15% Increase Will Not Be Levied; County Officials Told By State

Several Rockcastle County residents may breathe a sigh of relief now that the State Department of Finance has decided not to force a 15% increase in the assessment of farm and non-farm rural residential property.

The final word on the "tax increase" came Wednesday when an official from the State met with Robert Cromer, Tax Commissioner and other county officials and told them that the 15% increase would not be levied.

After county officials were first informed of the proposed increase, Mr. Cromer took the seventy-five calls, on which the state based their decision, and re-researched each sale individually to determine why the selling price was so much higher than the assessed value.

In several cases, Cromer found that, although the state had said they used no interstate property transactions, several had been used. He also found that there were errors made by the state in listing a few of the sale prices; several of the transactions included more in the sale prices than just the actual real estate; two transactions of city property, which was not supposed to be included in the sales, were used; Renfro Lake property, which naturally would sell higher, was listed, and in five of the seventy-five sale, no sale price was even listed. All this information was correlated and a response to the state's request for the increase was made to them by Mr. Cromer in a five-page letter.

The matter rested there for several days while the state decided whether to levy the increase and finally in a letter, signed by E.D. Ballard, Director of Property and Inheritance Tax Division, and approved by J.E. Luckett, Commissioner of Revenue, dated July 31, the county officials were told that the Department's (Department of Revenue) June 24, 1968 "Notice of Fair Cash Value Assessment Equalization" would not become final upon the 1968 assessment and that the assessment be certified as made by the county tax commissioner. This assessment is in the amount of $37,815,111 which is a gain of over three million dollars from 1967's assessment.

COMPLETES BASIC
Airman Ronald D. Bray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale L. Bray of R.R. 1, Mt. Vernon, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Texas. He is now stationed as a security policeman with a unit of the military Air-Lift Command at Dover AFB, Del.

Airman Bray is a graduate of Broodhead High School.

Mr. Cromer said, "The credit for the increase not being levied is not due to any one person in the county but to everyone who was interested and had a part in protesting this increase and especially those who took the time and effort to journey to Frankfort to take part in the open hearing to discuss this issue."

WILLIAM WALLEN, 75, DIES IN ILLINOIS
William Wallen, 75, of Arrowsmith, Illinois, died Tuesday, July 16 after an illness of four years.

Mr. Wallen was born in Mt. Vernon, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wallen. He married Nellie Kirby in 1916 at Jellico, Tennessee and they moved to Arrowsmith in 1923. He was a member of the First United Pentecostal Church and the McLean County Farm Bureau.

35th PCA Meeting Held At Fairgrounds

Cumberland PCA held its 35th annual meeting at the Broodhead Fairgrounds, Thursday, July 25. 300 members and guests attended the stockholders meeting. W.E. Proctor, P.C.A. Director called the meeting to order. Roy G. Brown manager of the local P.C.A. office welcomed the members and guests and made an introduction of the special guests.

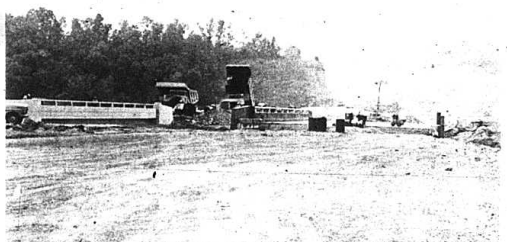

Raymond S. Adams, manager read the minutes of last year's annual meeting. Following Mr. Colson's minutes, D.C. Sherman, Somerset P.C.A. manager, served as chairman of the election of directors. John Houston nominated W.E. Proctor, Broodhead and C.E. Johnson, Monticello, to remain on the Board. Kenneth G. Stewart moved that the nominations cease and Clay A. Colson seconded the motion and Mr. Proctor and Mr. Johnson were elected unanimously.

D.C. Sherman gave a report on the progress of Cumberland P.C.A. It now has a volume of over $15,500,000 loaned to farmers in the counties it serves. Mr. Sherman also reported that Cumberland P.C.A. has moved up to fifth in the nation regarding the number of members served.

Graham Movie Fair Feature

Billy Graham's spectacular motion picture, "Man In The Fifth Dimension," will be an added feature to this year's long list of free events at the Kentucky State Fair, August 15-24.

Filmed on many locations around the world, this motion picture was seen by over a million people at the 1964-65 New York World's Fair. This powerful film includes scenes from outer space, the California redwoods, Jerusalem, Sea of Galilee, Mount Ascension, the famed ruins in Greece and many other stirring scenes, all in blazing Technicolor. A giant air-conditioned tent will serve as the theatre with the picture shown daily, every hour on the hour. Thousands are expected to take advantage of this free movie making it one of the highlights of the State Fair.

The dam that will form Lake Linville at Renfro Valley is nearing completion. Except for "fine finishing," the grade part should be completed this week. The above photo is looking south across the dam. The twin bridge in the foreground spans Renfro Road.

The above photo shows the Emergency Drain at the bottom of the concrete stand which can be opened in case the lake should have to be drained. In this case, the water would be piped through the hill around the dam back into Renfro Creek. The hole around the piping will be pumped full of concrete when the drain is complete. Work is also nearing completion on this phase of the construction.

A round, concrete spillway, 11 feet in diameter, for the lake, is built in solid rock back in the side of the hill. It will carry lake water through the dam and back into Renfro Creek. The above photo shows the mouth of the spillway where the water will enter.

Renfro Road has been re-routed around one end of the dam. Twin bridges span the road for Interstate-75. The road can be used as an emergency spillway should the occasion ever arise. The roadbed is about 13 feet above the regular spillway.

State Rural Road Program Announced For Rockcastle

Senator Fred Bishop and Representative William H. DeMarcus report that Governor Louie B. Nunn and Commissioner of Highways William B. Hazelrigg have announced state rural road programs for Rockcastle County.

Under the Rural Secondary Program, which is financed with two cents of the seven-cent-gallon motor fuels tax, Rockcastle County has been apportioned $203,461.46 for the 1968-69 fiscal year.

The Rockcastle County program approved for this year by Commissioner Hazelrigg includes: bituminous surfacing of 3.5 miles of Bush Creek Road, 2.5 miles of KY 1912 grade, drain and surfacing of 0.8 mile of Wildie-Clear Creek Road; one bridge on Wildie-Clear Creek Road; and maintenance of the 79.1

miles of Rural Secondary Systems roads in Rockcastle County.

Under the County Road Aid Program, Rockcastle County has been apportioned $89,564.85 for the 1968-69 year. This money comes out of $12 million appropriated by the General Assembly from the State Road Fund to help counties maintain their own roads.

According to the agreement for this year between the Department of Highways and the Fiscal Court, the Department will furnish supervision, labor, materials and equipment for the maintenance of 117.8 miles of Rockcastle County roads and three bridges; and for improvement of 3.3 miles of county roads. The Department will rent some equipment from the county.

IN GERMANY
Sargent Warren Gerald Carpenter, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Carpenter of Mt. Vernon, is now stationed in Bad Kissenger, Germany. Sgt. Carpenter's wife, Charlene, is with him there.

TAYLOR ANNOUNCES

Willie Taylor, incumbent school board member from Educational Division No. 2, has announced, that he will be a candidate for election to that seat in the November election.

Regate, Mr. Taylor is the only announced candidate for the fall election of the Rockcastle County School Board. Three seats on the five-member board will be decided on in the fall general election.

Two Injured In Wrecks

A three car collision on US 25 at Renfro Valley Saturday night at 9:10 p.m. resulted in the injury of Marvin Rigby, 37, of Route 2, Mt. Vernon, a passenger in one of the vehicles.

Mr. Rigby, who was not seriously injured, was a passenger in a car driven by Gary Wayne Weaver, 23, of Orlando. Other passengers in the Weaver vehicle were Clifford Himes, and John Van, both of Mt. Vernon. Claiborne Watson, 51, of Berea was the driver of another one of the cars involved in the accident and the driver of the third car was William Hodges, 42, of Elmonte, California. Passengers in the Hodges car were Carl Wallen, 58, of Englewood, Calif; Ina Wallen, 54, also of Englewood, Calif; Ruby Bradley, 23, of Stanford; and Bobby Bradley, 26 also of Stanford. Rigby was the only one who sustained injuries in the collision.

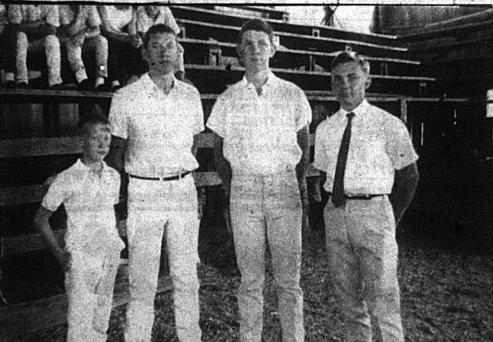

According to police reports, the Hodges vehicle was attempting to pull into the north bound lane of US 25 when he saw the Weaver car and tried to back up. Weaver swerved to avoid Hodges but they collided and the car, driven by Weaver was knocked into the car driven by Mr. Watson, which was travelling south.

Rigby was admitted to the Rockcastle County Baptist Hospital but has now been released.

In another accident, which occurred Sunday afternoon Clay Noland, 71, of Richmond suffered Class B injuries when the vehicle, in which he was riding, was struck 8 1/2 miles north of Mt. Vernon at the entrance to Interstate-75.

According to police reports, the Noland car, driven by Nellie Noland, 65, also of Richmond, which was heading south on US 25, apparently ran a stop sign and pulled into the path of a car, driven by Arnold Danny Reed, 18, of Mt. Vernon. The Reed vehicle was travelling north.

Library Notes

By: Mrs. Phillip Davis

FOLIAGE PLANTS FOR INDOOR GARDENING, by James C. Crockett. A comprehensive guide to the culture, care, and decorative use of green plants in your home and office.

THE INDOMITABLE BAPTISTS, by O.K. and Marjorie Armstrong. The dramatic story of the largest and liveliest Protestant denomination in America.

THE JURY RETURNS, by Louis Nizer. A sparkling legal memoir, crowded with human interest and profound understanding.

MATHEMATICS MAKES SENSE, by W.D. Lewis. This book for non-mathematicians of all ages offers a new and exciting approach to the subject.

THE NINE BILLION NAMES OF GOD, by Arthur C. Clarke. A splendid collection of science fiction stories.

PEARY, THE EXPLORER AND THE MAN, by John Weems. A major biography of the great explorer and complex man who rolled a shroud from many unknown arctic regions and triumphantly reached the North Pole itself in 1909.

PHYSICS FOR THE MODERN MIND, by Walter Fuchs. A vivid exploration for the general reader of the background and drama of today's world of science.

A SHORT HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN CIVIL WAR, by Roy Basler. The author deftly narrates the flow of war and events that constitute the most catastrophic - yet in some ways the most glorious - period of American history.

STAGECOACH WEST, by Ralph Moody. The story of the frontier express lines that linked the nation together.

THE STORY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE, by Marie Perle. A clear and interesting account of the development of a great language, from small tribal Anglo-Saxon to large cosmopolitan English.

BIG NICK, by George Loycock. The story of a remarkable black bear who lived in a National Park and became something of a problem. The author has described the hazards and pleasures of a bear's life.

BRIM SAILS OUT, by Michael Gault. An exciting adventure for readers. No animal ever went out of the valley. If you did disaster followed which is what happened to Brim and his friends.

EARTHFASTS, by William Mayne. The author masterfully blends the commonplace, with the supernatural in an eerie, gripping tale which should appeal to good readers.

THE EMPEROR'S ARROW, by Burke Boyce. Based on a legend of the middle ages, this is the story of how Pepin, a serf, helped Charlemagne find a cure for the Black Death.

KEN BOYER, by David L. Rosen. The career of St. Louis Cardinals' third baseman, the National League's "most valuable player" for the 1964 season.

RETURN TO HACKBERRY STREET, by Christine Govon. The author has re-created with great charm and wit the special atmosphere, the variety and flavor of life in a small Southern town in the early 1900's.

TOM'S TOWER, by Janet McNeill. "The Castle is there" are the words written in Tom's handwriting on a note found by his schoolmaster. Then begins a fantasy. In which Tom, two St. Louis characters, an antisocial hermit, and a lazy witch become official guardians of the castle's treasure.

WIZARD OF TUSKEGEE, by David Manber. Plays up Carver's contribution to space-age synthetics. The broad interest range and, for the most part, straightforward style make it a useful addition.

WASHINGTON RE-JURY By: Cong. Tim Lee Carter THE CONVENTION STORY With the Presidential nominating conventions fast approaching, I thought it might be interesting to the people of our districts to know something of their history. . . . Founding Fathers didn't even discuss Presidential nominating conventions during the Constitutional Convention. . . . Instead, they created a system in which partisanship wouldn't have a part.

This was to be accomplished by the choice being made by Presidential "electors," in each State. Electors both nominated and elected the President in the first two elections. . . . But during President Washington's term, strong political parties began to form and they were not about to let randomly elected Presidential electors have a free hand in such an important decision as nominating the President. . . . So they created the first extra-legal device for nominating Presidential candidates - a caucus of each party's member in Congress.

From 1796 until the 1820's, the Congressional caucus selected the parties' candidates for President. . . . But "King Caucus," as its opponents called it, became an unpopular institution. Its enemies claimed it was not a democratic institution but simply a device to permit powerful cliques in Congress to rule, regardless of the will of the people.

Gradually, in most of the States, an indirect popular vote for President developed. The people voted for the electors who then chose the President. The first national convention was held in Baltimore in 1831 by the Anti-Masonic Party, which soon faded from the American political scene. A few months later, a party called the National Republican Party - no relation to today's Republican Party - also held a convention in Baltimore and nominated Henry Clay for President. In 1832, the Democrats gathered, also in Baltimore, to nominate Andrew Jackson for a second term. By 1840, the national convention became the accepted means of putting candidates and platforms before the voters which has remained ever since. . . . The Republican Party, as we know it today, held its first nominating convention in Philadelphia in 1856, when it nominated General John C. Fremont, the famous western explorer. The general public was first admitted in large numbers during the convention that nominated Abraham Lincoln in 1860. This year, the Republican Party will be holding its 29th consecutive national convention in Miami Beach, while the Democrats gather for the 35th time in Chicago. Although our Founding Fathers would probably be bewildered by all the color, spectacle and drama that will be seen on television by millions of Americans next month, the national convention has become a unique part of American history.

Area Agent's Notes

BY: H. LEE DURHAM

AVAILABLE CHEMICAL SPRAY MATERIALS FOR CONTROLLING SUCKERS ON BURLEY TOBACCO

There are three chemical spray materials for use on burley tobacco as sucker inhibitors. These are MH-30, Sucker-Stuff and Sucker-Stuff is maleic hydrazide and both are applied in the same way. These are systemic materials, that is they are absorbed by the plant cells when sprayed upon the leaf surface and are transported inside the plant from the absorption site to the growing tissue. Absorption of the systemic materials is relatively slow, requiring about 8-12 hours for sufficient absorption to effectively control sucker growth. Absorption is enhanced by high relative humidity, which prevents rapid drying of the spray on the leaf surface. For this reason best results may not always be attained if spraying is done during the middle of the very hot, dry days.

Sucker Control Agent No. 120 is a new chemical that will be available this year. It has been extensively tested for several years and can be expected to provide adequate sucker control when used properly. However, it has not always been equally as effective as properly applied MH-30, sucker control agent is a contact chemical, which means that it must actually contact a sucker bud in order to kill it. Contact with every sucker on all plants is difficult to achieve and this is one reason this chemical is somewhat less effective than a systemic agent. In addition, secondary suckers often grow in the same leaf axil where the primary sucker has been killed and one application of a contact material will not be effective against secondary suckers.

For a contact material to be effective, it must be applied as a coarser spray (larger droplets) than the systemic chemical, and the spray should be directed toward the top of the stalk so that the spray solution runs down the stalk, containing each bud as it flows downward. Tee-jet spray tips 8006 or 8006, or equivalent, and 25-30 p.s.i. are satisfactory. Both the systemic and contact chemicals should be diluted so that total solution applied per acre will be 40-50 gallons. Pieces of both types are competitive for a single application. One advantage of the contact type material is that it requires only 45 minutes to 1 hour to kill suckers. Thus, rainfall one hour or more after application should not reduce its effectiveness.

FAMILIAR BAGWORM DAMAGE

The familiar bagworm, an insect pest that lives in a brown, spindle-shaped container, is getting larger enough now to damage home ornamentals seriously. If the infestation is reasonably low (only a few on evergreens or other plants) pick them off by hand, and burn them. If there is quantity, says Dr. Rudy Schebner, U.K. Cooperative Extension Service entomologist, you can use sprays.

Recommended materials are Carbaryl (Sevin) Diazinon (Speicide), Toxaphene or Chlordane. One of these should be used as a spray. Malathion also can be used, but this material may damage maples under some conditions. Evergreens are the favorite food of the bagworm but they will attack maples, sycamores, box-elders, apple trees, as well as some plants in the rose family.

HANDLE IRISH POTATOES WITH CARE

With a grower of Irish potatoes, take care in digging and handling. Mechanical injuries to the potatoes causes high losses when rot organisms enter the wounds. Throwing potatoes into baskets or boxes, or injuring with the digging equipment are frequent causes of losses. Potatoes should not be allowed to lay in the sun for extended periods while digging. Sun scald will result. Storage life can be obtained by letting potatoes cure in the shade for several hours before sorting and storing. This helps "set the skins" of the potatoes. Potatoes should not be exposed to light after digging. This causes greening and lowers the quality of the potato.

Good air circulation is needed for best results. Prevent stacking potatoes. Potatoes dug in early summer may heat in storage if stacked five or six feet deep. Storage temperature of 55 to 60 degrees F., and a relative humidity (air moisture content) of 80% is most desirable for potatoes. Such storage conditions provide a minimum of shrinkage. A cellar or cave can most easily provide these conditions.

Sprouting may become a serious problem under such storage conditions. Sprout-inhibiting chemicals are available to reduce sprouting.

BOONE

Sympathy is offered to Mr. and Mrs. J.T. Lamb in the loss of their 3 month old daughter, Barbara Ann. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lunsford of Berea visited Mrs. Hattie Anglin Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Anglin and family, Paul Anglin of Walton and Mrs. Lorene Graves of Berea visited Mrs. Anglin Monday. Glendon Lunsford visited her Tuesday. Wallace Williams visited Tom Loman Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Powell and family of Lexington Mr. and Mrs. Bill Deering and family of Wilmore and Mr. and Mrs. David Poynter and baby of Berea visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burdine Sunday.

Mr. Basil Isaacs of Berea and James Edward Anglin of Paint Lick visited Mrs. Hattie Anglin Wednesday. The little son of Mr. and Mrs. David Poynter of Berea has been sick in the Berea Hospital. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burdine and Mr. Lane Poynter. A speedy recovery is wished for him. Tom Loman and W.R. Durham have been on the sick list for the last few days. Mrs. Lucille Moore and family of Louisville, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lunsford and Glendon Lunsford of Berea visited Mrs. Hattie Anglin Sunday.

Social Security

WHERE IS IT? The Somerset Social Security Office was established June 26, 1967. It is located in the Trade-Wing Shopping Center on S. Highway 27.

WHAT SERVICES ARE PROVIDED?

The Social Security Office handles every action involving Social Security during a person's life time, starting with the issuance of a Social Security account number. Social Security numbers can be issued at any age from birth on up. During a person's working life, Social Security maintains the earnings records of each worker and investigates any discrepancies. When the worker retires, many types of benefits are payable. These include benefits to the worker, his wife, divorced wives, dependent husbands, children to age 22, disabled children of any age, dependent parents, widows between 50 and 60, mothers of any age with children in their care, dependent widowers, and others. A lump sum death payment is also made whenever a worker dies. Also Medicare is available to persons over age 65.

WHO DOES IT SERVE?

The office serves the residents of Pulaski, Rockcastle and Wayne Counties. About 1 of every 10 residents of these counties gets a Social Security Security check each month.

WHEN YOU SHOULD VISIT YOUR SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICE

1. Every three years. Workers should go by the Social Security Office at least once every three years and ask for post-card form OAR-7004. This is a request for a statement of the earnings posted to your Social Security record. This statement will assure you that you are receiving credit correctly for your earnings. Mistakes, if any, can be easily corrected if found soon enough.
2. At age 62. Even though you may still be working, many persons first are entitled to some or all of their Social Security benefit. It may be to your advantage to file before age 65. This is especially true if you have an eligible wife or children.
3. When disabled. Whenever disability strikes and it looks as though you will be disabled at least one year, a claim for benefits should be filed immediately. 4. Before age 65. Work one, regardless of how or the amount of earnings, should file a claim for Medicare 7 to 3 months before reaching 65. Delay can be costly. 5. Death. Whenever a person who has worked under Social Security dies, a member of his family should contact Social Security as soon as possible.

The Somerset Social Security Office is open from 8:45 A.M. to 5:00 P.M., Monday through Friday, and 9:00 A.M. to 12:00 noon on Saturday. Also a representative of the office visits the Mount Vernon Courthouse each Tuesday.
