

JUNE IS DAIRY MONTH — AND WE WOULD LIKE TO SAY . . .

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE Dairy Industry!

This month is a good time for all of us to take a closer look at our Dairy Industry. One thing is certain, it has become big business and is getting bigger every day. And our dairy farmers have done an excellent job in increasing production to meet growing demands. They are using the most modern, up-to-date equipment in rigidly controlled modern plants. We salute them for a job well done!

Homemaker's Help

By: Faith Niday Area Extension Agent P

No nation in the world has the abundance and variety of food that we have here in our own country. so it is a bit of a shocker to find that only half the families are eating an adequate diet! This startling news comes from a recently published survey made by the United States Department of Agriculture. According to this report, the dietary intake of the remaining fifty percent of the households is woefully lacking in certain nutrients - principally: calcium - vitamin A - and vitamin C.

The best food-source of calcium, of course, is milk - and a matter of fact, if we don't have the amount of milk we need daily it is impossible to have the amount of calcium we need. Whole milk furnishes a goodly amount of vitamins A, B-2, B-12, and C.

At the same time - plus high quality protein and other minerals and vitamins: All in all, milk supplies more of the nutrients we need for good health and well-being than any other single food.

Of the family of milk and dairy products, there's one that's power-packed nutritionally - evaporated milk. Being a concentrate, fresh whole milk, evaporated milk has a two-fold measure of whole milk nutrients to begin with. Further - this can-handy concentrate has been enriched with vitamin D - the vitamin that helps the body make efficient use of the milk minerals, calcium and phosphorus, in building and maintaining strong bones and teeth.

The use of evaporated milk as it pours from the can in cookery - as it can be so frequently - means a double quota of milk nutrients in every serving. This eaten milk can be a real help in achieving the milk goal for every member of the family - for milk milk - whether in foods or as a beverage. Incidentally, evaporated milk not only bolsters the nutritive value of foods - but because it has been homogenized in processing to disperse the cream throughout, it makes foods creamy and smooth and richly flavorful.

A good illustration of how the double nutritive value of evaporated milk works is in preparing crab puddings. To serve four, blend a can of condensed chicken gumbo soup, a can of condensed pepper pot soup, a tall can of evaporated milk and a 7-ounce can of drained and flaked crab meat - then heat and stir until hot. The tall can of evaporated milk provides the 2 1/2 cups of whole milk - so each serving furnishes more than 3/4 cup of milk. Simple - and a simply great way to have a share of needed milk.

Even frozen or gelatinized puddings and salads can be made milk-rich when prepared with whipped evaporated milk - for this whole milk concentrate whips like magic when chilled icy cold. Desirable cream-smooth texture is provided with a modest calorie count - but importantly, such foods contain double amounts of the nutrients of whole milk.

Whenever evaporated milk can be used as it pours from the can in cookery, the whole milk value is automatically doubled. - And there are many such uses.

To name a few: in frostings for cakes and cookies... in candies... in salad dressings... as a binder for ground meat and fish mixtures... as a coating for chickens, fish, chops or cutlets to be breaded... to dilute canned soups for quick sauces... in scrambled eggs and omelets for mashed potatoes... for French toast... to make saucers and gravies... and so on.

The flexibility of use which comes with being a whole milk concentrate means nutritional stretch-power, too. For example, vegetable cooking liquids, meat or fish broths can be used to dilute evaporated milk in the preparation of creamed soups, creamed and scalloped dishes or casseroles. Similarly, fruit juices can frequently be used with evaporated milk in preparing cake batters or puddings. In these instances, a full measure of whole milk nutrients can be incorporated along with the flavor and nutrients of the other liquids used.

To sum up, liberal use of evaporated milk in cookery can be of real help in providing a goodly share of the milk for good health and well-being.

lins abstained on the motion.

The board failed to approve Change Order No. 2 on the Roundstone television system. The change order concerned the contractors failure to put the television cables in conduit. The contractors asked the board to let them refund $150 of the original contract price in lieu of installing the conduit now.

Kenneth Adams made a motion that the contractor fulfill the specifications of the contract and install conduit. The motion was seconded by Virgil Mullins and carried unanimously.

The board voted to submit several items for open bids. These were janitorial and miscellaneous supplies, school bus insurance, and four new kitchen stoves (two for Mt. Vernon School and two for Brodhead School).

The matter of the Roundstone School gymnasium floor was also discussed. Mr. Parsons told the board that this project needed taking care of but he was not sure whether it would run to $1,000 which is the amount that a job must run before it has to be advertised for bids.

The building of restroom adjacent to the Livingston School was also discussed by the board. Superintendent Parsons estimated that the project could possibly run to $20,000. The board decided to hold off on any immediate action on the project since plans and specifications would have to be drawn up before the job could be advertised for bids.

Board member Virgil Mullins asked the board that since there were some projects being planned that the board might concur that there were several improvements which need to be made at schools in his district, namely the Johnette Gunn, Sumner, and Dunlap Schools.

Mr. Mullins told the board that the teacher at Johnetta had to haul water all last school year and that at Climax the sewage from the kitchen sink ran out into the yard where the children played.

The board decided to have Facilities Survey team from Frankfort visit the schools, appraise the situation, and make recommendations to the board.

Judge Carter Files Suit Against County Officials

Charles C. Carter, newly elected Rockcastle County Judge, has filed a "Complaint and Appeal" in Circuit Court against the County Judge, Magistrates, County Court Clerk and Treasurer.

The suit stems from the recent action of the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court of setting the salaries of the county offices for the coming year. The Court set the salaries the same as in previous years which meant that the County Judge would receive $3,900 a year plus statutory fees.

The suit reads in part, "The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court on May 2, 1969, attempted to fix the salary of the county judge for the term beginning January, 1970 at the sum of $3,900 per year. The minutes of said meeting were not signed as required by K.R.S. 67.100 and the attempt to fix the salary for the next term of county judge was not valid."

The suit further reads, "K.R.S. 64.535 provides as follows: the county court clerk, circuit court clerk, county judge, sheriff, county attorney and jailer of each county shall receive an annual salary of $9,600 to be paid solely out of the statutory fees and salaries received by him during the calendar year."

Mr. Carter complains in the suit that the action of the Rockcastle Fiscal Court in fixing the salary of the county judge at the sum of $3,900 per year was unreasonable, arbitrary,

Two Injured In Explosion

Two men, one from Mt. Vernon, were injured last Thursday in an explosion which occurred on High Street in Mt. Vernon.

The men, Clarence Mink of Somerset and Gravelly Burton of Mt. Vernon, were installing a waterline up High Street when the explosion occurred.

Mink received a fractured ankle and an eye injury. Burton suffered a fractured leg and was released from the hospital last Saturday. According to reports, the exact cause of the explosion is not known. However, there is the possibility that an old dynamite cap, left in the ground since the laying of the sewer line, was hit by Mink, who was operating a jackhammer.

The men were both employees of Fred W. Leath Associates.

Hassle Continues Over Mullins Transfer From RS

Attorney Carl Clontz, acting as spokesman for a group of residents from the Roundstone School District, stated to the Board of Education last Monday night that the parents wished the board to reconsider their decision to transfer Mr. Mullins from the school for the coming year.

Clontz told the board that a vast majority of the parents felt that they had had a better school in the past year than they had ever had and that the school had improved tremendously. He said that the parents that were at the board meeting (around 50 residents of the area attended the meeting) were there to express their opinion and ask the board to take some action to reinstate Mr. Mullins at Roundstone. He also told the board members that the parents felt that since it was their children going to the school that they should have some influence or some say in the matter and that the board members should take some action rather than just the Superintendent on the matter of the transfer.

Attorney Clontz stated that, according to his interpretation of Kentucky Revised Statute KRS 160.380, the Superintendent could not transfer a principal without the board's approval and that according to the minutes of the school board's meetings Mr. Mullins' transfer had not even been discussed.

The statute which Mr. Clontz referred to reads as follows:
"All appointments, promotions and transfers of principals, teachers and other public school employees shall be made only upon the recommendation of the superintendent of schools, subject to the approval of the board."

If the board of education cannot agree with the superintendent as to any legally qualified person recommended by the superintendent, the board of education may appeal to the State Board of Education to review the case and the decision of the State Board of Education shall be final. All employees of the board shall have such qualifications as are prescribed by law and by the regulations of the State Board of Education and of the employment board. Supervisors, principals, teachers and other employees may be appointed by the board of education for any school year at any time after April 1 next preceding the beginning of the school year."

Chairman Preston Nunneley responded to Mr. Clontz's interpretation of this statute by saying that the board had given Mr. Parsons their authority to place the school personnel for the coming year.

Carl Williams, Chairman of the Committee appointed at a meeting of residents from the Roundstone area, told the board that he felt he spoke for about 90% of the people in the Roundstone district and that they felt that Mr. Mullins should have been given the opportunity to defend himself before the board. He said that the majority of the people in this district would like to see Mr. Mullins reinstated. Mr. Williams further stated, "For the people's sake and the sake of the children and the welfare of the school, I wish you (the board and Mr. Parsons) would reconsider your decision and you can emerge as heroes with no concessions made."

Several more of the area's residents spoke on Mr. Mullins' behalf and the sentiment was the same, that Mr. Mullins had improved the school tremendously, that discipline was better than it ever had been, and that the generally improved conditions were reflected on their children's report cards.

On question of whether or not Mr. Parsons had attempted to bring Mr. Mullins together with the dissatisfied teachers to try to iron the situation out, Mr. Parsons responded by saying, "In April I talked with Mr. Mullins and told him that he had a moral problem with his teachers but that I felt that if he would meet with them and try to get to the bottom of the problem that there was time to work things out before school ended." According to Mr. Parsons, Mr. Mullins responded by saying, "I realize that I have this problem and I don't know what to do. I have talked good to them and I have talked none to them and nothing works. What do you advise?"

The upshot of the meeting between the board and the Roundstone residents was, after some heated discussion between Chairman of the Board Preston Nunneley and Everett Robinson from the Roundstone area, that the board could not decide at this time on a transfer for Mr. Mullins between him, the board, the Superintendent, and the teachers, without benefit of legal counsel since Mr. Mullins had already obtained legal counsel.

The group then left the immediate board room and the board resumed its regular meeting. Shortly after the discussion, the board voted to hire legal counsel for Mr. Parsons and the board and a motion by board member, Virgil Mullins that Mr. Mullins be reinstated as principal of Roundstone, died for lack of a second.

Members of the Kentucky Educational Association's Commission on Professional Rights and Responsibilities has recommended to their Chairman that a formal investigation into Mr. Mullins' charges against Charles Parsons, Superintendent, be ordered.

The official notification of this letter to Mr. Mullins was received from Owen G. Arnold, secretary to the Commission, which reads:

"This will inform you of the action of the preliminary hearing committee which heard the charges you presented June 2 from Owen G. Arnold, secretary to the Commission, which reads:

I would like for you to furnish me within the next few days a list of the formal charges you wish to bring. Upon receipt of your list, I will proceed to make arrangements to hold the hearing, perhaps in ten or twelve days after I hear from you.

I am hopeful that the actions of the Commission help bring about mutual understanding in the matter presented."

Milk-- One Of The Oldest Known Foods

Milk is one of the oldest known foods. Records exist of cows being milked in 9,000 B.C. The Bible contains many references to milk; one of the best remembered is from Exodus 3:8 - "milk and honey."

Sanskrit writings thousands of years old tell how milk was one of the most essential of all foods.

Hippocrates recommended milk as a medicine five centuries before Christ.

In Ur of Chaldees a frieze depicted a dairy scene in 3,500 B.C. showing milk containers and strainers.

When Christopher Columbus came to America there were no cows, but on his second voyage in 1493, he brought cattle and other farm animals to the islands of the West Indies.

The Pilgrims made the mistake of not bringing cows and lack of milk was said to have a bearing on the high death rate, particularly of children. Cows were required to be brought on later ships.

The first U.S. cows were brought over to Jamestown colony in 1611. The first cows at the Plymouth Colony arrived in 1624.

Veterans Administration about my fall enrollment plans?

A-- Before the end of your present enrollment period you will receive a certification of attendance card from the VA.

The primary purpose of this card is to confirm the training for which you have been paid an educational assistance allowance.

However, the card also has a section relating to re-enrollment plans. By completing this section you will help VA anticipate your future educational assistance allowance needs.

Q-- What are the maximum charges allowed by the Veterans Administration on a G.I. loan?

A-- The veteran-borrower is permitted to pay reasonable closing costs customarily paid by borrowers in home mortgage financing. These include fees or charges for VA appraisal of the home, credit report, survey (if required by the lender), title evidence, recording fees and a lender's origination fee not to exceed one per cent of the loan amount instead of any other fees for the lender's services. The initial installments of such recurring expenses property taxes and hazard insurance must also be paid at the time the loan is closed.

In addition, a veteran separated from service after Jan. 31, 1955, must pay a statutory fee of one-half of one per cent of the loan amount. This is a one-time payment which may be included in the loan amount.

Q-- May a veteran receive Social Security retirement credit for military service during World War II?

A-- Generally yes-- a veteran may receive $160 wage credit for each month of World War II duty if he was released from service under other than dishonorable conditions and had at least 30 days of active service.

However, there are exceptions. The government will not give the veteran double credit. For example, if a veteran's World War II time is counted for military or civil service retirement he cannot also receive Social Security wage credit for the time. You nearest Social Security office will be able to answer any questions you may have.

Social Security News

During the past year, two out of every three young widows in the Rockcastle County area did not find out that they could collect monthly social security benefits for themselves and their children until sometime after their husbands' death, James Mustian, social security officer-in-charge, said today.

"Most of them did get to the social security office before any benefits were lost," Mustian said. "But the surprising thing is that so many young wives are not even aware that social security provides protection for the family if the husband and father dies and this protection is worth as much as $75,000 to $100,000 to an individual family. In a number of cases, the funeral director suggested that the widow get in touch with the social security office. In others, the visit to the social security office was made in the faint hope, rather than the expectation, that payments could be made to the family."

Social security survivors benefits are now in their 30th year, Mustian pointed out. Over the years since January 1940 when the first monthly checks were mailed out, more than $23½ billion has been paid to young widows and children. About 95 out of 100 mothers and children are protected right now if the family breadwinner should die, he noted.

Every young family, he said, should take account of social security benefits in its financial planning. Every young husband should make sure that his wife knows that social security is not just retirement insurance, but that in case of his death, social security will also provide an income for her and the children until the family's grown.

When a father—or a working mother—dies, monthly benefits can be paid to the children at least until they are 18, or up until age 22

if they continue in school or remain unmarried. Payments are made to their mother, too, while any of the children under 18 are in her care. Their benefits are based on the worker's work under social security, Mustian said, and a family may qualify if the worker had social security credit for as little as a year and a half of work in the 3 years before his death. The amount of a family's benefits depends upon the worker's average earnings under social security and the number of people in the family. Payments range from a minimum of $32.50 per month for a widow and one child to $434.40 per month.

A booklet, "Social Security for Young Families," is available free of charge from the Somerset social security office, Mustian said. It describes the survivors benefits that are payable when a worker dies and also the disability benefits that can be paid to him and to his dependents if he becomes unable to work for 12 months or more. Readers may pick up a copy at the social security office which is located in the Truwind Center in Somerset or they may ask for a copy by mail or by phone. The telephone number is 678-8168.

The primary reason for the increase in production was an increase in average production per cow. The average Kentucky milk cow, in 1967, produced 6,580 pounds while last year the average production was 6,840 pounds, a significant increase.

Gross income from dairy products also rose. The 1967 gross income was $122.5 million. Last year it increased to $125.5 million.

NUMBER OF MILK COWS DECLINED LAST YEAR

The number of milk cows on Kentucky farms declined last year, but total milk production rose, according to the Kentucky Department of Agriculture's Statistics Division.

The total number of milk cows declined from 380,000 in 1967 to 367,000 in 1968, but total production rose from 2.5 billion pounds to 2.51 billion pounds.

Flowers

By Ruth Fain

SELECT BRIGHT FLOWERS FOR SHADE

Trees are lovely, but the shade created by trees forces the home gardener to make a very careful selection of the plants and flowers which will be in shaded areas. There are some beautiful flowers which actually grow better in these shaded spots.

Day Lilies and Wax Begonias are two which are well-suited for planting in the areas where only a small amount of sunlight reaches. Day Lilies are especially colorful. Reds, oranges, pinks and yellows are available in Day Lilies. Try the Day Lilies or Wax Begonias and see these lovely flowers flourish in the shade.

Flowers can be used by you to convey a message of love or your remembrance during an hour of grief. Flowers are appropriate for all occasions. Our flower shop is as close as your telephone.

OPHELIA, by Florence Stevenson. Ophelia was a cat who became involved with a wealthy old New England family. The aging Miss Margaret loved the cat so well she willed her house to her pet instead of to her wandering scientist nephew, Julian. But after her death, her wily lawyer drowned the cat and stole Miss Margaret's priceless powder. But it seems you can't drown a cat in a wishing well; Ophelia became a lovely young lady and was rescued from the well by Julian.

REX, by Joyce Stronger. Rex is a Scotch Border collie born out on the wild Cumberland falls and rescued by Ned Foley, who gives him to five-year-old Johnny, the son of sheep farmer Pete Lanark. The boy and the puppy grow up together and Rex gives his entire love and loyalty to Johnny, setting this ahead of his training and working duties with the sheep, much to Pete's rage. The bond between boy and dog is a fatal one, literally life-saving for both, and it comes to affect the whole village in Johnny's hour of peril.

modern farm equipment is tops for efficiency

Parson's Equipment Co.
Water Street Phone 256-2468 Mt. Vernon, Ky.

Any dairy farmer will tell you. The dairy cow is quite a "machine" for converting feed into nature's most nearly perfect food - milk and milk products. But that's only the beginning.

Dairy farmers of this area know efficient operation of a dairy farm depends on good management, sound judgment, modern methods. Modern farm machinery and equipment are part of that successful operation.

We congratulate our dairy farmers on a job well done in producing high quality milk and invite them to consult with us about equipment that will help them to produce milk more profitably.

Parson's Equipment Co. has a complete line of modern farm equipment for sale or rental. We have the best quality equipment at the lowest prices. Call today for a free catalog and price list.

Area Agent's Notes

What Is A Cow?

Kenneth Daymen, looking for a way to call attention to June Dairy Month, found this description of a cow recently. They decided it was as good a way as any to point up the importance.

"The cow is a mammal. It has six sides, right, left and upper and below. At the back it has a tail on which hangs a brush. With this it sends the flies away so that they do not fall into the milk. The head is, for the purpose of growing horns and so that the mouth can be somewhere. The horns are to butt with and the mouth is to moo with. "Under the cow hangs the milk. It is arranged for milking. When milk comes, the milk comes and there is never an end to the supply. How the cow does it, I have not yet realized, but it makes more and more. The cow has a fine sense of smell. One can smell it far away. This is the reason for the fresh air in the country.

"The min cow is called an ox. It is not a mammal. The cow does not eat much, but what it eats, it eats twice, so that it gets enough. When it is hungry it moos and when it says nothing, it is because its insides is all full up with grass."

The essay was written by a 10-year-old English boy. It appears in a book written by Sir Ernest Growers to help government officials write in a more understandable way.

Timely Tips for Pepper Growers

Your pepper crop will occupy the land for about 5 months (mid-May to late October). During this time, the crop will require careful attention. You will need to keep weeds, insects and diseases under control.

If you used a chemical weed killer at the time of transplanting, cultivation should not be a big job; however, it may be necessary to do some cultivating in order to keep weeds under control. Don't let weeds rob your crop of plant food, moisture and sunlight, or create additional work for you at harvest time.

Insects may become a major problem without you realizing it. The two insects which are most likely to be troublesome are the pepper maggot and the European corn borer. Neither of these insects are easily detected because they do very little damage to the leaves. They feed mainly on the pepper and may have destroyed several peppers before you find them. They frequently enter the pepper when it is small, causing it to develop a soft rot. The peppers may remain on the plant for weeks before soft rot occurs, or they may decay soon after insects feed on them.

There is no way to know when these insects will be a problem, although they appear to be worse during wet weather. Your best insurance against insects is to spray or dust weekly beginning when plants start to bloom, and repeating this 3 to 5 times.

The following materials may be used for the control of the pepper maggot: thiodan, endosulfan or malathion. The European corn borer can be controlled by using DDT or Sevin. Follow manufacturer's recommendation for their use. Allow at least four (4) weeks between last application of DDT and your first harvest. Using disease-free plants and practicing a rotation system which insures clean soil each year can do much towards controlling diseases in your pepper field. Cereospora leaf spot and anthracnose are two diseases which may be controlled by spraying with zineb or maneb. Repeat spraying at weekly intervals if leaf diseases continue to be a problem.

If disease does start in your pepper field, do not cultivate or harvest when plants are wet. You can easily spread disease from sick plants to healthy ones by hand or cultivating equipment when they are wet.

When the first peppers which set on the plant reach the size of an orange, sidedress with 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre. This should be worked into the soil or else put it on just before a rain.

Timely Tips for Pickle Growers

Are you using all the labor-saving methods you can in your pickle patch? Picking requires 65 of each 100 hours spent in the pickle patch. The new row-and-flop method can cut your picking time in half.

Try it and see! Growers have developed two methods of picking a new, easier way. You will want to try both to determine which is easiest and quickest for you.

One method is to straddle the row. The picker rolls the vines to the left and harvests the pickles; then he moves to the right and picks the other side. With this method he picks the entire row as he moves along it.

Using a second method, the picker rolls all vines up on one side of the row; when it is picked, he rolls the other side of the row and picks it. Regardless of which method you use, if you follow these steps you will save time and increase your profits.

(1) Keep your vines trained into a row. Turn all the vines that start across the middle back into the row. Start when vines first begin to run.

(2) Train the vines each time you pick. This will make it easier to flop the vines over.

(3) Roll the vines on one side of the row before you start to pick.

(4) Pick with both hands. When the vines are turned upside down, the pickles will be easy to see and pick.

(5) Pick the vines clean; return them to their natural position. Do this gently to avoid breaking the vines.

(6) Keep the picking bucket near the picker. Walking to and from the picking bucket is wasted time and energy.

(7) Show your pickers both harvesting methods. Have the buckets for the pickers near the vines. Have collection baskets ready at the end of the rows.

For best production, check yourself for these points, too. (a) Are you picking every other day? (b) Are you starting your picking when the first pickles come on the young plants? (c) Are you picking the vines clean? Are you getting all sizes of pickles—even down to the smallest number ones? (d) Are you keeping weeds out? (Weeds may interfere with picking.) (e) Are you keeping pests under control? Use special pickle dust every 10 days. Dust in late afternoon to avoid killing bees. (f) Do you have a hive of bees near the pickle patch? Don't depend on wild bees to do the pollinating. They are not doing a good job for many growers.

Here's hoping you have a good pickle season. If you have problems, be sure to notify the station manager, your area Extension agent or me. We are interested in helping to make this crop profitable for you.
