flemings press for expulsion of French-speaking students and faculty. charged with importing French culture into Flanders.

SPANISH AND PORTUGUESE SPEAKING AMERICANS

Nothing so jars a tourist from the United States, proud of the title "American," as the term "North American" with which he is constantly greeted in Central and South America. And in these Latin lands, so vast in population, resources, and potential, yet so backward in social progress, lack of knowledge of Portuguese and Spanish is the rock on which many of our well-meaning and often expensive efforts to aid these peoples has foundered. "Every language," wrote Oliver Wendell Holmes, "is a temple in which the soul of those who speak it is enshrined." Until we become fully cognizant of this with respect to Latin America, and act accordingly, we just aren't going to make the

A SECOND LANGUAGE IS A MUST

All of this points up the fact that a second language, at least, is a must for American students of today. If your children show any interest at all in the Spanish or Portuguese influence in the founding of this New World, or in the plight of the Latin American nations still steeped in poverty, disease, and in some instances virtual slavery, encourage them to study the languages of this vast continent.

But if even if your children never do go to foreign lands, knowledge of, and facility in, a second language will broaden their horizons and make them better and more useful Americans.

SOCIAL SECURITY NOTES

Following the directive in the President's Health Message, Robert M. Ball, Commissioner of Social Security, today announced the beginning of an experimental program to find methods of reimbursing hospitals and doctors that will have built-in incentives to efficiency and economy. "The experiment," the Social Security commissioner said, "are expected to develop ways to get more value for the dollar spent on health care and will be applied to the reimbursing hospitals and doctors under medicare and other Federal health programs." The purpose of the experiment, Commissioner Ball said, is to find methods of reimbursement that will provide incentives to efficiency and economy and at the same time maintain a level of quality care. The medicare and maternal and child health programs financed by Federal-State expenditures as well as the medicare program, will be involved in some of the experiments. Participation in the experiment by hospitals and other health care institutions, by physicians, and by organizations and associations, will be by welcome. Commissioner Ball said. Participation is entirely voluntary. Proposals will be evaluated by a panel of experts and the best selected for experimentation. Participation by governmental organizations and by non-governmental organizations, such as Blue Cross and Blue Shield plans, group practice, prepayment plans, labor management plans, union clinics, and private health insurance organizations which pay for health services as well as proposals from providers themselves will be advantageous. The experiments that turn out favorable, he said, may benefit the entire health care system, private as well as governmental. Under the medicare law, Commissioner Ball said, hospitals and other institutional providers of medicare services are reimbursed for their reasonable costs under a national reimbursement formula which provides guidelines as to which costs are allowable. The formula has been criticized on the ground that it provides no special incentives for economy and efficiency. Reimbursement to physicians services provided medicare beneficiaries is made by insurance carriers under Government contract on the basis of reasonable charges—generally the charge allowed is the customary charge of the physician as long as it is within the prevailing range of charges by other physicians in the locality. The generally applicable reimbursement principles may be waived for the experimental projects, Ball pointed out, under authorization provided in the Social Security Amendments, of 1967 signed into law by President Johnson on January 2. He said the guidelines for the use of those who wish to submit proposals for medicare experimentation or experimentation trial medicare and the other Federal programs may be obtained by writing to Thomas M. Tierney, Director, Bureau of Health Insurance, Social Security Administration, Baltimore, Maryland, 21235.

FERTILIZER TOP DRESSING TIME FOR PASTURES IS HERE

Early spring is the ideal time to fertilize established pastures. When fertilizers are put on early in the year, the perennial grasses and legumes are able to get off to an earlier and faster start. The best guide to find out what fertilizer is needed, and how much to use, is a GOOD SOIL TEST. When fertilizers are applied to pastures based on a soil test, recommendation, you can expect to get back up to $5 worth of feed for each 1/2 ton you invest.

As a general guide for your pastures, here are two suggestions:

A. If you need both phosphate and potash for a good grass and legume pasture, use 300 pounds of 0-20-20 or its equivalent.

B. If you need both phosphate and potash and your pasture is grass only, you should use some nitrogen. An application of 300-400 pounds of 10-10-10 of its equivalent will give good results. If more production is wanted additional nitrogen fertilizer in July or August will help.

So, DON'T PUT FERTILIZER

OFF - PUT IT ON!!!
If you'd like to get higher yields and better quality grazing from your pastures it can be done through PASTURE RENOVATION - By putting legumes back into grass pastures.

A sure fire way to perk up pasture profit potential is to put legumes into a good stand of grass. Plowing up and starting over is not necessary. Renovation is not only cheaper and faster, but the pasture gets started faster and produces more feed quicker.

If you have grazed close, you are ready to "go". If there is a lot of top growth of grass it should be grazed down or mowed so that a disk will cut into the ground more easily.

Test your soil. Put on lime, phosphate, and potash according to the tests. Tear up the sod. A disk is a very good tool for this job. You should destroy at least 40 to 60 percent of the grass. You can start this disking as soon as the soil is dry enough to be worked. Be sure to disk enough to get a good job done. The big tendency is to under disk. Of the three grasses, fescue, bluegrass, and orchardgrass, orchardgrass requires the least disking. Seed your legumes. The best stands in Kentucky have come when the seeding was done about March 15 - April 10. Use the full rate of seedings.

Take care of the pasture when new growth gets underway by (1) good grazing management; (2) clipping to keep the grass under control so that the new legumes can get sunlight, air and water; and (3) topdressing annually with fertilizers to maintain the stand and get high yields.

FRUIT TREE FOR THE BACK YARD

If you enjoy growing your own fruit and have limited space you should consider using dwarfed or naturally small-sized trees. These can be used in your landscape just as artistically as large fruit trees and many ornamental trees.

Dwarf trees offer some advantages over standard size trees to the home fruit grower. Several varieties of fruit with different seasons for ripening can be planted in the space required for one standard tree. Dwarfs generally begin to bear one or two years earlier. All the work around dwarfs can be done without the need for orchard machinery. Also dwarfs can be pruned and trained as ornamentals in landscaping.

Through the development of clonal rootstocks, apple trees are now available in 1/4, 1/2, 3/4 size trees in relation to standard size back, and if over-wintering eggs have hatched and the young larvae are in the buds, flaming may not be too effective.

2. Whether you flame alfalfa fields or not, you still have to treat with an insecticide when weevil damage in a field calls for it. "The most economical time is when 25 percent of the alfalfa leaves show feeding damage. Some prefer to treat trees should be planted about 20 feet apart, each way.

Varieties that do well in this area are: Delicious, Golden Delicious Stayman, Winesap, Jonathan, Lodi, Yellow Transparent and Early McIntosh.

In deciding if you should grow your own fruit remember that to produce quality fruit a regular care program must be carried out. The trees must be free of insects and disease.

There is a lot of satisfaction in going out in your backyard and picking your own fruit, but there is plenty of work at hand to produce and utilize it. If you are willing to give the proper care to your trees backyard fruit growing can be fun.

In deciding if you should grow your own fruit remember that to produce quality fruit a regular care program must be carried out. The trees must be free of insects and disease.

There is a lot of satisfaction in going out in your backyard and picking your own fruit, but there is plenty of work at hand to produce and utilize it. If you are willing to give the proper care to your trees backyard fruit growing can be fun.

RESOLUTION TAKES STATE OFF LIST
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A Senate resolution to withdraw Kentucky from the list of states requesting a federal constitutional convention may come up for a vote on the floor later this week.

The Senate passed the resolution 18-16 last week. The House refused Tuesday to concur in a Senate request to return the resolution to the upper chamber. "If they didn't want the resolution they shouldn't have voted for it," said House Majority Leader Fred Morgan, D-Padu- cahn. "We shouldn't be doing the Senate's house cleaning."

The resolution, SR 21, would repeal the action taken by the General Assembly in 1965 by which it adopted a resolution calling for a convention to revise the U.S. Constitution. That move was aimed at counter-acting the U.S. Supreme Court's one-man one-vote ruling which stated that state legislatures must be apportioned according to population only. Congress is authorized to call for a constitutional convention if three-fourths of the state legislatures request it. Approval of two states is needed to reach that minimum.

GIRL SCOUTING

"VALUES TO HOLD — WORLDS TO EXPLORE"
MARCH 10 TO 16 IS
GIRL SCOUT WEEK

The first Girl Scouts pledged themselves to a way of life based on honor, integrity, courtesy and service.

"Today's Girl Scouts make the same promise. Their basic values and skills are as solid as they have always been.

What's new are the broader horizons and the new worlds of adventure that Scouting offers. This is described in the theme: "Girl Scouting: Values to Hold — Worlds to Explore."

majority. In 1966, Carter was re-elected to a second term in the House of Representatives over his Democratic opponent by more than 44,000 votes. During the past three years Rep. Carter has worked diligently for the people of the Fifth Congressional District, having given his wholehearted support to Federal programs which would be helpful to the people of his District. These include the Appalachian, Public Works and Economic Development, Vocational Education, Federal Aid to Education Programs. Under these programs, Carter said, several miles of new Appalachian Highways have been built and plans call for construction of many more miles; several water and sewer facilities as well as industrial development projects have been approved, and 10 new vocational schools have been built or are under construction and plans call for at least five more of these schools for the Fifth District this year. And, for the first time in Kentucky, Appalachian funds have been authorized to help construct a new library in Clinton County. In seeking a third term, Congressman Carter said, it is his very great desire to continue working for progressive programs that will benefit the people of his District, Kentucky and the Nation.

WINNERS—A county wide Spelling contest was held at Mt. Vernon School on February 23. Fourteen students from seven schools participated. The students were divided into two sections -- the 4th, 5th, and 6th grades, and the 7th and 8th grades. Winners in the contest were Marsha Lamb, center, 5th grader from Roundstone and Elizabeth Centers, far left, 8th grader student from Livingston School. Charles Parsons, principal at Livingston is shown presenting Miss Lamb and Miss Centers with their trophies.

soon after production starts. The ceramic manufacturer is a leader in its field and has a record of growth that indicates it would be a very worthwhile economic asset to this entire area. Mr. Colyer said. Public pronouncements have explain d the worth of the cable t m to the area. Both men and women, ages 18 and over, should register. The cable manufacturer firm will employ primarily men. The ceramic manufacturer would need about 60 percent women and the remainder men. Mr. Colyer stressed that the results of the survey could be the determining factor in the ceramic manufacturer locating in Richmond. The survey will also be beneficial to the cable manufacturer's personnel plans. Location of survey will be announced in next week's Signal.

gree. He teaches chemistry and earth science at Model Laboratory School, Richmond, and finds the Institute filled with useful material. Twelve of the Institute's teachers are men and eight are women. Prime purpose of the Institute, according to Lathrop, is to help teachers who have been pressed into science teaching without adequate preparation. "Some," he says, "have had no science training at all." Some are junior high or elementary teachers who are required to teach a number of different subjects and feel the need to strengthen their background in science. "The class meets from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturdays throughout the academic year (Sept. 23-May 25) and includes lectures, laboratory work and field trips. The National Science Foundation's grant of $8,450 covers a mileage allotment, books and tuition for the 20 students, plus a portion of the professor's salary. Eastern Kentucky University grants five hours of graduate or undergraduate credit to teacher-students successfully completing the course.

According to Dr. Frederic Oden, Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences this was the first in-service, academic-year, Institute awarded Eastern by the National Science Foundation. An NSF Institute in Mathematics was awarded later.
