Cucumber & Pepper Acreage Increased

For the past three years, farmers in eight south-eastern Kentucky counties, including Rockcastle have been growing cucumbers to supplement their regular income, and agricultural officials here say a greater quantity of the crop is expected to be produced this year.

According to local Area Extension Specialist, H. Lee Durham, anticipated cucumber production in Rockcastle this year will be increased by one-fifth over the 80 acres produced in 1957.

Durham credits the Wilgemess Trail Area—an extension division of the University of Kentucky's College of Agricultural—with encouraging farmers in this section of the state to grow cucumbers.

Used in the pickling process, cucumbers will gross the farmer from $800 to $1,000 per acre to produce. For instance, Durham said the top cucumber grower in Rockcastle last year sold $1,043 worth of cucumbers on 9 of an acre and his expenditures were only $45.

While it takes 300 man-hours of labor to produce and harvest an acre of cucumbers—about the same length of time required for an acre of tobacco—Durham said the cultivating season for the two crops do not overlap.

He noted that cucumbers—which require a six week period for both growing and harvesting—should be planted about the middle of May prior to the usual tobacco setting period. The cucumbers are harvested in July and the first part of August, before tobacco cutting time, he said.

Local Area Extension Specialist, Rex Wesley, said there are four grades of cucumbers and each bring a different price. The cucumbers are machine graded, he said, and the smallest ones bring the highest prices. Price range from 8½ cents per pound for the top grade to four cents per pound for the fourth grade. To serve the needs of the eight county area—which included Rockcastle, Laurel, Clay, Whitley, Knox, Bell, Harlan and Jackson Counties—Wesley said there would be pickup stations at Renfro Valley, London and Williamsburg.

Renfro Valley station manager W.K. Bullen said cucumbers there will be bought by Hirsch Bros. and Co., Louisville. He said the station will open the latter part of June.

As was done in preceding years, Durham said Hirsch Bros. and Co. will pay $2.25 per pound for the cucumber seed at $2.50 per pound. He noted that a pound of seed will plant an acre of cucumbers, and that they are harvested by hand.

Durham said that while cucumbers will grow on any well drained soil which is rich in organic matter, a sandy type soil usually produces the greater yield.

them that we were consolidated to a certain extent and that plans were to build a county high school within the next two years. He told the group that eventually there would be four major county grade schools, the consolidated high school, plus the vocational school, which is presently under construction.

It was suggested that the community should keep studying and always have up-to-date information available. They were told to keep in close contact with the State Chamber of Commerce office to advise them of the progress of the community.

After the meeting was held, the men were taken to several sites on which the corporation presently has options as industrial sites.

"ROUNDUP"

torney general and me, Kentucky would immediately lose Federal highway funds if the amended inspection bill became law. "Feto of the repealer was further warranted, Nunn said, by "the serious financial conditions which confront the State and especially the Highway Department and the demands by the public for more roads."

Nunn said it is also "apparent unless the State provides a satisfactory motor vehicle inspection law further penalties will be imposed by the Federal government."

He said he was "fully aware the inspection program may result in additional costs and inconveniences to the automobile owner. But there are provisions within the law which will make it administratively possible to alleviate any undue burdens which may arise."

Toward that end Nunn announced, motorists scheduled for March inspections under the law but awaiting the outcome of the repeal attempt may have their cars inspected in April. This applies to all motorists whose license plates end in the digit three (3). Those motorists now join the April group-motorists with plates ending with four (4). March is the month the 1966 law became compulsory.

Industrial Committee Visits Mt. Vernon

An Industrial Committee, composed of representatives from Kentucky Utilities, the Department of Commerce, and the L and N Railroad, met with members of the Rockcastle County Development Corp., Tuesday, to discuss the community's efforts to get industry in the area.

One of the first and most important questions asked of the local men was "Is the community actually ready for industry?" They were told that the possibility might not be right now but with the new water and sewer system soon to be constructed and with the possibility of natural gas being supplied to the area this year that we would no doubt be ready in a short time.

Some advantages for industry in locating in our community which were pointed out were: our strategic central location; our availability to major highways, including Interstate 75; the L and N Railroad which goes through the county; the adequate water and sewer facilities previously mentioned; the natural gas franchise; the development of Renfro Valley, and the nearness of several colleges.

The labor availability, housing, financing, civic clubs, tax rates, bus service, hospital facilities, and zoning laws, were also discussed. One of the major topics discussed was the school system. The committee asked if the county had a consolidated school system. Mayor Clyde Linville told

1958 CROP OUTLOOK

Prospective plantings this year, as indicated by the spring intentions submitted to the Crop Reporting Board, show 10 increases. However, the total for the 17 crops covered is down 2% -- or 6 million acres -- from a year ago.

FEED GRAINS

Some 6% fewer acres than last year are to be seeded to feed grain, with the cutback in corn slated to exceed 8%. Even sharper paring is in store for sorghums, plantings dropping back 2 million acres -- or nearly 12% -- from 1957. Indicated acreages for barley and oats are up 2.5% and 2.9% respectively from a year ago. Even so, proposed plantings are down appreciably from the 5-year averages.

The dip in feed-grain acreage is not surprising in view of last year's large outturn. Still it should be remembered that the total feed-grain supply this season is estimated to be somewhat below average. So, if farmers adhere to these early planting intentions, you may expect a generally firmer statistical position -- and higher price averages -- in the 1958-59 season.

OILSEED ACREAGE
Reflecting current widespread opinion that cotton plantings were too sharply curtailed in 1957, growers now say they will seek 17% more acreage to this crop. If this proves to be the case -- and in the main it certainly promises to be -- cottonseed oil and meal should move into somewhat better competitive position prices in the next season.

Much will depend, however, on whether growers stick to initial plans to hold the prospective boost in soybean acreage to 3%. Even if this is done, total 1958 oilseed acreage will still be up 5% from 1957 and some 11% above the 5-year average. It looks to us as though oversupply would continue to be a factor in oilseed markets well into 1959.

FOOD GRAINS, BEANS, POTATOES

Intended plantings of durum wheat are a hefty 20% above a year ago but an anticipated 12% decline in seedings to other spring wheat will make for smaller total than last year. Including acreage sown to winter wheat last autumn, all-weather plantings will lag in 1957 by 8% but still rule 16% above the 5-year average. Given favorable weather, the full 1958 wheat outturn could approximate 1.5 million bushels, -- down only slightly from 1957 and still some 23% above average.

Rice allotments -- were boosted 20% above last year's level, and growers, wisely we believe -- are planning to take full advantage of the increase by expanding acreage by just about that amount. The resulting larger production should certainly not glut the market. No should the proposed 12% increase in dry-bean acreage lead to any marked oversupply. If potato plantings in toto are cut back by 5% as indicated, output should be brought more nearly in line with the average of recent years. However, the large carryover may limit strength in the statistical position and in prices over the next several months.

CATTLE AND HOG PROSPECTS

At the beginning of this year, the number of cattle and calves on farms stood at 108,813,000, -- up slightly from a year earlier and about 2.7 million head above the 5-year average. Cattle and calves on feed top year-ago levels. Although no runaway markets are presently indicated our forecast is that consumers should be able to buy beef at lower than current prices in the weeks directly ahead.

The hog inventory on farms is a bit higher than a year ago and hog slaughter is expected to trend above comparable 1957 levels to midyear and quite possibly beyond. This reflects the sizable fall pig crop, -- mostly in pigs that are slated to reach slaughter weights this spring. We predict a further backtracking in hog prices before any turnabout occurs, but foresee no very sharp decline from current quotes.

Washington Report

By: Cong. Tim Lee Carter

I know you share my very great concern over a very complicated subject -- our balance of payments deficit and our fast diminishing gold supply. Newspapers all across the country have been headlining our critical gold situation and the overseas run on Fort Knox and gold. Is it possible that a time may come when Fort Knox will stand empty? It could be, personally, I don't think that will happen. During the past 15 years America has paid out more money to other countries than they have paid to us. This has shrunk our gold reserves. In 1957, our gold reserves were about 23 billion dollars. Today, they are about 12 billion dollars. Against our present gold reserve, stand 30 billion dollars in short term liabilities to foreigners. About half of this is convertible at once into gold, upon demand, by foreign official agencies. Such demand, if presented at one time, could move this country internationally bankrupt. In short, Fort Knox could stand empty. Congress voted to remove the requirement that at least 25% of outstanding Federal Reserve notes be backed by gold. This may have helped slow down the run on our gold, but it is only a temporary measure.

So, what's the answer? Many foreigners are convinced that we will have to follow England's example and devalue the dollar as England did in 1949. This would mean that those who own gold would make money -- get more for it than the present rate of $35 and ounce, and many are tuning in their dollars for gold, hoping for such a windfall. This has contributed to the recent run on our gold supply.

What is needed is to restore confidence in the dollar -- put our fiscal house in order -- hold the line against inflationary pressures, at home, thus making gold outflows unnecessary. So, as I see it, "one of the things we've got to do, and do soon, is to make the choice between "butter and guns." Actually, we should have done this three years ago. Since 1954, we have been involved in a major, costly war, and we've got to face the fact: We've got to return to fiscal sanity, difficult as it may be to renounce some of our more idealistic plans, and accept the fact that certain programs are something we cannot afford and will have to do without as long as the war in Vietnam lasts. Only then will there be an improvement in our gold situation and our fiscal posture in general.

VETERAN'S QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q -- I am 61 years of age. May I convert my National Service Life Insurance term policy to the Modified Life Plan? What would the new premium be?

A -- It is not possible to convert to the Modified Life Plan after age 60.

Q -- I served in the Army from 1956 to 1959. Am I eligible for any G.I. Bill benefits, particularly a business loan?

A -- You are eligible for many benefits, from education and training to home and farm home loans, under the "Veterans Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966," popularly known as the Post-Korean G.I. Bill. However, this Act, which covers veterans who served in our Armed Forces after Jan. 31, 1955, does not include business loans for veterans among the benefits it provides. The Small Business Administration, though, may make business loans to veterans. Check with your nearest U.S. Veterans Assistance Center or VA office for information and assistance on all your veterans benefits.

Q -- My husband is a veteran of World War II and has a service-connected disability of 100 per cent. What benefits do members of his family have if one of them needs hospitalization.

A -- By law, the Veterans Administration's program of hospital and medical care is available to veterans only. VA may not provide hospitalization for the dependents of veterans. Even veterans are admitted to VA hospitals on a priority basis; i.e. (1) veterans with a service-connected disability requiring hospitalization for non-service-connected illness; (2) veterans with a service-connected disability requiring hospitalization for non-service-connected illness; (3) veterans without a service-connected disability requiring hospitalization.

GOSPEL SINGING SET FOR CANCER CRUSADE

The Garrard County Cancer Crusade, with Mrs. Emma Bourne as chairman, will present a program of gospel music at the Garrard County High School, Sunday, April 7th, at 2:30 p.m. Three of the finest gospel groups in Kentucky will present "An Old Fashioned Singing." These people are donating their time and talents to this great cause.

The Gospel Messengers are composed of Mrs. Jessie Grigsby, alto; Kenneth Hester, tenor; Billy Estes, lead; and Mrs. Gloria Candler, pianist. The Spokesmen are composed of Jimmy Muller, baritone; Laurel Coleman, tenor; Ron Nutgrass, bass; E.G. Brock, lead and pianist; and Mike Bird, guitarist.

The Austins are made up of Kenneth Austin, lead; Russell, Martin, tenor; Mrs. Edith Bastin, alto; Frank Davis, bass; and Mrs. Mildred Baird, pianist.

These groups have sung on radio, and have appeared on television as well as making many personal appearances, not only in Kentucky but in other states. The Austins won first place in gospel singing at the State Fair last year.

Make plans to enjoy an afternoon listening to these dedicated people singing the great gospels of the church. You not only will enjoy the program but you will be helping in a great cause—to defeat the dreadful disease—CANCER.

Admission will be $1.00 and tickets may be purchased at the Fashion Shop and The Beauty Nook in Lancaster or at the door.

SHRINE CLUB MEETS MARCH 29

The Rockcastle County Shrine Club met at Renfro Valley Lodge Friday night for our regular monthly meeting. We had wonderful attendance with 23 members and three visitors present. The three visitors were from the Madison County Club.

After a most enjoyable dinner of ham and chicken plus all the trimmings, we took immediate action on a number of projects which were needing our attention. These projects were as follows:

A committee was appointed for the feeding of band members who will play for our Dairy Day parade. They will do so very well. They will also be quite an appetizer as we expect to walk a bit. Having the honors for this detail will be Nobles R.A. Baker and Raymond McGuire.

A committee was appointed for completing the arrangements for an entertainment-dinner meeting for all club members and wives. If plans are completed, it will be with the noted 8 Ball musical team of Lexington for the entertainment.

It is promised a most enjoyable evening for our pretty boss ladies. Honors for this detail went to Nobles Repper, Wolfe, and McGuire.

A committee was also appointed for Circus Day transportation for our children's day. We were short of buses last year. We will try to work plans with our local school system for the use of at least 8 buses with convenient pickup points at Brodhead, Livingston, Renfro Valley, Mt. Vernon etc. This we hope will be a real high light for many.

Honors on this detail went to Nobles Baker, McGuire, and Sweeney.

Yes, we have just finished forming three committees and your writer might add that during this period our president, Monte Baker, was elected.

No one should agree for appointment to any committee if there were a chance of not completing the assignment therefore forcing a retardment of the club's progress. To this everyone agreed.

Other worthy business was a motion, which every member voted for, to donate $25 to our newly formed Red Cross chapter. A check was immediately drawn and presented as a group to members of Red Cross working to raise funds at Renfro Valley Friday night.

Each member of our club feels that it is a great privilege and honor to be part of this worthwhile but long overdue project.

This writer has been reporting a monthly progress report following each meeting and at this point the membership status is now on the last one-half of our immediate goal of 100 members. In other words we now have 52 very qualified and positive members.

At Friday night's meeting we were privileged to add to our powerful team 3 members, two of which are from the Oleika Shrine Club and are band members.

They are: Nobles Harold Sheppard and Fairrel Richardson, from Berea, also accepted was a very fine gentleman well known in Mt. Vernon, B.F. Stephens, who is Probation Officer for Pulaski County. Needless to say, we are most grateful for this added strength from these three successful businessmen.

And, until our next meeting, it has indeed been a pleasure and privilege to attend and report for this positive acting group and a footnote would read our quick growth, which should be self explanatory.

Respectfully submitted, Richard C. Sweeney Secretary and Treasurer Rockcastle Co. Shrine Club

FEEDER PIG MEETING MONDAY NIGHT

Rockcastle County swine producers are invited to a feeder pig production and marketing meeting in the Mt. Vernon Courthouse Monday night April 8 at 7:30 p.m. "Increased feeder pig production can be the best way for local farmers to increase their income," says Roy Brown, president of the local Livestock Improvement Association. Hogs have long been known as the farm mortgage lifter and this has not changed in recent years. Feeder pig production fits well into small farming programs where it is necessary to have additional income with the minimum of capital and labor. Most local farmers can produce enough grain for a five or ten sow pig operation. A ten sow operation is equivalent to an acre of tobacco for income.

Wayne Stewart will be in charge of this meeting to explain how local farmers can benefit from such a program.

FEEDER PIG PROJECTS-GOOD INCOME HELPS

If the "small farmer" wants to increase his income from $200 to $500 a year-look at feeder-pig projects, says the Wilderness Trail area of the U.K. Cooperative Extension Service. It can be done by running from two to ten sows and marketing the pigs successfully, area agents say.

It takes good management, but area farmers are learning the skills. It is possible to have from $2,000 to $3,000 a year gross income from such a project.

Two things that help are (1) good breeding stock is rapidly becoming available in the area and (2) excellent, established enterprises the new man can visit for pointers are here. Housing for a small number of brood sows can be provided in a tobacco or stock barn.

Sows can be farrowed in the spring and fall with very little equipment. Farrowing crates can be made out of wood and heat lamps used for the baby pigs.

There is a good market locally for up to 1,000 pigs any week.

TIMELY TIPS FOR PICK-LE GROWERS

You are growing cucumbers in order to make money, and the amount of money you make will depend on the kind of job you do in growing them. This job starts with getting the latest information and then using it. Do not grow the crop by using the same methods you used 4 or 5 years ago. Many cultural practices have improved in the last few years and, of course, the price of cucumbers has improved considerably, too.

The cucumber crop can be a big cash crop in 1958 if we give it the same kind of care we give burley tobacco. Barring bad weather conditions, no grower in the state should be happy with less than $800 to $1,000 per acre. Top growers will make $1,200 per acre.

High yields are not an accident. They are high because the grower planned for a top yield. He then used this plan in growing his crop.

A good plan starts with good soil. The field you select for the crop should:

1. Be well drained
  2. Be warm early in spring
  3. Contain high organic matter
  4. Have a cover crop or sod crop
  5. Have a clean soil that has not grown cucumbers or other vine crops for at least two years
  6. Be plowed 8-10 inches deep at least 1 month before planting time
  7. Be disked one or two weeks later plowing until seeds are planted, this will kill weeds and insure a fine, firm seedbed
- A soil test is your best guide for determining the lime and fertilizing needs of the soil. Lime, fertilizer, and manure should be spread over the ground before plowing. If a soil test is not made, you will want to make sure enough fertilizer has been plowed down. Five hundred to 800 pounds of 5-20-20 fertilizer should give a good crop yield. If manure or a legume crop is plowed under, apply 500 to 800 pounds of 0-20-20 fertilizer. (You will not need the nitrogen as it will be supplied by the manure or legume.)

We would like to see you get off to a good start this year. Remember a good start begins by selecting a fertile, well-drained piece of land, plowed 8-10 inches deep one month before planting and worked into a firm seedbed by disking each week. Follow soil test recommendations on liming and fertilizing, if possible.

as a major agricultural enterprise in Kentucky. Dairying is now our third major producer of farm income, ranking behind tobacco and beef cattle. Thus when we look at dairying we must not only be aware of the people directly involved, but also the economic contribution it makes to our total economy.

So what can we do to insure the economic welfare of our dairy industry? Given a promising market, our dairymen will continue to produce a quality product. The next step is promotion. The American Dairy Association is gearing its programs for expanded promotion. Milk and dairy products already enjoy a good image among consumers. Cow's milk is a primary food for infants and children. ADA studies have shown that American mothers have great respect for products of the dairy industry. We must have a program that will continue to hold this respect and consumers in general. More than that, we must not let mothers and meal planners forget the nutritional value of milk.

Recent studies conducted in Minnesota on a local imitation product show it to be low in nutritional values. This particular product has one-fourth less protein than real milk. Moreover, it contains no Vitamin A and no riboflavin.

While milk has many other valuable components, protein is one of the most important. This is the point we must emphasize over and over again to the consumer. We must not let housewives feel they are getting a bargain when they buy a substitute product for a price cheaper than real dairy products; what they buy for a cheaper price may also be lower in nutritional values.

Our dairymen, through their dairy associations and organizations, promote the products of their industry. They must also make the consuming public realize that it has a stake in the future of dairying. This stake is Kentucky dairymen are seeing more and more emphasis being placed upon promotion of milk and dairy products. This topic received considerable attention during the recent meeting of the Kentucky Dairy Products Association.

While leaders of the dairy industry have long been aware of the importance of promotion, the emergence of filled milk and dairy substitutes and imitations has aroused new concern. As I said in a speech before the Dairy Products Association meeting as well as other groups, this matter of filled milk and imitations is the most serious threat, the dairy industry is facing.

It is unfortunate that such a threat appears at a time when dairying is realizing notable progress

Legislative Roundup

Gov. Louie B. Nunn let open-housing become a law without his signature and vetoed the measure weakening Kentucky's annual auto inspection law in meeting its midnight deadline March 27 for action on bills passed by Kentucky's 1968 General Assembly.

The Governor said in a statement accompanying the open-housing bill (Senate Bill 264) he firmly believed "every homeowner in Kentucky has the right under the Constitution of the U.S. and under the Constitution of Kentucky to sell or refuse to sell his home to any person for any reason or for no reason whatsoever."

He added that the Legislature, representing the people, had voted overwhelmingly for the bill and any citizen who questioned its constitutionality has "restless in our courts." The law became effective June 13, along with other bills that do not have emergency clauses.

Senate Bill 252, which the Governor vetoed, would have taken mandatory motor vehicle safety inspections out of the program enacted by the 1966 Legislature and substituted provision for inspection only when a vehicle was sold. Random checks by state police would have been authorized but not required.

Nunn said in explanation of his veto he feared a loss of as much as $12 million a year in federal highway funds if he allowed the 1968 bill to become law. He said the federal government has informed the state to this effect, and also that federal funds advanced to help the present program would be withdrawn.

House Bill 499, which the Governor signed, will require mandatory inspection and regulation of all the state's slaughterhouses and meat processing plants. The bill is nearly identical to a model meat inspection law drafted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Among measures which Nunn allowed to become law without his signature was HB 588 which will extend from sunset to midnight the Thoroughbred racing may be held; bill increasing drivers' license fees from $2 to $3.

Another bill in the "allowed" category was one increasing the salaries of judges of the Court of Appeals and Circuit Courts. This bill includes a raise of $150 a month in expense allowances for legislators, doubling the present amount.

Also becoming a law without the governor's signature was a resolution to create a 10-member joint legislative committee on un-American activities to protect Kentucky from enemies both without and within our borders."

ennial sessions of Legislature, with a March instead of January convening date in years following the election of a governor.

The Governor signed into a law a bill which he said he vetoed by mistake March 25. Under this measure, Kentucky will join other states in a compact to adopt rules and regulations to curb air pollution.

Some 168 bills on which Nunn had taken action were delivered to Secretary-of-State Elmer Blegley shortly before midnight March 25. The Governor signed 98 of these bills into law and vetoed 70.

Among the bills vetoed was one which would have gutted Kentucky's corrupt election practices act and another which would have required higher tuition fees for out-of-state college and university students.

Vetoed also was House Bill 462, which would have set up a crime commission under the attorney general in addition to the one appointed by the Governor which already exists.

Another measure vetoed, Senate Bill 43, would have made it illegal for spouses to sue each other for damages, even if one is injured for the other.

The Governor vetoed a batch of bills providing for pay raises for local officials. He also killed bills placing the burden of proof on the employer when a State Merit System employee is fired; and increasing pay for retired teachers.

The Governor vetoed HB

49, eliminating several holidays for state employees while increasing their vacation time, and a bill allowing close relatives to donate the organs of unconscious dying persons for the purpose of transplants.

He signed SB 99 providing that the excess in Louisville's sinking fund can be spent for general fund purposes, but vetoed SB 29 requiring overtime pay for Louisville police working more than 40 hours a week.

Also signed was a bill allowing a hotel-room tax of 3 cents on the dollar in Louisville and Jefferson County to finance the work of a county tourist and convention commission whose creation was authorized.

The Governor signed bills which provide new penalties for rioting or inciting to riot; for obstructing firefighters in the performance of their duties; and for interference with police officers to make arrests.

Other signed bills include moving the "cooling-off" period in divorce cases from after the court order to before the court hearing, and specifying certain requirements for motorcycle drivers.

The Governor also approved bills to require photographing and fingerprinting of persons charged with shoplifting, and to increase the penalties for the distribution of wood alcohol for human consumption.

AUTO INSPECTION
Repeal of Kentucky's compulsory auto inspection law would have resulted in the loss of "approximately $12 million dollars in Federal road funds," Governor Louie B. Nunn announced today in explaining his veto of a repeal measure.
