"What America Means To Me"

By: Patty Reese
As long as I shall live on God's good green earth, I think that America will mean everything to me.

Why do I love America?
The great reason is that I was born in the United States. To live in America is to love it. On my father's Kentucky farm, I have learned to love the wide open air and feel of it. Land gives life and at the same time reclaims its own. This soil is rich with opportunities for all people, regardless of their color, beliefs, or social status.

I also love my country because of the freedoms it provides for its inhabitants. "Land of the Pilgrims' pride" was made great by those same Pilgrims.
Americans have valiantly struggled for centuries - from the Revolution to the Vietnam War for rights they held as sacred. The same government set up by those great men so long ago still exists today.

Another reason for loving my country is the people, the Americans. These people have fought a long, hard struggle and are still fighting to keep America as the Pilgrims had it and to preserve our great country for generations to come. I remember when I was a child, my father and left my father terribly ill. All the neighbors, who had no more than we did, came and brought food and help to my father. It was tobacco. I shall never forget those people, the honest-to-goodness true Americans. Those people were not related to the high and mighty. They were, in the true sense of the word, neighbors. Such people make a lasting impression that never fades.

I think that I shall always remember America's beauty, its majestic splendor. God truly shed His grace on this land. I am proud to count this land from California to New York, from the Rio Grande to the Great Lakes, and all the blessed mountains, rivers, forests, and plains in-between. I love the distant mountain shrouded in purple; I am inspired by the silhouette of majestic trees against the darkening sky; I am enchanted by the musical trickling of a brook as it makes its never-ending journey to the sea.
To some people, these things are not to be a just cause for loving their country, but beauty is in the eye of the beholder. As I think about America, my heart runs over with love.

The last reason for loving my country is the symbols that represent America.
This great flag which flies so grandly over our country has been a stay in time of trouble to Americans.
Each color of "Old Glory" has a special meaning for me. The red reminds me of the sun setting behind our house when evening shadows draw night; blue is the blue-ness of the sky as I watch a silvery airplane soar high overhead; white is the glittering purity of a new-fallen snow. The Liberty Bell, though cracked, still stands as a still heart with joy in its beats of a rickens as freedom really is. The American Eagle has spread far and wide, even to the most remote places, the greatness of our country.

When I awake in the mornings, I think the good Lord of I'm alive and living in America.

By: Elizabeth Allen

I am proud that I am an American and I am eager to tell you why. You'll be sure that it will be easy to do so.

To me, the feeling I get when I see an American flag waving in the breeze against the blue sky is part of being an American.
Whenever the national anthem is played, I hold my head up high, proud of my country. These are feeling and I always put them into words.

Oh, I know some of the words. What is it about the red, white, and blue?
Red for courage? White for purity? Blue for honor?
When I sing "The Star Spangled Banner" I sing out strong on the most important part: "Land of the free and the home of the brave." Bravery and freedom, I can use these words to describe what America means to me.
I suppose freedom is the strongest word. Most people could use it to describe what America means to them. To some, America means a land with freedom of speech. To others America means freedom to have a part in our democratic government. To me, the most important part of living in America is the freedom of religion.

In every city or town in the United States of America, no matter how large or small - one can see churches where people may go to worship God without fear of persecution. No matter where one goes, one can see evidence of this, whether it be a coin which reads, "In God We Trust" or the many churches across the nation.
Pride in the heritage our forefathers left us, is being an American. Making certain that the world, when we become adults, will be of the type that our children will be proud of their American heritage.

America is having a newspaper to read each morning, taking a trip wherever we desire to go. America is earning and spending your money as you wish.
America is having a choice of radio and television stations. America is all the little things we take for granted.

To be an American means to love our fellow man. If they are citizens they should have every right to share all the privileges of our country.
Des living in America mean a protest march against the war in Vietnam?
A riot over the draft?
or a hippie free-for-all at the beach over a holiday.
So what if we are teenagers? Do we have to be disrespectful of our country and our God because of a few mixed up characters who are against everything? This should make us work even harder to show adults there are plenty of good teens who are proud and happy that they are Americans!
These reasons, perhaps above all others, portray just a small part of "What America Means to Me."

POEM
By: Jerry Noble

My brother died this morning.
His wife some hours before,
I was with him when it happened.
Before I closed the door,
But now they're both with
Jesus
Where the joys are truly stored.
To be absent from the body is to be present with the Lord.

A lonely Friday evening Outside a noisy flowing by A world of many birthdays, Yet someone has to die.
But now they're both with
Jesus
To receive a just reward
To be absent from the body
is to be present with the Lord.

While we're in grief and sorrow
God knew it all along
His plan cannot be questioned.
His way is never wrong.
Tomorrow comes new sorrow
But His grace comes all the more
To be absent from the body
is to be present with the Lord.

ramblings

by perlina m. underkin

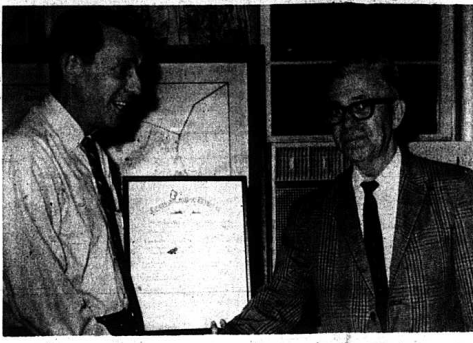

Former Mayor Clyde Linville tells us that Mountain Kirkwood with the Small Business Administration's area office in Louisville, informed him last Thursday that the application made to SBA for a guarantee of a $225,000 loan by the Mt. Vernon Improvement Council, had been approved in his office and had gone to Atlanta, Georgia, SBA's main office, for final approval.

The actual loan would be made by the Bank of Mt. Vernon to the local Improvement Council, who would in turn lend the money to a manufacturing concern in Columbus, Ohio who wishes to locate here. They would use the money to buy a site and build the plant, which would probably be located on the Old Broadhead Road across from the vocational school. Mr. Linville told us that work should be received from Atlanta within the next few weeks concerning the final approval.

CHARLIE JONES DIES SUDDENLY

Charlie Jones, 75, of Mt. Vernon passed away suddenly Monday, May 25, at his home. He was born in Rockcastle County on April 14, 1895, the son of the late Jack and Lydia Rash Jones.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Celia Hasty Jones of Mt. Vernon; four daughters, Mrs. Syble Sawyer, Mrs. Marie Hayes, Mrs. Christine Lunsford, and Miss Athale Jones, all of Mt. Vernon; two sons, Shelby Jones of Lockland, Ohio and Robert Jones of Hamilton, Ohio; three sisters, Mrs. Lula Cloud and Mrs. Gracie Kirby, both of Mt. Vernon, and Mrs. Mary Chitwood of Greenville, Ohio; four brothers, George Jones of Broadhead, Roy Jones of Mt. Vernon, Lenard Esker Jones, both of Livingston; 22 grandchildren, and 5 great grandchildren. Funeral services will be held Thursday, May 28, (today) at 1 p.m. at the Cox Funeral Home Chapel with Bro. Paul Barton officiating. Burial will be in the Elmwood Cemetery.

HONORED—Fish and Wildlife Commissioner Minor Clark, left, is shown as he presents Estill E. McBee of Mt. Vernon with a citation signed by the Commissioner and John Osborne, President of the League of Kentucky Sportsmen. The citation was presented to Mr. McBee at a meeting of the Sixth District Federation held at the Central Kentucky Wildlife Management Area in Madison County on May 20. Mr. McBee was selected as "an outstanding conservationist," and "in recognition of his service to the organized sportsmen of his club, county, and district."

408 Voters Turn Out For "Light" Primary

408 Republicans turned out Tuesday for what was one of the highest elections in Rockcastle County, and across the state, in many a year. The Democrats had no reason to go to the polls and Republicans had only one race, that of State Representative, in which to cast a vote.

Incumbent Dr. Tim Lee Carter polled 379 of the 408 votes cast. Granville Thomas got 21 of the remaining votes while Noel Chilton, who had earlier withdrawn from the race but not in time to get his name off the ballot, got 8. The smallest turnout was in the West Livingston precinct where 13 voted, and the largest was in North Mt. Vernon where 49 votes were cast.

According to County Court Clerk Clifford Bales, the election cost the county about $2,000.

State-wide, all seven Kentucky Congressmen, including Dr. Carter, were renominated with the closest race involving two newcomers to politics, H.H. Wheeler and Herbert Myers, in the seventh district. With 300 of 479 precincts counted in this district, Wheeler had a 101' vote lead over Myers.

Other Congressmen renominated were Rep. Frank A. Stubblefield, Democrat, first district; Rep. William H. Natcher, Democrat, second district; Rep. William O. Cowger, republican, third district; Rep. M. Gene Snyder, republican, fourth district; Rep. Carter in the fifth district; Rep. John C. Watts, democrat, sixth district, and Rep. Carl Perkins, democrat, seventh district.

One note of humor came out of the election in Breathitt County when there was no Republican primary in nine of the 17 precincts because nobody wanted to serve as an election official.

The law requires two members from each party

Both the 1970 General Assembly and Gov. Louie B. Nunn were recipients of praise from James T. Fleming, Director of the Legislative Research Commission, in a speech to a Frankfort luncheon club. Fleming said the assembly "has come of age...set its own house in order," and the Republican governor, with a Democratic Legislature, "acted astutely in 1968 and 1970."

Watch Those Holidays
 Kentucky's highway death toll for 1970 is well under that of previous years for comparable periods, but State Police says what may happen on three upcoming holiday week ends—Memorial Day, Fourth of July and Labor Day.

A May 19 summary shows traffic fatalities of 330 this year—running 56 fewer than for the similar period last year and about 45 behind 1966, the state's worst year.

State Police Director Charles B. Crutchfield says, "we are a long way from predicting 1970 might be the safest."

Moseley To Parks... Stead To Personal
 Virgil Stead, a Louisville insurance agent, has been named to the State Personal Board to replace the Rev. Douglas Moseley who resigned to become a district manager for the State Parks Department.

Stead was named by Gov. Louie B. Nunn to serve the remainder of Moseley's term which ends Jan. 24, 1972. Moseley, a former professor at Lindsey-Wilson College, Columbia, Ky., will supervise parks in Southeastern Kentucky.

Butler Backs Funds For Reorientation Center
 Wendell P. Butler, state superintendent of public instruction, has recommended that $1.4 million in federal vocational training center for the retarded at Somerset.

The center is a project in Gov. Louie B. Nunn's $25 million construction program for 1970 to be paid for with state funds already in hand and with federal funds when available.

The apparent low bid for construction at the April 30 bid opening was approximately $11.5 million, about $2.5 million over the architect's estimate.

Early Approval Seen For Anti-Crime Funds
 Charles L. Owen, executive director of the Kentucky Crime Commission, expects the Department of Justice to approve by June 15 the commission's request for an additional $1.5 million in federal funds to upgrade law enforcement at state and local levels in Kentucky.

"Our first two major requests for funds have been approved without modification," Owen said, "and this plan follows the same balanced priorities."

Fewer, Shorter, Weight Violations From the State Department of Agriculture Inspectors from the State Department of Agriculture were reported by Commissioner J. Robert Miller to have found eight per cent fewer retail packaged items in stores; quality of short weight in April than in March.

The April report showed 23,066 items checked in 222 stores, with 9052 violations, as compared with a March check of 25,786 items in 200 stores with 10,215 violations.

The department issues warnings in some instances and takes legal action in others.

Appellate Law Clerk To Attend Institute
 The Kentucky Court of Appeals has nominated H. Paul Hayes, 29, law clerk to Appellate Judge Samuel Steinfield, for a Ford Foundation fellowship to attend the Institute of Court Management beginning June 27 in Aspen, Colo.

Late Governor's Grandson Promoted By Grubbs
 W. Thomas Fields, a grandson of Kentucky's 1923-1927 Gov. William J. Fields, has been named assistant director of the industrial development division of the Kentucky Department of Commerce.

Commerce Commissioner Paul W. Grubbs described Fields as "one of Kentucky's best salesmen who has been instrumental in locating dozens of industries in our state."

Fields is a graduate of Frankfort High School and attended the University of Kentucky and the University of Notre Dame.

First-Aid Instructor School Graduates 13
 A five-day school in first-aid instructor training for state employees in Frankfort ended with the graduation of 13.

Each is expected to initiate training programs in basic first-aid for co-workers in his own department.

Organized by the Public Safety and Highway Departments, the program is expected to offer instructor courses to some 3000 state workers.

Remember Shows, Proclamation Says

He urged citizens, neighbors and friends to remember those confined to their homes, hospitals or other institutions with visits and small gifts, and to continue the practice throughout the year.

PCS Approves $41 Million LG&E Unit
 The State Public Service Commission authorized the Louisville Gas & Electric Co. to add a 330,000-Kilowatt, steam turbine unit costing an estimated $41.3 million to its Mill Creek electric-generating plant. The company plans to put the new unit into service in 1974.

Hunting and Fishing

There's fishing galore right now and you don't have to go to the big lakes to find it. More than likely you can find just the fishing you're interested in right in your own backyard, so to speak.

The farm ponds, rivers, and streams, so plentiful in Kentucky, are plentiful right now for many fishermen who would be satisfied with a nice string of panfish or some scrapping small inno or largemouth bass or bucketful of "newlights," commonly called croppie or crappie, in our era, which ever spelling you desire.

The more you're producing good catches of white and black bass and a good many croppie, bluegill are plentiful, too. As

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By: Roy Martin

Sentimentalist or not, if you ever saw or see the traditional service of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery on Memorial Day, you would have or see moist eyes, quivering lips, a tightening of the throat in reverent silence.

The story behind the story of the Unknown Soldier is dramatic without equal on any stage. It starts first with New York Congressman Hamilton Fish introducing a House Joint Resolution to have an unidentified, killed in action American Soldier returned from France for reinterment at Arlington. The drama continues with Admiral Dewey's famous "Olympic" commissioned to return the body to America with Marine Corps escort. In story book manner, the drama relates the care with which anonymity was made certain... how the selection was made... how an ordinary American, a Chicago orphan, as a Sergeant in France was chosen and ordered to walk in a room and place a bouquet of roses on one of our unidentified caskets... how Sergeant Younker placed the bouquet and thus made a selection which he later described as God's choice.

The tomb of the Unknown Soldier is more than a symbol of sentiment. It is an American voice which gives thanks to the glory of God that we as Americans, can and do respect the honor and memory of our departed ones, soldiers and civilians alike.....

Library Notes

New books received at the Rockcastle County Library. Among them are:

ACCENT ON ELEGANCE, by Genevieve DeRoux. A guide to the elegant and proper thing to do in all circumstances of modern life—at home and abroad.

AN ACCOUNTING PRIMER, by Elwin Middlet. The ABC's of accounting for the non-accountant.

THE AMAZON, by Robin Fumeaux. This book, compounded of high endeavor, tragedy and adventure, describes this great river, its jungles, animals, Indians, heroes and villains—bringing them all vividly to life.

A BIRD IN THE HOUSE, by Margaret Lawrence. An excellent portrayal of small-town Canadian life and a girl growing into womanhood in a closely knit family.

THE COMPLETE BOOK OF PATIO GARDENING, by Jack Kremer. An authoritative guide that answers all your questions about designing, building and planting your patio.

CULTURE AND COMMITMENT, by Margaret Mead. From her knowledge of societies throughout the world, Margaret Mead explains how this new and lonely generation of today differs from those of the past and why this generation gap must be acknowledged by old and young alike before communication can begin.

DEATH ON A WARM WIND, by Douglas Warner. A tense thriller of political scheming, financial manipulation, and a great disaster—all played out in a few hours as the threat of destruction hangs over London.

DECENT AND INDECENT,

by Benjamin Spock, M.D. Dr. Spock has in the past dedicated his life to the problems of children, but he now turns his attention to the problems of adults, drawing on his unique background for an understanding and compassionate analysis of the adult in contemporary society.

GANDHI'S TRUTH, by Erik Erikson. As many of the aspects of civil disobedience found rampant in society today have their origin in Mahatma Gandhi's theory of militant nonviolence, the author of this volume clarifies Gandhi's "truth" through an explanation of Gandhi's life, the events that shaped his philosophy, and the implications that it has for modern man.

GREAT LION OF GOD, by Taylor Caldwell. A major novel about the Apostle Paul.

HERBS TO GROW IN DOORS, by Adeline Simmons. This is the first book on herbs to tell specifically which ones to grow in the house and how to be successful with them under average home conditions.

HOLD FAST TO DREAMS, by Anna Bontemps. Anna Bontemps' deep knowledge of poetic forms as a writer, teacher and lover of poetry makes this special anthology which will appeal to a wide range of readers.

THE HURRIED LEISURE CLASS, by Stefan Lindner. An excellent study of changing uses of time. The author finds that contrary to expectations, economic growth has not resulted in an abundance of free time.

IN THE POCKET, by Earl Heston. Told with honesty and modesty, this story of one of America's great professional quarter-backs makes inspirational reading for both young and old.

MAN THE INVENTOR, by M.H. Chender. The history of civilization hinges on the inventions that have changed life through the years. This volume enumerates the more significant inventions which have shaped the modern world and are the basis of our lives.

LEARN BY DOING—Putting theory into practice, firemen extinguish a blaze in less than four minutes during a session in firefighting techniques at last year's Kentucky Fire School.

RADIATION, MAGNETISM, AND LIVING THINGS, by Daniel S. Halacy, Jr. The effect of atomic energy on man and living things is discussed in this significant volume which also delves into other aspects of scientific research so new and unusual that they may have a profound influence on our future way of life.

SHAPES OF THE SUPERNATURAL, by Sean Moreley and Gogo Lewis. A combination of history and the supernatural, paired tales from both the nineteenth and twentieth centuries in an effort to illustrate the continuing popularity of a type of story that has "haunted" man since the beginnings of time.

THE SOUNDS OF TIME, by Nancy Wise Hess and Stephanie Grauman Wolf. A combination of history and music for the general reader who is interested not only in what was played or sung and who performed it, but also in how and why.

STEVE BELLAMY, by W.E. Butterworth. The death of Steve's mother removes him from his "normal" suburban life and thrusts him into a completely new environment, with new people. Adjustments to his new life brings tolerance and maturity.

THE SUMMER OF THE SWANS, by Betsy Byars. Sara's dissatisfaction with her life is centered in her orange tennis shoes which seemed to symbolize all her frustrations. However, an acceptance of herself comes when she realizes the depth of her love for—and importance to—silent Charlie, her mentally retarded brother.

THE SUNKEN FOREST, by Zola H. Ross and Lucile McDonald. Alicia Webster's senior year is a time of excitement and decision. Her father's geological expedition provides answers to questions about her future as well as solving a century old mystery.

THREE OF A KIND, by Louise Dickinson Rich. Ophaned Sally finds a haven in the home of the Coopers. However, the arrival of their grandson, a silent and withdrawn child, teaches her that she has been self-centered in caring about others.

THE WATERS OF NOVEMBER, by Howard Greenfield. This vivid story of the flooding of the River Amo, an event that brought havoc to the city of Florence and its many treasures. However one of the most important aspects of the story is the subsequent restoration in which the entire world helped to save a magnificent heritage.

ZAMI GOES TO MARKET, by Muriel L. Feelings. A Junior Literary Guild selection, this is a warm and appealing story presenting the values and life styles of an East African family in today's modern Africa.

LET THEM EAT PROMISES, by Nick Kotz. With the focal point on an issue—hunger—the author explores the faults and failures in our country's domestic programs.

THE LOCH, by Janet Coird. Violent natural disaster drains the water from the Loch and turns the quiet Scottish town into a community besieged by fear. A real thriller.

LOST LEGENDS OF THE WEST, by Bud Williams and Choral Pepper. Fascinating reading for everyone interested in American folklore and history.

NO NUDES IS GOOD NUDES, by P.G. Wodehouse. Skulduggery and romance run riot in this latest of P.G. Wodehouse's humorous novels.

THE OPPORTUNITY EXPLOSION, by Robert Seiling. A concise guide to job-hunting needs, it describes what jobs are available, how you can choose the one that is best for you, and how you can land the job you have selected.

OUR OVERCROWDED WORLD, by Todd Williams. This calm, reasoned and analytical approach to the population crisis is conspicuous amid the den of emotion-packed controversy over the capacity of this planet to provide adequate food and living space for its increasing population.

OUR TIME IS NOW, by John Birmingham. Thursday at making the knowledge of science intelligible to the general reader, presents the whole range of physics so lucidly that one not only understands it at the time, but retains a grasp of it.

WARFARE, by Robert Leckie. For the general reader Mr. Leckie has written a concise and entertaining survey of the history and principles of armed conflict.

THE WORLD OF SOUL, by Arnold Shaw. The interesting account of Black America's contribution to the Pop music scene.
