KENTUCKY DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE NEWS

by J. Robert Miller, Commissioner

The month of June marks a traditional agricultural observance. Dairy associations and other dairy interests throughout the country are observing "June Dairy Month."

For this special month in which he urged "all our citizens to publicly and privately join in this observance in order that we may continue to enjoy the nutritional and economic benefits of our dairy industry." We of the Kentucky Department of Agriculture are happy to join the ranks of our dairy industry in calling special attention milk and dairy products. Milk is not only one of nature's most perfect foods, but is also the best known among all agricultural products. Few foods can be used from infancy to adulthood as can milk. It is not only a convenient food to enjoy, but also one of the most nutritional.

Economically speaking, dairying is quite important to Kentucky. Last year our farmers marketed some $122,500,000 worth of milk. If the dollars generated through the processing, distribution and retail sales were added to this amount, the figure would be striking and a great deal higher than the average person would imagine.

Kentucky ranks 13th nationally in milk production, and is second among the South Central states in total production. On the manufacturing side, Kentucky ranks fifth in the production of American cheese, second in the production of unsweetened evaporated milk, and third among the South Central states in the manufacturing of cottage cheese curd. We have well over 6000 kindred plants which manufacture ice cream. Over 837 million pounds of fluid milk is handled by some 85 processors for consumers in Kentucky and adjoining states.

So dairying is an important industry in Kentucky. Some of the most progressive farmers are to be found in the dairy business. Likewise, our processing and manufacturing firms are providing dynamic leadership for agricultural in general.

During the month of June, I would hope that people throughout the Commonwealth would look both at dairying as a supplier of food and as a generator of dollars. Too, I would hope that they will be receptive to dairy attempts to tell its story.

Dairying, like many other agricultural enterprises, is facing rising costs and small margins of profit. Labor problems are common among dairymen. These problems, however, can be coped with to a certain extent by management practices. One problem cannot be met by improved management alone. This is the matter of competition from filled milk and imitation products.

The final answer to this problem rests with the consuming public. It is they who must decide that there is no substitute for the nutritional qualities of natural milk and dairy products. It is because of these qualities that milk is called nature's most perfect and best known food.

Social Security News

Recently the President signed the 1967 Amendments to the Social Security Law. These amendments made a number of changes in the Social Security Law regarding children's entitlement to Social Security Benefits. One of the major changes has to do with children receiving benefits on their mother's earnings under Social Security.

Prior to the 1967 Amendments a child, in many instances, could not receive benefits on its mother's record unless she had worked in the three year period just before she became entitled to retirement or disability benefits or, in the case of death, in the three years prior to her death. The 1967 Amendments removed this requirement and made it easier for a child to qualify for benefits on his mother's record.

The children who could benefit from this change are children under the age of 18, full-time students between the ages of 18-22 and disabled children. If you have children who may qualify for benefits on their mother's record and the claim was denied, you should file for benefits under this change in the law.

Among the changes in the social security program recently signed into law by President Johnson is one particular change of special interest to the younger worker. For those who became Wendell Belew, Jr., son of Rev. and Mrs. M.A. Belew, Atlanta, Georgia, is a recent honor graduate of Southwest High School.

While a student at Southwest, Wendell has been active in community and student affairs. He was Editor-in-Chief of the yearbook, president of Key club, President, National Honor Society, National Beta Club, National Merit Finalist, Governor's Honors program and was selected as an Atlanta Board of Education Scholar.

While in high school, Wendell has been active in drama and youth politics. He is currently serving as president of Teen Democrats of Georgia.

In September, Wendell will enter Yale University as a Yale National Scholar. Wendell was born in Mt. Vernon, in 1950 while his father was serving as pastor of the Mt. Vernon Baptist Church.

Gov. Louie B. Nunn has directed Public Safety Commissioner, Col. William Newman, to implement Kentucky's "implied consent" law without delay.

"The so-called 'drunken drivers' law will go into effect June 13th to the extent personnel and breath testing equipment are available," the governor said.

It is expected the metropolitan areas of Jefferson and Fayette counties will be the only areas of the state to feel the full force of the law until funds are received for additional equipment and personnel.

Estimated total cost of additional equipment and training personnel to fully implement Kentucky's "Alcohol and Safe Highway" project is $426,360.

SPORTSMEN WILL SELECT CANDIDATES

Sportsmen of the Sixth Wildlife District will meet in the Auditorium of the New Agriculture and Science Building at the University of Kentucky in Lexington on Wednesday night, June 12, at 7:45 Eastern Daylight Saving Time to select a list of candidates for the position of Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission member, Minor Clark, commissioner of the Department, has announced. Five candidates will be selected by the sportsmen assembled one of which will be named by the governor to serve a four year term on the Commission. The present commissioner's term expires in August. Present Commissioner is John Featherston, Lexington, who is eligible for reappointment. Only those sportsmen residing in counties comprising the Sixth Wildlife District are eligible to vote. Those counties are: Franklin, Scott, Anderson, Woodford, Fayette, Mercer, Jessamine, Boyle, Casey, Lincoln, Garrard, Rockcastle, Lee, Estill, Powell, Clark, and Madison.

For entitlement to disability benefits, a person must be unable to engage in any substantial gainful work because of a physical or mental impairment which lasted or can be expected to last for a period of at least one year.

Benefits under this new provision were first payable for the month of February 1968. It has been estimated that approximately 100,000 people-disabled workers and their dependents-are eligible for monthly benefits under this recent change.

The Mt. Vernon Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America had their annual Mother-Daughter Banquet Friday night, May 24.

The "Mother Goose" theme was carried out by the programs, place cards, and decorations.

The meeting was called to order by Barbara Rader, president. Each girl then presented their mother with a rose. Mrs. Lloyd Cain, chapter advisor, was presented with a corsage of red roses.

After the rose presentation, a delicious meal, consisting of ham, mashed potatoes, green beans, toss salad, hot rolls and strawberry shortcake, was enjoyed by all.

A special program was presented for the mothers by several members of the chapter. The program was entitled "Hats off to Mothers."

Highlights of the banquet were the installation of the new officers and the awarding of Junior and Chapter Degrees.

Receiving Junior degrees were: Darlene Cope; Vicki Smith, Nancy Prewitt, June Wilson, Brenda Osborne, and Connie M. Ferron.

Chapter Degree recipients were: Joy Thacker, Loretta Kirby, and Judy Miller. New officers for 1968-69 are as follows: Joy Thacker, president; Loretta Kirby, first vice president; Darlene Cope, second vice president; Brenda Thacker, treasurer; Pam Ramsey, secretary; Linda Miller, parliamentarian; Lavania Wheat, historian; Andrea Anglin, reporter; June Wilson, recreation leader; and Delilah Burnett, song leader.

Outgoing officers presented each new officer with a rose and explained the duties and responsibilities concerning the office each are to assume the coming year.

Joy Thacker, new president, led the closing rituals and dismissed everyone.

Another consideration given to the interchange being moved was the possibility, according to Grayson, of a Rockcastle River Reservoir which, if built in the future, would necessitate less road building if the interchange were on the Laurel side of the river rather than the Rockcastle side.
 Ed Denny, formerly of Mt. Vernon and now practicing law mainly in Fayette County, reminded the engineers that with this additional interchange Laurel County would now have six compared to Rockcastle's two.

However, the gist of the meeting was that all three interchange sites are now in Washington at the Bureau of Public Roads and they will decide which site to build on and there seems to be little possibility of Rockcastle retaining the interchange under present conditions.

CARD OF THANKS
 I would like to send a letter of thanks to all of the nursing staff at the Rockcastle County Baptist Hospital and to Doctor Lewis, who took care of my mother during the crisis following her being-bitten by a Copper Head snake. Rockcastle County can be proud of the hospitality that was so graciously extended to the Ballinger Family.
 I shall always be thankful also for the good road that has been put in front of my mother's home the last year. Had it not been for the good road, I could not have gotten my mother to the hospital in just a few short minutes.
 To each and everyone that helped and the many visitors and the sweet and wonderful nurses thanks and God bless you all.

Little Hope Seen For Keeping I-75 Interchange At River

Approximately 31 persons attended a public hearing held Tuesday at the Department of Highways in Frankfort. The purpose of the hearing was to inform the public why the interchange off of Interstate 75, originally scheduled for Rockcastle County at the Rockcastle River, would probably be moved to Laurel County's side of the river.

Commissioner Hazerigg spoke first, briefly, to the group and told them that there was a "political maneuver" being afoot. He also told them that copies of letters sent to the Bureau of Public Roads in Washington by Congressman Tim Carter and Senator John Sherman Cooper had been received by the Department of Highways. These letters were reportedly urging that the interchange be left in Rockcastle County.

Commissioner Hazerigg introduced one of the engineers in his department, a Mr. Grayson, who gave the group background on the interchange from its very inception up to the present status and then answered questions put to him by the group.

According to Grayson, the interchange in Rockcastle County, was first submitted to the Bureau of Public Roads in December of 1963 and was turned down because of the excessive cost and because of the user-benefit-cost ratio which was lower than is normally approved by the Bureau.

The project was temporarily shelved until after the Appalachian Regional Act came into being in 1965. It was resubmitted in June of 1967 asking for approval on the grounds that Rockcastle County was one of the forty-nine counties in Kentucky which was included in this act. According to Grayson, no other justification for the interchange was submitted except for the one concerning the Appalachian Regional act and this was sufficient for the Bureau to grant approval in August of 1967 for the interchange.

Cost estimates, in the early stages of planning, were about $800,000 for the interchange and $300,000 for an access road making the total project cost $1,100,000. This is about three times what an interchange built in level land will cost. But after advanced planning had begun and cost estimates were able to be figured more accurately the State Engineers found that the cost for an interchange, in its original location, would cost in excess of five million dollars. Upon learning of the excessive cost involved, Commissioner Hazerigg was notified and it was suggested that it might be more feasible to select an alternate site for the interchange.

According to Grayson, a site about 2,000 feet up the river, still on Rockcastle's side, was first considered and cost estimates were drawn up on it. It was found that even there the cost would be approximately $2,988,700. So then, the project was taken across the river to Laurel's side and a site on Cromer's Ridge, approximately two miles inside of the county, was chosen. It was found that the total project cost for construction of the interchange there would be around $1,744,770.

On the basis of this indicated savings, the Highway Department Engineers recommended to Commissioner Hazerigg.

IT'S ALL OVER BUT THE SHOUTING!

It quickly became apparent to the group from Rockcastle County who attended the public hearing in Frankfort Tuesday that the interchange, originally scheduled for our side of the Rockcastle River on Interstate-75, was going to be moved to Laurel County's side of the river, especially if the Highway Department had anything to say about it. (See lead story).

We were informed that three sites had been submitted to the Bureau of Public Roads in Washington with cost estimates ranging from over five million dollars down to $1,744,770 for the three interchanges and approval was expected to be forthcoming soon on the one chosen. Oh well, guess anybody can make a messy little old four million dollar mistake.

Bids Accepted By Local Recreation Club

The Cedar Rapids Recreation Center have accepted three apparent low bidders for construction of the Club's facilities on Hwy. 150.

The bids were received from Nicolet and Lovell, Clubhouse $42,800; W.A. Mackabee Co. of Knoxville, Tenn-Swimming Pool-approximately $34,400, and Lester Farmer, builder, and C.R. Blankenship, contractor, Golf Course, combined bid, of $61,300.

According to Joe Young, vice president, several minor changes had to be made in the original plans in order to keep the bids within the club's budget.

"Three hundred feet were taken off the clubhouse which now totals 3600 square feet and the swimming pool was changed from a rectangular shape to an apollo shape making the deep end smaller but enlarging the five foot and three foot depths.

The plans now go to Farmers Home Administration for final approval and when this approval is received the funds will be forthcoming and contracts with the builders will be signed.

This is all expected to be done within the next fifteen days and work should begin soon thereafter.

Mrs. Miracle Resigns School Post; Charles B. Parsons New Head

Mrs. Neureul Miracle, Rockcastle County School Superintendent since 1948, has resigned that post effective June 30.

Mrs. Miracle leaves the position of County School Superintendent after twenty years in that capacity and twenty years as a teacher in the county schools. Mrs. Miracle has been granted deferred retirement since she is not yet at retirement age.

Charles B. Parsons, who was named recently to succeed John Saylor as Assistant Superintendent, has been selected as County School Superintendent. The Assistant Superintendent's post will be filled by Willard Whitaker, presently assistant to Mrs. Nancy Williams, Director of Pupil Personnel.

Her husband, Otis Miracle, has not been well for some time and Mrs. Miracle gave this as her reason for retirement. Mr. Miracle is presently principal of Roundstone School. At this time no one has been named to this position.

Mrs. Miracle received her B.S. degree and Master's degree from Eastern Kentucky University and has one year's graduate work beyond the Master's degree.

At the time of Mrs. Miracle's takeover, there were four school systems in Rockcastle County and between sixty and seventy rural or one room schools. There is now one system and only seven one room schools, with according to Mrs. Miracle, plans in the making to discontinue them soon. Additions have been made to Livingston, Brohead, and Mt. Vernon schools and a new consolidated elementary school at Roundstone has been constructed. A vocational school is also presently under construction.

The teaching faculty in the county has changed from mostly emergency teachers in 1948 to a qualified one with many having Master's degrees.

"This was one of the hardest decisions in my life to make since I loved my work and I wish to thank all the people who have helped me accomplish the improvements during my administration," Mrs. Miracle said.

Mrs. Miracle further stated "This county is considered to have one of the best Title I programs in the state of Kentucky and for this I thank everyone who helped to make it so. But above all, I appreciate it."

INTEREST RATES AND REAL ESTATE

Interest rates are very high. If Congress fails to pass a tax boost, probability is that rates will again be raised. Will today's high mortgage costs cripple the real estate business and dry up demand for new houses?

PRESSURE ON INTEREST RATES

Not only are interest rates high, but some key rates are at top levels since 100 years ago, when the nation was reeling under the impact of crisis deriving from the Civil War. Indeed, many rates are actually higher than during the credit crunch of the third and fourth quarters of 1966. What killed cheap money? The usual answer to that question is "inflation," but there are quite a number of people who point to the Vietnam war as the chief culprit. The pressures of our deep involvement in Southeast Asia are a factor,

STEADY BUILDUP OF INFLATIONARY FORCES

Most of us think of inflation as being a broad rise in the prices of goods and services. Until the strong price advances which began in 1965, we weren't overly concerned about inflation. We simply failed to realize that not only did inflation exist, but also it was expanding at a steady clip. Recently, our tax policy in refusing to absorb enough of the inflationary flood has increased the pressure.

The growth of the economy during the past 7 years, together with the war, hastened the progress of this inflation from the speed of a snail to that of a rocket. This vast expansion in Gross National Product multiplied the need for money and capital funds, but the straw that broke the camel's back was the sharp rise in the general price level. A second factor, scarier less important, has been our worsening imbalance of international payments, which has forced the Federal Reserve to restrict the availability of funds and to make them more costly by impacting interest rates.

IMPACT OF REAL ESTATE GENERALLY

How much further interest rates will rise depends on what steps the Administration and Congress take to cool the fires of inflation. Our guess is that the ceiling on interest rates has not yet been seen. Later on, if we have a tax boost, and if some of the nation's other problems become a bit less onerous, we would expect interest rates to ease off. Even so, money will not again be cheap for a long time to come.

High mortgage rates and scarcity of mortgage money in selected areas have already hurt the real estate business. Reports from around the nation indicate that property is being moved less readily. In areas where demand itself has been holding up, transactions are delayed and sometimes fall through as prospective buyers fail to obtain mortgage either because lenders are now screening more carefully or because the would-be borrowers cannot pay the sharply upped rates.

WHAT ABOUT NEW HOUSES?

Potential demand for new homes is large and broadly based. Quite apart from the challenges posed by poor housing in city ghettos and rural slums, population increase and continued good economic activity are continually expanding the market.

Yet, high building costs and high mortgage rates are curbing spending for new homes this year. Many people, especially young people, find that right now they simply cannot afford large down payments and heavy carrying charges. As a result, we look for some slide-off in housing starts over the next several months, during which time the recent emphasis on apartments and multi-family houses will persist. If you need a new home, don't wait indefinitely, hoping for a big drop in either the price of the house or the cost of the mortgage. That type of break just isn't in the cards. But don't rush off to buy either. Shop carefully for both the house and the money to pay for it. Remember it will take you a long time to pay for both.

Baker all of Berea. Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Chasteen returned home from Louisville after spending two weeks with their son Mr. and Mrs. James Chasteen and family. Mrs. Flossie Burdine and Mrs. Hattie Anglin visited Mrs. Bertha Morris at Berea recently. Mrs. Betty Anglin of Paint Lick is among the 1968 graduating class of Berea College. Mrs. Anglin is the wife of Mr. Harold Anglin and the granddaughter of Mrs. Hattie Anglin. The children and grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burdine visited them Sunday.

MV Recreation Program Will Begin Monday

The Mt. Vernon summer recreation program will begin June 10 when the playground will open, according to Charles "Tuck" Baker, playground director. Three baseball leagues for the youngsters have been scheduled. They are (1) Pee-wee league which will play on Monday, Thursday, and Saturday at 6:30 p.m. (2) Little League which will play on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 2:30 p.m. and (3) Pony League which will play on Tuesday and Saturday at 2:30 p.m.

FISHING NOT DAMAGED AT LAKE CUMBERLAND
When the public was informed last month Lake Cumberland would be lowered to correct an "adverse drainage condition" in the earth portion of the dam, public reaction ranged from indifference to alarm.

Fishermen were worried over possible effect on fishing conditions this summer and future fish population, since the lowering of the water level has taken place when the lake normally is stabilized for spawning.

Actual results have been excellent during the draw-down. Catches, on the average, have been greater than those made earlier when the lake was at its seasonal level.

Past experience at the Tennessee River Basin, when its lakes were lowered, has demonstrated to fish experts that aeration of the lakeshore and exposure to sun permitted vegetation to grow down to the lower lake edge, creating additional food and even better fishing conditions.

According to Minor Clark, commissioner of Fish and Wildlife Resources, "We have been informed by Col. Jesse L. Fishback, district engineer, that the drainage would taper off and hold at 680 feet, seven feet above minimum power pool. At this level, the lake has 37,680 acres or nearly 59 square miles of surface.

"Lake umbrethad has been lower than this before,"

IN MEMORY OF

How We Miss You Dear Mother In Memory of Lettie Waddle who passed away June 2, 1967

Dear mother how we miss you. Around the old home that we loved so dear. Nothing is the same since you are not with us. Your sweet smiling face we cannot see here.

But some day dear mother we'll meet you in heaven around the bright throne up there on high. Where there will be no more sad partings. No tears will fall, and no more good-bys.

You were always so kind to your children. You treated each one of them just the same. You would always greet them with love and great kindness. Your face would light-up whenever you would mention their name.

Each grandchild you had loved you so dearly. No one could take your place with them you know. They'd smile and say, yes, we'll take grandma with us, wherever and when she is ready to go.

Your neighbors and friends and everyone who knew you tells us how they miss you so, their hearts feel so sad that you are not with us. But we knew God called you home to heaven and that you were ready and wanted to go.

But Mom we will all have to go on living until God is ready to call us home but then dear sweet mother, what a great and joyous reunion we'll all have in heaven. When here on earth no more we'll roam.

Each day passed by we miss you dear mother. It is something seems time cannot erase but if we live true and keep God's commandments, we'll meet you in heaven and see your sweet smiling face.

Sadly missed by each and everyone of the family. Written by a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Arthur Waddle, Livingston, Kentucky.

like Bossie herself...

modern farm equipment is tops for efficiency

Any dairy farmer will tell you. The dairy cow is quite a "machine" for converting feed into nature's most nearly perfect foods... milk and milk products. But that's only the beginning. Dairy farmers of this area know efficient operation of a dairy farm depends on good management, sound judgment, modern methods. Modern farm machinery and equipment are part of that successful operation. We congratulate our dairy farmers on a job well done in producing high quality milk and invite them to consult with us about equipment that will help them to produce milk more profitably.

AFTER HARVEST CARE OF THE STRAWBERRY FIELD

As soon as possible after the berries are through, the strawberry field should be reworked. Plantings can be profitable for several years if kept free of weeds and diseases and fertility kept at a high level.

In reworking a field, the following steps are recommended:

1. Mow the field about 3 inches high cutting the foliage off the plants.

2. Rake the field if needed.

3. Broadcast 600 to 800 pounds of 10-10-10 or 12-12-12 fertilizer.

4. With a 12 or 14 inch turning plow, make a back-furrow into the balls on each side of the row. Leave the plant bed about 20 inches wide.

5. With a cultivator (sustee), double shovel (or springtooth) work the back-furrow down level. For best weed control some folks like to leave the back-furrow three or four days before leveling.

6. The plant bed may be thinned with narrow points on the same cultivator. A good stand to have is 6 plants per square foot.

Thinning is done by plowing on top of and across the plant beds.

7. Weeding can be completed with the hoe and pulled by hand. A chemical such as Daethal WP or Sesonc can be used after the field is cleaned to help greatly with weed control. Directions are on the containers.

The method just described is much used and very satisfactory. There are other ways that are also satisfactory, but the three things to remember are: do the job early - get all the weeds out - keep the fertility level high.

JUNE DAIRYMONTH GRASS TO MAN-VIA THE COW

"Let them eat grass" said the French aristocracy when told their people were starving. They did not realize just how apt their words could be until dairy products became the byword of the world.

The dairy cow is the best way to market grass, a crop for which Kentucky is famous. She is the most efficient converter of cellulose to human food that man knows. Furthermore, she does not limit her ability to grass alone.

As an example of the versatility of the dairy cow to produce human food, scientists at Penn State University fed cows newspapers and urea. The cows may have shaken their heads a bit at the silliness of man but they ate and went right on producing human food - milk.

For that matter, dairy scientists at the University of Kentucky fed some of their experimental animals corn cobs and urea. While production records were not of the best under either of these experimental conditions, Madam Cow kept on producing milk.

Nor are these experiments as far out as they sound. For the future, ways must be found to feed animals food stuffs that will not compete with human demands for the same feeds. Humans cannot eat grass, newspapers or corn cobs. Cows can -- and still produce a high quality human food. It will only be in this way that the human race will be able to enjoy a rich animal food products diet. The old cow has been the "foster mother to the human race" for many centuries and it looks like she will continue to do so despite the population explosion.
