"Most of the changes in the 1967 social, security amendments provided more protection for younger people," Mustian noted. For instance, some 175,000 children are now eligible for the lassed upon the earnings of a mother who has died or is entitled to disability or retirement bene needed to have worked for the last three years. However, that requirement has been removed. Payments can now be made to the children bf a wonan worker the has died, "speeme disabled, or retired if she has esough work credits – earned at any time – to be "fully insured."
