

John Sherman Cooper

'an individual we need in Frankfort'

During her tenure as auditor Jim Thompson's opponent audited the records of 68 county courthouses. All sheriffs, county attorneys, county court clerks, jailers, judges and magistrates are fee officers and are subject to having their books audited.

The Democratic candidate publicly embarrassed the county officials by calling them crooks in the news media. She did not try to help them do a better job.

My first elected office was county judge and I know that no matter how good a bookkeeper a public official is, he will make some mistakes. Jim Thompson's cooperative approach toward county office holders is therefore more reasonable; I think, because honest mistakes can be corrected without embarrassment to public officials.

The Democrats are trying to say that this race is a statewide popularity test of Governor Nunn's administration. It is therefore important that all members of the Party of Lincoln of the Fifth Congressional District vote solidly for an individual we need in Frankfort.

We must always remember this: Lincoln's name is immortal today, not because he lived in that log cabin but because he got out of it and was elected President. Let's get Jim Thompson elected auditor. †

THE CANDIDATE and HIS CAMPAIGN MANAGER - Senator Thruston B. Morton believed the election of Jim Thompson to the office of Auditor important enough to warrant lending his tremendous prestige to the campaign of Jim Thompson, and is working, as Thompson's campaign manager, to see the election of a man he sees as "eminently qualified." †

Marlow Cook

'a man with financial experience'

Jim Thompson is a man with financial experience, a man with a strong business background, a man experienced with the duties and responsibilities of the State Auditor's Post. As State Auditor he has devoted the same dedicated, hard work that he does to Jefferson County in civic affairs, and on behalf of the Republican Party when I was county judge.

His approach to the problems of his office has been a realistic one. He has tried to improve the operations of government throughout the state by being a "helpful watchdog" - by trying to help county officials through suggestions and cooperation. Many of Kentucky's county officials have benefited from his training programs in which they are helped to utilize modern business techniques. Through cooperative work with private accountants, Thompson has even made computers available for the county judges of small counties so that they can update their county budgets.

Perhaps the greatest compliment one could pay Jim Thompson is for his constructive attitude toward his job. He readily admits that he does not know all the answers; but is constantly seeking to involve those who do. One example of his approach to problem-solving, would be his work to combat the rising cost of medicare in Kentucky.

The costs of the medicare program were investigated and recommendations were made concerning reducing the administrative expenses so more Kentuckians could realize more benefits under medicare.

Jim Thompson has been putting in a full day's work as auditor. He has been nonpartisan in the performance of his duties, and has not played politics with his office. This approach is a sound one.

And, because of his record, he will receive the support of many Democrats in the county courthouses as well as the votes of all Republicans. †

SENATOR JOHN SHERMAN COOPER likes Thompson's cooperative approach to the office he holds and seeks re-election to. Above, Senator Cooper consults with Jim Patrick, Wayne County Chairman. †

Gene Snyder

'He . . . will serve Kentucky ably'

I ran against Jim Thompson in the Republican Primary for Congress in 1966.

It was a hard fought, close primary, in which we both wanted to win. After I won the primary, Jim Thompson pitched in and helped me get elected in November.

I have the greatest amount of respect for Jim Thompson. He will be elected auditor on November 4 and will serve Kentucky ably in this capacity. There are not as many registered Republicans in my congressional district as in the Fifth Congressional District, but I challenge Congressman Carter and his district in this election. My district will prove that the Fourth, not the Fifth, is the strongest Republican congressional district in the state, by giving Jim Thompson the largest majority. †

BOTH SENATOR MARLOW COOK and Governor Louie B. Nunn believe the election of Jim Thompson as Auditor of Public Accounts is a must if Kentucky is to continue its present progressive course. †

Bill Cowger

'youth tempered by . . . experience'

Some citizens pay too little attention to the office of Auditor of Public Accounts. It is a four year elected, constitutional office which I found to be one of the most important offices while I served as Mayor of Louisville.

Jim Thompson has the energy and idealism of youth tempered by the maturity of experience and he has already shown the citizens of Kentucky that he can operate the auditor's office responsibly.

The Republican Party will carry Jefferson County and the City of Louisville this year and Jim Thompson will lead the Republican ticket. I know all the Republican counties of the mighty Fifth District will want to help their party's nominee, Jim Thompson, get elected State Auditor. †

We welcome you into our midst and feel you are an asset to the local candidates in each of our counties. We are pledged to urge our voters to vote the straight Republican ticket.

Disraeli once said, "Damn the principle, stay true to the party." In this State Auditor's race there are not only principles involved, but personalities, also. And Jim Thompson emerges superior on both counts. Now is the time all good Republicans should come to the aid of their party. I am proud to say that the Fifth District has solved its problems of Republican factionalism because we realize Kentucky's motto is "United We Stand, Divided We Fall."

Women

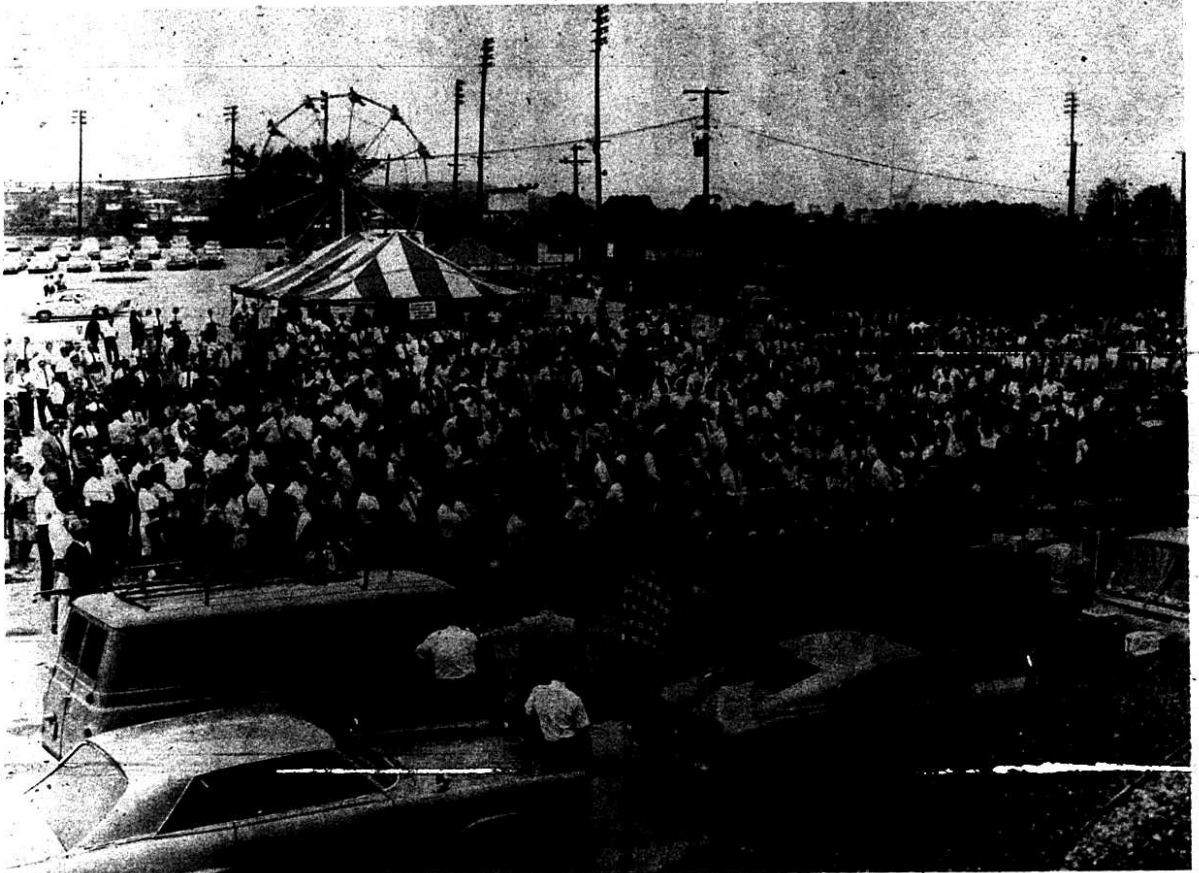

will vote sensibly - for Jim Thompson

James Thompson will receive the woman's vote for the office of state auditor. Why? Because he's good looking—any man might say. No, that's not the reason. Don't sell women short. Women, too, will delve into his past achievements and his plans for the future and they will be impressed.

Jim Thompson is not over-bearing or shy, but he has accomplished at 37 what few people achieve in a lifetime—the ability to talk and listen to every type of person. He speaks with truth and sincerity, thus, he gains a woman's respect.

He communicates well, and a woman studying his intellectual attitude finds proof of his superior leadership. She finds that he is not only the graduate of esteemed Yale, but also that he received a law degree from the University of Louisville. She finds his decisions are reached after applying a keen mind and referring to the laws of our state. Because of this Jim Thompson will gain a woman's trust. Jim Thompson's image from the eyes of a woman reflects respect and trust. He will receive the vote of Kentucky's women.

KICKOFF DAY for the campaign at the Thruston B. Morton picnic saw hundreds of top-ranking Republicans and discerning Democrats come out to get the campaign moving.

the candidate who listens

The Thompson campaign style has buoyed the hopes of his workers. Instinctively, it seems, he is liked. He's liked because he can sensibly discuss the issues in the race, and liked because he always has the time to listen to any Kentuckian's ideas on how best to prevent waste and corruption and how to help Kentucky's officials do a more efficient job.

A CHAT WITH A VOTER? No. But some day Kentucky will be his, this child's—and Jim Thompson always takes time to talk to, and listen too, Kentuckians of all ages.

JIM THOMPSON takes a reasoning approach to the solution of problems of the state—and to questions posed by voters along the campaign trail. He never forgets that the job he seeks is part investigative, part advisory.

a family man for auditor

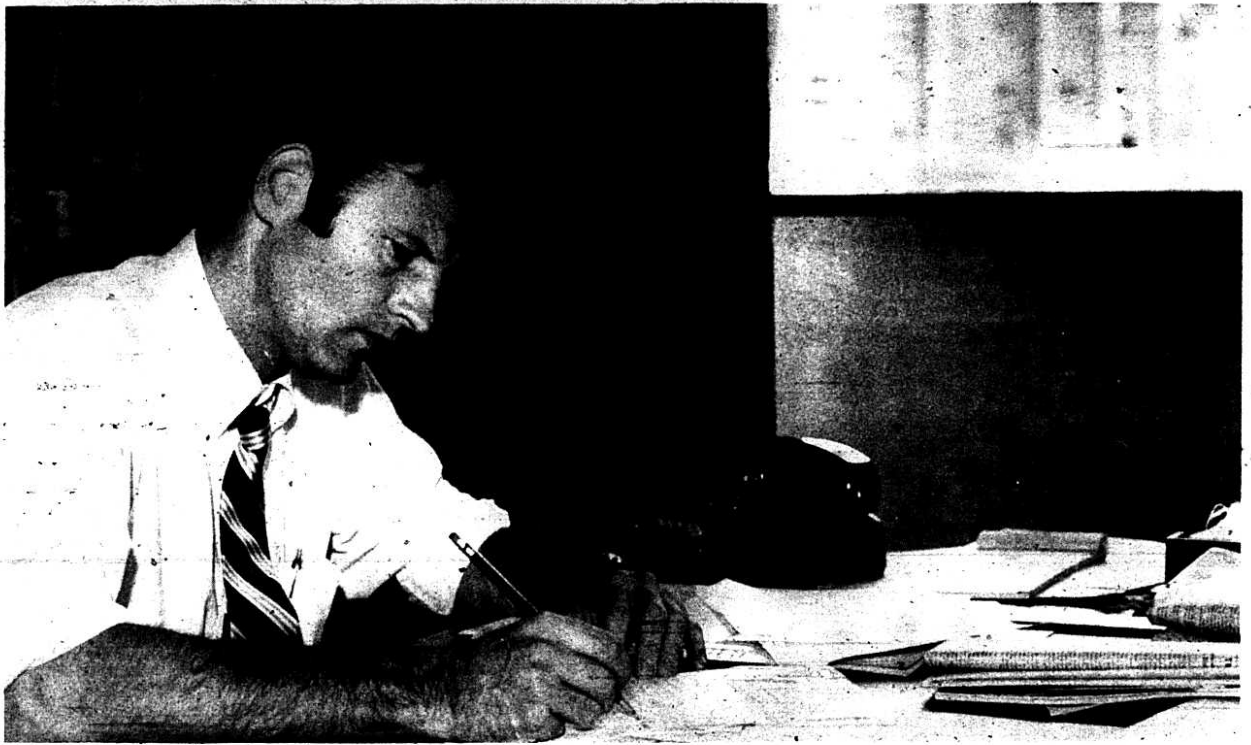

Kentuckians are known for their respect for the old family ways, for putting home and children ahead of all other matters. For Jim Thompson, holding public office and doing the job well is insurance for a better life for his two sons and two daughters. NO QUESTION about these young misses' choice for auditor: Emery and Lisa Thompson are for father—for President even. †

"We must prevent waste and corruption. But in addition, we can offer ideas to the Counties and State Agencies that will help them do a better job," Jim Thompson says. Ever probing for new methods, the Auditor adds, "Almost always, there is a better, more efficient way to do things. Our job is to find that way; and then convince others of its value."

Jim Thompson

... a working state auditor

answers your questions

QUESTION: Why do you want to be auditor?

ANSWER: It's a fascinating job—a worthwhile experience to help people solve their problems. For example, one county had its courthouse destroyed by fire several months ago. This county carried no insurance on its courthouse. We are setting up programs to implement worthwhile suggestions so that in the future, if a county has such an omission, our office can draft a program which county officials could then consider.

QUESTION: What is the real purpose of an audit?

ANSWER: An important purpose of an audit ought to be to assist county officials or department managers to improve their own procedures. In this way the auditor can be a real help. The work he does not only protects the officials from unintentional errors in the way their books are kept, but he can also be helpful in future planning and budgeting. The auditor's office should be more than a watchdog. It should also provide a financial advisory service for government agencies.

QUESTION: What are some of the problems of the auditor's office?

ANSWER: We have a budget of $250,000 and that has to be stretched as far as possible. But for this year, county audits are on schedule. I feel the office should be strengthened as to personnel and talent, but I will not ask for more money until I feel sure we are doing the best job possible with what we already have.

QUESTION: What improvements can be made in the auditor's office?

ANSWER: We are looking for suggestions from students, business people, teachers, or laymen. Kentucky has resources of talent that haven't been tapped. I hope we can be the catalyst to bring the right people together with the problems.

HIS OWN AVIATOR, a successful businessman, a respected civic leader, a farmer, father, and churchman, Jim Thompson represents the ideal of the new do-everything breed of young leaders. A Kentuckian's Kentuckian, he offers to the people of Kentucky a refreshing respite from the old guard politicians who so long hampered Kentucky progress.

Water Flows In New Lines Laid By City Of Mt. Vernon

Long awaited water for the outlying districts of Mt. Vernon is now running in the water lines. Engineers and city officials Wednesday turned water into the last district which was in the Renfro area. Other areas had been turned on previously.

The City of Mt. Vernon, who is furnishing the water through their new water plant at Renfro Valley, purchased a portable pump which allowed them to go ahead and put the new water treatment plant into operation. The old plant would not have been adequate to supply the additional customers so, rather than wait until the lake filled sufficiently to supply the plant by gravity, the pump was installed. Approximately sixty homes in the county are already hooked to the new system and using the water. The project, approved almost three years ago by the Economic Development Association with a sixty per cent grant and 40 per cent loan, has been under construction for about a year. Right after the original approval was received, the City had to solicit 200 water customers who would put up $100 each for

Mental Health Center Explained

The Southeastern Kentucky Health-Mental Retardation Board, Inc., is a non-profit corporation composed of persons in Whitesville, Knox, Clay, Laurel, Jackson, and Rockcastle counties to plan, coordinate and implement mental health and mental retardation services in and for residents of these six counties. Of special note is the fact that the program, while financed largely by state and federal funds, is governed by local persons and will require considerable local support to be successful. This represents an effort to bring mental health and mental retardation treatment facilities to local areas on a scale that will significantly reduce the future need for hospitalization at distances far from home.

The Center will be known as the Southeastern Kentucky Mental Health Center, and will provide a broad range of mental health and mental retardation services. The services include out-patient as well as in-patient treatment programs for emotionally disturbed and retarded persons. Partial or day hospital care will be available. A twenty-four hour emergency service will be provided. Consultation and coordination with other care agencies and community education will be strongly emphasized. Members of the Mental Health Center staff are not only available but actively encourage requests of individuals or groups to answer questions about, and explain the entire program and the role of every citizen in its success. To be a success the backing and moral support of the entire community is vitally important.

A strong emphasis of the Southeastern Kentucky Mental Health Center will be treatment for the mentally retarded persons including day-care training for children, activities programs for adults, and a sheltered workshop to provide job training. In addition, family service workers will work with mentally retarded persons and their families in the home.

The central coordinating facility will be in Corbin. But the decentralization of the treatment activities will be accomplished in two primary ways. Three area teams of mental health and mental retardation professionals will serve two counties each in the six county area, and will be housed in the county served. In addition, a mobile clinic

Can Taxpayers Be Fooled Again?

Louie B. Nunn was elected Governor on the Promise of "No Increase In Taxes." His Promise was NOT KEPT. Instead, he gave us the "Biggest Tax Increase In History." Kentuckians paid 24 per cent more taxes in 1968-1969 than in the previous year ($127 million more.)

Wm. Harold DeMarcus was elected State Representative on the Promise of "No Increase In Taxes." His Promise was NOT KEPT. Instead, he voted for a 60 per cent increase in the Sales Tax From 3 cents to 5 cents (an increase of $100 million per year) -- The Highest Sales Tax in the Nation on the Necessities of Life.

The Tax on Medicine falls heaviest on the poor, the elderly, and those on Fixed Incomes - Pensions, Retirement, and Social Security. With the rapidly rising cost of living, the 5 per cent tax on food works hardship on the poor, and low and middle income families, adding about $60 per year per family to food costs.

The man who promised Taxpayers "No Increase In Taxes" and Broke his Promise, asks the voters to re-elect him as his New Promise, to Reduce Taxes Next Year?? But, Taxpayers Will Not Be Fooled Again!!! For Tax Relief, Vote For The Man You Can Trust, The Taxpayer's Friend.

arise in the course of discussion."
After acting on the Singletary-Strickler proposal, the trustees will forward it to the State Council on Higher Education and to the Legislature, which meets in January.

ONE OF TWO
Governor Nunn has made his position clear on the two proposed amendments to the state constitution that will be voted on Nov. 4.

He said, "I cannot support the annual sessions amendment at this time." He had said previously he would support the amendment to assess tax on land on the basis of its use for farm purposes.

"I am persuaded," said the Governor, "that the undesirable features of this proposal--to have regular sessions of the Legislature each year instead of every two years -- far outnumber its advantages."

Because of the demand on a member's time, he said, annual sessions would present "a real danger that the present quality of the Legislature would be reduced." He asserted the added expense would be prohibitive.

Adding sponsors of the amendment indicate they seek greater continuity for the Legislature, the Governor said he thought this already had been attained through the new system of interim committees.

WRITES CONGRESS
Members of Congress were urged in letters by Governor Nunn to delay action on extension of the national war on poverty until he has a chance to document alleged abuses in the program by the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO).

"I will not be a party to the waste of the taxpayers' money," the Governor said recently when informed OEO had denied his request that funds be withheld from a Kentucky project because of alleged political activities by its director.

The Governor stated the information being prepared for submission to Congressmen will show OEO's "failure to follow guidelines established by Congress, waste, unreasonable administrative costs, political activity and program abuse."

BOOZE BY THE BARRELFUL led to the arrest of five executive director, Kentucky moonshiners in Logan County a few weeks ago when Kentucky State Police and federal agents, acting on a tip, raided one of the largest stills uncovered in Ken-Louisville. Police Chief tucky during recent years. Police have in front of C. J. Hyde, and Pitcock of Bowling Green Post 3.

MAN OVER COMPUTER
In a Kentucky Court of Appeals decision on "man vs. computer," the court upheld a $7,000 damage award to John T. Swarens of Jefferson County from the Ford Motor Credit Co. which Swarens claimed wrongfully repossessed his auto because of a computer mistake.

Said Appellate Judge Scott Reed: "In this computerized age, the law must require that men in the use of computerized data regard those with whom they are dealing as more important than a perforation on a card."

PARKS GROW
Breaking ground for $2.2 million in improvements, including a new lodge and boat-dock complex, at Greenbo Lake State Park in Greenup County, Governor Nunn said Kentucky's state park system will have been enlarged by 40 per cent when his administration ends in Dec. 1971.

The governor also broke ground for a new wing for Caveland Lodge at Carter Caves State Park near Olive Hill.

Later in the day, at headquarters of Appalachian Industries at Vanceburg for dedication on that group's training center for Appalachian craftsmen, he said "the young people of this area must be encouraged to make their futures here ... we must stop their export and migration."

COURT DAY RELIEVED
Among the thousands who went and apparently enjoyed the annual court day in Mt. Sterling Monday were Mrs. Louie B. Nunn, wife of the governor, and Mrs. Otis A. Singletary, wife of the new president of the University of Kentucky.

Court day in Mt. Sterling, crowded to several times its normal size of 5,370 by people who came to swap knives, guns, dogs, antiques and many other items, is a throwback to the pic-near era when the circuit judge came to hold court each quarter year.

DOZEN NAMED
Kentuckians were named to attend an 18-state, five-day training conference on organized crime in Athens, Ga., beginning October 27. Among the group:

Kentucky's Traffic Safety Coordinating Committee reported a study it made of 14 drivers involved in fatal accidents recently in various sections of the state shows nearly half previously were involved in accidents or had been arrested for serious traffic offenses.

PEONIES ARE VERY POPULAR

Peonies are very popular because of their showy blooms. These blooms are crimson, on the common Peony, but other varieties sport pink, or white and pink, blooms. Both are very lovely. Some gardeners plant a combination of the two to make a colorful display.

Peonies' seedlings grow to heights of five feet or more. They are very easy to cultivate, which makes them popular. The most common Peonies have single flowers, but Peonies with double flowers are often seen.

Flowers are the best way of saying that you remembered. Our funeral floral arrangements are made with great care and particular choice of flowers. We believe that the floral tributes should be a crowning achievement of floral art.

Forest Planting To encourage reforestation of approximately 1,000,000 acres of eroded, idle and submarginal land, the planting of farm windbreaks, and the improvement of existing woodlands, the Department of Natural Resources, Division of Forestry operates nurseries from which tree seedlings are supplied at low cost to farmers and timberland owners in the State.

Trees will not be sold for ornamental, shade-tree, roadside or border planting, nor for planting within the corporate limits of any city.

The following tree species are available through the Kentucky Division of Forestry: Loblolly pine, Shortleaf pine, White pine, Virginia pine, Black locust, Yellow poplar, White ash, White oak, Chestnut oak, Cottonwood, Sycamore, Scotch pine, and Black walnut.

Seeding trees may be ordered from Kentucky Division of Forestry District Foresters, Soil Conservation Service, Extension Service and ASCS office.

Orders may be placed with Mr. Steve Bullen, Rockcastle County Forest Ranger, or with the District Forester, Division of Forestry, P.O. Box 31, Pineville, Ky.

Where possible the Division of Forestry will transport trees from the nursery to a central point in each county where the buyers can receive them. Advance notice will be given each buyer as to the time and place of delivery. All seedlings are inspected and graded when lifted and again inspected before shipment. All seedlings are packed in sphagnum moss or a clay slurry to keep the roots in the best condition for survival.

The Kentucky Division of Forestry also offers assistance by sending a technically trained Service Forester to work with woodland owners. The Service Forester will work with you in (1) making an examination of your woodland (2) recommend improvements, (3) prepare a management plan, (4) give you tree planting advice and (5) guide you toward obtaining financial assistance for forestry work.

Forestry owners can get help by making a request for assistance by contacting Mr. Steve Bullen or the District Forester at Pineville, Ky.

This service is designed to aid owners of less than 500 acres of woodland.

The only cost involved is that of cutting must be made. A Forester will assist in marking the trees to be cut. Marking charge is 40¢ a 1,000 board feet for sawtimber, and 20¢ a cord for pulpwood, with a minimum charge of $5.00.

Fall Care of Roses

Wages need attention in the fall. Climbers that have produced long canes or stems should be tied to the trellis or fence where they are growing. Tying prevents these young stems from being damaged by gusts of wind during the winter. If some of these young stems have grown across a walk or are otherwise in the way, they may be cut off at this time. Do not do any major pruning on the climbing roses at this time.

If the hybrid teas, monthly, and floribunda roses have tops 4 to 6 feet tall, they may be cut back until the top is 30 inches high. These long tops sway in the wind during winter and often break off.

Do not try to do an expert job of pruning now. It will need to be done again in the spring because of winter-killed to the tops of the stems.

The hybrid teas and floribunda types need some protection around the base of the stems to keep them from freezing during the winter. This mulch may be soil, straw, old hay, or crushed tobacco stalks. This mulch should provide protection to about 12 inches of the base of the stems. Keep the mulch loosened around the base of the stems.

Excellent Herd Of Whitetail Available

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, through years of careful planning and stocking, has created an excellent herd of white-tail deer which now may be found in every county of the commonwealth, and the number is increasing yearly.

By nature deer are alert and are careful not to be seen by man and that accounts for the fact that even though there is an ample supply many people have never seen a deer in the wild. Other than hunting the ability to move almost silently and having a superior sense of smell and hearing, they sport a camouflaged coat that blends in the natural surroundings.

November 12 is the beginning day of the five-day gun season in 98 of the state's 120 counties. In 95 of those counties only deer with visible antlers or antler may be taken, while in three counties, Barren and Hart—either sex deer may be taken. And of course all hunters know that he must have a deer hunting permit in addition to a valid hunting license and that he may take but one deer a year.

An estimated 27,000 woods men will take to the woods this year, each bent on harvesting a deer. Many of these hunters will go into the woods ignorant of the ways of the game they pursue.

A few simple suggestions, which may be helpful, are listed:

Prior to the season scout for areas containing signs, tracks, beds, rubs and trails. After selecting an area learn the terrain and take note of possible feeding places, watering holes and bedding areas. If you prefer tree stands they

A BETTER LIFE FOR THE RETARDED AT SOMERSET

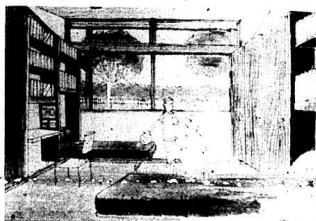

"The concepts that we will try to implement represent the most advanced thinking in group and family living," said Gov. Louie B. Nunn about the new Comprehensive Residential Training Center for the Retarded at Somerset. "We are responding to vital Kentucky needs."

The $9,650,000 complex, actually a model, self-contained city, is being built on 200 acres on U. S. 27 two miles south of Somerset and is expected to be complete in late 1971. It will provide a home, education and medical service for some 456 of Kentucky's retarded, and will employ about 350 people. It is part of Nunn's new $25 million building program.

"Our aim is to do all we can to bring the retarded person back into the mainstream of life, and to make him, within his capabilities, a productive human being," Gov. Nunn said.

The modern, light and airy structures shown here are integral parts of the complex that will replace the antiquated Frankfort State Hospital and School.

News About Kentucky

Which were the most exciting of the 95 Kentucky Derbies?

How about when Donerail won in 1913 and paid $184,90? Or when Old Rosebud, Johnstown and Assault won in 1914, 1939 and 1946, respectively, by eight lengths, the record Derby margin?

These races certainly were thrilling, but there are millions of racing fans who believe the most exciting of all the Derbies came in the 1960-69 era when Venetian Way, Carry Back, Decidedly, Chateaugay, Northern Dancer, Lucky Debonair, Kawai King, Proud Clarion, Dancer's Image and Majestic Prince were first under the wire.

All the excitement and thrills of these Derbies of the '60s is captured in a new film called "A Decade of Derbies," now available for showing from the Kentucky Dept. of Public Information.

The film is a 16mm production in sound and color. It runs 33 minutes.

Of the 10 fastest times for Derby winners, six are shown in "A Decade of Derbies"—Northern Dancer (2:00) in 1964; Decidedly (2:00 2/5) in 1962; Proud Clarion (2: 3/5) in 1967; Lucky Debonair (2:0 1/5) in 1965; Chateaugay, (2:01 4/5) in 1963 and Majestic Prince (2:01 4/5) in 1969.

Most prominent in the film is the controversial jockey Bill Hartack, who is tied with Eddie Arcaro for the most Derby wins, five. Hartack chalked up four of these victories in the '60s aboard Venetian Way (1960), Decidedly (1962), Northern Dancer (1964) and Majestic Prince (1969).

in a blistering stretch duel. A slow-motion sequence shows much of this record run by Northern Dancer and there are slow-motion features elsewhere in the film.

"A Decade of Derbies" captures all the pageantry and color of the greatest two minutes in sports, The Kentucky Derby. It shows the famous tulip gardens at Churchill Downs, the throngs in the infield, the beautiful and exotic trappings of the women who attend, the $5,000 gold trophy which goes to the winner, and most importantly, the full running of each of the 10 Derbies in the decade.

Andy D. Faulkner of Brodhead enjoyed a week's deer hunt in Wyoming last week with seven companions. They all begged a buck. The deer Mr. Faulkner killed, shown in the above photo with him, was a nine-point mule deer weighing about 180 pounds.

During several years of advanced planning and preparation, reference has been made to what the Mental Health Center will do, but very shortly it is expected that reference will be made to what the Mental Health Center is doing. Staff is beginning to be assembled and a number of key positions have been filled already. A MODEL CITY FOR THE RETARDED

A 200-acre site on U.S. 27 in Pulaski county will, by late 1971, be the home of Kentucky's new Comprehensive Residential Training Center for the Retarded at Somerset.

Gov. Louie B. Nunn looks at the first scale model of the facility which represents the most advanced concepts of group and family living for the retarded in the United States. Its cost will be $9,650,000. It will have living quarters for 456 residents and will employ about 350 persons under an annual budget of up to $3 million.

The new Somerset facility is a small, self-contained city," Gov. Nunn said. "It will have full medical, education and social services designed, hopefully, to bring the retarded individual back into the mainstream of life... and to make him, within his capabilities, a productive human being."

The complex will be the keystone of the Department of Mental Health's state-wide program for the retarded. It replaces the antiquated Frankfort State Hospital and School, and is part of the administration's $25 million state-wide building program.

Lawlessness and total disrespect — seeping like a cloud over much of America — must not enter our beloved Kentucky. We need men who are equal to this challenge. We need men of personal bravery who will stand up against lawlessness; who have deep convictions and belief in America and in Kentucky. We need wise men to assure every Kentuckian equal protection under the law. And we need men who will attack these problems of lawlessness and bring swift justice to those who place themselves outside our laws. We have such a man in Harold DeMarcus, your candidate for State Representative. He is equal to the challenge. Vote for him. Help make Kentucky safe for every law-abiding citizen.

ACADEMY REQUESTS ACCEPTED BY CARTER

Congressman Tim Lee Carter announced today that he is accepting requests for nominations for appointment to the United States Merchant Marine Academy. The academy is located at Kings Point, Long Island, New York, about 16 miles from New York City.

The academy offers a four year course leading to a license as an officer in the U.S. Merchant Marine, a commission as ensign in the U.S. Naval Reserve and the degree of Bachelor of Science. The Sophomore year is spent as a cadet in the vessels of the U.S. Merchant Marine.

Cadets receive $475 for each of the three years at the academy. During the sea year they are paid about $1,900 earned at the rate of $13.20 per month. Experience has shown that over the four years, that these amounts and the required expenses are almost equal. Spending money depends on the individual cadet and is not included. New cadets deposit $900 on entrance. Smaller amounts are required in the upper class years. Room, board, medical and dental care are provided without charge.

A candidate must meet requirements similar to those of a midshipman at the U.S. Naval Academy. They must have reached their 17th but not their 22nd birthday by July 1, 1970, be a high school graduate or in their Senior year. Those selected on a competitive basis as the result of the College Entrance Examination Board tests and other pertinent factors will enter the Merchant Marine Academy in July 1970.

I urge all qualified men who are interested in this worthwhile profession to write to me for details as soon as possible. My address is 1202 Longworth House Office Building, Washington, D.C., 20515.

RE-ELECT
CLYDE LINVILLE MAYOR
To Citizens Of Mt. Vernon.

We feel that the City of Mt. Vernon has made great progress during the past few years, and we believe that this progress should continue. Some of the accomplishments of the City during the past six years are:

1. A sanitary sewer system and treatment plant, financed mainly by a half-million dollar federal grant (or gift) and loan.
2. Annexation of large area to city upon petition of 95% of the residents of the area and reduced insurance rates for all new areas.
3. A 30 unit low-rent housing project completely financed by a half-million dollar federal loan, with construction to start next spring. Loan to be paid by Federal Government and Rent from Units at no cost to City.
4. Additional sewer lines up West Main Street to new area vocational school. Now in process.
5. Sale of gas franchise to Delta Gas Company.
6. Removal of old depot and construction of city parking lot.
7. A new water treatment plant and expanded water system to serve Mt. Vernon and surrounding areas. This project has produced or enabled the following benefits to Mt. Vernon and Rockcastle County: A 370 acre lake for fishing and recreation; permitted the construction of the Cedar Rapids Recreation Center with swimming pool and golf course; permitted the planned expansion of Renfro Valley; brought water to over two hundred families; permitted the economic development of the two interchanges on Interstate 75; permitted Brothead to begin a new sanitary sewer system and improved water system.

These accomplishments prove that Mt. Vernon and Rockcastle County are on the verge of great economic development. We believe this progress can be continued under the progressive and energetic leadership of Mayor Clyde Linville and we urge the voters of Mt. Vernon to RE-ELECT him.

VOTE MONROE BAKER

For Mayor Of Mt. Vernon

A MAYOR For All The People, Not Just A Few That Might Benefit Financially.

pol. adv. pd. for by Monroe Baker.

Many young disabled veterans may be missing out on social security disability benefits, according to James Mustian Branch Manager of the social security office in Somerset. He said, "This is an appropriate time, as the nation soon honors veterans of all wars, to remember that the Social Security Administration provides monthly disability payments to thousands of disabled veterans and their families." A lot more younger veterans are eligible for disability benefits now because of a change in the Social Security Law that was effective February, 1968 Mustian stated.

Until February, 1968 many young workers and veterans with impairments could not receive disability benefits because they had not worked long enough on social security covered jobs. Military service time counts as social security covered employment, the same as almost all other employment. Before then, young disabled men and women needed the same social security credits as older disabled people. Almost everyone needed social security credits for at least five out of ten years immediately before he became disabled.

"Unfortunately," Mustian said, "many young workers and veterans never had enough, including their time in service, to meet this five-year work requirement. But now, younger people disabled between their 24th and 31st birthday need credits for only half of the time between age 21 and the time they became disabled." Here is an example Mustian gave:

A person who became disabled on his 25th birthday, now needs only two years of social security work credits instead of the five years that were needed before this year. For anyone disabled before age 24, the social security work credit requirement is even less. It may be just one and one-half years of work credits out of the three-year period ending when the disability began. Mustian advised all disabled veterans and other younger disabled workers who were disabled before their 31st birthday to get in touch with the Somerset Social Security Office in the Tradewind Shopping Center soon. "Do this even if you made a claim before and were denied because you did not work long enough," Mustian urged. "The new law may help you."

The amounts of disability benefits now range from $55 to $189 a month for a single disabled worker and from $82.50 to $395.60 a month for a disabled worker with eligible dependents.

The Somerset Social Security Office is open Monday through Friday from 8:45 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and Monday evening from 5:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

HALLOWEEN VISION THE CHILD'S ABILITY TO SEE AND BE SEEN

By: Ky. Optometric Assn.

Night is the traditional time for trick-or-treaters to celebrate Halloween. Darkness adds just the right amount of mystery and fright to make the door-to-door trek exciting. Under the shadows of a tree or the ordinary tree on the corner becomes an eerie monster. Darkness also makes everything less visible - curbs, steps, holes and - children.

Halloween poses two areas of concern: the child's ability to see and his ability to be seen. The child's costume is one of the major ingredients to endure better vision for both child and motorist on Halloween.

When selecting a costume from among the hundreds at the store, parents should have their child try on the costume on a page fit. A poorly fitting mask can slip out of position and block the child's view. If a child cannot watch his step, he can easily trip over objects, step in a hole or off a step or curb and possibly break an arm or leg or suffer other injuries. Without good side vision, he can easily not see an oncoming car and walk into its path.

Some youngsters use "Mod" sunglasses. These may be appropriate for a rumpus room party but they severely restrict nighttime vision and should not be worn as part of a costume while outdoors at night.

Home owners can hide their young Halloween visitors by turning on all porch and yard lights. Steps should be well-lighted and all toys and garden tools should be put away and not left to clutter yards and sidewalks.

Because many residential areas do not have adequate street lighting and because a driver's vision is restricted at night, parents should encourage their children to wear light-colored costumes. A recent optometrist at a demonstrated white fabric is safely visible to a driver traveling up to a speed of 50 m.p.h.

Anyone driving a car on Halloween night should drive much slower than they normally would and with extreme caution, advises the KOA.

Well-fitting masks, light-colored costumes, flashlights, yard lights and extreme caution on the part of both children and motorists will make a safer Halloween, the KOA says.

Provides information about the tuberculosis problem in the county. Number of cases supervised during the year: 108

Promotes the vaccination of dogs in the county to prevent rabies.

Works toward the prevention of all animal diseases which can be transmitted to man.

CHRONIC DISEASES

More people die of heart disease than from the second and third leading causes (cancer and strokes) of death combined. Our rheumatic fever prevention program is one action by which the Health Department can try to prevent some of the early deaths from heart disease. Persons with rheumatic fever, when requested by their family Doctor or specialist, can receive medicine necessary to control rheumatic fever and prevent future heart damage.

Each year, Kentucky physicians may report as many as 1,000 new cases of the uterine cancer. When this kind of cancer is discovered early enough treatment can be started and lives can be saved. By means of a simple test, signs which foretell the development of this kind of cancer can be seen even before obvious symptoms are noted by the woman or her physician. This test is now available at the Rockcastle County Health Department on the 2nd and 4th Fridays of each month under the supervision of Dr. M.A. Shepherd.

MATERNAL AND CHILD HEALTH

There are many conditions of children which, if not found early and corrected, may lead to invalidism. The Health Department sees that school children receive periodic examinations for diseases and defects which can be corrected and follow up those examinations by helping make arrangements for remedial measures.

Dental examinations and corrections are made available to school children by the use of the Mobile Dental Unit provided by the local Health Department.

PKU tests are done on all newborns before leaving the Hospital. Tests on babies born at home are taken by the Health Nurse. This test is for a defect, which, if not found in the first weeks of life, will lead to mental retardation. Since prenatal medical supervision is the key to successful childbearing, the Health Department gives advisory services to expectant mothers and assists them in arranging for good maternity care.

In solving health problems basic to this county, the Health Department provides a number of services falling under these seven fields.

We submit to you the following list of activities which were carried out during July 1, 1968 through June 30, 1969.

Collects water samples for laboratory analysis of their bacteriological or chemical content.

Furnishes advice and help make plans regarding proper methods of the collection and disposal of garbage and rubbish.

Checks plans of water systems, plumbing installations, sewage disposal systems to be built in the county to assure that they will be of safe construction to protect the public health.

Discusses sanitation problems with individuals and groups.

The small, compact, two-seater automobile of today is neither novel nor unique.

A charming little two-passenger, semi-closed automobile, produced by the Hudson Motor Car Co., called the Runabout Landau, was delighting motorists back in 1948. It was designed to appeal to everyone, male and female, business men, tourists and sports enthusiasts.

In 1927, the rumble seat became popular. This extra seating capacity, while conveniently converting the two-seater automobile into a four seater, was not very practical, weather-wise, for the rumble seat had no protective top and was exposed to all the unpleasant elements of nature.

Now the attractive new mobile home is something else. It is also designed to appeal to everyone, but has a living space capacity to accommodate either large families or small families comfortably. You need only step into one of the famous new mobile homes to understand why these beautiful homes have been so named, for they are truly a classic in modern home living.

JASPER & JASPER MOBILE HOMES, INC. have many models, which provide harmony in decor, color, design, and furnishings, for you to tour and inspect. A modern mobile home is the ultimate in quality, style and beauty.

Kentucky leaders want Jim Thompson

PRESIDENT RICHARD M. NIXON himself has called for the election of Jim Thompson as State Auditor of Public Accounts in Kentucky. †

GOVERNOR LOUIE B. NUNN believed Jim Thompson the best qualified individual to fill the vacancy left by the death of the late Clyde Conley, and to work for his election to the unexpired term this year. †

A TOP ADVISOR in the Thompson campaign is Kentucky's Fifth District Congressman, the highly respected Tim Lee Carter. Dr. Carter served in World War II with Jim Thompson's father, and knows the qualities the young candidate inherited. †

Thruston B. Morton

'Jim Thompson deserves to win'

by Thruston B. Morton
Campaign Chairman,
Jim Thompson for Auditor

The photos taken by our astronauts show that clouds cover much of Kentucky with no sign of life in the Democratic Party. But we Republicans have an uphill fight in every statewide election because we are statistically behind before we get started.

Therefore, it is of greatest importance that Jim Thompson be given the great united Republican majority that only the Fifth Congressional District is capable of producing.

I agreed to serve as Jim Thompson's campaign manager in this year's election because I believe he is eminently qualified for the auditor's office. I believe Jim Thompson deserves to win.

Jim is a 37 year old native of Louisville, who, for 10 years was President of the Old South Insurance Company. After graduating from high school he served in the Marines during the Korean War, then received degrees in engineering from Yale and from the University of Louisville in law. He has served several years on the boards of the Community Chest, Heart Fund, Children's Hospital, and the Louisville Fund, of which he is a past President. He is a member of the Louisville and Jefferson County Air Board, Actors Theatre, the National Council of Christians, and the St. James Episcopal Church.

Active in the affairs of the Republican Party for years, he is currently vice-chairman of the Louisville-Jefferson County Executive Committee, was vice chairman for Goldwater in 1964, and was treasurer of the Nixon-Cook campaign in Kentucky.

Jim's hobbies include flying and electronics, but he has had little time for either since he assumed the responsibilities of the Auditor's office.

He is a breeder of Angus cattle and raises "a little corn" on his farm at Harrod's Creek, where he lives with his wife Allie (Dupee) and his four children, Lisa, Emery, Jimmy, and Sam. †

Louie B. Nunn

'a logical choice for this position'

On March 17, I appointed Jim Thompson State Auditor of Public Accounts to fill the vacancy created by the death of Clyde Conley. Jim's background in business and his wide ranged financial experience made him a logical choice for this position.

The responsibilities of the auditor include an annual audit of the accounting of all officials responsible for county funds, and periodic audits of the accounts of officials responsible for the collection of state revenues.

During the past months Jim Thompson has instituted a series of modern business techniques which have done much to upgrade the auditor's office. With the help of Dr. William Ecton, head of the accounting department at the University of Kentucky and with additional professional assistance, he has instituted a series of training sessions and periodic discussions with his field auditor.

Jim Thompson has done an outstanding job reviewing the fiscal affairs of Kentucky's 120 counties and some 87 agencies, boards, and commissions. At the same time, he has reduced the number of people employed by his office from 29 to 19 upon the recommendation of my Efficiency Task Force for Operation of the Auditor's Office. And these improvements have not cost the taxpayers one penny of additional expenditure; in fact, they are long range money savers.

Selling people on working together is a hard job. The state auditor's office is an especially difficult position since it must coordinate the procedures of county officials and department heads; and, with a budget of over a quarter of a million dollars, the responsibilities are great. For these reasons I urge all Kentuckians, especially those Republicans of the Fifth District who are responsible for my being Governor today, to actively support Jim Thompson's candidacy for auditor on November 4. †

Tim Lee Carter

'excellent appointment . . . Thompson'

Governor Nunn made an excellent appointment in selecting Jim Thompson State Auditor to replace the late Clyde Conley.

During World War II I served with Colonel Frank B. Thompson, Jim's father, in the 149th Infantry, 38th Division, in the Pacific theatre. I can assure the voters of the Fifth Congressional District that Jim Thompson possesses the same fine qualities of his distinguished father.

Many of the voters in our area of the state have not had the opportunity to meet Jim Thompson personally. One reason for this is that Jim has been so conscientious about his job as State Auditor that he has been reluctant to leave his many responsibilities in Frankfort. This fact tells you something of the high standards for which Jim Thompson stands and in which he believes.

Jim Thompson is the better candidate in this, our only statewide race.

I urge all Republicans to vote for Jim Thompson and to vote like my old Republican friend who thought that after the primary was over, the law required him to vote for the entire straight ticket of the Republican party.

Jim Thompson deserves the same type majority our district has given all Republican candidates since the Civil War. † Pol
