Library Notes

New books delivered to the Rockcastle County Library. Among them are:

AFTER YOU HEART ATTACK, by Warren Guild, M.D. Specific, encouraging advice on how you can enjoy an active, constructive, happy life after your heart attack.

AMERICAN NEGRO SLAVERY, edited by Allen Weinstein. Much of the historical background of the present racial crisis is explored in the twenty-two essays in this collection.

AUDUBON, by Robert Penn Warren. A series of poems suggested by episodes from the life and writings of John J. Audubon.

CARNARAVOR'S CASTLE, by Jenk Webb. Can Jennifer outwit her crazed captor, or is she doomed to become a victim of Carnaravor's Castle? A novel of suspense.

THE CHALLENGE, by Billy Graham. For the millions who have heard Billy Graham at Madison Square Garden, this volume offers a permanent record of what they heard.

THE COLLAPSE OF THE THIRD REPUBLIC, by William L. Shirer. The story of how France fell before Hitler's armies in 1940.

FAMOUS KENTUCKY COELS, by J. Winston Coleman, Jr. Describing 32 duels, Coleman shows himself an undaunted researcher turning up facts concerning hush-lush conflicts.

RONDUE, CHAFING DISH AND CASSEROLE COOKERY, by Margaret Murphy. Hundreds of interesting and last-tempting recipes - a one-volume guide to easy, informal entertaining.

THE FRENCH, by Sonche de Gromont. A perceptive and entertaining look at France, its people, culture, and way of life provides a fascinating exploration of everything French.

THE GREAT TREASURE HUNTS, by Rupert Farnsworth. This absorbing volume relates the exciting true stories of great treasures lost and treasures hunted by several centuries, many of which are still sought today.

HISTORY OF ROCKETRY AND SPACE TRAVEL, by Werner Von Braun and Frederick Ordway. Newly revised and expanded, this comprehensive history covers the most significant developments and discoveries in the history of space science, with emphasis on the Apollo Lunar landing.

IN QUEST OF DALI, by Carlton Lake. A vicarious, on-the-spot, introduction for general readers to Dali the artist and the man behind the artist.

IN SOMEONE'S SHADOW, by Rod McKuen. A touching collection of love poems by a popular American poet.

INTERNATIONAL CONFLICT FOR BEGINNERS, by Roger Fisher. This book enlightens with wit its hard-hitting expose of the weaknesses in our foreign policy decision-making process.

Grant Approved

Congressman Tim Lee Carter announced today the approval of a grant for $50,404 from the Appalachian Regional Commission which will be used to purchase 76,000 doses of Rubella (German Measles) vaccine and two injector guns.

This vaccine will be used in Appalachia in Kentucky's Rubella immunization drive in an effort to offset an epidemic of Rubella predicted by health officials some time between 1970-73.

The Appalachian Regional Commission has obligated $1,000,000 for the purchase of Rubella vaccine to be distributed throughout the 13 state Appalachian Region. Personnel and equipment necessary to administer the vaccine are already available through public health centers and hospitals in the region.

Total cost of the project is $50,680 of which the Kentucky Department of Health will contribute $276.

Vocational School News

The Harry Sparks Vocational School is now in the process of organizing classes in Trade and Industrial Education and Business & Office Education. These classes are to start any time that there is a need for such training and can be given in three different phases of instruction. These three different types of instruction are:

I. Work-Shop Training - This type of course is for adults working in a trade who would like to have more knowledge of their trade. These courses are usually short intensive courses of two nights each week for about twelve weeks and are designed to meet the specific needs of the people enrolled in the class. Upgrading courses are offered at the convenience of the students and the cost of the course may consist of any skill or knowledge development which would be of help to the worker. The cost of upgrading courses are usually $5.00 and books.

II. The second type of adult class we plan to offer is called part-time or one-half-time classes. These classes may be in any type of work which is offered in our daily school program or a specific course could be offered if there were a need and enough of those who wanted the instruction. The only requirement for our offering any courses is that there be a need for them. The part-time or one-half-time classes meet for three hours each day for five days a week. Those attending these classes are usually employed but would like to train for a better job and could attend classes at night. Also, unemployed persons could attend to become employable. These courses would also be of help to persons who are employed part-time. The cost for part time classes is $2.00 per month and books.

III. The third type of courses to be offered are full-time instruction. Full-time instruction means that the student attends class for six hours each day. Full-time courses are also offered at the convenience of the students; however, most students prefer a time in the evening from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m. A person who attends these classes could learn a trade much sooner than through the other courses. The actual length of time to complete a course depends on the knowledge and skill of the subject that the student has when he starts the course. The cost to a full time student (CONT. TO 8)

News Kentucky

Several misconceptions regarding Kentucky's automobile license law were pointed out by Maurice Carpenter, director of the Revenue Department's motor vehicle tax division.
"Some drivers think it's illegal to continue to use an auto tag issued by a county of former residence after moving to another county," Carpenter said.

More Water, More Fishing

Kentucky fishermen are a fortunate lot. Before the advent of the big lakes Kentucky had an ample supply of running streams from which good fish were extracted. Then came the major lakes, one by one, until now there are 13 each of which contains one thousand or more surface acres of water. In addition, there are hundreds of smaller lakes which provide good fishing and then there is a great number of smaller farm ponds which offer excellent fishing close to home.
And so, as the population of Kentucky has increased, so have the acres of fishable waters and with good fishing, more fish are available to the fisherman today than there were a half century ago.

NEW ARRIVALS
A daughter, Joyce Ann, born February 2, 1970, to Mr. and Mrs. Marion Franklin Poyner of Boone.
A daughter, Melissa Diane, born February 3, 1970, to Mr. and Mrs. Eldon McGuire of Mt. Vernon.

Forestry Notes

Do you have an old pasture field you are not using for grazing, a corn field that has not been planted for five years, or steep land that is inaccessible to your farm machinery? If so, don't let this land lie idle, let it become productive for you again by planting it in tree seedlings.
Many farmers in your county have already planted trees on their land. Some have planted to stabilize eroding areas, some to beautify their land cover for wildlife, some for denatification purposes, and some to insure an increase in their farm income in the future.
The Kentucky Division of Forestry will soon have tree seedlings available to farmers and timberland owners. These seedlings will be lifted from the nurseries in March, so if you are planning to plant trees this spring you need to have your area ready by then.
The seedlings are available at cost, or if you wish, cost-share funds are available for reforestation projects.

"It's perfectly legal, but at the end of the year, the new plate should be bought in the county of actual residence."

What about out-of-state tags? A motorist moving to Kentucky with the intention of staying, is required by law to buy a Kentucky car plate within five days. A visitor may use an out-of-state for 30 days, or as long a period as his home state permits a Kentucky plate to be used through the Except in Henderson County, where the county clerk reports the sale of 1970 auto tags "normal," sale of license plates lags, Carpenter said. The lag is blamed on the bad weather. New tags must be on passenger cars and motorcycles by March 1 and on trucks by April 1.

First imports from New York were brought in as eggs. These eggs were hatched and the small fish were placed in fence basins. They are doing very well. But then, during February and March, when the walleyes spawn, the taking season is on. Fishermen and this is expected to bring about an increased production each year. The taking season is the making of comparatively new Barren River Reservoir into a walleye factory. Fish were put in this lake and there was a big fishing for them in this body of water. From fish in this lake the Department is expected to extract millions of eggs and when hatched the small fish will be used to stock other lakes.
And last but not least is the rockfish, or the ocean-going white bass. These fish were first transplanted to Kentucky waters in great numbers and which are doing very well in four of the major lakes. Young rock fish are obtained from a South Carolina hatchery located below Santee-Cooper Reservoir near Monticello, S.C. They are moved to the federal hatchery near Frankfort where they are cultivated until they reach a desired release size. Then they are placed in Herrington, Cumberland, Kentucky and Barkley Lakes. They have grown very well in these lakes and each year more and more of this species are caught. They are not expected to spawn to the degree that they will stock themselves. The operation is to be much like the minnow project of put and take. This year a brand new 8,000 surface acre lake is expected to be stocked with the finest bass fishing in the southeastern part of the United States. It is Green River Reservoir which lies in Southcentral Kentucky and where bass, small ones, last year were as thick as hops. The bluegill, good sized ones, are plentiful and there also is an ample amount of croppie in this lake. Green River Reservoir joins with Barkley, Kentucky, Rough River, Nolin River, Barren River, Herrington, Dale Hollow, Cumberland, Buckhorn, Dewey, Grayson and Flattop lakes, as well as hundreds of the smaller ones, to bring to Kentucky some of the most-outstanding fishing waters of the nation.

Pruning

We have been asked many times whether pruning should be done at this time of year. Deciduous plants such as flowering shrubs and trees may be pruned, provided you keep certain things in mind. If you prune flowering shrubs drastically now, you remove flowers that would have bloomed next spring. However, shrubs that have not been pruned for a long time could be pruned now. Remove some of the older branches almost to the ground to thin the plant, reduce its height, and encourage new growth. Shrubs often make a growth in late fall causing long undecussable branches to grow across a walk or slap against the house. These should be removed at this time. February is probably one of the best months of the year to prune trees. Such trees as maples tend to bleed or give out sap when they are pruned during the growing season. By pruning now you can avoid this. Here is another important point to remember in pruning trees. When you remove branches 1/2 inch or more in diameter, paint the wound with a good grade of neutral color house paint, or, better still, with tree wound dressing. Now you can get this material in the quart size which is ideal for the average homeowner. It can be used not only for tree wounds, but it is especially good to use on roses next spring for rose cane borer protection. Do not prune evergreens now except where the branches may have grown out so far as to be in the way of a walk or are slapping against the house. Cut these long branches back. The ideal time for pruning evergreens in Kentucky is some time from the middle of June until the end of July; however, you will not injure the plants permanently if you do a little pruning at this time. This is a good time to remove old dead vines, either annual or perennial. Prune perennial vines back close to the trellis or support. Vines are very attractive plants when used correctly, but they do need a certain amount of maintenance for them to be good looking. Removing the dead parts is one of the very important things, and it must be taken care of every year. This applies to honeysuckle, clematis, all kinds of climbing roses, and such vigorous vines as English ivy, Boston ivy and euonymus.

Pesticide-Fertilizer Mixture Not to be Used on Tobacco Application of pesticide-fertilizer mixtures on tobacco has not been recommended by the University of Kentucky as a general practice for several reasons. It is recognized that such mixtures when properly applied save labor, and other operational costs, but this benefit is too often outweighed by disadvantages and detriments.

Technically a pesticide-fertilizer mixture is primarily a pesticide and should be applied according to the pesticide requirements. The person who uses the mixture often makes applications on the basis of fertility needs. As a result, applications of the mixture are often, but not necessarily, made at inappropriate times, and/or at improper dosage rates. Such inadvisable applications lead to the following problems: (1) The pesticide may be applied too early so that much of the impact of the pesticide is lost by the time the insect problem presents itself. (2) Conversely, pesticides applied after the time most advisable for controlling an insect problem do not have less effect. (3) Too small pesticide application will not solve adequately the insect problem, although the application was adequate to meet fertility needs. (4) The application of too much pesticide, either by applying too large a single dose or by applying it too frequently, puts unnecessary residues in the soil. (a) Unnecessarily high residues in the soil may contribute to unnecessary residues on the treated crop. (b) The high residues may disqualify the land for years for other agricultural uses, such as raising dairy cattle, or growing forage and certain root crops. (c) Or, the high residues can cause long-term detrimental damage to the environment, not only at the site of application but at points far-removed from the application site.

Beef Cattle Check-List

1. Parasite control - Both external and internal parasite control procedures should be set-up and carried out during the winter months. Check with your local Extension Agent for current information on parasite control.
2. Dehorn, castrate, and vaccinate on a regular schedule.
3. Calving time is a critical time in the life of both the cow and calf - your income can also be greatly affected by calving percent. Good beef cattle management pays big dividends at calving time. First calving heifers may need special attention.
4. Keep vitamin A supplementation practice up during the winter months for all cattle.
5. Keep good records during 1970. When figuring your 1969 income taxes, make sure to use the proper procedures in depreciation, death taxes and capital gains. A good set of records makes yearly summaries much easier.
6. Make sure cattle have a source of good clean water every day.
7. Winter Feeding Cows: If all feed must be furnished the cattle from storage (no grazing available, like during January), keep in mind the following feeding recommendations: (a) feed enough but don't over feed (b) feed cows in production and young cattle the best feed available (c) feed dry cows, older replacements, and stocker cattle the lower quality hay (d) feed the herd some additional feed if the breeding season includes February (e) before calving, feed dry cows two pounds of hay 3-5 pounds of corn silage per 100 pounds of body weight as the daily ration (f) after calving increase the feed allowance by 40% and if hay is not 40% legume supplement the hay with 1 to 1 1/2 pounds of protein according to quality of forage. If corn is available and forage short, remember: one pound of ground ear corn will replace about 3 pounds of grass hay. If silage is fed, feed each cow 40-60 pounds of silage and supplement with 1 pound of protein.

Homemaker's Help

By: Faith N. Plummer
County Extension Agent

Are you one of the millions of homemakers who will choose a rug or carpet this year? If so, you may find that you're in for a bewildering experience. The many advances in the carpeting industry offer the buyer an almost unlimited choice of color, texture, fiber, and price range. Whatever rug or carpet you choose to it will be a major investment. So don't make your purchase blindfolded. Know your own needs, how much you can spend, and the good and bad points of each fiber type available. Your first choice is between a large rug, an area rug, and wall-to-wall carpeting. Your decision will depend on the size of your room, the type of flooring, your budget, and, of course, your taste. How long you expect to live in the house is also a factor. Wall-to-wall carpeting is relatively permanent, while rugs can be taken along when you move.

Picking the right fiber is probably the hardest choice of all. Many types are available, both natural and man-made, and new ones are constantly being developed. Blends of two or more fibers are also common.

Each fiber has advantages and disadvantages. Wool, for example, is sturdy and resilient but, unless moth-proofed, it opens to insect attack. Cotton, the less expensive and its soft and comfortable underfoot, but crushes and soils easily. Of the man-made fibers, rayon and acetate are inexpensive but wear poorly and soil easily. They might be a good choice for selection. Acrylic fibers are more expensive but wear well, clean easily and look much like wool. There are several types of nylon carpeting with many good points, but the less expensive ones are apt to be of poor quality.

Polyester is easy to care for, wears well, and is crush-resistant. Polypropylene olefin is one of the newest carpet fibers. It is strong, resistant to abrasion, and easy to clean. Other new fibers are worth investigating, too.

Just knowing the fiber content isn't enough, though. Both good and poor quality carpets can be purchased in any fiber, so you should look at the construction closely before you buy. Things to consider are height of pile, closeness of weave, quality of backing material, and the type of coating applied to the backing. A poorly constructed carpet won't hold up, whatever the fiber used. Choosing the color and texture of your rug is the "fun" part. An enormous variety is available, both in plain colors and patterns. Most women like to pick their rug first, then plan the decorating scheme of the room to complement it. Textures include cut pile, uncut pile, and sculptured pile, which combines cut and uncut pile of various heights.

With all the choices available, the smart shopper will want to learn all she can before selecting her carpet. The University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service has many printed materials to keep you abreast of the latest developments in carpet manufacture and home decorating. These publications are available free from your county or area Extension office.

Social Security News

Medicare beneficiaries should carefully check the "Explanation of Benefits" sent to them after Medicare has made a payment for hospital or physicians' services they have received. If the payment record is incorrect, the beneficiary should report any discrepancy to his social security office or to the medicare paying agent immediately. James Mustian, Social Security Manager, said today. Mustian emphasized that errors in billing can occur. A careful check of payment record can prevent fraud or error, he added.

"In a program as large as Medicare," Mustian said, "with over 122 million bills received each year, even a tiny percentage of incorrect billings can add up to a lot of money." By reporting any apparent mistakes, Mustian added, Medicare beneficiaries can help keep costs down.

Of 2,500 cases of errors or discrepancies in Medicare bills reported by beneficiaries, Medicare carriers, intermediaries, and others, and recorded in the SSA's Central Control System, Mustian said, over half turned out to be the result of clerical error or misunderstanding. But others did reveal evidence of attempts at abuse or intent to defraud. But it is SSA Policy, he said, to carefully check all reports of other evidence of irregularity to assure that incorrect payments are not made.

Heart Sunday Is Coming Feb. 22

of Berea spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. Eugenia Skidmore.

Mrs. Kermit Bowling who underwent surgery in Berea Hospital Monday, February 9, and spent a week in the hospital recuperating, has now returned home and is getting along nicely.

Visitors of Mrs. Kermit Bowling while in the hospital at Berea were Mr. and Mrs. Russell Robbins and Mrs. Kenneth Carter, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne VanHook, who have both been ill at home with flu, are now able to be out again.

BOOKS NEED TO BE RETURNED

Several hundred books have been checked out from the Rockcastle County Bookmobile and have not been returned.

These books are needed by the Bookmobile Librarian so that she may have a full selection from which people may choose.

If you have a book that has been checked out of the bookmobile for some time, you may return them by giving them to Mrs. Barbara Adams, Bookmobile Librarian, or bringing them to the Rockcastle County Library.

If you need Mrs. Adams to pick these books up, she may be reached at 256-2480.

FILM SCREENED

"Country Show of Shows," a full-length movie produced by Allie Combs Productions and Jim McDonald of TOC Booking Agency of Cincinnati, Ohio, was screened

When your door bell rings this week end you may feel a tingle in your heart. Don't worry. It will be a Heart Fund volunteer making an annual visit to spread the word against heart and blood vessel diseases. This Heart Ambassador, calling to distribute heart guarding information and to receive Heart Fund contributions, is in a sense a stand-in for a big crowd of people.

Volunteers who will be ringing door bells in Mt. Vernon Sunday are Mrs. J.W. Griffin, Mrs. G.H. Griffin, Mrs. John Allen, Mrs. J.D. McFerron, Mrs. Jack Cromer, Mrs. Jack St. Clair, Mrs. Joe Henderson, Mrs. Lloyd Taylor, Mrs. Wayne Stewart, Mrs. Edna Pain, Mrs. Edison Coldiron, Mrs. Wilbert Kinser, Mrs. Joe Adams, Mrs. Wayne VanHook, Mrs. Clifford Bales, Mrs. Clarence Carter, Mrs. Charlie Hines, and Mrs. Dennis Halcomb.

Where the volunteer finds no one at home, she will leave a Heart Sunday envelope, in which the resident can easily mail a contribution.

Heart-Days-for-Business will be conducted Friday, February 20, according to Charles M. Baker, Business Weekend morning in Cincinnati, Ohio.

The movie included such Country and Western singing stars as Minnie Pearl, Roy Acuff and the Smokey Mountain Boys, Ernest Tubb and the Texas Troubadours, etc.

Gifts Chairman, and his Co-Chairman David Henderson. At that time, every local business and professional man will be given an opportunity to spread the fight against these heart diseases.

District Captains assisting in the town collection will be Jerry Hayes, James Robinson, Billy Hiatt, Eastill McBea, Mrs. Cora Lee Spears, and Robert Cromer.

"Every citizen in Rockcastle County will be given an opportunity to contribute to this most worthy cause. So to one and all in Rockcastle County, please put out the welcome mat, and remember the volunteer is working for your heart, give generously," Mrs. Carrie Baker, Heart Fund Chairman said.

is made up of high school students in vocational agriculture. The organization's activities are designed to help leadership and good citizenship and to stimulate interest in higher achievement. While for many years the FFA has devoted its main efforts toward establishing young men in farming, it also is working to train and develop men for thousands of jobs which support the nation's farming and provide consumer services.

The Mt. Vernon FFA Chapter has 40 members. Officers for 1969-70 are: Tommy Coffey, President; Bill Stuart, Vice President; Wesley Williams, Treasurer; Mike Budette, Secretary; Jerry Hackworth, Sentinel; and Mr. Ramsey, Advisor.

Ronnie Sears, Reporter.

Nationally, the FFA has approximately 450,000 members with 9,000 chapters in 49 states (Alaska has no FFA program), Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. Membership in Kentucky totals approximately 13,500.

Each year FFA Week is observed during the week of George Washington's Birthday. Although Washington is usually recognized as Revolutionary War General and our First President, it is not generally known that his first love was the farm. He was one of the first in the nation to practice contour planting, crop rotations, fertilization, and other soil improvement methods.

The unbreakable shoelace.

The buckle shoe. No knots to re-tie in the rain when you're trying to catch a bus. No shoelaces that snap at posh wedding receptions.

Just a plain, pleasant, old-fashioned buckle shoe.

The kind that, this year, happens to be making one of the biggest splashes in the history of shoes.
