It reaches upward to God, outward to the world, and downward to you and me. It seems alone we can do nothing but together we can go forward. So let's band together and work for the Lord. We'll be happier that way."

Check-list for Beef Cattle
1. External Parasite Control - Lice are the major external parasites that beef producers contend with during the winter months and cattle should be treated in order to reduce the economic loss that will occur without treatment. (a) Dipping as a treatment is best, but is not recommended during cold weather. (b) Spraying materials on cattle is next best. A producer needs to pick a day when weather is not too bad and treat all cattle. One-half pint of 20% Lindane in 50 gallons of water or 1/2 pound wettable powder in 50 gallons of water will give good results. (c) Application of dusts will help but they are less effective than sprays or dipping. Any of the following dusts may be used on beef cattle: Rotenone, 1 percent; malathion, 4 to 5 percent; toxaphene and methoxychlor, 10 percent. Apply about 6 ounces of dust per mature animal. (d) Use of backrubbers charged with a mixture of 1 quart of 25% methoxychlor in 1 gallon of fuel oil will help control external parasites. Regardless of materials used, follow directions on the container for proper application. 2. Dehorn, castrate, and vaccinate for blackleg. 3. Supplement the ration for beef cows with 30,000 units of vitamin A all during the winter feeding period. 4. Watch cows during calving time. 5. Keep records up-to-date. 6. When figuring income tax make sure to use the proper procedure in depreciation, death losses, and capital gains.

Winter Feeding Pointers

(1) Keep a source of salt, calcium, and phosphorus available for all cattle at all times. Feed free choice, but don't spend money for trace minerals you don't need them if you feed sufficient quantities of home grown feeds. 2. Mix vitamin A in the salt so the cows will take 30,000 units per head per day. Don't pay for any other vitamins because you don't need them. 3. Make sure cattle have a source of water all the time. 4. Feed cows according to how hard they are working; dry cows can get by on any kind of feed, so feed them the feed that is left after all the other cattle have been fed. About 20 pounds of grass hay will carry a dry cow; don't waste anything else on her. After a cow calves she is in production so increase the 20 pounds of hay to 25-28 pounds per day and if 6 pounds of hay is left you don't need to feed any protein supplement. If grass hay or silage is fed, feed the nursing cow 1/2 pounds of protein. (Buy the most economical source of protein you can.) Supplements with urea in them are not utilized as well as supplements coming from a vegetable source when cows are being fed winter rations primarily made-up of hay and particularly when the hay is grass. Example: In Lexington 40% cottonseed meal can be bought for $85.00/ton, 44% soybean oilmeal can be bought for $93.00/ton, and a 32% supplement utilizing urea to supply 1/3 of the nitrogen (protein equivalent) sells for $110.00/ton. Now if all three supplements would give equal performance then buy the cheapest source. If grass hay is all the cow is to get, figure the $110.00 supplement to be about 2/3 as effective as the other two and unless you can buy it for $55.00 to $60.00/ton, don't buy it to winter cows.

If you need to buy protein then buy protein and don't buy a bag of feed because it contains minerals, vitamins or antibiotics. As stated before, minerals and vitamin A can be bought cheaper than when mixed with protein. You don't need antibiotics unless you have sick cattle. Don't waste money on antibiotics, trace minerals, or mixed proteins when you don't need them.

Fertilizer Recommendations for Established Lawns

Soils in most of Kentucky outside the Bluegrass region are characterized by low levels of phosphate and potash with some exceptions where either one but not both may be adequate. Acidity levels vary from strongly acid (below 5.3 pH) to not acid (above 6.7pH). It is usually beneficial to use complete fertilizers for bluegrass and other lawn grasses in this portion of Kentucky, even if fair to good fertilizer programs have been followed previously. Although T-1 ratio fertilizer is generally available, most grasses, too, use more nitrogen than phosphorus and potash, thus justifying the use of 2-1-1 or even 3-1-1 ratio fertilizers where they are available. Otherwise, the 1-1-1 ratio fertilizer may be supplemented with nitrate applications.

Without a soil test, the following suggested fertilizer program for bluegrass lawns is recommended: Spring - Mid-March 7-12 pounds 10-10-10 per 1,000 square feet or 2-4 pounds ammonium nitrate per 1,000 square feet; Late May 2-4 pounds ammonium nitrate per 1,000 square feet; Late June and Early July 1-2 pounds ammonium nitrate per 1,000 square feet.

The latter application will be needed if the spring has been wet, if the 2-pound rate has been used, and if the grass is pale and growth so slow that mowing is needed less often than once a week (provided plenty of moisture is present at that time).

If you've ever been taken in by a fast-talking salesman, a "free" prize for which you later get a bill, a "something for nothing" deal, you're not alone. Every year, unscrupulous businessmen defraud Americans of billions of dollars—more, in fact, than is lost through robbery, burglary, larceny, auto theft, embezzlement, and forgery combined. Fortunately, these "con" men are a small minority, but the damage they do may be a disaster for their victims.

How can you keep from being one of these victims? Knowing the signs of a phony deal can help you avoid them.

The Better Business Bureau has identified 800 varieties of "unfair and deceptive" practices. Obviously, you can't know all of them, but there are certain tell-tale signs. Be skeptical of any deal that is "too good to believe." If it seems to get something for nothing, here are some other warning signs. A salesman offering a phony "good deal" is likely to call during odd hours—during the evening.

Fiscal Court Hears New Law Explained

Jay R. Barlow, a Sales Representative with Comprehensive Planners, Inc., in Frankfort, met with the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court Tuesday to explain a new law which went into effect in October of 1968. This law states that before a city or county can qualify for a grant or loan from the federal government a firm must be employed to do a detailed survey of the county.

also stated that the County would in no way be responsible for the charges involved with this survey since if the survey were made and the county applied for a federal grant and loan and it was approved that fee would be paid by the government. Also, if the application were denied, then there would be no charge to the county.

Mr. Barlow stressed to the Fiscal Court members that this planning was in no way connected with zoning, but would be a survey of the county's manpower, businesses, natural resources, per capita income, etc.

COACHEE WINS THE BIG ONE IN NASHVILLE

Cocheese, a blanket-back Derby Male, went off the way to win the famous Washington Birthday Fox Hoard Show held in Nashville, Tennessee on February 22.

In order to win this show, Cocheese had to show against many state champions including his own sire, Champion Wayne Hill Doctor.

Owned by Clyde Linville and B.J. Hensley, Cocheese was shown by Gana Towhee of Hamilton, Ohio, a nationally known trainer and showman.

He was offered for the dog just after the show; however, all offers were turned down by his proud owners.

BHS Wins First Round In Tournament

With Big Joe Howard and Bryan Bussell leading the way, the Mt. Vernon Red Devils and the Brodhead Tigers treated their fans to an exciting see-saw battle Tuesday night when they met in the first game of the 49th District Basketball Tournament at Oneida.

The lead changed hands constantly and the final score of 51 to 49 is highly indicative of the type of game played. Carl Sargent clinched the game for the Tigers when he calmly sunk two free throws with less than a minute to go in the game to put the Tigers on top by four points. Joe Howard immediately got two points for the Red Devils but time had run out.

Brodhead Coach Billy Riddle gave a great deal of credit for the win to Gordon Pope who went into the game as a substitute when the Tigers went into a full court press with about four minutes left in the game. Pope stole the ball a couple of times and fed Bussell the ball for a wide-open lay up.

The Tigers forced the Devils into giving up the ball several times after going to the full-court press and managed to make their six-point deficit. The Tigers were out rebounded by the Red Devils by 10 or 12 baskets.

Bussell of Brodhead and Howard for Mt. Vernon tied for game honors with 24 points each. Also scoring for the Tigers were Cletus Brown with 18, Scoggins with 2, Goff 4, and Sargent 3. Scoring for Mt. Vernon besides Howard were Sarge with 10, McCullie, who was hurt in the last seconds of the game) with 8, and Powell (who also pulled down 7 rebounds) with 7. Dale Coffey, a Mt. Vernon starter who usually averages almost 8 points a game, was held scoreless.

The Tigers will have to meet on always tough Clay County team who drew a bye for the first round of play. That game is scheduled for Friday night.

Three Architects Meet With County School Board Monday

Representatives from three architectural firms met with the Rockcastle County Board of Education Monday night to discuss the new high school with the board.

Jack Clotfelter (who was associated with the architectural firm which built the county courthouse and also for the new vocational school) and Bill Johnson, with the firm of Clotfelter and Johnson, were the first architects to meet with the board.

Mr. Clotfelter told the board that there would only be about $100,000 difference in the cost for a three year high school for 700 students and a four year high school for 1,000 students both with a gymnasium with a seating capacity of 3,500.

He also told the board that if hired, their firm could begin work immediately and would possibly be ready to bid bids in three-and-a-half months.

Leon Browning of Lexington who has just completed the Middleboro High School (a $1,700,000,000 project to house 1,000 students with a 4,000 seat gymnasium) and is presently working on Laurel County's new high school, told the board much the same thing as the first architects to talk with them.

He stated that if he were hired for the project that he would be able to begin work on it reasonably soon and that bids would probably be out for construction in six months.

Johnston and Rowland of Lexington, the last architectural firms to talk with the board were the architects for the Roundstone Elementary School, the alteration to the Livingston School, the addition to Brodhead School, and small additions to the Mt. Vernon School.

Since their firm began in 1946, Mr. Johnson told the board that they had been architects for 170 school projects and that they would be able to begin work immediately on this one.

In other business before the board, bids were opened for the Green Hill School and land. Quite a few bids were submitted ranging from a low bid of $52 to the high bid of $1,011.00 submitted by Joe Howard of Mt. Vernon, which the board accepted.

Four names were approved as substitute teachers. They were: Brenda Cromer, Iris Young, Jane Smith, and Dorothea Williams.

The Mt. Vernon Recreation Council will use permission to use the school grounds for their recreation program with the stipulation that they begin their schedule a little later than last year so that the Summer School classes would be over.

Superintendent Parsons told the board that he had been informed, since the board had voted to take the five "Calamity Days" authorized by the State Legislature, that if these days were taken the schools would lose their standard rating since the State Department of Education ruled that a school must be in session 175 days a year to retain their rating.

The "Calamity Days" were authorized by the Legislature to keep schools from having to make up days when they were unable to be in session because of bad weather; however, taking those five days would have meant that the school would have been in session only 170 days.

County's Share Over $200,000 From Rural Road Program

State Rural Road Programs for Rockcastle County have been announced by Governor Louie B. Nunn and Commissioner of Highways William B. Hazelrigg.

Under the Rural Secondary Program, which is financed with two cents of the seven-cent a gallon motor fuel tax, Rockcastle County has been apportioned $218,538.21 for the 1969-70 fiscal year.

The Rockcastle County program approved for this year by Commissioner Hazelrigg includes: construction of bridge and approaches of 0.3 mile on the Wildie Clear Creek Road, bituminous surfacing of 2.0 miles on the Rockcastle River Road, 2.4 miles on the Perry-Rigsby Road, 3.0 miles on the Webb-Sand Springs Road; grade, drain and bituminous surfacing of 1.9 miles on the Negro Creek Road; grade, drain and traffic bound surfacing of 2.0 mile on the Brush Creek Road; and maintenance of the 79.1 miles of Rural Secondary System roads in Rockcastle County.

Under the County Road Aid Program, Rockcastle County has been apportioned $97,028.57 for the 1969-70 year. This money comes out of $13 million appropriated by the General Assembly from the State Road Fund to help counties maintain their own roads.

Lending Money to Relatives

Suppose you lend $500 to your brother-in-law and he fails to pay it back. Could you deduct that amount as a "bad debt" on your next federal tax return?

It depends. To start with, the tax law does indeed allow deductions for bad debts, including those owed by relatives.

The trouble is, the law also takes an extra close look at transactions between relatives—to see if they really are what they seem to be. Was it truly a loan that you made, or only a gift in disguise? Consider this case:

A man advanced money to his coed daughter so she could publish an art magazine that she had set her heart on. When the magazine folded, the father claimed a tax deduction for this "bad debt." His in a court test, his claim was turned down. The court pointed out that the daughter had never signed an IOU, had never paid any interest, and had never set a date for repayment. This wasn't really a debt, said the judge, but only a generous gesture by a fond father.

Nor is it enough, in the government's eyes, that the relative feels a moral obligation to repay the money. As one court put it, in rejecting another claim of a bad debt:

"Reliance upon character, ability, and integrity cannot outweigh the lack of businesslike precautions or other evidence of an intention to establish a debtor-creditor relationship."

What if you do handle the transaction in a businesslike manner, with a clear understanding by your relative that he is bound—legally as well as morally—to pay you back? If he doesn't, may you then take a tax deduction?

There is still one more hurdle. For you must show not only that there was a real debt but also that it has become "bad"—that is, uncollectible.

This may be touchy. Family sensibilities may be at stake. You might not want to press for payment simply because you don't want to offend someone close to you.

If that is why you don't collect your money, then you are not entitled to a bad debt deduction on your tax return. You have a right, of course, to keep peace in the family by going easy on Brother Joe or Cousin Fred. But not at the expense of Uncle Sam.

HWY. DEPT. ORDERED TO REINSTATE SKEEN!

The State Personnel Board Monday voted to order the Highway Department to reinstate Jack L. Skeen of Mt. Vernon to his job as auto mechanic in the Rockcastle County garage.

The board held the Highway Department had not proved its charges that Skeen had been politically active for Democrats, the grounds on which he was fired last year. In turn, the board agreed that Skeen showed he had been fired for political reasons.

Skeen is the third Highway Department employee whose reinstatement was ordered by the board since Republicans gained a 3-2 majority on the panel in January.

Veterans Administration cash benefits and other services to Kentucky veterans and their dependents total $123,997,000 during fiscal year 1968.

That's $1,396,000 less than in fiscal year 1967. Olney B. Owen, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Louisville, Kentucky, pointed out today in an analysis of VA expenditures.

It is estimated that there are 370,000 living veterans in Kentucky, consisting of 200,000 veterans of World War I, 81,000 veterans of Post-Korean Conflict service of which 32,000 are Vietnam Era veterans, and 27,000 veterans of World War II, the Spanish American War and other conflicts.

Direct loans to veterans in Kentucky totaling $2,231,000 were made in fiscal year 1968, compared to $2,094,000 during the preceding year.

Owen said the remainder of cash benefits, services and other VA expenditures in Kentucky during the year total $19,317,000 against $2,659,000 the preceding year.

Included in this were medical services and hospitalization; loan guaranty program; automobiles for certain disabled veterans; wheelchair homes for the seriously disabled; administrative costs and miscellaneous benefits.

GIRL SCOUTS BEGIN SALE OF COOKIES THIS MONTH

Girl Scouts in Rockcastle County have a big job coming up in March. Helping sell Girl Scout Cookies.

The annual cookie sale of the Wilderness Road Girl Scout Council will be held from March 13 through April 4. Rockcastle County is part of the Council, which serves 55 counties in Central and Eastern Kentucky and one each in Ohio and Tennessee. Last year there were 9,920 girls in Scouting in the council area.

The annual cookie sale is a major fund-raising drive for the Girl Scout Council and the money earned supplements support given the Scouts by United Funds, Community Chests and fund drives in those areas without federated giving.

Cookie receipts are used principally to support the outdoor program in the 57-county area, where a total of 5,112 girls experienced some type of camping activity last year.

The cookies—four varieties are being offered—sell for 50 cents a box. And, very important to the girls, five cents of each sale is retained in the group treasury.

I'LL BE DOG-GONE

You're harking up the wrong herb if you think that the Dog's-Tooth Violet is a member of the violet clan. The Dog's-Tooth Violet is actually a member of the Lily family and is not related to the true violet. This Dog's-Tooth Violet produces a single flower on each stem and blooms in the Springtime.

The White Dog's-Tooth Violet produces large white flowers while the Yellow Adonis-Tongue has yellow blooms. The two are very similar except for the color of the flowers.

Buy them at the flower shop. We carefully choose and arrange flowers that will convey your message of love. We deliver locally or wire flowers to a distant city. Let us fill your floral needs.

Re-Elect Billy Dowell Coroner of Rockcastle Co

As has been announced, I am seeking re-election to the office of Coroner of this county. During this past four years I have tried to serve you in this capacity to the best of my ability.

This office is an important and necessary one and I feel I have realized this and have striven to do my duties well. Law enforcement agencies, vital statistical bureaus, and insurance concerns depend very heavily upon the records kept by the county coroner and I have made it a practice to keep complete records which are made available to authorized persons upon request.

Library Notes

A BOOK OF PEACE, by Elizabeth Goudge. A sensitive collection of illuminations in prose and poetry, dedicated to the theme of peace, in the individual spirit and in the world. Miss Goudge has undertaken a very personal search for the world's literature that is able to tranquilize and restore, and includes selections by Shakespeare, Erasmus, St. Augustine, Wordsworth, Keats, Kierkegaard, Dostoevsky, Tagore, Rilke, Matthew Arnold, Gerard Manley Hopkins, Martin Luther King, Hardy, Schweitzer, Yeats and Gandhi.

CHARITY ENDS AT HOME, by Colin Watson. Detective Inspector Purbright, busy trying to stop the spread of phony charities, shuns off a series of anonymous letters warning of murder in the village of Flashborough. Then a prime charity organizer is found drowned in the well in her garden, and Purbright suspects the secretary of the town's charities, Miss Lucilla Teatime, a wacky con artist.

HOW TO REPAIR MAJOR APPLIANCES, by Ernest Triscorn. Today's modern housewife has at her fingertips a veritable "Aladdin's lamp" in the form of electricity, which at her command can perform many time-consuming tasks. At the press of a button or the turn of a dial, clothes, and dishes are washed and dried, garbage disappears down the drain, fresh food is preserved for extended periods, and the home is cooled in hot weather to a temperature that is conducive to relaxed living. All this and more is brought about by the magic of present-day appliances. This book has been written to provide detailed and practical information on the installation, operation and servicing of the major appliances that may be found in the average home. Chapters include information about refrigerators, freezers, washers, dryers, ranges, garbage disposers, dishwashers, air conditioners, water heaters, electric motors and appliance finishes.

MYHORSES, MYTEACHERS, by Alois Podhajsky. This is a personal memoir that is full of practical advice for all horsemen, that explores the age-old relationship between horse and rider. Col. Podhajsky also pays warm tribute to the individual horses who with their quirks and pranks and particular abilities, have been his friends and teachers. Every rider who aspires to full harmony with his mount will find this book both indispensable and memorable, for it is a unique contribution to the literature of equestrian experience.

CONSUMER COMMENTS

by John B. Breckinridge, Attorney General

The Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office was established to protect the citizens of Kentucky from unethical and fraudulent trade practices. Its programs serve not only the consumer, but also the honest, conscientious businessman.

Since the Division was formed the number of complaints has steadily grown. About 90 percent of the complaints have been settled through mediation enabling the Division to save Kentucky consumers many thousands of dollars in cash refunds, by replaced or repaired merchandise, and by the cancellation of unconscionable contracts.

The Legislature has charged the Attorney General with the responsibility for enforcement of the "Going Out of Business Act" and the "Advertising and Wholesale Act." The Division is designed to protect the public from misleading advertising concerning going out of business, lost-lease, fire sales, and the like. The latter was passed to guard the public from those retailers who misrepresent their goods as being sold at wholesale price. In addition to these acts, the Attorney General is responsible for enforcing the "Chain Merchandise Act" under which the public is protected from referral selling.

Through this column I aim to keep you, the reader, informed of the current activities of the Consumer Protection Division through the Office of Attorney General. Persons with consumer problems or complaints should contact the Office of the Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, Capitol Building, Frankfort, 40601.
