OCASIONAL INSECT NUISANCE PESTS OF HOUSEHOLDS.

A few kinds of insects invade homes for shelter, but except for their annoying buzzing or presence they are not harmful. Usually such pests are a problem in the fall when they are moving into the house for protection, or in the spring when they are trying to find their way out again. The most common pests of this category in Kentucky are cluster flies, boxelder bugs, and clover mites. Cluster Flies: Cluster flies look like large, grayish house flies and get their name from their habit of clustering in attics during the winter. They may find their way between walls, and on warm days will emerge through small openings into the lower part of the house where they are attracted to windows. The main nuisance is their buzzing, and the accumulation of their dead bodies on window sills. They do not feed on anything inside the home. Outside they are parasitic on earthworms. The best cure for a cluster fly problem is to screen the means by which they get into the house. If this is not practical, insecticide treatment of the attic may be used. Following are some treatments that may be used:

1. Hang 20% dichlorvos (Vapor DDT) Resin strips in the attic at the rate of 1 per every 1,000 cubic feet.
2. Apply a 2% chlordane spray to rafters and other areas where flies cluster. Prepare spray by mixing 11 tablespoons of 45% emulsifiable concentrate per gallon of water.
3. Apply a 5% malathion spray as above. Prepare the spray by mixing 1 1/2 cups of 55% emulsifiable concentrate per gallon of water.

4. For a quick knock down of flies that enter the living quarters, use an aerosol bomb containing pyrethrin. Spray must hit the flies to be effective.

Boxelder Bugs: Boxelder bugs are about 1/2 inch long, oblong-shaped, and mostly black with reddish markings. They feed mostly on boxelders but they also survive on ash maple and fruit trees. They are not important as pests on trees. It is when they invade homes in large numbers where they may stain walls and fabrics with feces that they are a problem. They produce a foul odor when crushed.

You can control them by cutting down host trees, screening them out of homes or vacuuming them up as they accumulate around doors and windows. If these methods are not practical or desirable, spray boxelder trunks and other areas where they gather with a 2% chlordane spray. Prepare the spray by mixing 11 tablespoons of 45% EC per gallon of water; or 2 level cups of 40% WP per gallon.

Clover Mites: Clover mites are tiny 8-legged creatures smaller than a period on this page. They feed on clover and grasses where they usually cause little harm. They sometimes are a pest on lawns. When they migrate indoors in large numbers, they are particularly annoying to people who have a fear or who confuse them with chiggers. Clover mites do not "bite". When you try to brush them from a surface they are on, they are crushed and leave a blood red stain that is a nuisance to remove.

Pyrethrin aerosols are recommended for a quick knockdown of those mites that gather on the walls or around windows and doors inside the home. Pyrethrin sprays must hit the mite to kill it. For longer lasting effects inside the home, prepare sprays of 0.5% lindane, 2% chlordane, or 1-2% malathion. Spray around doors, windows, and other places where the mites may enter. Do not overdo or treat more areas than is necessary.

Most of the problem inside the home can be avoided by treating a 10 foot band around the outside of the house with a drenching spray of 0.5% malathion or 0.5% chlordane. Also, treat the outside wall of the house to the level of the windows. Repeat the treatment at 3 week intervals from late summer through early fall.

SWINE PRODUCERS TO MEET MONDAY NIGHT
Rockcastle County Swine Producers will meet in the county courtroom in Mt. Vernon Monday night at 8:00 p.m. to hear area swine specialist Calvin Risner discuss feeding systems for hogs. As swine producers increase their production the type of feeding systems used in the production of feeder pigs and in finishing hogs takes on increased importance.

Roy Brown, President of the local Livestock Improvement Association, said "Feeding systems of the right sort can be a great saving in labor and increase the profit of the swine enterprise through the efficient use of feed." These are two things all producers are interested in accomplishing on their farms. Latest information from up-to-date swine growers as well as that from various colleges of agriculture will be presented by Mr. Risner at this meeting.

FEED FLAVORS IN MILK CAN BE CUT OUT

Feed flavors in milk may happen more often than you realize, says Dr. Cox Bronson Lane, U.K. Cooperative Extension Service Dairyman. In fact, about 75 percent of milk produced in California contains some feed flavors, a recent test showed.

The cow's body processes usually can eliminate offensive feed odors from milk, if sufficient time is allowed between milking and feeding.

Dr. Lane recommends these steps:

1. Keep "offender" feeds from cows from four to five hours before milking. You may have to experiment with the time factor.
2. Feed strong-flavor feeds from cows from four to five hours before milking and feeding.

Some of the feeds which can affect milk's flavor are alfalfa, barley, cabbage, corn silage, turnips, rye, soybean silage, and wheat clover.

"LET'S MAKE HAY!" Kentucky dairymen should be prepared to begin harvesting hay during the first part of May, says Wilbert H. Earley, Area Extension Agent in Dairying. "Harvesting early is the single most important thing a dairyman can do to improve hay quality and milk production per cow per acre," he says. This means harvesting hay during the bud stage for legumes and boot stage for grass. Reports as of mid-April indicate that bud stage for alfalfa and clover should occur during the second or third week in May in this area. Highest quality forage is the key to profitable milk production in Kentucky, Mr. Earley emphasizes that the dairyman who harvests his hay several weeks later has two strikes against him before he ever starts feeding it. First, his cows will eat less of the hay. Research shows that a delay in harvesting while the hay matures from early bud to 3/4 bloom causes a 25 to 30 percent reduction in the amount eaten. Second, every pound which cows do eat contains fewer digestible nutrients. Thus, the end result is a sharp decline in milk production. A few days delay may not seem important but recent data indicates that hay declines in feed value about 50 percent each day that harvesting is delayed. Therefore, larger milk checks next winter will be the pay-off for an early start now in harvesting hay. In addition to early harvesting, what are other important items which affect the nutritional value of hay? Mr. Earley emphasizes that after early harvest important factors are leaf loss and weather damage, especially if leaves are lost in the process of re-drying the hay. (Cont. To Page 10)

Nineteen L & N Cars Derail Damage Estimated At $77,000

A fast L & N freight train No. 129 bound from Cincinnati to Atlanta derailed Sunday at 7:45 a.m. at the Brush Creek crossing on Brush Creek Road. Damage to the track and cars was estimated at $77,000 by railroad officials. The officials however said this amount did not include damage done to the cars inside. Altogether 3,850 feet of track was damaged as well as two bridges in the nineteen car derailment. The tank cars were loaded with Sulfuric acid but railroad officials said there was no leak from the car. The only car broken open contained a shipment of pancake mix. The cause of the pile up was reportedly a broken flange on one of the wheels of a tank car in the derailment. By Monday morning at 8 a.m. the track was clear.

Fiscal Courts Meets Tuesday Discuss Roads-Fire Dept.

Several persons met with the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court at their regular monthly meeting Tuesday to request that the county road department take action on several county roads. Sam Hoskins informed the magistrates that the old Mt. Vernon-Richmond Road was now blocked and requested that the county have this road opened. Earl R. Nichols made a motion to give an easement over the right-of-way of the county road in order to open this road. Hubert Thacker seconded the motion and the vote was unanimous. Hence Renner also met with the court to discuss the crossing of Pittman Branch on Chestnut Ridge Road. He requested that there be a way fixed for persons to cross this branch either by bridge or by putting in a tile. It was agreed that the state engineer and Clyde Barnett will check this branch. A representative of the Well Hope Baptist Church met with the court to request that the road to the church be moved up on the bank in order to get it out of the branch. Mr. Nichols

The Robert Spence Memorial Award was presented to W.S. Stewart of Wildie Monday night at the 47th annual Farm-Business Banquet of Boone Tavern Hotel. Mrs. Stewart was given flowers in honor of the occasion. The Award presented Monday by Noel Stephens, left, is sponsored by the Berea Kiwanis Club in recognition of an outstanding farmer. It recalls the work of Spence, for many years the county agent in the area. Stewart, a Master Farmer, was a charter member of the Rockcastle Farm Bureau and ASC. He was one of the RECC organizers. He is a director of the Mt. Vernon Bank and treasurer of the Christian Church. In Wildie, he is highly respected as a consultant for the farmers of that area.

THRIFT STILL HAS MANY CHAMPIONS

Now that we have so many features of the "welfare state" built into the basic pattern of our economy, one might think that the grand old virtue of thrift would be entirely obsolete. But even social security, unemployment insurance, medicare, and widening pension systems have not been able to smother the pioneer habit of saving. It's still important to the vast majority of citizens. YOUNG PEOPLE, TOO A study reported last October by the National Association of Bank Women, 60 E. 42nd St., N.Y.C. is surprising to many of the "older" generation. Despite the widespread view that young men and women are more interested in spending than saving this study shows that four-fifths of all young people own saving accounts. And the better educated, the higher the percentage of youthful wage earners—especially the married ones—devoted to saving. Furthermore, the Bank Women inquired what young workers would do with a sudden "windfall." Here again the reply was contrary to what mothers and fathers of the upcoming generation think of their offspring. Two-thirds of the youthful wage earners would sock away unexpected lamp sums into their savings accounts. About a quarter of those queried would pay old bills with any cash stroke of good luck. Less than 15% would run out and spend it!

SAVING FOR WHAT? But according to the study, it does make a difference to the young marrieds what they save for. The idea of preparing for a "rainy day," seems to have gone out with the bustle. The youthful wage earners look at life insurance as the way to prepare for the unexpected. Evidently the fear of another depression has been blotted out by the long period of prosperity and by the easy accessibility of welfare if misfortune should strike. The plain fact seems to be that the young earners save to spend. There may be a special purpose, such as for education or some large tag item; but the main reasons are to have emergency, or ready cash funds. Only a tiny few, save, however, to buy an auto. Obviously, today's youthful workers and winners view a car as something to be bought "on time." The only cash that goes into a car in most cases is the down payment

REGULAR PAYMENTS OFTEN THE KEY There are still untold numbers of people who shake the change out of their trousers pockets or purses at the end of each day, piling up the coins until they have $5, $10, or $15 to add to their bank accounts. And companies encourage the thrifty intentions of their employees in various ways. It is still common for corporations to authorize payroll deductions for the purchase of government savings bonds by their personnel. Also, many firms have stock programs permitting employees to invest 5% or more of their salaries regularly in company stock. In quite a number of cases the companies match the money put up by the workers for this use. Banks report that Christmas Clubs and other systems encouraging regular monthly or weekly deposits are widely used in connection with savings plans. Perhaps most indicative of the thriftness of certain households is the occurrence now and then of open borrowing to establish a savings account. By way of an installment loan, such funds can be borrowed and then placed in a savings account. The borrower is forced to pay off the loan on a monthly basis, so the nest egg is guaranteed if he lives long enough to complete the transaction. An expensive way to save, maybe, but as long as there is a will—whether to re-decorate the living room or to own a swimming pool—there evidently will be a way.

Solving Our Physical Problems

By Tim Lee Carter
Listen to these headlines: "Cost of Living Takes Another Jump"; "U.S. Gold Supply Dwindling"; "Some Interest Rates at Highest Level Since World War II"; "Dollar Stability Threatened." Like most Americans, I am concerned that the United States is heading toward financial disaster. The dollar is under repeated attacks and our Gold Supply is at the lowest level in over 30 years. Inflation has driven up the cost of food and shelter and services to the highest level in our history. I believe everyone is sincerely alarmed at today's inflationary attack on his pocketbook and bewildered that nothing seems to be done about it. How did we reach this critical point? What can we do about it? The Government has spent billions and hired millions, but done little about it. As I see it, we must now work through our free competitive enterprise system to arrive at solutions. We must put more in the self-reliance of the American people. We must give back to the States and various communities some of the government-taken responsibilities they once had. We must return a greater part of the taxes taken from the States. We must live within our national income. Most of our troubles today are the result of wild spending, wasting our substance, as the Bible puts it. We've got to reduce the tax load on the workers and investors of this country. In other words, reduce spending and halt the present inflationary trend. When

4-Her's Return From Conference

Three Rockcastle County 4-H members, Carolyn Rappert, Dale McNew, and Jerry Moore, attended the Kentucky 4-H Older Youth Conference at Washington, D.C., during the week of April 14-20. This conference was a week-long training session in citizenship and leadership, planned especially for Kentucky 4-H'ers. Those who attended stayed at the National 4-H Center where the conference sessions were held.

Some of the major conference speakers were Senator John Sherman Cooper, historian Tom Wessell from the Smithsonian Institute, and Dr. Ed Singer - a well known youth speaker. Some of the highlights of the week included a tour of NASA, the national space center near Washington; attending a live drama in a downtown theater; visits to the White House, Capitol, and State Department; a reception honoring the delegates given by Mr. and Mrs. John Sherman Cooper; tours of Arlington National Cemetery, National Cathedral, Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials and the Smithsonian Institute; and a boat ride down the Potomac River to Mount Vernon, home of George Washington.

But, the Devils bounced back in their next two games, defeating the London Tigers in one extra inning by a score of 3 to 2 and an averaging win over the Memorial Mustangs by a score of 16 to 14.

In the Mt. Vernon-London game, Hank Mullins went all the way yielding only two unearned runs while Lonnie Pickle was the hitting hero for Mt. Vernon with a run scoring single in the last of the eighth inning, which won the game.

With the seniors all gone on the senior trip, four freshmen, Coffey, Burdette, Hoskins, and McCauley had to be called on the help average Mt. Vernon's loss to Memorial.

It was a wild hitting ball game as the Red Devils collected fifteen hits with seven of them going for extra bases. Doubles were slashed by Saylor, Mullins, Pickle, and Burton. Triples were hit by Burdette and Hackworth, who was the outstanding batsman as he also had a single and a home run. Stanley Burton did an outstanding job for the Red Devils with several sparkling running catches.

Freshman Dale Coffey pitched the entire game for Mt. Vernon giving up nine hits and receiving credit for the victory.

The Red Devils will meet Pulaski County High at Somerset in their last season game. The Red Devils need a victory in this game to have a .500 win-loss record for the season.

"The boys have given a real good effort and have compiled a good record for a team who had only one regular returning," Coach Buford Parkinson said.

Next Wednesday, the Red Devils will play the winner of the McKinney-Liberty game in the District Tournament which will be played at Casey County High School at Liberty May 7, 8, 10.

Light then saw a figure fall from the crossbar. Four other youths were with Martin when he was killed. The four were taken to police headquarters, by a witness, who was fishing nearby, and saw the boys pull Martin off the box.

The boys directed police to the scene where they found Martin on the ground. His shoes had come off and were found several feet away.

After Martin landed on the metal box the four boys said they pulled him to the ground. Police were told Martin hit his left shoulder on the box.

Shortly after police came, Martin's older brother, David, 17, collapsed from shock at the scene. The older Madison youth was given oxygen by one of two ambulance crews called out. He was taken to Sherman Hospital's emergency room where he was released later.

The five teen-agers reportedly were at the riverbank to catch pigeons. After Martin had climbed to the crossbars another youth started climbing the pole. The boys then saw a flash and heard an explosion. Martin then fell. Two other persons saw the accident as they drove across the bypass bridge.

Police said the utility pole's crossbar to which Martin climbed was 32 feet above ground and had a 12-foot span.

Social Security News

The impact of the Medicare program, which started paying benefits in July 1966, is reflected in articles which appear in the April issue of the Social Security Bulletin, official monthly publication of the Social Security Administration.

expenditures for health care as a proportion of all health expenditures. The Nation spent $45.4 billion for its health and medical care during the year. The public outlays amounted to 28 percent of this total, up from 25 percent of the 1965 total. The increase in public expenditures in 1966 was 4 1/2 times the increase in private expenditures.

Walter K. Kolodrubetz' review of "Employee-Benefit Plans in 1966" benefit payments under group-term life insurance increased by 6 percent, while contributions rose 7 percent. The annual growth rate of employee-benefit plans had been ranging from 10 to 15 percent over the previous 10 years.

The total for all benefits paid under the private pension, health and welfare plans reached $14.4 billion, of which $7.4 billion were health benefits. Contributions by employers and employees totalled $20.8 billion of which $8 billion were for health benefits.

"The substantial rise in national health expenditures since 1950," according to Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Cooper, "is the result of many factors," including population growth and rising prices. But with population growth and rising prices eliminated as factors, the increase since 1950 has been 57 percent. In terms of 1966 dollars, the per capita national health expenditures in 1950 was $146.94. By 1966 it had reached $230.69.

Hospital care in 1966 was the largest single item of expenditure, representing more than one-third of total outlays. Physicians' services were the next largest (21 percent of the total), followed by outlays for drugs and drug sundries and for dentists' services.

The employee-benefit plans review by Kolodrubetz are defined as "any type of plan sponsored or initiated unilaterally or jointly by employers and employees and providing benefits that stem from the employment relationship and that are not underwritten or paid directly by government." With the introduction of Medicare, employees (and retired workers) aged 65 and over. It is estimated that about 3.7 million aged persons are still enrolled in group hospital plans (either on the job or as retired persons) that are complementary to Medicare.

Limited copies of the Social Security Bulletin are available from the Office of Research and Statistics, Social Security Administration, Room 562B, NEW South, Building, Washington, D.C. 20201. The Bulletin is for sale by the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402; price, 25 cents a copy, $2.74 a year.

Veteran's Information

Q -- My son will be getting out of service soon. He enlisted right out of high school. I have heard that there is a new program in which a veteran can work for the government and still go to school. Can you tell me anything about it?

A -- A recent Presidential Executive Order permits Federal agencies to give Viet-Nam era veterans active duty in the Armed Forces for at least 180 days (unless disabled in service), some part of which was after August 4, 1964. Have completed less than one year of education beyond high school or its equivalent. Agree to take an approved program of education or training for at least one full school year while he is working. Full details on this program may be obtained from the nearest U.S. Veterans Assistance Center, Veterans Administration or Civil Service Commission office.

Q -- My widowed mother receives a pension based upon my father's military service. She is now confined to a nursing home. Is she entitled to an increase in payments?

A -- Recent legislation permits the Veterans Administration to add $50 monthly to a widow's pension award received by a person who must be kept in a nursing home. The VA office handling your mother's claim should be advised of the fact that she is in a nursing home and entitled to the added benefit payable to widows requiring aid and attendance.

Q -- I recently received my National Service Life Insurance dividend check. I am now drawing 100 per cent disability compensation and because of this, the premiums are waived on my policy. Since I do not pay anything into the insurance (and should I return the check?

A -- You need not return the check. However, you understand that you are not on a disability waiver of premiums because you receive 100 per cent service-connected disability compensation. You are on this waiver of premiums because your disability satisfies the requirement for insurance purposes, of "any impairment of mind or body which renders it impossible for the insured to follow any gainful occupation." If you become employed, VA will probably terminate your disability waiver, even though you continue to be rated as 100 per cent disability. In any event, dividends are payable on National Service Life Insurance policies where a waiver of premiums is in force and you are entitled to yours.
