In the case of a man arrested for letting a woman eat at his cafe, "The Pad," O'Neal! "The court finds that it is not a reasonable regulation and violates constitutional principles regarding arbitrary and invidious discrimination and discrimination."
 Deadline Set For Saturday Class Requests
 School district trustees Saturday classes to make up schooldays lost because of severe winter weather and the teachers' strike must notify Wendell Butler, state superintendent of public instruction, by April 1.
 The state Board of Education, which made this announcement, plans to act on his requests at its next meeting April 7-8. Butler said he would recommend such requests be granted.

Funds Sought For Todd-Lincoln Home
 Mrs. Louie B. Nunn and the Kentucky Federation of Republican Women's Clubs are sponsoring a non-partisan project to raise $38,000 by June 1 to purchase the old Mary Todd Lincoln home in Lexington for preservation as a state shrine.
 The governor's wife already has spoken in Hopkinsville on the subject and plans appearances during the next two months at Jenny Wiley State Park, Cumberland Falls, and in Kenton County, Louisville, Henderson and Glasgow.

Inspection Opens Doors to Country Hams
 Besides keeping meat unfit for human consumption off the market, Kentucky's meat-inspection program which went into effect last fall has been called a boon to the state's country ham business.
 In January, according to Dr. R.J. Henshaw, chief inspector, some 35,000 country hams were checked and made available for sale in some of the state's larger stores, especially chain stores, "which won't carry unsuspected country hams."

Frankfort First With Emergency Number
 Frankfort is the first city in Kentucky to be served by the Bell Telephone Co. with the new 911 emergency telephone number.
 All a person has to do to summon police, fire men or an ambulance is dial the number and help will be on its way.

Card of Thanks
The DeBoard Family
We would like to thank everyone for their kindness shown during the death of our father and mother, Charlie and Montie Payne. We appreciate the personal way Watson Funeral Home conducted things and also the minister of the Ottawa Baptist Church, Rev. J.B. Allen, who preached the funeral for them. We thank the pallbearers and those who sang. To each person who expressed their love for them both in life and death; we wish to say thank you.

Card of Thanks
We, the family of Otto DeBoard, wish to thank everyone who was so kind during the death of our beloved father and brother. We especially wish to thank those who sent flowers, brought food, the choir at Union Chapel Church for their beautiful songs, Bro. Carseil Blanton for his consoling words, and Watson Funeral Home. May God bless each and everyone.

population than now. The infant mortality rate was a great deal higher and there were very few "modern" conveniences as we know them now. Higher education was almost nonexistent except for the very wealthy.

But, on the other side of the ledger, strikes by school teacher and government workers were unheard of. It was no doubt safer to walk the streets of a big city after dark. There couldn't have been as much difficulty as now distinguishing the boys from the girls.

But enough of the "good old days." You can't retain them and progress too and progress is what is needed to keep up in this fast-paced world today.

Speaking of progress, the Rockcastle County Development Corp. is in the process of filing an application for a $225,000 loan guarantee from the Small Business Administration. If the application is approved, this should pave the way for the construction of an industrial plant in Rockcastle County for Columbus Electric Manufacturing Co.

And if you think I have anything to say about the letter carriers' strike you're wrong. Except, it only means that I get fewer bills from my out-of-town creditors. But I do hope it's cleared up by the time I send out my monthly bills.

MY MIDGETS WIN LIVINGSTON TOURNEY

The Mt. Vernon Midgets received the first place trophy in the Livingston Lions Midget Tournament held at Livingston last week. Livingston won second place while Brodhead came in third. The Roundstone Midgets did not win a trophy but are to be commended for their fine performance.

The tournament proceeds amounted to $253.00. This money will be used to purchase eyeglasses for needy people.

Rep. DeMarcus Is Voted Best Orator of House

The title of "outstanding orator of the Kentucky House of Representatives" was voted to Rep. William Harold DeMarcus, R-Stanford, Republican leader of the House.

Through the rhetorical fireworks of the last four sessions of the General Assembly, speeches, by DeMarcus always, have commanded the attention of his colleagues—Republicans and Democrats alike—and the gallery. When the Speaker of the House recognizes "the gentleman from Lincoln," almost everyone in the House perks up and pays attention. (DeMarcus represents the 80th District, composed of Lincoln and Rockcastle Counties.)

DeMarcus' voice is full and resonant. When he launches into a speech, everyone can hear him. He weaves in occasional humor with facts and logic. The result is persuasive. His selection as the House's premier orator was made in a poll of newsmen. Besides her husband, she is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Jean Tye of Conway. No sons, Lonnie Brown of Mobile, Alabama and Homer Brown of Route 3, Mt. Vernon; three half-brothers, Bill, Raymond, and Chester Phillips, all of Berea; one half-sister, Mrs. Bige Estridge of Berea, and 8 grandchildren. Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon, March 21 at the Rominger Funeral Home in Berea with Bro. David Woods and Bro. Cecil Dailey officiating. Burial was in the Berea Cemetery.

Rep. William Harold DeMarcus, Republican leader of the Kentucky House, has been selected, by a vote of newsmen, as the House's outstanding orator. He is shown (right) addressing the House.

NO IT ISN'T THE CITY DUMP but it won't be long before it will be hard to tell the difference. Actually, this favored dumping place for many offenders of the illegal dumping law, is located right on U.S. 25 at the intersection of Chestnut Ridge Road. This is only one of many such "scenic sights" in Rockcastle County.

An Editorial

Have you ever just looked around as you drive through our countryside? As you travel our county roads and main highways, just stop and take a second look at what "beauty" man has bestowed upon his surroundings. Just stop and look at the numerous nasty trash heaps piled alongside the road wherever it's convenient to dump a load.

You know, there are laws governing illegal dumping. But for some reason, while these laws are the ones which should be most rigidly enforced, it seems that they are instead the ones that very little effort is made toward enforcing.

It is a shame and a scandal that we, supposedly civilized human beings, will dirty up our environment the way we do. And if we are all not guilty of illegal dumping then we are all most assuredly guilty of not demanding of our city, county, and state law enforcement agencies that some teeth be put into the laws against illegal dumping.

Today when there is such an effort being made to make the public more aware of the dangers of polluting our environment, the citizens of Rockcastle County should certainly wake up and realize, that although we do not have smog problems here or other big city pollution ills, we certainly do have people that think nothing of going onto private property or on state and county right-of-ways and using them for their personal garbage dump. The photo in this week's paper is only one example of the number of illegal garbage dumps scattered throughout our county.

And by what right do people decide that it's alright to dump their trash on another's private property or on right-of-ways or just anywhere that suits their fancy? And by what right do our law enforcement agencies sit back and let these law violators get away with it? But, we really have only ourselves to blame. If we are willing to let these illegal dumping places spring up and are not willing to complain to those who are in a position to stop it then don't expect someone else to carry your share of keeping your county clean.

Just because we are not a big county with plenty of money pouring in is no reason that we should spoil our environment as we are doing. There is a drive going on to promote tourism in Rockcastle County and there are plans afoot to try to bring industry into the county. But if I were a tourist I would certainly think twice before I came to an area which seems to be noted mainly for the number and size of its trash heaps.

What we are trying to say is this. If the citizens of a county are interested enough and show their interest enough in the right places, then something could be done about these offenders. And, we also think, that if these offenders would only stop and think twice about what they are doing then their numbers might be less. And, lastly, if all else fails then the County Fiscal Court should consider some kind of mandatory county-wide trash pick-up system.

For all we really know is that a person's environment to some extent reflects the character of that individual and his community. And if you don't really care what picture you present to others, then you wasted your time reading this Editorial. PMA

SBADiscussed Application At Development Meeting

The Rockcastle County Development Corporation met last Monday night and heard President Roy Brown report that an application for a loan to the Development Corporation, guaranteed by the Small Business Administration, was being completed.

Wade Ray, representative of Renfro Valley, Inc., also told the group that concrete for their new trailer park would be poured on April 5 and they hope to have the park completed and in operation by May 15 or the first of June.

Mr. Ray also gave a report on the matching funds available for promotion of tourism and stated that three large signs will be erected on Interstate-75 with the sign in Rockcastle County being erected around the first of May. Ray also

Rubella Immunization Given To 1271 County Youngsters

953 grade school children and 318 pre-school children were immunized last Thursday against the Rubella measles (more commonly known as three-day measles or German measles).

The immunization clinics were held at all the county's consolidated schools and were conducted by a State Health Department team, with the help of the County Health Nurses and volunteers, using the new jet-injector gun to give the shots.

The clinics are being conducted across the state for children of ages 1 to 12 in an effort to stop an epidemic of Rubella this summer. In 1964, an epidemic occurred which resulted in 50,000 children being born in Kentucky with birth defects. The effect of the disease is light at the time of illness but it has been definitely linked to birth defects if the sickness occurs during a pregnancy.

Approximately 450 doses are available at the County Health Department and if your child was not immunized at the clinics they may be brought to the local Health Department for the shot, from which there is no reaction whatsoever.

The shot will be available at the Health Department beginning with the April 17th clinic.

Tobacco Price Supports Tied To Certification

Tobacco producers must certify that they have not used pesticide products containing DDT and TDE on their 1970 crop tobacco plantings in order to be eligible for price supports on the product this year, Shellie Mullins Chairman of the Rockcastle County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, announced.

Growers were urged by Mr. Mullins to use alternate materials which are available and have been demonstrated to be effective in controlling plant pests. U.S. exports of tobacco face sharp reduction if DDT and TDE use continues, Mr. Mullins explained. Approximately 35 percent of all U.S. grown tobacco is exported, and several foreign countries that are now large importers of our tobacco have indicated that they will set very narrow DDT and TDE tolerances on cured leaf. These restrictions are scheduled to become effective in January 1973.

It is essential for growers to meet these standards now, Mr. Mullins said, because most of the 1970 crop that moves under loan will not likely be sold and exported prior to 1973. This is because tobacco is usually stored and aged for extended periods before being used, Mr. Mullins explained.

HOW THAT HURTS is no doubt what Brian Ponder, 17-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Ponder of Mt. Vernon, is saying. It really wasn't as bad as it looks they say. The jet-injector gun, being applied by technician Dave Abern, was supposed to make the shot giving faster and easier. Brian, however, doesn't seem to agree and it was probably a good thing his mother was handy to hold onto. Mrs. John Allen, second from left, was one of the local volunteers who helped out in the immunization program.

"IT'S NOT TOO BAD" says the look on Scott Henderson's face. Scott is the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Henderson of Mt. Vernon. These photos were taken at Mt. Vernon School and were part of a county-wide immunization program, for children 1 to 12 years of age, held last Thursday.

by perlina m. underkin
Let's ramble about the "good old days" this week shall we? Cecil Hysinger brought us a copy of the Signal printed in 1898 which he found while tearing down a house in Renfro Valley belonging to Andrew Cox. The house was the home of the late Judge J.A. Laird, John Laird's grandfather, and was built by Neal Perrett.

The classified section reveals quite a true picture of the economy of Rockcastle County 72 years ago.

For example: A.C. Stapp had a five-room house for sale for $350; A.E. Albright of Brodhead advertised "Tailor made clothes at hand-me-down prices. Suits to order from $8.50 up, pantaloons $2.50 up."

Mr. Albright was also in the salt business selling seven bushels for $1.60. Mrs. Rosalind Nesbitt of Mt. Vernon advertised her "new and popular song 'Just Sixteen' for sale for 25 cents a copy, and Robert Cox was advertising "good suits" for $4 each.

S.W. Davis took advertising space to tell about his "fresh candy made daily in the basement of the brick hotel" and A.E. Albright of Brodhead said "I will pay cash for eggs, turkeys, and geese."

Some of the leading businessmen in Mt. Vernon in 1898 were Thomas Taylor, blacksmith; Willis Griffin, "Practical Undertaker and

Representation of Seed
The following statement was recently issued by T. Wayne Still, Director of Seed Programs, University of Kentucky. "It has been brought to my attention, and I observed last week, that certain varieties of alfalfa are being represented as resistant to the alfalfa weevil. This is being done by word-of-mouth at both wholesale (state representatives) and retail (feed dealers) levels with no apparent written information or test date to substantiate the claim. Merchandisers of seed should know that the seed possesses the capability of performing as represented or claimed. Any and all claims should be based on sound, reliable information and test data. This should be in the hands of the retailer in order that he may accurately represent the seed to the consumer. Misrepresented seed, in any respect, is subject to seizure."

Cicadas Due This Year
1953 was 17 years ago, a

long enough time in the past to be considered "the good old days" by many people. That year was a good one for Brood X of the periodical cicada. It had a coming out party that orchardist still remember in Kentucky. Many young apple trees were killed or badly damaged when these insects laid eggs in the limbs of the trees. A few years after these older trees began to decline from the thousands of cicada nymphs that were feeding on the roots. This year Brood X is coming out again like in the good old days, but we hope we will be better prepared to combat the pest this time!

Periodical cicadas were once thought to be a single species, but they are now known to be comprised of 4 species. Two of the species take 13 years to complete their cycle and the other two take 17 years. That does not mean that periodical cicadas appear only at 13 or 17 year intervals. Nearly every year cicadas will emerge in some area of the United States. These emergences, or broods, are given numbers from 1 to 30. The 17-year cicada broods are numbered 1 to 17 and the 13-year broods are numbered 18 to 30. The broods are not only separated in time but also are generally separated geographically. Brood X is a large 17-year brood that occurs over much of northeastern United States and is due to appear in 1970. They will begin emerging in late April and begin singing. In 7 to 10 days they are ready to saw slots in tree limbs which they lay eggs. Egg laying will continue for a little more than a month when the adult then dies. The eggs hatch in 6 to 7 weeks and the nymphs drop to the ground where they burrow in until they find a tree root or die trying. The next 17 years are spent underground. The spectacular part of the insects life cycle is during the adult stage when millions of these insects are singing and causing small tree limbs to break off due to weakening from the egg laying slots. Although there are many natural enemies of cicadas, they are not adequate to give sufficient protection to trees. Chemical sprays or covering young trees with netting will be needed to save valuable trees. Two insecticides, carbaryl (Sevin) and Tepp are effective against cicadas. Carbaryl does not kill as quickly as Tepp, but it lasts longer, is much less hazardous to use and is more readily available. Both are very hazardous to bees.

Contact the county Extension office for spray recommendations for the cicadas.

Eastern Tent Caterpillars
Eastern Tent Caterpillars should be hatching this month. Early control measures will be much easier and more effective than when the caterpillars and nests are large. Apply chemical treatments to the nests and a foot around the nests when the nests are 2 to 3 inches in diameter. Recommended chemicals to use per gallon of spray water are: 6 tsp of methoxychlor 50% WP, or 3 1/2 tsp of malathion 50% WP, or 3 1/2 tsp of carbaryl (Sevin) 80% sprayable.

Kentucky Legislative Report

Senate Democrats continued their controversy with Gov. Louie B. Nunn over loan-interest ceilings as the 1970 Kentucky General Assembly hectically headed towards its adjournment at midnight (or thereabouts) March 20. The Democrats agreed in committee to make a last-gasp effort to raise the interest ceiling from 7 per cent to 8 per cent for all types of savings-and-loan segments of our population caught up in the living-cost squeeze. The governor then said he would accept an 8 1/2 per cent contract-loan interest ceiling limited to the buying or building of single-family homes for a period of two years. Informally presenting the governor's proposal to the Senate Banking and Insurance Committee on March 18, Sen. Donald Johnson, R-Newport, said "as you all know, this is what the governor would accept without a veto."

Senate 36- For Nunn Bond Issue Bill
Gov. Louie B. Nunn's bill to place a $48.3 million bond issue on the November ballot was in the House awaiting final action after passing the Senate 36-0. Senate Bill 359 allocates $18 million of the proposed issue for a third state prison, $18 million for mental hospitals, $8 million for vocational schools, $2.1 million for the School for the Deaf, Danville; $495,000 for the School for the Blind, Louisville; $1,165,000 for child welfare facilities and $400,000 for the farm development loan guarantee fund.

Sunday-Closing Bill Sent to Governor
Passed and sent to the governor for approval as the General Assembly nearest its end was the Sunday-closing bill sponsored by Sen. Henry Beach, D-Louisville, which defines legal Sunday activities such as to form a liaison between the governor and the many women's organizations throughout the state.

"Harold Kelley Bill" Laid to Rest
The House, after many maneuvers, finally filled HB 699, the so-called "Harold Kelley Bill." The House amended the state conflict of interest law to allow state employees and officials in some professions to enter into contracts with the state without competitive bidding. Some legislators termed HB 699 the "Harold Kelley Bill," for the chairman of the Public Service Commission because of three contracts Kelley's accounting firm has with the state which were awarded without competitive bidding.

Marijuana Reclassified in Bill Passed
Reclassification of marijuana from a narcotic to a dangerous drug and reduction in penalties for first time users are provided for in SB 274, which the House passed 48-21 and sent to the governor.

Cat-Inoculation Bill Up to Governor
A bill to require rabies inoculations for cats in Kentucky had been passed and sent to the governor for acceptance or rejection as the General Assembly prepared to adjourn. The vote in the House was 52-20. "We'll have to have a cat-catcher," just like a dog-catcher, protested Rep. David Van Horn, D-Lexington, and Rep. T.C. Simmons, R-Scottsville, shook his head as he said "We've got maybe 4000 cats in Allen County."

Superintendent Amendment Dies in House
A proposed constitutional amendment approved by the Senate and providing for appointment instead of election of the state superintendent of public instruction died in a House committee and left the possibility only one may be submitted to the voters in Nov. 1971. The limit is two.

Another House-Passed Proposal to Increase from Two to Five the Number of Amendments that may be Submitted to the Voters in One Election never got out of a Senate Committee.

Another Revision For U of L Bill
A late revision in SB 117 which faced House approval and Senate concurrence would have the state take control of the University of Louisville with the governor naming its 10-member board of trustees on July 1. The revision also would eliminate the state superintendent of public instruction from the board, leaving no state official as a trustee and would reduce to one alumni representation on the board.

Louisville Bills Die As Delegation Splits
Splits in the Jefferson County delegation were blamed in part for the burial of three Louisville bills in the House at the beginning of the final week of the General Assembly.

Capital Digest
William D. Curlin, Jr., D-Frankfort, was chosen as the most outstanding representative and C. Gibson Downing, D-Lexington, as the most outstanding senator by news items covering the 1970 General Assembly. William Logan, D-Madisonville, was unanimous choice for outstanding freshman senator, and Richard H. Lewis, D-Benton, was named the outstanding freshman representative.

Women's Commission Passes Assembly 112 to 0
The House passed 76-0 and sent to the governor standpoint to Romano L. Mazzoli, D-Louisville. Walter A. Baker, R-Glasgow, was voted most valuable representative to Republicans. For most valuable to Democrats, it was a three-way tie: Nordwest Blume, D-Louisville; Julian M. Carroll, D-Paducah; and W. Terry McBraver, D-Greenup.

Did Combs Resign To Run For Governor
Part of the attention expected for the 1970 General Assembly in its final week shifted to speculation regarding the 1971 Democratic primary for governor when it was learned former Gov. Bert T. Combs had resigned, effective June 1, as a judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit.

Boards Ask KEA To Drop Sanctions Action
The Kentucky School Boards Assn. unanimously adopted a resolution "urgently recommending" the Kentucky Education Assn. withdraw its request for an investigation to determine if sanctions should be imposed on the Kentucky school system.

A preliminary investigation already has been conducted by the National Education Assn., as part of KEA's campaign for an increase in teachers' salaries, removal of the property-tax ceiling and other benefits. The request for the investigation came in the wake of the recent teachers' strike which closed Kentucky schools. Sanctions would attempt to rally a teacher and business boycott of the state.

Winter Road Damage May Reach $20 Million
The Kentucky Highway Department this week described Kentucky's 1969-70 winter as one of the toughest on roads in recent years, with repair and maintenance costs estimated as high as $20 million compared to the normal $2.5 million and the extraordinary $5 million.

Winter Road Damage May Reach $20 Million
Bruce Hadley, the department's director of public affairs, said preliminary surveys show damage to road surfaces alone will reach $7.5 million and "some of our engineers have little doubt the total figure will go up to $20 million when everything is included." The $7.5 million figure applies only to regularly state-maintained roads and doesn't include an estimate for state-aid county roads. The higher figure also would include salt and extra labor required to clear one snowfall after another.

Did Combs Resign To Run For Governor
Part of the attention expected for the 1970 General Assembly in its final week shifted to speculation regarding the 1971 Democratic primary for governor when it was learned former Gov. Bert T. Combs had resigned, effective June 1, as a judge of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit.

McCarthy years are viewed as among the most turbulent in America. This Junior Literary Guild Selection clearly presents the five years in which one man influenced judicial, legislative, and executive power, affected foreign policy, and nearly immobilized two presidents. Grades 7-up.

HUNDREDS AND HUNDREDS OF STRAWBERRIES, Ethel Collier. Tim learns the true meaning of kindness when he helps an old man who has become ill. Preschool.

I CAN LICK 30 TIGERS TODAY, by Dr. Seuss. Three of the characteristically unique Dr. Seuss tales that charm children and adults alike. Preschool.

THE KING AND HIS FRIENDS, by Jose Aruego. King Doowah's constant companions are a griffin and two dragons. Their adventures are many, and varied as they travel over the kingdom. Preschool.

MY DEAR DOLPHIN, by Cynthia de Narves. This true account of four children's summer fun with live dolphins will amuse and entertain both children and adults.

PATRICK, by Quentin Blake. Patrick's purchase of a violin proves very interesting as unusual things happen when he plays—ice cream begins to grow on trees, cows dance, fish fly. These are just a few of the exciting occurrences that Patrick's playing causes. Grades K-3.

TALKING LEAVES, THE STORY OF SEQUOYAH, by Bernice Kohn. Because of a limp, Sequoyah could not be a Cherokee warrior; however, he made a contribution to his people's history that made them unique among Indian tribes as they became the only Indian people with a written language. Grades 2-4.

A TIME FOR WATCHING, by Gunilla Norris. Joachim's curiosity usually leads to trouble, however, his venture into Mr. Janzon's coal cellar brings unexpected results. Grades 3-5.

WINTER-TELLING STORIES. A collection of wise and humorous stories about nature, however, they are a part of the fabric that makes up the Kiowa Indian culture. Grades 4-7.

FAMILY AUTO TRANSFERS NO LONGER TAXED

County Court Clerk Clifford Bales announced this week that automobiles transferred between members of a family are no longer subject to the motor vehicle usage tax, under provisions of a bill recently enacted by the Kentucky General Assembly.

The bill became law on Feb. 18 under its emergency provision, following signature by Gov. Louis B. Nunn.

Previously, the statute covering exemptions from the usage tax contained only five exemptions. The new law increases the number of exemptions to eleven, and includes the important provision relating to intra-family transfers.

The other five new exemptions are: Motor vehicles transferred when a business changes its name and no other transaction has taken place, or when an individual changes his or her name, vehicles transferred to a corporation from a proprietorship when the business is incorporated; vehicles transferred by will, court order, or under the statutes covering descent and distribution of property; vehicles transferred between a subsidiary corporation and its parent corporation when there is no consideration; and consideration or surrender of stock; and the interest of a partner in a motor vehicle

THE MAYFLOWER
Some individuals may be referring to the ship that their ancestors came to America on when they talk about the Mayflower, but flower fanciers are talking about a creeping shrub known as the Mayflower. The real name for the shrub is Trailing Arbutus.

The Mayflower is a wild shrub which produces a beautiful and fragrant pink and white flower. This flower usually blooms in May, and this is the reason for the name, Mayflower. The Trailing Arbutus is a member of the family of Ericaceae, which includes the strawberry tree, a favorite for ornamental gardens in the southeastern section of the United States.

Just about everyone loves flowers. We do. Now is the time for you to place your floral order with us for a special arrangement for a friend or relative. Telephone your order. We deliver locally, or wire flowers.

Social Security News

Everyone knows that April 15th is the deadline for filing tax returns, but for many social security beneficiaries, April 15, is also the deadline for another type report.

According to James Mustian, Manager of the Somerset Social Security Office, a large percentage of social security beneficiaries report, make a report of their 1969 earnings to the Social Security Administration by April 15. This includes anyone under age 72 at least one full month in 1969, who received social security benefits and also earned over $1680 during the year.

Also included are persons who estimated their earnings at over $1680.00 but failed to earn that much. If the Social Security Administration held part of their benefits based on an estimate of over $1680.00, they will have a refund due.

"This is kind of a settling up period," says Mustian.

"We reconcile estimates given earlier, with actual earnings. Failure to file a report may result in a loss of additional benefits."

Many people received reporting terms in the mail, but if you didn't and need to file a report, you should get in touch with the Somerset Social Security Office immediately. They will see that you are provided with the form and give you any necessary assistance.

The Somerset Social Security Office is located in the Tradewind Shopping Center. The telephone number is 678-R168.

them and their value will never be known; improve them and they will become the brightest gems in a useful life."

—Emerson
A study of the arts would be a good way to spend those spare moments. The arts, particularly the visual arts, are a part of everyone's daily living.

Through their creations, painters and sculptors express the ideals, hopes and fears of the times in which they live. In the more functional fields, artists and designers give significance and worth to the forms and objects of our daily lives. Too often, people limit their idea of the visual arts to painting, sculpture, photography, and perhaps architecture, one of the oldest of the arts. But the visual arts also include such things as clothes, household appliances and the furnishings of our homes, schools, churches and other buildings. In fact, most of the things that have been fashioned by man to help him carry on the complex process of living are included in visual arts.

We get real pleasure out of many of the common things. A chair can be beautiful as well as comfortable; attractive dishes do more than hold the food we eat; colorful, well-designed clothes please our aesthetic sense. We can get enjoyment out of most of the things we see and use if they are well-designed. Look around you and seek them out of the humdrum and routine. Some of the most ordinary of kitchen utensils can be handsome. Look around you and seek out what is lovely. Look for those qualities that can make the most workaday item a thing of worth and beauty. Their aesthetic qualities of objects exist quite apart from their usefulness or antiquity, although beauty gives new meaning to their usefulness or adds to their value.

It's important that we distinguish between art and nature, for they are fundamentally different. We may be enthralled by the grandeur of a snowcapped mountain, captured by a magnificent, glowing sunset. Art, however, is man-made. It is an interpretation of nature and of life. And with fresh interpretations come new insights into both the facts and fantasies of our lives.

CREW LEADERS APPOINTED

Appointment of crew leaders for the 1970 Census of Population and Housing in this area was announced today by Manager Mrs. Harry Hoe of the Census Bureau's temporary census office in Corbin.

Each crew leader will supervise 15 to 20 enumerators in the big nationwide census that begins April 1. Crew leader training is now under way. Topics being covered in the training sessions include procedures for recruiting census enumerators, training, canvassing methods, preparation and submission of reports, and supervision of enumerators to insure a complete and accurate count.

The crew leader is one of the key people in the field operations of the 1970 census. It is his responsibility to recruit and train the enumerators; to assign each one to an enumeration district; to review the work of each and see that it is correct; and to handle problems of difficult enumeration.

Names and addresses of crew leaders follow:

J.C. Bennett, Greensburg; Katherine Burnett, Fountain Run; Sandra M. Spies, Campbellsville; Emma L. Kemp, Columbia; Donna G. Hopper, Russell Springs; S.E. Anderson, Monticello; Charles E. Wesley, Liberty; June M. Stewart, Somerset; June Phelps, Somerset; Jo Williams, Stanford; Phoebe Burke, Whitley City; Donnie E. Bunch, Williamsburg; Rae Smith, Hazlet; Faye R. Coomes, Pineville; Drucilla A. Creech, Middleboro; Eunice C. Taylor, Brodhead.

Gwendolyn A. Click, Irvine; Effie Kelley, Gray Hawk; Carl Collins, Manchester; Elihu Garrison, Essie; Edith M. Gallagher, Cumberland; Dolores N. Lifford, Hinkle; Willie Cobb, Lily.
