

Rockcastle To Share In $10 Million Federal Program

The federal government announced recently a $10 million program designed to attack starvation and malnutrition among the nation's poor.

The program providing emergency food and medical aid is a joint operation of the Departments of Agriculture, and Health, Education and Welfare and the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Half the money—$5 million—will be used immediately to reach the hungry and malnourished with food and medical attention in 25 high-priority counties in 21 states—including 29 counties in Kentucky (one of which is Rockcastle). More than half of the states are in the South.

The Agriculture Department's consumer and marketing service will receive the 50 cents per capita minimum purchase required and cannot obtain the funds through local welfare agencies and other sources.

On a temporary basis, the service will provide funds to cover administrative costs of either food stamp or commodity distribution programs because local or state funds are unavailable.

In some counties, free school lunches will be provided for children from families eligible for or participating in either the food stamp or commodity distribution programs or who are certified as needy.

Approximately $1.3 million will be set aside for special demonstration programs such as diet supplements, health services, feedings, education programs and medical services.

These will include assistance to high risk population groups such as the aged, infants and children, migrants and Indians, and to communities and other poverty groups.

Another $1 million has been set aside to meet the needs of malnourished persons throughout the country who are not reached by existing programs.

Local community action agencies will be the administering agency wherever possible. If such an agency is not available, a public welfare department will be designated. Other public or voluntary, non-profit organizations may also be named as the operating agency.

Bowling Green.

The Kentucky Livestock Improvement Association will sponsor two livestock judging schools during April. On April 13 the beef judging school will be held at Coldstream Farm, Lexington. The sheep judging school, also at Coldstreams, is set for April 19.

The annual Kentucky National Ayrshire Show and Sale will be held April 19-20 at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center. Like the Kentucky National Holstein, this event is sponsored by the Department in cooperation with Ayrshire breeders. It will offer consignments from top Ayrshire herds in some 5 states.

Two other dairy breed activities are scheduled for April 27. These are the Kentucky Hersey Cattle Club Spring Sale at Columbia, and the Brown Swiss State Sale, the site of which has not been announced.

All of these events have been planned in the interest of moving our livestock industry forward. Our program of Kentucky Nationals is recognized nationwide. The KLIJA judging schools serve as a major training tool for breeders in what to look for in quality livestock.

The spring sales held by the respective breeds give breeders an opportunity to sell as well as buy good breeding stock.

We, of the Department, appreciate the efforts put into these events by breeders and breed associations. We urge our livestock producers to participate in these activities and take advantage of the opportunities they offer in furthering our livestock enterprises.

5 OHIO RESIDENTS INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Five Ohio girls were injured Sunday when their car was involved in an accident about 5 miles north of Mt. Vernon on US 25. Injured were: Patricia Collins, 21, driver of the car, Asheville, Ohio; Martha Wanker, 21, Columbus, Ohio; Mary Cobin, 21, Worthington, Ohio; Ellen Jenkins, 21, also of Worthington, Ohio and Lyssie Brant, 20, of Columbus, Ohio. They were taken to the Berea College Hospital suffering from class A injuries.

Two local residents, Raymond Baker of Mt. Vernon, driver of the other vehicle, and Henry Baker of Livingston, were also involved in the accident, but were not injured. According to police reports, both vehicles were traveling north on US 25 when Miss Collins passed Baker's truck. When she pulled back into the lane, a trailer, she was pulled bit the front of the truck causing her to lose control of the car. The car went over a 20 foot bank, turned over, and came to rest in a field. Baker did not lose control of the truck.

THE BRAVE ENGINEER

Casey Jones, hero of the folk ballad which is a memorial to railroad men, was born March 9, 1924, at Jordan in western Kentucky, the son of a school teacher.

SCENES such as the above are the targets of the clean-up campaign which is being planned by the Rockcastle County Development Corp., on a county-wide basis. This particular "unloading point" is to be found at the junction of US 25 and Chesnut Ridge Road.

Clean-Up Campaign Planned By County Development Corp

A clean-up campaign for Rockcastle County was discussed and a committee set-up for the campaign at the Monday night meeting of the Rockcastle County Development Corporation. Roy Brown, president of the corporation, suggested the plan of the group stressing the county's vital need for such a project. Several trash dumps are now in evidence throughout the county destroying the scenic beauty of the land. Hubert Thacker, Rockcastle County Magistrate told the group that county road trucks could be used in the trash clean-up campaign and Rex Wesley, area extension specialist in resource development, suggested that a special day be set for the trucks to operate. Mayor Clyde Linville also told the Signal Wednesday that the state had agreed to furnish loaders and trucks for the clean-up. It was also suggested that arrangements should be made with Bill Taylor to haul trash to the Pine Hill dumping area. After the original county clean-up is completed, signs will be posted concerning no dumping.

ing and violators will be prosecuted. Billy Hiatt expressed concern to the group about the accumulation of trash on Main Street. Mayor Clyde Linville suggested that Mr. Hiatt meet with the City Council at its next regular meeting to see what could be done about hosing down the streets. Persons named to the county clean-up committee by Roy Brown, president, were Hubert Thacker, Clay Colson, Wayne Van Hook, Zyl Graves, Jerry Hayes, Clyde Linville and Mrs. Earl Baker.

Concerning other items of business before the group, Mr. Brown told the group that the Universal Plastic Pipe Corp., of Hillsboro, Texas would not be locating in Rockcastle County. The group had expressed an interest in locating in Livingston.

Providing options on land for industrial purposes was also discussed by the group and W.L. Oliver discussed the possibility of leasing land for industrial purposes. N.M. Spock, president of the Bank of Mt. Vernon, told the group that we must offer inducements to get industry into Rockcastle County. Mr. Spock said "Industry should never be looking for us we should be looking, for industry." W.L. Oliver stated that he could get someone from the Northern Kentucky Industrial Association to meet with the Rockcastle County Development Corporation and hold a discussion on how to get industry to come to the county. It was agreed by all that this would be a good idea. Mr. Wesley then announced, than an Industrial Committee (Cont. To Page 3)

Dairy Day Plans Made

Dairy Day this year should be bigger and better than ever. For one thing, Dairy Day will be held on Saturday, June 15 which should insure a bigger crowd and the appearance of the Shrine Club Band from Lexington with drums will be one of the main features of the day. There is also a good possibility that there will be a "Little Princess" contest for the day. Prizes will be dropped from an airplane with prizes given by merchants for designated colors. Definitely planned for Dairy Day is, of course, the crowning of the County Dairy Princess with a contest for county princess candidates and the State Dairy Princess. Miss Mikie Brown of Taylor, who will be on hand for the day of festivities, a talk by Miss Brown, recognition of the outstanding dairy family, and the drawing for a dairy heifer donated by the Bank of Mt. Vernon. Free cheese and crackers will also be served on Main Street Dairy Day.

The meeting was attended by Frank Carpenter, American Dairy Association Representative and Wilbert Eady, Area Extension Agent in Dairying. Dairy Princess Committee: Roy Brown, chairman, H. Republican Committee Election Held

For the first time in about 16 years, there was an organized attempt to wrest control from the incumbent Republicans in Rockcastle County during the precinct committee election held Saturday at the courthouse. The opposing slate, placed into nomination, contained several of the incumbents now holding office in the party and was spearheaded by Roland Mullins, County Judge Wayne Van Hook, and Sammy Ford, Young Republican Club President. Saturday, election day, saw more excitement in Mt. Vernon than on many a regular election day as members of both factions turned out in full force to support their choice.

He also spoke on behalf of Clyde Barnett, present County Chairman, praising Mr. Barnett's ability and achievements as county chairman for the past 14 years. Mr. Phillips then proceeded to place into nomination the name of Roland Mullins, County Judge Wayne Van Hook, and Sammy Ford, Young Republican Club President. His motion was seconded by Eli Chasteen, Climax Contestman, and Fred Morris.

Babson's Quarterly Business And Financial Forecast

As we move toward the opening of the second quarter, the economy is generally strong. Gross National Product has shown good gains during the three months now ending, as have employment and personal income, though bettement did not reach earlier sanguine expectations. Looking ahead into the April-June period, we perceive signs of additional gains for the nation's business. Propelled by still rising military procurement for Vietnam, sizable overall defense requirements, and heavy federal and other government spending, economic activity promises to move moderately higher.

The supporting factors cited above will likely be augmented by still more bullish activity in the steel industry and well-maintained to possibly somewhat firmer overall performance in other parts of the private sector of the economy.

To put it another way, an balance second quarter business should be quite good, improving on the performance chalked up in the period now drawing to a close. But the rate of increase seems slated to slow down, and the longevity of the rise itself will be coming more and more into question as midyear approaches.

VIETNAM-The war in Vietnam and our military and economic involvement in Southeast Asia will dominate Washington trends in the coming quarter. While a cessation of hostilities is widely desired and eagerly sought by a number of other governments as well as our own, the respective positions of both sides have hardened since the North Vietnamese Tet offensive which resulted in such heavy casualties to all combatants. Reluctantly but resolutely the President will probably move toward some further buildup of military strength, but in the second quarter he will not approve anywhere near as large an escalation as the generals are reported to be urging.

MONEY AND INTEREST RATES-We foresee some tightening in money, but certainly no massive crunch. However, the Fed has moved to tighten availability moderately and this will put upward pressure chiefly on short-term interest rates. Long-term rates, on the other hand, will likely change little as a further slackening in business expenditures for new plant and equipment occurs. A tax boost would push overall interest costs lower.

THE DOLLAR-The nation's continuing gold drain and unfavorable balance of international payments are extremely serious and will pose new challenges to the government and to the economy itself over coming months. There will, however, be no devaluation of the dollar and no boost in the 35-percentage price of gold in the second quarter.

TAXES-In the wake of the gold crises, the international bankers are insisting that LBJ pay taxes and cut expenditures. Altho the tax surcharge was marked for death, it could now be revived. If the President should conclude that we must again escalate dramatically in Vietnam, higher taxes could come by midyear, casting their shadows before them.

FEDERAL SPENDING-Uncle Sam was all set to shell out more money with national security expenditures predominating, when the Central European Bankers blew the whistle. Spending at all levels of government will still enter new high ground, pushing the annual rate close to the $200-billion mark. However, foreign aid funds will be further curtailed by Congress and new federal programs enacted into law to help cities, advance education, and promote civil rights will not appropriate anywhere near the amounts which advocates of these measures are presently pressing for.

EMPLOYMENT AND UNEMPLOYMENT--As Vietnam and other defense and security efforts place greater demands on manpower, total employment will show a further increase, unemployment will hover near what must be just about an irreducible minimum, and the shortage of skilled labor will become more serious.

LABOR PROSPECTS-Shortage of skilled help will, place labor in a still more powerful bargaining vis-a-vis management, with the squeeze hurting hard as overall economic activity gathers more momentum. However, it is well to remember that wage and price controls are being held in the wings and will be imposed if the economy should be come overheated and/or our balance-of-payments situation more severely threatened.

STRIKES-Labor walkouts may not capture quite as many headlines in the second quarter as they have in some past periods, but they are sure to be fairly numerous and to cause some supply-demand dislocations in various sectors of the economy. At this writing, the odds would seem to favor a steel strike around midyear, but if we should veer toward another large troop buildup in Vietnam with all that it would entail, the likelihood of a steel stoppage would fade and anticipated heavy hedge-buying in the April-June period would run well below present expectations.

PERSONAL INCOME-Newlyupped minimum wage rates and expanded social security payments will combine with rising government wage settlements and high interest and dividend payments to life incomes to new peaks, but inflation will cut into the gains as prices continue their state.

RETAILING-If you're a retailer, your cash registers should be displaying a heartening increase in dollar sales. However, the boost in actual turnover of goods-may amount to not much more than half the gain in dollar volume, owing to price increases. And unless you can manage to exercise strict control over cost of sale in profits versus the first building and construction.

BUILDING AND CONSTRUCTION-Home building promises to show a seasonal increase over the first quarter, with lower-level apartment units predominating because of high and still rising land, labor, and material costs. Cuts in backlogs of spending for new plant and equipment and of appropriations for public buildings will put a damper on public and commercial construction, though hospital building will likely show a further good uptum in the period under consideration.

AUTOS-Here the outlook is generally rated as good, though no new boom is in the offing. While we look for improvement to be no more than what might normally be expected on a seasonal basis, the balance of factors does suggest a further increase in sales.

FARM PROSPECTS-Spring plantings of barley, cotton, flaxseed, and rice will be importantly expanded, but there may be some cutback in soybean acreage versus a year earlier as a result of the newly announced regulations disqualifying soybean acreage for direct feed-grain payments. Farmers' expenses are still pointing strongly upward. For the three months just ahead, their gross income should show better gains than in the first quarter, but the boost in net will not keep pace with the increase in expenses.

PROFITS AND PROFITS-Profits appear to have made some worthwhile gains during the first three months of this year, and there is good reason to expect that this will carry over into the second quarter. This assumes, of course, that any new federal taxes will be warded, however, that the better profits trend we are forecasting is likely to be of relatively short duration. How much it could be extended beyond midyear-even without a tax boost-is problematical for labor and materials costs will narrow if vigilance over costs is not consistently maintained.

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS-Meanwhile, our international relations on the whole are not faring well. In Latin America, our preoccupation with Europe and Asia is being misinterpreted as disinterest in problems which are becoming more serious and more potentially dangerous to the peace of this hemisphere. Nor are we regarded much more highly in Europe, the "stronghold of our moral support in years past. By and large, our friends among the Free World nations are looking askance at our ambitious military stance in Southeast Asia and at our still-dilating and shilly-shallying in fiscal matters while the firms of inflation burn brightly and the dollar teeters on the brink of a devaluation which could well plunge the world into financial turmoil and possibly also into a severe depression.

DANGER OF PROTECTIONISM-The Administration's proposals for severe restrictions on travel and trade abroad have triggered alarming official and private attitudes and postures which could lead us down the road to fiscal ruin rather than up the path of fiscal sanity. We are warning now the beginnings of what could become a veritable barrage of propaganda designed to persuade us to curtail our trade with the rest of the world in order to conserve our dollars and help put our balance of payments in better shape. Hopefully, Congress will not be carried away by the Administration's requests for restrictions on foreign trade and/or travel or by the importunings of businessmen who see in such a move a way of escape from foreign competition. In the long run, such restrictions would hasten-not delay-worsening of our economic position in the world, especially if they are not accompanied by sharp cutbacks in government spending.

PERSONAL FINANCE-Although both business volume and profits will move up measurably in the second quarter, the plus and minus factors simply do not add to anything like the start of a new boom in the coming three months. The financial position of the nation is precarious and beset by a big war which threatens to get bigger before it is finally ended. Moreover, international, political, economic, and military uncertainties have set upon so many changes to our government or to American citizens. Yet, despite all these dangers and distractions, there are opportunities for bettering your own economic position. Today's higher incomes provide more Americans than in the past with greater choice and discretion in their everyday decisions on business investments, employment, purchases of necessities and more marginal items, and on the buying and selling of securities.

G.I. insurance contract, the beneficiary could get this option. However, under new VA regulations now in effect, your beneficiary (wife) may change to a more advantageous option if (1) the change is requested within one year of the beneficiary's initial choice of option and (2) the beneficiary's health has not changed during that interval. So your wife does have a choice.

REVENUE FROM TRAVELERS
Of money spent in Kentucky last year by travelers and vacationers, $26 million went into the State treasury as revenue from taxes, according to a survey by Tennessee economist, Dr. Lewis C. Copeland. The report also said $5.1 million in taxes was collected by Kentucky counties and municipalities from tourists.

Area Agent's Notes

BY: H. LEE DURHAM

There aren't many meals prepared over the year in the average household which do not include peppers or cucumbers in one form or another. But getting these vegetables grown for America's ever-expanding population seems to be a problem for the firms who need the items. Last year, however, in the Wilderness Trail area, a number of farmers took on pepper growing. Cucumbers have been grown on a commercial basis in this area for over three years. Though it was considered a 'training' year for pepper growers the top man grossed $751 for one acre. The top cucumber grower sold $1,043 from nine tenths of one acre of production. Although the 1967 growing season was considered very poor, 43 producers sold in excess of $1,000 worth of cucumbers per acre. Possibilities? You bet your life, says H. Lee Durham, Area Extension Specialist in Horticulture. For instance: Pepper processors are prepared to sign contracts with local farmers for up to 1,000 acres of peppers and pickle processors would like to have an additional 600 acres of cucumbers. Pepper producers will receive 85¢ per ton for red ripe and approximately 55¢ a ton for green peppers. Price for cucumbers will run from $8.50 per 100 pounds for No. 1's down to $2.00 per 100 pounds for No. 4's

Total labor requirements for growing and harvesting an acre of bell peppers is about 150 man hours or 15 man days. The average production cost is $110 to $125 per acre.

The average cost of producing an acre of cucumbers is from $35 to $50 out-of-pocket expense and about 300 man hours of labor with hand harvesting. Cucumber seeds are planted in early May and harvest begins the latter part of June and ends about the middle of August.

Pepper plants are set around the middle of May and harvest does not begin until after mid-August and continues until the latter part of October. With both crops, a grower would have a weekly income from early June until the middle of October.

Anyone interested in producing either or both of these crops in 1968 should contact their area extension office where contracts are

ARTIFICIAL MILK

The first "artificial milk" is being introduced into Minnesota, selling for 5¢ per half gallon less than skim milk. It is a homogenized, pasteurized product containing sodium caseinate, a protein derivative of milk, and coconut oil replacing the butterfat. Because sodium caseinate is classed as a manufactured, non-dairy product, the milk substitute is not banned by the "filled milk" laws of many states which prohibit the sale of milks which contain solids but substitute vegetable for milk fats.

ANTIFREEZE POISONOUS TO ANIMALS

This is the time of year when many automobile owners drain their car radiators and replace the antifreeze. For some reason, animals (especially cats) are attracted to this potentially toxic substance (ethylene glycol). Signs of antifreeze poisoning may include convulsions, vomiting, ataxia, depression, coma, and death. A history of access to, or availability of, some antifreeze is usually available. Microscopic examination of urine sediment reveals large numbers of calcium oxalate crystals.

DISPOSE OF AEROSOLS CAREFULLY

Aerosol or pressurized spray containers are convenient, but they can be hazardous. A small boy, while decorating a Christmas tree, set a squirt can of "snow" on a warm stove. The can exploded and the flying fragments left the boy blind in one eye. A woman threw an empty insecticide bomb into a trash fire. The can exploded, sending a ragged piece of metal into her neck. A pressurized can of paint was left on the front seat of a car parked facing the sun. The heated spray can exploded, spreading a generous coat of paint around the car's interior. No one was injured, but surprised? yes!

Pressurized cans or aerosols must be used, stored, and disposed of carefully by buying or placed in the municipal trash collections. Never puncture or burn these containers; do not store them at temperatures above 120 F. or in direct sunlight; do not discard them in waste baskets where they may end up in the backyard trash burner.

COCKROACH ONE TROUBLE-SOME PEST THAT IS YEAR-ROUND HOME PROBLEM

There's one thing about a cockroach infestation in the house—if you want to beat it, fight them all the time, winter and summer. But this pest can be defeated, says Dr. Rudy Scheibner, U.K. Cooperative Extension Service entomologist. Go after it with proper control measures and you'll eventually win. Two species hit homes. One is the German cockroach, tan to brown in color and about three-quarters of an inch long. It likes kitchens, under and around sinks, cupboards, refrigerators, stoves, and baseboards, walls and bathrooms. The brown-banded cockroach is smaller, about a half inch long, and has dark, reddish-brown bands further back on its body. He has much of the same habitat as the German, but also likes to put his eggs in higher places such as undersides of tables and chairs, cupboards, cabinets, behind picture frames and clocks. He may show up in any room in the house. Any one of these insecticides will get either species: Ronnel, Diazinon, DDVP or Malathion.

Follow mixing, application and safety directions you'll find on the labels. Check with area extension offices in the county for more help.

CLEARANCE GIVEN FOR SOME USES OF DIPHENAMID ON STRAWBERRIES

Use of Diphenamid, an herbicide, has been cleared by the U.S. Department of Agriculture for use of bearing strawberry plantings.

There also has been a slight change in use of the material on newly planted strawberries, says Dr. James Heron, U.K. Cooperative Extension Service weed control specialist.

Recommended use of Diphenamid (sold as Ende or Dymid) are as follows according to Dr. Heron.

1. Newly-planted strawberries: Six pounds actual material an acre, applied from two to six weeks after planting but before new foliage appears.
2. Established plantings one year old or more: Six pounds actual material per acre. Apply during cool season when strawberries are dormant, or apply after harvest following renovation. A second application may be made six months after the first treatment. The material must not be applied within 60 days of harvest.

AUCTION SALE Saturday, April 6, at 10:00 a.m.

I will sell the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Alonso Glover, located at the south edge of Eubank in Pulaski County on the Cuba Road and better known as the Gidler Farm.

This excellent farm has a nice six-room home and full bath with basement and heated by a coal furnace. Has large front porch, glassed in back porch, built-in cabinets in kitchen and is wired for electric range.

This good farm contains 57 acres of land with .5 acre tobacco base, also a 6 acre corn base. All the land is in cultivation and in grass except 10 acres in corn last year. The farm is further improved with 2 good barns, tool shed, car garage, and other outbuildings. A good well in yard furnishes a plentiful supply of water for the home. There is a well near the barn and a spring branch furnishes plenty of stock water. Good barbed wire fence.

Folks, this is one of the best small farms in this section. The land lays extra well and the lawn is lovely with Maple shade trees. This farm is close by the town of Eubank where there are several stores and churches, also an elementary and high school, and is on a good road within 1/2 mile of new Highway 27. Served by school bus, mail and milk routes.

Mr. Glover is in ill health and is no longer able to assume the duties of a farm. So here is your opportunity to own this good farm at the best bid.

This program will be presented in front of the grounds stand on Tuesday evening with FFA members from throughout the state of Kentucky participating. Legislative Roundup Republican Gov. Louie B. Nunn thanked Democrats for their help in passing his tax and budget bills as he signed the tax bill into law following final adjournment of the 1968 Kentucky Legislature.

The Governor indicated these two major bills would not have passed had it not been for Democratic votes in the House, where Democrats outnumbered Republicans 57 to 43 and in the Senate where the majority is 24 to 14.

"The Democrats," he declared, "deserve a part of the credit for the program, including the budget and the tax. They couldn't have been one without the other."

"The Democratic members of the General Assembly had an overwhelming majority in both the House and the Senate. They could have voted in any law they chose, or prevented any law from being enacted."

Fifteen Democrats joined 41 Republicans to approve the tax bill in the House by a vote of 56 to 41, and eight Democrats lined up with 13 Republicans to pass it in the Senate by a vote of 21 to 17.

Principal features of the new law are that it increases the state sales tax from 2 to 5 percent, effective April 1, and the cost of auto license plates from $5 to $12.50 a year, effective next Jan. 1.

The 2 per cent increase in the sales tax is expected to produce an additional $14 million in revenue during the remainder of this fiscal year, which ends June 30. It has been estimated both taxes will produce an additional $244 million during fiscal 1968-1970.

The new taxes will be used to help finance Kentucky's record budget of $2.47 billion for the next two years. They will be employed to improve educational, mental health, Medicaid, old age and other public service programs.

SCORES OF BILLS

Scores of bills receiving complete passage during the last sessions of the House and the Senate before sine die adjournment were delivered to the Governor to sign into law, let become law without his signature, or veto during the 10 days allotted him.

Among these was Senate Bill 252 which would repeal mandatory annual safety inspection of motor vehicles and require that when changing ownership they must have passed such an inspection within the previous year.

Another was the first statewide open housing bill enacted by a state south of the Ohio River. Generally this measure would prohibit racial, ethnic or religious discrimination in the sale of property.

House Bill 499 would require mandatory inspection and regulation of all the state's slaughterhouses and meat processing plants. The bill is nearly identical to a model meat inspection law drafted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. A "truth-in-lending" bill would exempt pawn brokers but would require loan companies to provide customers with a statement of the amount of credit changes in dollars and the amount of simple annual interest charged.

By passage of House Bill 392, the legislators voted to increase their own between sessions expense allowance from $150 to $300 a month. This came in an amendment to the bill providing substantial raises for most Kentucky judges.

Another bill sent to the governor would allow nighttime thoroughbred horse racing in Kentucky. The law now on the books prohibits racing after sunset. The new measure would allow the running of races until midnight.

TWO AMENDMENTS

Two measures passed by the General Assembly, one at the final session of the House, will put on the ballot in the Nov. 1969 election two proposed amendments to the Kentucky Constitution -- all that can be voted on in one election.

The first of the two proposed is a legislative reform measure calling for annual instead of the present biennial meetings of the legislative, longer sessions, and removal of the ceiling on legislative salaries.

The other, if given voter approval, would allow the assessment of farm land only on the basis of the use to which it is being put, rather than in terms of its potential value as developed for residential or industrial use.
