MEET THE MAMMALS—Two of Kentucky's zoology specialists review specimens of mammals in preparation for "Kentucky Mammal Weekend," to be conducted Jan. 31-Feb. 2 at Carter Caves State Park. Jim Butler (left) the State's chief naturalist, and Dr. Roger W. The U.K. Department of Agronomy will speak on "Seasonal Distribution of Forage Production," a discussion of how to solve the problems of production versus need by livestock. The assistant Professor of Dairy Science at U.K., Dr. Jack Van Horn, will discuss "Utilizing Forages with Dairy Cattle," including both new and established methods for obtaining maximum profits from forage production.

The afternoon session will offer a talk on "Utilizing Forage with Beef Cattle," by U.K. Animal Science Professor, Neil Bradley, and a progress report on the program of the Kentucky Forage Council by Warren Thompson, Extension Specialist in Forages.

The meeting will conclude with a business session and election of Council officers and directors for the coming year.

This meeting, which is open to all interested persons, will begin at 9 a.m. EST in U.K.'s Agricultural Science Center. Anyone who needs a ride to the meeting should contact Manuel B. Amett, U.K. Cooperative Extension Agent in Agronomy, Williamsburg, Kentucky and make transportation arrangements.

Careers in Horticulture

Many a young person is at the stage in life where he or she is trying to decide what profession they will go into. A study of horticulture may be just the profession for such a person.

A study of horticulture is much more than the old concept of just learning how to grow plants; horticulture involves the science of what is going on inside plants and why they behave as they do under different environmental stresses. Horticulture involves the study of the anatomy of plants (cellular makeup). Horticulture is a study of the composite of factors that affect the growth and development and behavior of vegetable, fruits, flowers, ornamental trees and shrubs and turf grasses.

Developing new varieties by breeding is an intriguing field of endeavor. Nutritional and physiological studies are of great importance in enabling our country to help feed the population of this country and overseas.

Many job opportunities exist for the boy and girl trained in horticulture. Jobs exist in industry as research and sales people. Universities are demanding more trained horticulturists than are available to serve in positions of research, teaching and extension. Young people who desire more information on what a study of horticulture involves should contact the horticulture department at the State University.

Your Next Winter Job

Manuel B. Amett, U.K. Cooperative Extension Agent in Agronomy says, "Now that your corn has been picked and your tobacco is stripped, removing time is here. Here's how it's done:

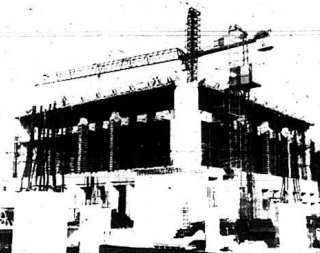

"Graze the field you plan to renovate now while the grass is still tasty. Keep livestock confined to small areas so they can eat the top growth quickly, thus making tillage easier. Five to 10 cows or twice that number of young stock per acre will graze a heavy growth fairly clean in a week to 10 days.

"Pull a soil test and apply needed lime, phosphate, and potash. Don't use nitrogen on fields to be renovated. (The nitrogen tends to favor the established grass and causes undue competition to new legumes.) Fall and winter liming and fertilizing is easier to do than in the spring, and is just as productive.

"Tear out half or more of a good sod by using a tiller, cultivator or disk. On rolling land, till on the contour. Leave the ground until just before seeding in February or early March. Don't worry too much about extra heavy tillage. Most people tend to under-till instead of over-till.

"Buy your legume seed now to assure getting what you want instead of 'what is left over.' If you're seeding red clover and ladino, it will take 4-6 pounds of ladino seed for one acre. When you are using alfalfa, better plan on using 15 or more pounds per acre."

CAPITAL PLAZA PROGRESS PICTURE—These three stories show the shape the State's Capital Plaza Office Building is taking in North Frankfort. Completion of the 28-story, $23,084,000 structure is expected in late 1970. Also under construction is a cafeteria building and other commercial areas which will cost an estimated $9,632,890. The office building is at the corner of Wilkinson and Mero Streets.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF T.V. Johnson

Who was always willing to help a friend. Most any job a hand he'd lend, no task too large, none too small with determination he faced them all. Some of the times that he was offered pay, with a cheerful smile he'd refuse and say, "Friend, I'll repay my reward in Heaven some day."

His heart's desire, as he traveled his road, was to help another carry his load or to guide a soul on the upward way and to serve the Lord from day to day until God saw fit to call him away. Do I miss him and often feel sad? Yes I do, he was my Dad. Juanita Fordyce

NEW YEAR'S BABY

The first baby born in Rockcastle County in 1969 took a little while to get here but Beverly Ann Brock finally arrived at 7:10 a.m., Saturday, January 11 weighing in at seven pounds, five and one-half ounces. Dr. George Griffith was the doctor.

Beverly Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Brock of Route 3, Crab Orchard. They have one other child.

A CENTURY OLD—Mrs. Bettie Davis celebrated her one hundredth birthday Sunday at the Sowder Nursing Home in Brodhead. Mrs. Davis is the oldest living member of the Mt. On The Hardwood

The Livingston Blue Devils went down to defeat last Friday night to Eubank by a score of 68 to 60.

"The Devils played very well against the number fourteen in the 12th Region. They fought hard and did a good job," Coach Preston Parrett said.

High scorer for LHS was Norman Owens with 24, followed by Mink with 15, Jackson 12, Hurley 4, Mink 3, and Gambrel and Holt 1 each.

At Whitley County Tuesday night, the Devils fared a little better beating them 78 to 65.

According to Coach Parrett, "The Devils played well in winning their thirteenth game of the season. The boys looked real good and seem to be regaining their sharpness. We shot well, rebounded well, and played a fine ball game. Our team play was excellent as the scoring of the boys indicates."

Jackson got 21, followed by Owens with 19, Mink 17, Hurley 14, and Durham 7.

The Devils have a 135 season record and will play Mt. Vernon at Livingston Friday night.

The Brodhead Tigers had a busy week in basketball and managed to come out on top with two wins and one loss. The Tigers lost to a Clay County team by a score of 60 to 58.

The game could have easily been Brodhead's if the Tigers had been able to make a good percentage of their foul shots. They missed 14 of 26 shots.

Bryan Bussell was high man against Clay County with 38. Brown got 12, Sargent 6, and Scoggins 2.

It was a different story however as the Tigers walked over Jackson County by a score of 70 to 60. The Tigers led all the way with Bussell getting 34 points, Brown 26, McWhorter 8, Sargent 4, Scoggins 3, and Pope and Goff, 2 each.

The Crab Orchard Cubs were routed by the Tigers in their last game 80 to 55. After the end of the first quarter when the Tigers led by one, 15 to 14, the

School Board To Appoint 15 Man Committee To Study New School

Kenneth Adams and Willie Taylor, recently elected to the County Board of Education, were sworn in by County Judge Wayne Van Hook at the board's meeting last Thursday night. Virgil Mullins, the other newly elected member, had been sworn in earlier by Judge Van Hook.

In the first order of business for the evening, Preston Nunnelley was elected chairman of the Board and Mrs. Yashti Mullins was elected vice-chairman. During the business session, Kenneth Adams made a motion to establish a 15-man committee to help study and plan the new Rockcastle County High School. It was decided by the board that each member would select citizens from their district to form the 15-man committee. This committee is to be selected by January 23 and shortly thereafter begin meeting and working on the project.

Willie Taylor made a motion that a fiscal agent be hired at the February meeting. The motion was approved. This bonding agent will prepare and sell revenue bonds to finance the building program.

Superintendent Parsons has called a meeting of all school administrative personnel to meet with him and members of the State Department of Education on January 15 to work out a tentative curriculum for the new high school since it is the philosophy of the board that the curriculum should be worked out first and the building constructed to house the program rather than let the curriculum be decided by the building.

WILLIAM T. STEPHENS DIES SUDDENLY TUES.

Bro. William Thomas Stephens, 73 of Route 1, Mt. Vernon, died suddenly Tuesday morning January 14 at his home. He was born in Pulaski County, the son of the late Frank and Josephine Price Stephens.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor, John Lair,
 and Bernard Franklin,

We wish to thank you for those wonderful stories and pictures that have been enjoyed by many people all over the county. I love history and to me old pictures are also history.

Now about the 1917 school group that Bernard was nice enough to furnish to your good paper. I find one girl that I cannot name, but it seems to me that it just might be Flora Mae Brown Purcell. I am sure she was supposed to be in the group. I also wonder about the left arm, around Leonard Davis. I am not positive, but could it be Earl Mullins. If I remember correctly, our basketball team was: Sherman Preckitt, Josse Deborde, Leonard Davis, Earl Mullins, and Bradford Mullins. If someone will be kind enough, would like to know the rest as these are all I can think of now.

I hope you can continue with the history of our lovely county. It sure refreshes one's mind and don't forget the old pictures such as the Renfro branch and what have you, for we look forward each week to our paper.

We just love to read of so many good things that are happening to our home town.

We hope to visit you this summer if the good Lord is willing.
 Thanks for everything and we wish all a happy and healthful New Year.

Yours Truly,
 Mr. and Mrs. Bradford G. Mullins

Dear Editor:

Providing room in the Christmas Issue of your paper to publish the birth of Christ as recorded in Luke 2:1-20 on the front page and in large print was very impressive. I was glad to read the good news to report this Christmas, such as the release of the Pueblo Crew from North Korea and a reunion with their families in America, but the "Good News" that the Angel delivered to the Shepherds many years ago of a Saviour being born is the greatest news of all. God still speaks to the humble and reveals many great truths from His Holy Word.

The reunion of the Pueblo

Crew with their families that some described as passing from hell into heaven, was a true miracle. The joyful reunion that will be in Heaven some day among God's people; because a Saviour was born who gives Eternal Life to all who will accept this unspeakable gift.

Truly the birth of Christ, His sacrificial death, burial, and glorious resurrection with the promises of His coming again as King of Kings and Lord of Lords (Revelation 19:16) is "The Only Hope".

Being a former pastor of the Ottawa Baptist Church and a resident of Rockcastle County, my wife and I have an interest in reading of the progress being made in the county. Especially are we glad to read the good news from churches in the communities that is written by reporters.

Sincerely,
 Don Downing, pastor
 High and Park Baptist Church

To The Editor:

During the recent holiday season, our family and thousands of families like us, were making the annual mass exodus to Florida. Weather conditions were not good and traffic conditions were worse. We were one of the many unfortunate ones to have car trouble and were delayed 4 days.

We are writing this letter to say "THANKS" to all of the friendly people of Kentucky who were so kind to us during this time. We cannot remember all the names but some are: Bob West and Dub Partin of the Enco Station just east of Routes 1-75 and 25W outside of Mt. Vernon; Jack Masley from the Enco station in Berea; everyone from the Baker-Cummins Buick-Rambler dealer in Berea; and the fellows from the Sohio station in Mt. Vernon.

There were many others who were willing to offer a helping hand without thought of monetary reward and it is heartwarming to know that even though some think we live in an age of fast paced and uncaring souls, we have found at least in Kentucky this was just the opposite.

Sincerely,
 Mr. and Mrs. William R. Munsell

STATE CAPITOL? No, it's the Kentucky State Reformatory at LaGrange. This is one of a dozen metal street signs erected recently around the institution by its inmate jaycees, who made the signs from scrap materials aided by the institution's engineers. The 45-member group did the work as a Community Development project.

HEPCATS KNOW WHEN YOU NEED ELECTRIC HEAT!

The heat that won't dry out your home

Try the simple test of stroking the cat—or rubbing your feet on the carpet. Then touch something metallic. If you get a spark of static electricity, your home must be excessively dry. A normal enough condition during winter—but not in electrically heated homes. With properly installed flameless electric heat, proper humidity levels are easier to maintain. You feel better, look better—enjoy real heating comfort, and at lower temperatures too.

Before building or remodeling call our local office for more information about electric heat and its surprisingly reasonable cost. Flameless electric heat won't burn a hole in your pocket!

These orders will be filled after the schools have received the tickets allotted to them under the plan of distribution set up by the K.H.S.A. Board of Control. Each order must include a remittance of 25¢ for postage and insurance on the tickets, and checks should be made payable to State Tournament Ticket Sales. STUDY PLANNED FOR FEED GRAIN PROGRAMS

A study of farmers' participation in the 1965 feed grains program is planned in mid January by the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington. Persons will be chosen at random in four Kentucky counties—Graves, Henderson, Rockcastle, and Wayne—to fill in a questionnaire. A member of the survey team will later pick up the questionnaire and interview the farmer.

The purpose of the study is to learn the factors causing the farmer to participate in the feed grains program and what adjustments, if any, the farmer had to make because of his participation in the program. All information gained from individual farmers about their farming operations will be kept private, according to a member of the survey team.

The Teacher, His Pupil, And Time

Education like farming, medicine, law, homemaking, communications, and transportation has experienced many changes in our time. These changes, not all good, and none a panacea, have been necessary steps in the process of distributing the vast amount of information and knowledge of the day. Not one among us goes to the doctor to be bled with a leech anymore, nor do we use the bull-tongue plow with a sulter attachment exclusively in the production of foodstuffs.

Children still learn as they always did, using their senses to accumulate information being learned. How can we best present to them the storehouse of knowledge needed to function in today's world?

A recent introduction to educational technology is the television teacher presenting a planned program geared to the needs of today's youth, and using the best materials available for presentation. This technique has been used in various parts of the nation for a decade and has received a promising response. The TV teacher makes no attempt to entertain. Instead, he presents a well-prepared 20 or 30 minute lesson which has been developed and correlated with the textbooks and other materials being used by the classroom teacher.

Where Educational Television is being used successfully, the classroom teacher is using it to supplement his own program. He studies his guidebook which accompanies each lesson. He provides the proper setting for the children before the TV set is turned on—using only those lessons which are pertinent to his particular class—asking critical questions, teaching vocabulary words, arranging for maximum benefit from each television lesson. During the lesson the classroom teacher remains alert, moves about the classroom, responds when necessary, and sees that each individual child responds. After the lesson is over the classroom teacher does his follow-up work—leading discussion, testing, presenting guide materials, and evaluating the needs of each individual child.

At no time does the TV teacher replace the classroom teacher. Instead, the TV teacher merely augments what is happening in the classroom. The TV set is used much as a filmstrip, record, or picture might be. If the TV teacher mentions the flow of electrons, for example, the classroom teacher must be ready to follow-up; to expand on the topic, or to explain and define.

The good classroom teacher will see that the TV lesson adds to his teaching, using the television approximately one hour per week. For example, a fifth grade class may view a language arts program from 8:45-9:05 on Friday, a science program from 10:30-10:50 on Wednesday, and a music class from 12:02-12:22 on Monday.

By using the television effectively the classroom teacher can confront his world of information presented in a vivid, memorable manner. Boys and girls can be given a certain equality of education. Matter has isolated their environment might keep them. The age of the computer, the atom, the heart transplant, the 10-10-10 fertilizer, and social reform can be at the fingertips of every school age child. Parents and interested parties can better evaluate the TV teacher and his program. Tune in to channel 29 or channel 46 right at home.

of other health care expenses. The other half is paid out of Federal general revenues. Of the population 65 and over, 95 percent are now enrolled in the supplementary medical insurance program. Mustian said, up from the 91 percent enrolled when the Medicare program began on July 1, 1966.

A new enrollment period opened January 1, Mustian said, and will provide another chance for people who missed out earlier to sign up for the protection. For some those who were born October 1, 1901, or earlier, and those who were enrolled but dropped out before January 1, 1967 — it will be the last chance to enroll. Older people who delay in enrolling, Mustian said, pay a premium that is 10 percent higher for each full year they could have had the medical insurance protection but were not enrolled. And those who wait 3 years past their first chance to sign up will not be able to get the coverage at all.

He estimated that the period between now and March 31 will be the last chance to enroll for about two out of three persons 65 and over in the Rockcastle Co. area who were not yet enrolled for the supplementary protection.

Mustian said many of the elderly people in the Rockcastle Co. area who have not yet signed up for the supplementary doctor bill insurance will be receiving application blanks in the mail soon.

A shipment of new books has just been received from the Department of Libraries in Frankfort. They are:

THE BALLET COMPANION, by Walter Terry. A popular guide for the ballet goer.

THE CHOCOLATE COOK-BOOK, by William Kaufman. Over 175 delicious recipes featuring chocolate at its mouthwatering best.

THE DISNEY VERSION, by Richard Schickel. A major biography and critical assessment of an authentic, driven and uniquely American genius.

ELECTRONIC BRAINS, by Rolf Lohberg and Theo Lutz. A clear and simple explanation of the mathematics, mechanism, and programming and electronic computers.

FAMOUSMEN OF MODERN BIOLOGY, by Melvin Berger. This book tells the story of 14 scientists whose discoveries have brought us even closer to answering that most fundamental of all questions - what is life?

HOW TO PRUNE ALMOST EVERYTHING, by John Beaumgard. Specific instructions for more than 300 shrubs, evergreens, trees, vines and fruits.

NIXON, by Earl Mazo. A political portrait set out to explain the man behind the election statistics. A balanced, and absorbing study of a complex man.

SCARLETT PIMPERNEL OF THE VATICAN, by J.R. Gallagher. This is one of the most remarkable and inspiring stories to come out of World War II. A Roman Catholic priest openly defied the Nazis by offering sanctuary to escaped allied persons.

THE THING OF IT IS..., by William Goldman. A closely woven sharply focused novel of 8 young couple vacationing in London, Rome and Venice, in hope of salvaging their faltering marriage.

THE WORD POWER WAY TO SUCCESS, by The Reading Laboratory. Thirty four simple steps to better spelling, better grammar and a bigger vocabulary.

New books for children have just been received from the State Department of Libraries, Frankfort, Kentucky.

ABIGAIL ADAMS, by Dorothy Bobbe. In this affectionate biography of one of America's great women, the wife of one President and the mother of another, shines with courage, wit and loyalty in all that was demanded of her.

THE BREMEN TOWN MUSICIANS, by the Brothers Grimm. There were once four farm animals who had outlived their usefulness to their individual masters, so each ran away to save himself from an untimely end. How the animals, using their musical talents, banded together to fight off a band of robbers is a masterpiece of comic invention.

THE CABINET, by Gerald Johnson. Little has been written about the role of the Cabinet in United States History. Once again Mr. Johnson has written a book that is extremely vital, not only to our knowledge of American government, but to our participation in it.

CAPTAIN JOHN PAUL JONES, by Ronald Syme. This book about a brave but vain man who chose to fight for America sheds light on a strangely complex personality.

CLEARANCE

Homemaker's Help

By: Faith N. Plummer
Area Extension Agent
in Youth

Made your New Year's resolutions yet? Probably not. One of your goals for 1969 is to do a better job of managing the family income.

Keeping simple records and learning to use them is one of the best ways to handle family money matters. If you've kept records of family spending, and income during the past year, now is the time to go over them for hints on how to manage your money more wisely next year. If you haven't been keeping such records, the first of a new year is a good time to start.

By keeping records, you can see "leaks" in family spending and try to correct them. You'll be able to see how much you're spending on "credit buying," just what you can afford to buy and pay for, and where you have been wasting money through poor selections. The records will help you set up a more accurate spending plan, for both little things as well as those big things your family wants. The records also will help when making out income tax returns.

Discuss the plan to keep family spending records with all members of the family and get their cooperation. Appoint one member of the family to do the general record-keeping. Keep the record book in a convenient place. Plan a regular time for keeping records. Keep sales slips, check stubs, and receipts for use in making entries.

Summarize records at the end of the month and the end of the year.

Your family living records do not need to be highly detailed; simple records usually will serve your purpose well, enough. The secret lies in keeping the records accurate and up-to-date and in using them to find better ways of managing family income.

If you need some help on family income managing, please call the county Extension Service, 256-2403. Bulletins available are entitled: Plan and Record Your Spending and Saving, Home Business Centers, Family Records, Keeping Useful Records and Important Business Papers, and The Family Manager.

The season for colds, sore throats, and flu is here, so now is the time to make sure family meals include a good source of vitamin A.

Vitamin A helps protect the body against infections of the nose and throat. That's why it is important that you and your family eat foods rich in vitamin A often during the winter months.

Why can't we just take vitamin pills and not worry about getting vitamin A in food, you may ask. Here is the reason. Vitamin A, which is fat-soluble, is stored in the body in the liver. Because of this, overdoing of vitamin A can cause injury to health.

Self-prescribed doses of high-potency vitamins should be avoided. A member of your family should take vitamins only when a doctor recommends them for that particular person.

Foods rich in vitamin A are associated with the dark green color of turnip greens, kale, broccoli, cabbage, and spinach or the deep yellow color of carrots and sweet potatoes. Therefore, if you remember to include these deep yellow vegetable often in your menu plans, your family probably will get the vitamin A they need.

In addition to these vegetables, yellow peaches, apricots and cantaloupe are good sources of vitamin A. Whole milk, eggs, butter or enriched margarine, and liver of all animals also provide vitamin A.

It is "white sale" time again. This is a good time to suggest to homemakers that they replenish their linen stocks at a saving. Sheets, pillow cases, bath and linen towel sets, dish towels, dish cloths, even blankets go on sale at considerable savings.

Some will do well to consider which is the best buy for them—percale or muslin. If there are children, or if laundry is sent out, muslin will be the most durable.

Length and width of sheets are important. The 108-inch length is most satisfactory, and labels should be watched to indicate twin or double bed size.

Some homemakers might be perfectly happy with "seconds." The flaws are very minor in some articles, but they should know what they are getting. Flaws are not so effective as they might be. Not all January sales are seconds. If women: (1) know standards, (2) know what they want, (3) watch labels, (4) check sizes, they can do well by shopping to replenish their linen supplies in the January white sales.

You may find excellent merchandise that looks very much handled but when washed and pressed it will be as good as new.

On Thursday night, Jan. 16, Mrs. Sylvia Corey, Area Extension Agent in Family Life, will teach the third lesson on the ages and stages of child development.

This lesson is entitled "The In-Between Years, Ages 9-13."

The meeting will be in the Rockcastle County Library, beginning at 7:00 p.m.

MV 4-H CLUB MEETS
The Mt. Vernon 4-H Club met January 7 at 2 p.m. in the County Extension Office. Those present were: Carolyn Reppert, Gertha Adams, Teresa Hunt, Dossie Gentry, Tommy Nicely, Dwight Hoskins, and Roger Bray. After the meeting was called to order, Mrs. Faith Plummer, Area Extension Agent in Youth, talked to the group about records, which are due January 15. She also showed slides on compiling records.
