Homemaker's Help

By: Faith N. Plummer Area Extension Agent in Youth

What does the peach mean to you? To most people it simply means "good-eating," and to the homemaker, it means a versatile and welcome addition to warm weather meals. But ancient Chinese writers associated the peach with the tree of life or, "sometimes, with the tree of death; some considered it a symbol of long life, and at one time, pinkish blossoms indicated feminine promiscuity. Therefore, it was considered improper to plant peach trees near windows of a lady's boudoir.

Where did the peach come from? The scientific name for the peach Prunus persica seems to indicate Persian origin, and at one time peaches were called "Persian apples." But peaches were mentioned in Chinese literature before 2000 B.C. and most experts agree that China is the native land of the peach. Serve your family peaches often, while supplies are plentiful. When you shop for peaches, remember the following advice. Look for peaches which are fairly firm and becoming a little pinkish bloom on the red area (ground color) should be yellow or at least creamy.

Don't buy peaches with large flatten bruises (they'll have large areas of discoloration and undergrowth) or peaches with an sign of decay. Decay starts as a pale tan spot which expands in a circle and gradually turns brown in color. And for a delicious summer dessert try Quick Fresh Peach Ripple Ice Cream. To make this, you'll need 1 1/2 cups pureed or mashed peaches, and a quart of vanilla ice cream. First, put 3 or 4 peaches through a food mill, into an electric blender or mash very fine with mesh-type potato masher or small can with both ends cut out. Then mix the peaches with 1 teaspoon lemon juice and 3/4 cup sugar, and chill for 30 minutes. Remove ice cream from freezer and let it soften slightly. Blend or mash 1/2 cup whipping cream until stiff. (Cream whips faster if you use cold bowl and cold beaters.) Stir in 1/4 teaspoon almond extract. Mix peaches, whipped cream and barely-soft ice cream very quickly. It does not need to be thoroughly mixed. Get in food freezer as quickly as possible and re-freeze. This makes 1 quart of Quick Fresh Peach Ice Cream. For a tasty dessert that's sure to please adults and youngsters alike, serve Toasty Peach Crisp. This recipe calls for fresh peaches. And since peaches are plentiful supply now, chances are they'll be featured at money-saving prices.

TOASTY PEACH CRISP
1/3 cup flour
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup brown sugar, packed
1 cup quick melting rolled wheat (or better oats)
1/3 cup fat (butter or Margarine)
5 cups fresh, sliced
1/2 cup sugar

"I used to stand up and say the world was a miserable place. Then I would sit down and do nothing about it."

Let's face it. All is not perfect in this land of ours. America has taken some lumps and quite frankly it hurts. But maybe we should step back and take a long hard look... take inventory of how we are and how we got here. Maybe we should inspect our brighter side as well as some of our ills. And maybe, just maybe, we'll come out thinking this country's good side far overshadows its bad. Then maybe we'll start to do something to make it better. Rather than knocking it, which ends up making it worse.

Now comes the big question. What can you do? You're only one little individual among over 200 million people. How can you help? For one thing, you might think about investing in your country. Showing your faith in its future.

That's exactly what you do when you sign up to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. You're simply buying a share in America.

You're also socking away some money for yourself. Of course, Savings Bonds are not going to cure all our headaches. But they'll help to provide the economic strength we'll need for the job.

And at the same time, they can cure a lot of your financial headaches in the years to come. Any way you look at it, they make good sense.

And that's just what we need in this country right now.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to everyone who was so kind and thoughtful during the illness and death of our daughter and sister, Dattene. We would especially like to thank everyone who brought food, the ones who sang, Cox Funeral Home, the pallbearers, Rev. Wilford Brown and Rev. Harvey Penzol for their consoling words.

Motorists are delighted. The final 38-mile stretch was opened to traffic by Kentucky Gov. Louie B. Nunn in ceremonies attended by hundreds of persons near the KY 53 interchange at LaGrange in Oldham County.

NIXON STEPS IN

President Nixon notified Governor Nunn he had declared 10 storm-damaged, South Central Kentucky counties major disaster areas and authorized "an initial allocation of $200,000 for relief and recovery assistance."

In referring to his declaration, which opens the way for substantial federal aid, the President said "as additional funds are required, I will consider a further supplemental allocation."

The 10 counties raked by wind and rain on June 22 are Allen, Butler, Simpson, Mulesburg, Hopkins, Webster, Monroe, Warren, Todd, and Boone. Cumberland is expected to be given the disaster-area designation soon.

Parolees going straight the first year after their release from Kentucky prisons exceed the national average by nine per cent, 80 to 71—says a study by the National Parole Institute.

Kentucky's record was attributed to in-service training and a low case-load for probation and parole officers, who average 34 to 35 cases compared with a national average of 50.

This was borne out in Jefferson County where 60 to 65 showed only 70 per cent of the county's parolees successfully completing

VETERAN'S QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q- I understand that a law was recently passed which increases the amount of a direct loan which the Veterans Administration can make to a veteran. If so, what is the new amount?

A- Under a law signed by President Nixon on June 6, 1969, the VA may now make direct loans up to a maximum of $10,000. The old limit was $17,500.

Q- My father is permanently and totally disabled due to a service-connected disability incurred in World War II. I am 19 years old and married. Am I eligible for educational assistance from the Veterans Administration?

A- Yes, Marriage does not affect your eligibility to VA educational assistance if you are otherwise entitled under the War Orphan and Widows Educational Assistance Law.

Q- I have a 10 per cent service-connected disability incurred in 1963. I am receiving $18 a month. Why don't I receive $23.

A- Your disability was incurred during a peacetime period, so you are paid the authorized peacetime rate, which is 80 per cent (to the nearest dollar) of the wartime rate, the period from Feb. 1, 1955, through Aug. 4, 1964, is considered peacetime. The Vietnam era, from Aug. 5, 1964, to some future date, is considered wartime.

Croucher Awarded Bronze Star Medal

James L. Croucher, son of Mrs. Ruby Croucher of Odando, was awarded the Bronze Star Medal for Heroism. Cpl. Croucher, who is serving in Vietnam with the 108th Artillery Group, was awarded the medal for heroism in connection with ground operations against a hostile force in Quang Tri Province, Vietnam, on the early hours of April 28. Cpl. Croucher's citation reads, in part: "On this date, approximately 150 North Vietnamese, supported by mortars, machine guns, and rocket-propelled grenades, launched a massive ground attack. Cpl. Croucher helped his crew lower the howitzer to shoot point-blank into the ranks of the enemy and exposed himself to the hostile fusillade to direct the firing after communication lines to the fire direction center were destroyed. When his position was in danger of being overrun, he deployed several men to engage the communists with small arms fire and he and his troops repelled the enemy assaults and continued to deliver an intense barrage until the North Vietnamese were routed at dawn."

GRANT APPROVED

Congressman Tim Lee Carter announced recently that Rockcastle County has been granted $20,670 for the extension of the existing interceptor system consisting of the new lift station force main and gravity sewer connecting with the existing sanitary sewer at the old Brodhead Road.

The grant will be used toward extending the existing sewer system to service the new Harry M. Spacks Vocational School on the old Brodhead Road.

NEARS COMPLETION. Construction of the new water treatment plant at Reno Valley pictured above is about three-fourths complete; however, Lake Linville must rise about ten feet more before any water can reach the lower intake on the intake stand shown in the lower photo. How long it will take the lake to reach this level naturally depends on the amount of rainfall we get. The lake has risen considerably since the valve was closed about three weeks ago.

"LEARN BY DOING . . ."

Fire-fighters attending the 40th annual session of the Kentucky Fire School at Lexington learn new skills and smooth the rough edges of old ones under the careful eyes of expert instructors, both in the classroom and in the field where they put theory into realistic practice.

Putting theory into practice, firemen extinguish a blazing house in less than four minutes.

And, using a resuscitator, practice the all-important skill of saving a human life. Practiced in the burning house, a surprise Tom McKee of the Lexington Fire Department provides a fireman with an unexpected chance to try out their rescue skills.

Take the lead line down under and through the hole—and pull it tight. Knots and hitches, basic to every fireman's wide range of skills, were expertly demonstrated by Capt. David Trencher of Frankfort's Fire Department.

Clearly, it's not just the "what" and "how" but the "why" that counts. The backdrop for an academic inquiry into the "why" of fire prevention, led by Chief General Inspector Warren Southworth of the State Fire Marshal's Office.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,
I would like to take this opportunity to commend you on your fine editorial of July 12. My views are just the opposite of Mr. Parsons in that I think you gave us a little more of the facts than he has. This week was the second time in two months that he has written now to say; just the same old story—ten teachers and ten letters. Mr. Parsons accused you of blowing up the fact that Mr. Mullins has been transferred. In my opinion, the fact of the ten teachers and the ten letters have also been blown away up, after all that is the only thing we, as parents, have heard. Mr. Parsons wishes to deal with both sides of the problem. This is quite a switch since always before there has only been one side according to him. The reason I say this is that there have been seven teachers, four aides, four cooks, four bus drivers, one secretary, and one speech teacher, plus a host of parents who went in to talk to Mr. Parsons in favor of Mr. Mullins and we weren't even heard, or so it seems. Mr. Parsons would have us believe that Mr. Mullins is a person with a dual personality, a Dr. Jekyll to one group and a Mr. Hyde to another group. Might it be that there is a Dr. Jekyll and a Mr. Hyde among the group that has voiced their complaints? Something is certainly amiss when parents, one of the group what the problem is they answer with remarks such as, "I just don't know," "I just don't understand," "Mr. Mullins is such a fine person," and one remark was, "I wish it had been me since I am older and could take it better than a fine young man like Mr. Mullins." Now I wish Mr. Parsons (if Mr. Chairman will let him) would be frank and tell us just what the other side is.

I worked for Mr. Mullins for the school year 68-69 and I found him to be one of the finest people I have ever had the privilege of working for or with. I'm not trying to make anyone believe he was, or is, perfect. After thinking back and trying to put my finger on the problem, the only thing I can point out is that I believe there were a few things done to agitate Mr. Mullins. For example, the last day of school, the faculty, Mr. Mullins, and other employees, with their families, were supposed to have a picnic. In order that we might know what was being brought and how many were coming, a list was put on the bulletin board so that we might list names, dishes, etc. Two of the ten teachers listed their name and their dish was "Hot Hot!" Now this was two teachers that had registered a complaint against Mr. Mullins. This, I'm sure, was just one of the many things done to try and get Mr. Mullins mad, but he smiled right on. There was complaints that the children were behaved too much, and that they had too much supervision on the playground, (I ask, can this be in our day?)

Mr. Parsons stated that he had talked to several members of the State Department of Education and other educators and that they had advised him that he had done the right thing. I feel that Mr. Parsons had no need of seeking advice from outside the county. This is our problem and I feel we are educated enough (not only book learning but common sense is needed too) to solve our problems if Mr. Parsons will only take much time to listen to the parents as he seemingly has to discuss the problem outside of the county. Did Mr. Parsons mention to these educators how the parents have pleaded with him to bring both sides together with Mr. Mullins, Mr. Parsons, the Board, and the parents and try to work this problem out? I know Mr. Chairman there is the K.E.A. thing, well this could have been done before K.E.A. or anything else. In fact, it should have been done by Mr. Parsons, not Mr. Mullins, even Mr. Mullins was even sent a letter of transfer. Did you mention this to Mr. Parsons? After all, let's have both sides.

Mr. Parsons stated that the teachers and Mr. Mullins could not work together and the children would suffer. Well, let me tell you, if Mr. Mullins doesn't come back, there will not be any harmony in the school. If there is any doubt about this, just drive around and talk to the students and parents of this community and see, I have asked Mr. Parsons this question before and my answer came from Mr. Chairman (seems he did most of the answering for Mr. Parsons but I wasn't satisfied on this one.) Which is more important, the welfare of our children or pleasing a group of school employees? I'm sure I speak for the parents of Roundstone when I say we value our children and their welfare above anything or anyone's feelings. That is why we want Mr. Mullins. In him, we see the kind of principal we have wanted and needed for a long, long time and we aren't going to give up without a fight. I see that we, as taxpayers and parents (after all that's where the pay comes from), owe any teacher or other school official a job when they cannot put the well-being of our children first. I, for one, do not believe this is being done in this case or there would never have been a problem.

I would like to remind Mr. Parsons of another group of teachers who spoke up in favor of Mr. Mullins. The thirty teachers from Broedhead who signed a letter in support of Mr. Mullins. Some of these teachers, I do not know—some I do know and believe they would not stand behind someone if they did not feel that he was fit for the position. Counting from Roundstone and the other employees, that makes a total of 51, not including the hundreds of parents who stood for Mr. Mullins. How could Mr. Parsons and the Board (with the exception of one) ignore so great a number in favor of so few. I agree with Mr. Parsons, let's have both sides out in the open and not just his.

Just one other remark and I'll hush. In regard to our school board member, had I been him, I would have taken my stand with the people, (who with just a "little push" from the Administration put him in office), regardless of the cost.

Thank you,
Mrs. Glenna Baker

This is a summer cottage. Your kid's education. An ocean voyage. Retirement.

Pretty practical way to look at something as patriotic as U. S. Savings Bonds, right? Well, there's nothing un-American about being practical. Which is exactly what you are when you put your savings into U. S. Savings Bonds.

Also, the money you put into U. S. Savings Bonds is obviously safe. In fact, even if your Savings Bonds are lost, stolen, or destroyed, we'll replace them.

And, in case you have to save time as well as money, Savings Bonds are surprisingly easy to buy. You can pick them up at your bank. Or have someone else do the paperwork for you by joining the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Put your savings in Savings Bonds. You could eventually end up with the summer cottage and the college education and the ocean voyage and retirement. And whatever else you want to save for.

Summer Care of the Lawn
When we see a good looking lawn in mid-summer, we can be sure that we are looking at a lawn that has been cared for by a person familiar with the basic principles of lawn care. The hot, dry weather of July and August is a trying time for a lawn of Kentucky bluegrass. Many people tend to forget about the lawn now, because mowing is less frequent, vacations are in mind, and many are discouraged by a poorer turf. However, just as in the spring, the lawn should continue to receive proper care if we want to maintain a reasonably good turf.

Since the lawn is less demanding of our time now, it is an excellent chance to review our thinking in regard to the basic aspects of lawn care - mowing, watering, fertilizing, and weed control.

First let us consider mowing, as this is where many fallacies exist. Numerous experiments have shown that the vigor of grass is related to the leaf area exposed to sunlight. Hence, in order to maintain a vigorous lawn, we should not mow lower than 2 inches. Many people believe that close mowing reduces the number of times grass needs to be cut. This is not true; the "needs mowing" look of a lawn is due to a "ragged" appearance rather than the height. Mowing high is especially important during the summer months.

Another question at this time of the year is how much and how often should a lawn be watered. A bluegrass lawn does not necessarily have to be watered at this time of year. Grass will turn brown when a dry period exceeds 10 days or 2 weeks, but the possibility of a drought severe enough to kill an established bluegrass lawn is almost non-existent. Of course, proper irrigation will keep a lawn looking green during periods of drought, but it will not basically improve a well managed Kentucky bluegrass lawn.

If irrigation is practiced in order to maintain a green turf, the lawn should be thoroughly soaked at infrequent intervals. During dry periods, 1/2 to 1 inch of water should be applied each week. Watering small amounts at irregular intervals does little or no good. Generally speaking, you should not fertilize the lawn now. It will be best to wait until the last two weeks of September before applying additional fertilizer. This fall application reduces the number of times tion should be 10 to 15 pounds of 10-6-4, 10-5-5 or similar analysis fertilizer, or an analysis based on soil test results.

Cultural practices are recognized as the most satisfactory method of weed control. By this we mean proper mowing height, watering correctly, and fertilizing. However, for lawns infested with broad-leaf weeds such as dandelion, plantain, and others - control can be achieved by using 1,4-D or other recommended herbicides.

Social Security News

Looking for a typical social security beneficiary? Don't limit yourself to a check of rocking chairs. You may find him playing in the sand pile.

Of the 25 million people now receiving monthly social security checks, 5% million, or 1 out of every 4 is under 60 years of age, and 1 out of 8 is under 18.

"In the 29 years that social security benefits have been payable," James Mustian, social security manager, noted, "the number of children receiving monthly payments has increased from 54,648 to more than 34 million—44 million if you count the children 18 through 21 who will continue to receive benefits until they are 22 if they remain in school."

"Changes in the law over the years," Mustian said, "have broadened social security protection, greatly increasing the significance of the program to younger people. Through his social security contributions, the young worker today is building protection for his family that may pay off as much as $100,000 in benefits if he should become disabled or before his children are grown."

"About 1.3 million disabled workers under 65 are now drawing monthly disability insurance benefits under social security," Mustian pointed out, "and payments are going to over 1 million of their dependents. The average payment to the family of a disabled worker with 1 or more children is $235 a month. The maximum is $415." Three million young widows and children are receiving payment for a mother and children now $245 and the maximum $434.40.

"In the Rockcastle County area," Mustian said, "100 disabled workers and 131 of their dependents are receiving monthly disability benefits. These payments amount to over $14,000 per month. Over 400 widowed mothers and their children are receiving survivors insurance benefits totalling $20,000 per month."

GOVERNOR LOUIE B. NUNN RETURNED TO BARREN COUNTY July 11 to break ground for the proposed $2.4 million lodge at Barren River Reservoir State Park. Gov. Nunn stands beside an artist's rendering of the new lodge on the site overlooking Barren Reservoir. The lodge will include 51 guest rooms, a large dining room, snack bar, game room, lobby and lounge and is expected to be completed by October, 1970. The shovels in foreground were later manned by the governor, Parks Commissioner Robert E. Gable and architect A. B. McCullough.

LABOR ATTORNEY—Mrs. Gemma Harding, Louisville, attorney for Special Funds with the Ky. Department of Labor, consults her library of legal reference. Mrs. Harding, who maintained a private law practice, was recruited for state government by the Kentucky Commission on Women, which is seeking experienced women to fill professional positions in Frankfort.

Library Notes

The library has prepared a fishing pond and poles for each child to use that enters our reading contest. For every book read, a fish is added to the child's line and every child that gets 25 books will be invited to an ice-cream party at the end of the contest, August 23.

The Bookmobile will visit the following places during the week of July 28th: Brodhead, Livingston, Bush Creek, Climax, Three Links, and Red Hill.

A shipment of new books has been received from the Department of Libraries. Among them are:

ASIMOV'S GUIDE TO THE BIBLE—THE OLD TESTAMENT, by Isaac Asimov. This book adds a new dimension to studies of the Bible's secular side. The author attempts to illuminate the events of the Old Testament by letting us in on the actual historical, geographical and biological aspects of the first 4,000 years of human civilization.

BENNETT CERF'S TREASURY OF ATROCIOUS PUNS. Here, in one volume, are all the puns Mr. Cerf has hoarded over the years.

THE BLACK ATHLETE, by Jack Olsen. An absorbing report on the shameful way in which Negro athletes have been exploited both on the college and professional level.

ELIZABETH'S GREETING, by Rosemary Haughton. Medieval Germany is the setting for this striking biographical novel of Elizabeth of Hungary.

THE GREAT AIR WAR, by Aaron Norman. The first comprehensive account of the battle of the planes, and their vital role in World War I.

THE KENTUCKY, by Thomas Clark. A spirited book, full of disarming good humor and charm, the Kentucky River seems to take on the qualities of a great lady who has lived and grown up with the Commonwealth.

LIVING-ROOM WAR, by Michael Arlen. An accurate account, entertaining and despairing, of the place and role and presence of television in our lives today.

A WORLD FULL OF ANIMALS, by John Hunt. An animal conservationist tells how men and wild animals have shared the earth from cave times till now.

THE YOUNGERMAN GUNS, by Lewis Patten. The story of two brothers in conflict.

A Cain and Abel story in a western setting.

ALASKAN SUMMER, by Mary Collins Dunne. A compelling caravan to Alaska probes the beginning of a difficult time for Marka. His resentment of his new home in the North is climaxed by his flight from home and his resulting adventures. Grades 4-7.

THE EVOLUTION OF THE MACHINE, by Ritchie Calder. The MACHINE is the main character of this volume; the machine, its birth, growth, and place in today's society. Excellently illustrated, this work presents the "how" and "why" of this important part of our lives. Grades 7-up.

KATIE GOES TO CAMP, by Eleanor Schick. Camp Bonniebrooks is the site of Katie's first real trip away from home. At first Katie's doll needs help to get use to camp but at the end of the first day, she feels at home. K-2.

THE LITTLE COCKEREL, by Victor G. Ambrus. Hungary is the home of this tale about a little cockerel attempting to regain a stolen coin. The volume is highlighted by illustrations both bold and beautiful. K-2.
