A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By: Roy Martin

Piece and peace. Two simple words. They sound alike. They're spelled differently, have different meaning. Consider for example, "piece of mind" as it is commonly used and "peace of mind" as it too is commonly understood. "Piece of mind" is common. "Peace of mind" is all too uncommon. Telling some one off with a "piece of mind" is one thing. Possessing "peace of mind" is different. "Piece of mind" even at its best provides only a TEMPORARY feeling of satisfaction. Once attained, "peace of mind" can be maintained - it gives PERMANENT satisfaction. Wouldn't it be a wonderful world if people would practice less "piece of mind" and possess more "peace of mind"?

your children to appreciate the beauties of nature around them? Why not plan to have a really restful vacation, even though it may be short.

though it may be short, that leave you at peace with yourself and ready to face the new day? watering lawns to water, or not to water, the lawn, is a big question for home owners during the hot dry months of summer. Zoyzia and Bermudagrass make most of their growth during hot weather. They live through periods of dry weather but would benefit from watering, especially in dry periods. Kentucky bluegrass, creeping red fescue, and tall fescue, cut to proper height, will not be killed by dry weather. Unwatered lawns may turn brown but will recover when the drought is over. However, if you want a green lawn during dry summer, you will have to water. If it does not rain, you should expect to water your lawn every week in order to keep it green.

Watering the lawn gives the advantage of keeping the lawn green most all summer. The biggest disadvantage in watering the lawn is the water cost. Additional watering may also increase the chance of disease, encourage weeds, especially crabgrass, and certainly would require more mowing. If you intend to water, you will probably need to water about once a week giving the ground a good soaking; about one inch of water per week should be ample. A can placed in the watering area will enable you to know when you have put on an inch of water. Of course if it rains you will need less water. The time of day for watering is not very important. However, morning watering gives the grass time to dry off before nightfall, reducing the conditions favorable for disease development.

There was good attendance at the recent Pentecostal Church Bible School near Crab Orchard. Workers in the school were Mrs. Sue Howard, Mrs. Germa Brunnett, Mrs. Rose Bullock, Mrs. Gladys Roberts, Mrs. Joetta Day, Mrs. Rose Singleton, Mrs. Joanna Cooner and Mrs. Clara Burton.

And on a motion by Hewitt Jones and seconded by Sherman Sargent the court adopted the following motion: "Pursuant to KRS 64-255, reference to Magistrate's salaries for trying criminal cases the following order is hereby made in implementation of the April 1, 1958 order authorizing a salary for Magistrates trying criminal cases. The order reads as follows: "Each Magistrate must be on duty regular week days; each Magistrate must maintain a proper office for the purpose of trying criminal cases; in addition, each Magistrate must report and pay all monies collected as provided by the Kentucky Revised Statutes. *****

Children Should Be Immunized Before School

Dr. M.A. Shepherd, Regional Health Officer, urges all mothers to have their children completely immunized before the start of the new school year.

Says Dr. Shepherd, "It is very important that every child's immunizations be brought up to date, so that he is protected against the serious communicable diseases that are preventable by immunization."

"Putting off immunization is risky," Dr. Shepherd said, "For example, the old-fashioned measles outbreak which has already caused two deaths this year in Kentucky could have been prevented."

"Also, eight cases of tetanus (lockjaw) were reported in Kentucky last year—two of which were fatal."

Dr. Shepherd urges parents to consult their family physician or the county health department about the possible need for "boosters" or additional doses of vaccine before school starts.

It is especially important to check immunization record of pre-schoolers at this time, because according to Kentucky law no child is eligible to enroll in school without first presenting a certificate from a physician stating that the child has been immunized against diphtheria, tetanus, poliomyelitis, measles, and smallpox.

In addition, although not required by law, rubella (German measles) vaccine is recommended for boys and girls between the age of one year and puberty.

Fiscal Court Buys Grader; Transact Other Business

Five bids were received and opened by the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court for a new motor grader at Tuesday's called meeting. Wayne Supply Co. of Copehin was the low bidder for a 112F model Caterpillar grader for $12,932 and the county's old grader.

There was some question after the bids were opened, from the other bidders who protested that the model, bid on by Wayne Supply, was not the model asked for in the advertisement for bids by the county. They advised that the court advertise for bids so they might submit a bid for the smaller machine. However, the court decided that the smaller model was what they wanted and, since Wayne Supply was passed, a motion was made and law to accept their bid.

The court also accepted a bid from Summers-Herzmann of Louisville for two new dump trucks. The bid was $6,806 with trade-in. The only other bidder was Hughes Motor of Somerset who bid $7,400 plus trade in.

In other business before the court, the Magistrates voted to accept a contract with the state to haul 9,042 tons of rock for sixty-six and one-half miles of roads in the county. The contract will gross $8,137.80 for the county.

The court also voted to set-up Freedom Road, from Seals' Grocery across to Freedom Church, and the Maple Grove Road, from John Miller's to the Mullins Station Road, for state aid.

The Rockcastle County Budget Commission submitted an approval for transfer of funds to the Court which had already been approved by Dave Magill, state finance officer.

In accordance with the request, the Court voted to:

Transfer 1969-70 budget surplus funds and fees of $37,000 to the 1970-71 budget, general fund, $12,000 from the general fund to the new road machinery fund and $1,000 from the truck license fees fund to the new road machinery fund.

$1,200 from the general fund to the County Judge salary fund and $3,000 from the general fund to the Magistrate's salaries and expense account. The services of Viley O. Blackburn, attorney, was dispensed with by the Magistrates during the meeting. Mr. Blackburn was the county's lawyer in the recent case of Charles C. Carter vs. the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court.

A motion was made by Sherman Sargent and seconded by C.W. Phillips to turn over $500 of the money returned to the county by the Agriculture Extension Board to the Soil Conservation office for their use.

Severe Thunderstorm - Winds Hits County Monday Evening

A severe thunderstorm, early Monday evening, brought relief to much of the county but it wasn't for free as winds of high velocity uprooted trees, bent and broke television antennae, tore up barns, flattened crops and moved house trailers around. Hewitt Jones, a resident of the old Brodhead Road, was probably the most recent hit resident of the area. Earlier in the day, a fire on Mr. Jones' property damaged a pasture and then the winds came. A barn with four head of cattle in it was blown down, his television antennae and tower were snapped and trees were uprooted all around. Mr. Jones' cattle were not killed but were cut badly.

A hanger at Harris Field on Brindle Ridge was blown down; however, a plane and numerous pieces of farm machinery, also under the hanger were not damaged.

Windows were blown out of the back of one house, also on the old Brodhead Road, a barn lost its top, the home of Kenneth Cornelius was damaged slightly by falling trees, and the guttering was torn off of one home in the area.

One man, Douglas Lewis, escaped serious injury when his house trailer was knocked off its foundation. Mr. Lewis had been working underneath the trailer, located on Green Hill, on a water line when he felt the trailer shaking and rolled out. He went into the trailer where his father-in-law, Byron Baker, was just before the trailer was shifted. Neither man was injured but the trailer was damaged extensively.

Another trailer on old Brodhead Road was also damaged extensively by the winds, its outer covering was buckled and the trailer was shifted on its foundation.

Crops suffered heavily from the storm. There were numerous tobacco and corn patches flattened. However, there are no reports available on the monetary loss suffered from the storm.

Residents of Mt. Vernon were kept busy after the storm cleaning up fallen branches and debris left by the storm. Kentucky Utilities reported that 200 homes in Mt. Vernon were without electricity following the storm.

Things were bad for a while there and no doubt looked worse than they really were. Most longtime residents of Mt. Vernon agreed that it was one of the worst storms in many years but they also recalled on in the 30's which took the roof off the Mt. Vernon Hotel and laid it in the street.

Weatherman Bill Cox reported that .94 of an inch of rain fell which was the first since July 23 when .11 of an inch fell.

Interesting Records Found By Berea DAR

Prospective members of the future Rockcastle County DAR Chapter, during their family research, have uncovered interesting records of Revolutionary soldiers who were ancestors of rockcastle County residents. Perhaps other descendants living in the county would be interested in these records. The Berea Laurel Ridges Chapter DAR is sponsoring the organization of the new chapter.

Thomas Ramsey, Sr. enlisted in the Continental Army in Essex Co., Va. in February of 1776 in the regiment commanded by Col. Alexander Spotswood. He served for two years and participated in the Battles of Brandywine and Germantown. He was discharged at Valley Forge in February 1778.

In 1820 when he was living in Garrard Co., he put in his claim for a pension. His brother, Francis A. Ramsey and "relative," Larkin Ramsey also made affidavits as to Thomas Ramsey's service in the Revolutionary War and the claim was approved. In this claim, Thomas Ramsey tells of his army service and also tells how he lost his discharge papers. He said that soon after he was discharged a man from the army, who was supposed to have been a deserter, came into the neighborhood and exhibited a paper which he claimed was a discharge. Some of the neighbors borrowed Thomas Ramsey's discharge to compare the two papers and it was

Accident Injures Three

A one-car accident Friday afternoon on Interstate-75 injured two women and an eleven-month old baby girl.

The accident, which happened four and four-tenths miles south of Mt. Vernon, apparently occurred when the driver, Belva Sue Robbins, 21, of Goshen, Indiana, lost control of her vehicle, left the road, and traveled 80 feet before applying brakes. She then cut back on the roadway causing the car to begin a skid which took the car across the road into a rock cliff.

Mrs. Robbins and two passengers, Brenda Gail Parker, 19, also of Goshen and Laura Ann Parker, eleven months, all received Class A injuries and were taken to the Rockcastle County Baptist Hospital. They were later transferred to a Lexington hospital.

Another passenger, Marvin Dewayne Robbins, six months, was not injured

The decision of the Anacosta Aluminum Co. to build a $100 million plant in Kentucky climaxed a selling job performed by gov. Louie B. Nunn and other state officials over a period of more than a year.

The plant will be built on the Green River in Henderson County near the Webster County town of Sebree.

"We were able to prove to Anacosta that Kentucky can offer to industry the advantages of a plentiful power supply, good labor force, attractive living conditions and a receptive attitude toward business that competing areas could not match," the governor said.

The plant will process ore shipped from Jamaica via the Gulf of Mexico and by barge up the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers to the Green. The initial capacity will be 120,000 tons of primary aluminum a year, with plans to double that tonnage later.

The company expects to employ some 800 workers, mostly from the Henderson area.

"This area soon will become the aluminum reduction center of the world," Nunn predicted. The governor said Anacosta's decision to locate there will lead to an overall $500 million industrial development in the Henderson area in the next 10 years.

State Commerce Commissioner Paul Grubbs and his aides are continually contacting industrialist prospects, stressing advantages of Kentucky location—such as low-cost water transportation, central location and abundant electrical power.

THE STATE INVITES OFFERS ON $6 MILLION IN TOLL ROAD BONDS

State Finance Commissioner Albert Christen has asked for bids of offerers Tuesday (8/4) for $6 million in bonds for work on four Kentucky toll roads.

Christen and officials of the Kentucky Turnpike office, looking for the interest rate most favorable to the state, and make an early decision on what might be acceptable. All offers might be rejected, but Highway Commissioner Eugene Goss is hopeful that the $6 million in bonds can be sold soon.

The funds would be used to complete construction of the Audubon Parkway and the Daniel Boone Parkway and—along with additional money to start work on the Owensboro-Bowling Green and Bowling Green-Somersett turnpikes.

WORK TO BEGIN SOON ON SAFETY PROJECTS ALONG INTERSTATE 64

Work will begin soon on the installation of major safety improvements along a 19-mile stretch of I-64 in Jefferson and Shelby Counties.

The ends of existing guardrails will be buried. Breakaway light and sign standards and new guardrails will be installed along the highway from Louisville's Waterson Expressway to I-64's junction with KY 55 southwest of Shelbyville. At later dates similar improvements will be made, in two phases, from KY 55 to U.S. 127 and from

U.S. 127 to Frankfort.

SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS AND STATE OFFICIALS CONFER

The general theme was "Strengthening the Leadership Role of Education at Both Local and State Levels."

Representatives of the Governor's office, the Council on Public Higher Education, the Legislative Research Commission, the state Education Department, the Kentucky Education Assn. and the Kentucky School Boards Assn. attended.

fits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 226 are getting benefits as disabled workers or the dependents of disabled workers.

Mustian pointed out that although the majority of social security beneficiaries are older people, about one out of every four is under age 60.

In the state of Kentucky, 133,161 people under age 60 are collecting social security payments each month. The 74,986 who are under 18 are receiving payments because a working father or mother has died or is getting social security disability or retirement benefits.

Of the 9,005 who are 18 through 21 years of age, most are getting students' benefits under a provision which permits the continuation of a child's benefits past his or her 18th birthday, and up to age 22 if he or she is attending school full time.

But in this 18 to 22 age group, Mustian said, are some other types of beneficiaries, illustrating the broad family protection that is provided working people of all ages under the social security program.

A number are the children of retired, disabled, or deceased workers who become disabled before they reached 18 and who

Social Security

Social Security benefits paid to residents of Rockcastle County totaled $105,000 a month as 1969 ended, James Mustian, Social Security Manager, reported today.

A benefit increase, signed into law by President Nixon on December 30, 1969, has since raised the monthly rate of payment by 15 per cent for the 1836 social security beneficiaries in the county, Mustian noted, including the increase in yearly cash benefits in the county now average $1,449.00.

Of the social security beneficiaries living in Rockcastle County, 1179 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 406 are receiving bene-

Frankfort Watchline

"There are more taxpayers than there are teachers."

This view of possible limits at the polls in shaping the thinking of administration leaders who'll guide next year's races for governor and legislative spots.

They add that, of course, teachers are taxpayers too.

But they obviously foresee a head-on clash between those trying to block tax increases and school people who feel they were short-changed by the 1970 Legislature--and Gov. Louie Nunn.

Republicans aren't openly writing off the teachers' votes. But they keep on whispering that Kentucky Education Association leaders already are committed to former Gov. Bert Combs.

Combs' foe in the Democratic race for governor, Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford, will seek a middle path, aimed at selling the idea he led the lawmakers toward the best possible compromise last session.

Without the fear of a hot primary, Republicans might not have shown their platform until they see which Democrat is chosen--and adjust it somewhat to meet the situation.

But the broad terms may sign nothing. Finance Commissioner Albert Christen's public statement that the state shouldn't raise taxes to do more for schools but that a move is afoot to make it seem inevitable no matter who wins next year.

Privately, the tough-talking commissioner who's in charge of the state's spending puts it this way:

"Until we learn how to spend the money we've got, we don't need to ask for more."

The KEA may have missed the boat this year but it's zeroing in on one of its main problems for 1972--the question of public support.

During the 1970 session, most legislators--and leaders in the administration felt the KEA didn't have wide public backing.

Now the KEA is coming out with the results of a professional poll it feels will shed new light on the average Kentuckian's thinking about schools and money--and that give politicians a different view.

KEA leaders discount talk of a revolt inside the ranks, saying membership is up from last year. But they'll obviously keep a close eye on sign-ups this fall when they'll have to finance the new drive.

Coal industry leaders acknowledge they expect a strong move for some kind of severance tax in 1972. If prices continue to boom.

Probably only the timing of the biggest price jumps as the coal shortage tightened--and the public's awareness--kept the 1970 session from turning to a severance tax in its search for money.

The long-range result could be good if a big if in Kentucky--there's a carefully planned prospect to protect a vital industry even though making it shoulder more of the load for worthy programs.

There's been talk among some who know Gov. Nunn's political acumen that he might not call a special session to remap legislative districts since he continues to say it will depend on whether the census count requires it.

But he departed from the text of a speech to say, "And apparently it will."

The call won't come until winter, but an aide says: "The governor doesn't want to be in the position of having a judge order him to do his duty."

State School Supt. Wendell Butler says, "There's an urgent need for public understanding of educational needs."

And he adds, "I might say there's an urgent need of better educational understanding of the public."

TRY MINI-VACATIONS

A vacation should leave you refreshed and ready to return to the routine duties. Sometimes they are a failure, however, because of many different factors. Some are too strenuous and you get back needing a vacation to rest from so many activities. Some families travel too many miles in one day and the children are overtired and become cross, causing strained relationships. Sometimes, too, the expenses have been more than expected and there is an added concern about finances. A good vacation doesn't have to cost a lot of money.

Some families, who have been very successful with their vacations, plan for several short vacations rather than one long one.

These might even be "mini-vacations" so you really get the worries and really enjoy the beauty of a sunset, a rainbow, or the delicate shape of a flower petal. A quiet spot under a shady tree, where you can stretch out in a comfortable chair and enjoy that book you have wanted to read may give you some needed serenity.

Do you have a spot of beauty near your home? Is there something to make you lift your eyes above the everyday humdrum? Have you taught

Disease Prevention-Detection Unit Operating in 10 Counties

James S. Wilson, Pineville, chairman of the Cumberland Valley Health Planning Council, yesterday presented the keys to a new mobile multi-phasic screening unit to Dr. Claxito Hernandez, State Department of Health and Director of the health screening program.

The multi-phasic unit is the only one of its kind in the state, according to Dr. Hernandez, and provides service not available anywhere else in the state.

The presentation was made in behalf of the Kentucky River and the Cumberland Valley Health Councils, the two organizations which make up the Southeastern Kentucky Health Demonstration Project. It was this organization which initiated the purchase of the screening unit with funds received from the Appalachian Regional Commission.

In a brief presentation ceremony Wilson noted that "a major goal" of the two councils has been disease prevention and early disease detection.

"The two Councils believe that intensive screening of the people in their areas for health problems will be necessary and of great value in the health program," he said. "This mobile unit... hopefully is expected to enable us to do just that," he continued. "I hope you realize," Dr. Hernandez told the group, "that this is not just another truck. We have the provisions to take not only X-rays, but to give many tests," he said. He noted that with the X-ray units they had to develop the film elsewhere and the process took weeks. "Here we can develop the pictures in five or six seconds," he said.

Dr. Hernandez emphasized the importance of acting before a chronic disease strikes in providing assistance. "We cannot continue to act after the fact," he said. He noted that last year Americans spent about 63 billion dollars for health care. He said that much of this was spent because chronic diseases were not discovered in time to be checked.

He said that for two years Southeastern Kentucky has been doing what everyone says should be done. "We are talking about health, not disease," he said.

The screening unit operates in cooperation with the county health departments in 10 Southeastern Kentucky Counties. A battery of tests which take about two hours to complete are given to anyone who desires them, Dr. Hernandez said. The results of the tests are sent to the local family physician who keeps the record on his patients, he said. Without the support of the local physicians we would not be able to make the program work, he continued.

Dr. Hernandez said the program saves the physician's time and the patient's money. "The program is designed so that we don't need a doctor," he said. "We look at people who seem well... and when we run them through screening, there's a good chance that we will find one or two things wrong. He said that 250 people in the area have had chronic diseases discovered by screening of which they were unaware. "Five women in the area are alive today because we caught their cancer in time," he said.

The multi-phasic screening unit is in Bell County at the Letcher Fork Clinic on the second Wednesday of each month, and at the health Department in Pineville on the third Thursday of each month, according to Ed Smith, administrative assistant of the Bell County Health Department.

Another small but significant group of youthful social security beneficiaries are those who have five years of work under social security, as little as a year and a half is required in the case of a worker who becomes disabled before age 24. A place is vacant in our home; which never can be filled.
