

Our Lagging Defenses

BY: TIM LEE CARTER

When President Eisenhower left office in January, 1961, he left America with the strongest defense in the world. But since 1961, we have been slipping steadily. What has happened to our defense? I believe the state of our national security can be summed up in one sentence: Since General Eisenhower left the Presidency, there has not been one "new start" on any advanced strategic or nuclear weapon. What has the Soviet Union been doing? plenty. Russia has built and deployed an anti-ballistic missile system, orbital bombardment system, and built at least three new fighter aircraft systems, a supersonic transport, and an aircraft capable of vertical takeoffs and landings. They are building and equipped with new intermediate range ballistic missiles. Their surface fleet has a new class of surface-to-surface missile, and stockpiling very high yield nuclear weapons. And their nuclear submarine fleet is overaking ours in quality and quantity. If a third world war should come, we would probably be caught with our nuclear defenses down. I do not believe I am overstating the case and I don't think people realize it when I say we were unprepared when we entered the war in Vietnam. Because the many weapons requirements had not been anticipated, we were favored to wage a war, not as it should have been fought but according to the weapons available. No wonder the oft-repeated predictions of Defense Secretary McNamara that we were winning the war and our boys would be home by Christmas" failed to come true. They were fighting a limited war with limited weapons. What must be done to overcome this defense lag? We must adopt an overall policy that will assure us of military superiority. We must establish priorities for development of needed weapons systems. We must encourage research and development of new weapons of war, in my opinion, absolutely essential to our survival as a Nation. For eight long years, we have neglected, to a large degree, both of these essentials. We must reverse this trend before it's too late.

will be as follows: July 15 - Cynthia; July 16 - Harrodsburg and Campbellville; July 17 - Shelbyville and Bowling Green; July 18 - Madisonville and Somerset and July 19 - Murray. Judges this year will be Larry Muttter, Bowling Green; Billy Joe Mitchell, Smiths Grove; E.B. Howton, Murray; and C.D. Bennett, Harrodsburg. Muttter and Howton will judge 4-H classes with Mitchell and Bennett handling the FFA classes. One judge for each division will be used at each show. The Kentucky Department of Agriculture makes $19,500 available for premiums in the district shows. In addition to the premiums which an exhibitor might win in regular classes, up to $8.00 in additional premiums are offered by the Department for animals which meet production requirements. Four dollars is offered animals on one of the official testing programs for at least 180 days. A cow in the first lactation will be considered on test if she has accumulated 200 months record.

do more than provide youths with the opportunity of competing for ribbons and prizes. This is an important part of the show, but the real contribution these shows make is in the training the participants receive in the feeding, care and handling of dairy animals. Those who keep records learn what good records can mean in the operation of a profitable dairy herd. Like with many other youth events sponsored by the Department, the district dairy shows are held in cooperation with the University of Kentucky Extension Service and the Kentucky Association of Future Farmers of America. They are designed to supplement the regular 4-H and FFA training programs.

KENTUCKY DEPARTMENT of AGRICULTURE NEWS

J. Robert Miller, Commissioner

This is a busy time for 4-H Club and FFA members with beef and dairy show animals. Not only are county fairs underway, but four shows for beef breeding animals are being held this week. Youths with dairy projects can be looking forward to the 1968 district dairy shows which will be held in July. Eight district dairy shows are planned this year. They

we like to feel that our youth programs are providing the type of training which will be needed for those who are to become our farmers of tomorrow. As the number of farmers grows smaller, the demand for efficiency and good management will be greater, and it is in these areas which youths develop in order to participate in district shows are the same practices which can determine the success of future agricultural enterprises.

modern farm equipment is tops for efficiency

Any dairy farmer will tell you. The dairy cow is quite a "machine" for converting feed into nature's most nearly perfect foods — milk and milk products. But that's only the beginning. Dairy farmers of this area know efficient operation of a dairy farm depends on good management, sound judgment, modern methods. Modern farm machinery and equipment are part of that successful operation. We congratulate our dairy farmers on a job well done, in producing high quality milk and invite them to consult with us about equipment that will help them to produce milk, more profitably.

STORY HOUR AND READING CLUB

A story hour for children, from pre-school to third grade, will be held each Wednesday afternoon at the Rockcastle County Library, from 1:30 to 2 p.m. beginning July 3.

A reading club will also begin July 1 for the summer at the library. The theme of the club will be "The Book Parade." The purpose of the club is to stimulate reading skills through the vacation period.

Children from 6 to 14 will be accepted and each member will receive a card to record the books read during the summer. Children reading a minimum of twenty-five books will be invited to a recognition party at the end of the summer and a tape will be made with the children discussing the books they enjoyed the most of the ones they read. This tape will be used on the Library program on WRVK Thursday morning at 9 a.m.

Listen to the tapes and learn about new books coming into the library. Also children's books will be read on the program.

MORE ASSESSMENT

The 15% increase in property assessment, which the State Department of Revenue says must be made on farm and residential-rural nonfarm property, does not set too well with local officials. Tax Commissioner, Robert Croner, tells us that he has 90% of the property in the county assessed at the 100% level and expects shortly to have the entire county taken care of so he sees no need for the state to step in with their 15% blanket assessment on the two types of property mentioned. Rockcastle is not alone in their troubles with the revenue department since a story in Wednesday's Courier-Journal lists nine other counties who have been told to raise their assessment and reported that, perhaps 10 to 15 additional counties will be notified to increase their assessment also. Several local officials including the county clerk, tax commissioner, county clerk, and others plan to be on hand next Tuesday at Frankfort for a scheduled public hearing on the increase.

State Revenue Officials Say 15% Increase Necessary

The Department of Revenue today advised local Rockcastle County Officials that the property assessment made by the county tax commissioner is at fair cash value for all property except that property classified on the tax roll as farm and residential-rural nonfarm.

A hearing is scheduled for Tuesday, July 2 at 10:00 a.m., EDST in Room 414, Capital Center, Frankfort, Ky. At this time, the fiscal court may present any evidence which it feels has not been given proper consideration. Following the hearing, the Department of Revenue will make its final decision.

As a result of legislation enacted by the 1968 General Assembly, property owners whose assessments exceed fair cash value will be provided an opportunity following the final date of this order to file an application for exoneration from that part of the increase. The fiscal court must advertise a ten day period for filing the application for exoneration. The application must be filed in duplicate with the county clerk on forms provided by the Department of Revenue. Forms for filing will be available in the county clerk's office when the filing period is advertised.

City Seeks Lower Bid On Pipeline Construction

The City of Mt. Vernon is advertising for bids on pipe line construction for their new water system. The original law bid which was submitted on this contract was approximately $307,000 over the Engineer's estimated cost. However, the bids submitted on Contract 1 and 3 have been accepted by the City subject to the approval of the Economic Development Administration (EDA).

Nash and Stewart were awarded the contract for the plant construction with a bid of $306,839. Engineer's estimated cost on this phase of the system was $360,000. Successful bidder on Contract No. 2 (elevated tank) was Glare Ind. Contractors with a low bid of $281,568 which was only $168 over the engineer's estimate.

Once the pipe line construction bids are in the whole package will go to EDA and the amount of additional funds needed to complete the project will be decided on and hopefully forthcoming.

BABSON'S AUTHENTIC REPORT

1968 Last-Half Business And Financial Forecast

By most standards, first half 1968 has been a very good period for business. Numerous new records in production and shipments. A Gross National Product pair of close to $38 billion, economic strength abounding, despite social, economical, political, and international crises. Even so, it is obvious that this prosperity has not been shared by all segments of the economy. Farm income has lagged. Dollar gains in personal income have been whittled down - in some cases to the vanishing point - by heavier total tax levies and rising living costs.

Our Babson Forecast for July-December is for further overall betterment in business, although at a slower rate than recently.

GROSS NATIONAL PRODUCT-Best estimate is that Gross National Product will average out at $38.8 billion for the year. This would represent a gain of $63 billion, or a little more than 8%. Roughly 5% of this boost has already been attained in the first half. Reasons for the anticipated slowdown in the upward momentum of GNP: Expected heavier taxes, possible cutbacks in federal spending, and a slowing of the upsurge in capital expenditures.

INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION-The difficulties besetting the economy in this eighth consecutive year of cyclical upturn are more fully reflected in the recent flat performance of the Federal Reserve Index of Industrial Production than in the exuberant GNP. Whereas GNP includes the booming services, and is reckoned in dollars, hence nearly half of recent gains stem from higher prices, industrial production is calculated on quantity of goods produced. Despite the excellent rate of activity in steel, the FRB Index has been able to make only modest gains in recent months. Prospect is for some further easing in the third quarter followed by later recovery - no big letdown but no big upsurge either.

MONEY AND FINANCE-Major financial and monetary problem of the time ahead is twofold: (1) Within the U.S.; (2) throughout the whole international field. And the two are closely interrelated. For if the fires of inflation here are not cooled, the dollar-already weakened-could collapse abroad. Higher taxes will do little to reduce the fever. If the nation offsets this action by shopping it up on the spending front. And, even forbearance on spending will not remove the threat of some unexpected foreign aggression puts new pressure on our military posture. . . . with attendant financial drain. With interest rates at century-high levels, look for continued, but perhaps not quite so lofty-money costs to rule between now and Christmas.

CONSUMER SPENDING-Throughout this economic upswing that began early in 1961, consumer spending has been a major growth factor. While the rate has varied, the direction has been consistently up. It promises to continue upward in the coming six months, even though paled by heavier tax burdens. In fact, consumer purchases will be one of the mainstays of the economy, averaging at least 5% above a year ago. We predict moderate gains, in both durable and nondurable goods buying and fully expect Christmas retail sales to reach an all-time high.

PERSONAL INCOME-Our bullish forecast for consumer spending is predicated on the belief that personal income will climb to new record highs during the period under review, with disposable income (after taxes) running about 6% above a year earlier. Total personal income gains over the 1967 last half should be even greater, possibly 8%, reflecting still rising wages, bigger social security and other government payments, and higher dividend and interest rates.

LABOR DEVELOPMENTS-During the first six months of this year, wage increases have been the largest in the nation's history. And this trend will continue in the second half, spurred by the record raises expected in aluminum and steel. Basic patterns will likely contain multi-year raise guarantees of at least 6% annually, and, in many instances, across-the-board pay provisions substantially higher. Wage benefits will be either expanded or initiated where contracts face reopening or expiration. Labor will also move to tighten the security of private pension plans which cover upwards of 25 million employees and involve assets of more than $100 billion.

AUTO SALES-So far, buyers' interest has been very well maintained and there is good reason to expect 1968 output to top 8,500,000 units. As usual, there will be a letdown during model changeovers. However, we predict that last-half output will top the strike-unfinished year-earlier figure by about 10%.

BUILDING AND CONSTRUCTION-Despite high costs for land, materials, and mortgage money, we feel that home building will make nominal gains over year-ago levels, with apartment units continuing to be favored. Public construction will be hurt by cutbacks in federal spending, especially roadbuilding. . . . dipping below recent levels but holding close to final 1967 outlays. Commercial construction prospects are likewise dim; expenditures could drop as much as 5% below the first half though holding some 10% above a year ago.

FARMING-We are moderately optimistic about the overall position of farmers in the next six months. Quotations for livestock should be edging up and we expect that harvest prices for some key crops will be a bit higher than they were late last summer and in the autumn. While farmers' expenses are still on the rise, the climb should be at an appreciably slower pace than in the first half. Looks to us as if net farm income could rise fractionally in the July-December period. WAR AND PEACE-All the foregoing predictions are based on our conviction that the road to peace in Vietnam will be long and rocky. So far, the Paris talks have gotten nowhere; and the conflict rages more fiercely than before we cut back our bombing of North Vietnam. If peace comes to Vietnam this year-and it will only if the U.S. makes far-reaching concessions to the Reds-it will come so late in the year as to have minimal impact on the economy. The balance between war and peace elsewhere in our troubled world has seldom been more delicate. Sentiment for resumption of the Korean War is strong in North Korea. In the Middle East it is becoming harder to hold the lid on the boiling cauldron of mutual fear and hatred between Arabs and Jews. More than any other nation, Russia holds the key to peace in Korea and in the Middle East; but there is no more than a 50-50 chance that she will quench the embers now smoldering.

POLITICS-Politics will hold center stage in the U.S. right through the second half. Vietnam will continue to be a big issue politically, but Ho Chi Minh's tactics on the battlefield and at the conference table could cause anger and resentment sufficient to weaken the position of political doves running for office. Crime, civil rights, and the war on poverty will be given equal billing with Vietnam as campaign issues. We forecast also that leaders of both parties will be in general agreement as to national goals . . . differing only in methods of attaining them. This, as much as anything, could make for a close election. . . . happens close enough to give the House of Representatives the chance to make the final decision.

Area Agent's Notes

BY: H. LEE DURHAM
WINTER IS LONG WAY OFF--BUT PLANNING IS CHORE NOW

Winter is a long way off, but beef cattle producers ought to think about winter operations now, says Dr. Roy Gray, U.K. Cooperative Extension Specialist. Number of cattle to be on hand, whether they are to be cows or stocker steers, whether dry cows or in-milk cows, labor availability, silage or hay to be made for feed, hand-feeding or mechanical facilities, how much needed feed can be grown on-farm this season and how much feed will be bought are items to consider.

The winter feeding period in Kentucky usually is about 120 days. A dry cow needs about 20 pounds of grass, hay per day; an in-milk cow needs 20 to 30 pounds of good quality hay a day. If corn silage is to be fed instead of hay, about 40 pounds of high-quality silage is needed each day for each animal.

If 35 to 40 percent of forage fed in winter is a good legume hay, you can eliminate the supplemental protein, as four pounds of legume hay will give protein equal to one pound of the 40 percent supplement.

Young cattle and in-milk cows should get the best feed. And be sure you can store enough feed to supply the winter herd.

THE USE OF GYPSUM TO SETTLE MUDDY WATER IN PONDS

A good many Kentucky farmers use pond water in the home, in the dairy and for livestock purposes. In many cases this pond water would be far easier to filter if the mud could be settled out and the water could be clear. Under usual conditions this may take days or weeks but it can be done in a few hours by putting gypsum in the water.

An initial application of pounds of gypsum for each 1,000 cubic feet of water should be adequate. More can be added when necessary. This is equivalent to about 7 bags of gypsum for a one-acre pond. Gypsum may be obtained through a local lumberyard which can order it along with a shipment of plaster to take advantage of the lower freight rates available on carlot shipments. No harm is done if water for any household or

HEAT EXHAUSTION AND SUNSTROKE

Precautions must be taken to avoid heat prostration and sunstroke and also we should be prepared to treat these serious conditions if they do occur in the fields or at home. Heat exhaustion and sunstroke are entirely different, although both result from over-exposure to high external heat. With heat exhaustion, the victim's skin is cold, while with sunstroke the skin is hot and dry.

In applying first aid treatment to a person suffering from heat exhaustion, keep in mind this simple rule . . . if the victim is COLD, make him WARM; if is HOT, make him COOL. TO AVOID THESE SERIOUS CONSEQUENCES of hard work in hot weather, be sure to get plenty of water, enough salt to replace vital body salt lost in perspiration, wear light, loose-fitting clothing, and stick to light meals. In addition, set a schedule of frequent short rests, in the shade if possible.

SOD WEBWORM DAMAGE SPOTTY, BUT CONTROL MAY BE NEEDED

It's a tossup this year whether the sod webworm, a major lawn pest, is doing much damage, but control measures may be needed in some areas.

This nuisance starts with flights of tan, cigar-shaped moths about a half inch long. They fly at night, or when kicked up in lawns during the day.

Time to act, says Dr. Fred Scheibner, U.K. Cooperative Extension Service entomologist, is 10 to 14 days after the moths begin to disappear. This means they have completed their egg-laying, and are dying. Their larvae (hatching from the eggs) do the damage to lawns.

These larvae live in silken tunnels at the ground line, and eat grass close to that line. In heavy infestations, they can turn a yard brown within a week or two.

Control: Use one of two materials. They are Carbaryl (Sevin) or Diazinon (Spectracide). These are sprayed on lawns, and mixed with either wettable concentrate or wettable powder materials. Carbaryl has been available in 50 percent strength wettable powder, 80 percent WP, four pound "flowable" or five-pound "agua." Diazinon has been available in "25E", or AG 500" form.

Check area extension offices for more information. U.K. Cooperative Extension Service Misc. Circular No. 363, "Sod Webworms and Their Control" is available for more detailed information. The sod webworm usually is not as big a pest in wet weather as during summer dry spells or droughts.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kidwell

McClure-Kidwell Wedding At Freedom Baptist Church

Jewel McClure, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grover McClure of Mt. Vernon, and Larry Kidwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Kidwell of Brodhead, were united in marriage Saturday, June 15, at the Freedom Baptist Church.

Bro. Jeffrey Wheelon, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony. Lois Gayle Payne provided a program of wedding music on the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown fashioned of lace and pulle. It had a sabina neckline, long lace sleeves, with a bouffant silhouette and tiered tulle skirt with a red-rosige effect. Her waist length veil was attached to a crown styled after Princess Margaret's with pearls, crystal beads and tangles. She carried a bouquet of white Mums with white streamers and a three carnation corsage in the center.

Elaine McClure, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. She was attired in a yellow a-line gown and carried a bouquet of yellow carnations. Glenda McClure served as bridesmaid. She wore a green a-line gown and carried a bouquet of green sprayed carnations.

Paul Vaughn, Jr., brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man.

Other members of the wedding party were Billy Elom and Gary Renner, ushers; Francis McClure, flower girl; and Ricky Layne Lay, ring bearer.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the church basement.

After a short wedding trip to Cumberland Falls, the couple are making their home in Brodhead.

Social Security News

The number of poor people in the county decreased by more than 9 million from 1959 to 1966, notes Mollie Orshansky in a report on the latest Social Security Administration study on poverty and low income.

In "The Ship of Poverty in 1966," Miss Orshansky reports that although the number of persons living in poverty declined from 38.9 million to 29.7 million in the period from 1959 through 1966, a larger proportion of the poor in temporarily out of a job. It is clear that new programs or extensions of existing ones will be needed to lift these families of breadwinners with limited earning capacity above the poverty line, the article concludes. For many now receiving help from public programs, escape from poverty can come only with increased payments.

Copies of Miss Orshansky's report, which also appeared in the Social Security Bulletin, for March 1968, are available from the Office of Research and Statistics, Social Security Administration, Room 5628, H.E.H. South Building, Washington, D.C. 20201.
