

You and the Draft

Our mail recently included letters from a registrant and the personnel manager of the plant which had employed the subject as an engineer. Both writers have been marked with the marks of the registrant's local board and the appeal board having jurisdiction over the subject's present place of employment because the young engineer was recently reclassified from II-A to I-A. Their blistering attack was premised that the members of the local board and the members of the appeal board were not qualified to make a judgment on the essentiality of the young man's service to the plant. They cited the documentation they had provided to justify the engineer being retained in Class II-A. The facts are the particular registrant enjoyed a student deferment that permitted him to earn a Baccalaureate and Masters Degree. When employed as an engineer, he was granted an occupational deferment (II-A) for one year. He had a low random sequence number and the number was reached by his local board in May. When the government asked for a recommendation from the Advisory Committee on Scientific, Engineering and Specialized Personnel in the state where the individual was presently employed. The local board sought the best professional advice available as to whether the engineer's employment was essential to the community need. It was the recommendation of the committee that the registrant's present job should not be considered as essential to the community need and that he should not be considered for further occupational deferment.

With this professional recommendation from a competent committee, the local board reclassified the young man from II-A to I-A. The registrant availed himself of his full procedural rights and the appeal board sustained the local board in their reclassification action.

Q. I registered with a local Selective Service Board and would like to know more about the way to determine my rights and responsibilities under the law. Are there well-informed persons with whom I can confer so I can understand classification criteria and procedures better?

A. Yes, there are people who are thoroughly qualified to counsel you and help you understand and meet the responsibilities which the law places on you. Your local board and its staff are your first and most readily available sources of information. In addition, the state director has designated other persons as advisors to registrants and anyone of those individuals is able to provide you with well-informed counseling. Also, other designated persons serve as appeal agents to review classification procedures of local boards. They also are available for counseling. The executive secretary of the local board will arrange an appointment for you. Any registrant or other interested persons may write to the state director for answers to specific questions.

Q. In the spring of 1969 my father passed away and I became the sole source of support for my mother and three young brothers and sisters. At that time, I was classified III-A by my local board. I have recently read in the paper that the President put an end to III-A Classifications. Does that mean I can no longer retain my III-A classification?

A. No, your III-A Classification was based on the fact that your induction into the Armed Forces would cause extreme hardship to your dependents. The classification remains available in any case where an actual hardship exists.

Q. I have operated the family's 400 acre farm for the past three years. This consists of approximately four acres of tobacco, 150 acres of corn, 100 acres of hay and managing approximately 50 head of beef cattle. I am an only child and my father is in very poor health and unable to work. My parents are completely dependent on me to operate the farm. The farm is heavily mortgaged and my parents would lose it, if I should be called to service. Am I eligible for a hardship deferment?

A. You may be considered for a hardship deferment. The determination of your proper classification from the reclassification of your local board. You should request a III-A (H) classification from your local board. They will require you to furnish them information which they will use in determining your proper classification. Normally, hardship deferments are granted to alleviate human suffering that might accrue to one's dependents and not to save or generate wealth.

We would like to share with our readers what we consider to be an unusual case. In June 1968, a former Kentuckian registered with a Selective Service local board in Cincinnati, Ohio. At the time of registration he gave June 18, 1950 as his date of birth. Subsequent to this registration he moved back to southeastern Kentucky. For some unexplainable reason, he decided to register for the "draft" with the local board in Kentucky. On June 6, 1969, the second registration was filed and at the time he gave May 22, 1951 as his date of birth.

You will recall that on December 1, 1969 the first "draft lottery" was held and all men born on or after June 1, 1944 through December 1950 received a Random Sequence Number. Our short term lottery for Random Sequence Number is RSN. The RSN for registrants (year groups 1944-1950) born on June 18 was 70. On July 1, 1970, the second lottery was held for men born in 1951. For registrants born on May 22 of that year, the RSN is 199.

In March, 1970, RSN 70 was reached by the young man's board in Ohio. He was ordered for induction, but failed to report. The local board reported him to the United States District Attorney as a Selective Service violator. The District Attorney referred the case to the FBI for investigation and it was found the young man had also registered in Kentucky. In an effort to resolve this duplicate registration, the Kentucky Selective Service Headquarters verified the individual's birth from the Kentucky Bureau of Vital Statistics. The verification established the date to be June 18, 1951. Based on the authentic information provided by Vital Statistics neither registration was valid. Now the young man will be notified to present himself for proper registration. At that time, he will be given Random Sequence Number 214. The incident is being related to emphasize to all young men the importance of presenting proper documentation, such as a birth certificate, at the time of registration.

During the years 1961-69, employment gains by Negroes were more rapid than those for whites. Negroes possessed their employment ranks by 1.6 million, or 23 per cent, while whites increased theirs by only 8 percent.

William Russell Was Revolutionary Soldier

William Russell, the eldest son of William and Mary Henry Russell, was born in Culpeper Co., Va. in 1735. He was educated at the College of William and Mary in the colonial capitol of Williamsburg.

In the summer of 1755, he married Faitha, daughter of Daniel Boone and settled on a plantation in the northwestern part of the county. In 1770, he emigrated with his family to southwest Virginia planning to move to Kentucky where he had valuable lands. He received word that danger of Indian attack was too great for travel with his family so he sent his son Henry, ahead with some negroes to make a settlement for the family in Kentucky. Henry joined a party with Daniel Boone and Boone's son. On September 26, 1773 in the Powell Valley, Indians attacked the camp while Daniel Boone was scouting ahead and Henry Russell and Boone's son were killed. This so saddened the Russell family that all plans to move to Kentucky were given up and the Russells settled on the Clinch River in southwest Virginia. Later several of the Russell children moved to Kentucky. William Russell served as an officer during the Revolutionary War—retiring as a Brig. General. He was in the battles of Brandywine, Germantown, and Monmouth. He died in 1793. Mrs. Susan Cummins and Mrs. Ann White of Lexington are descendants of William Russell and are joining the new Rockcastle County DAR Chapter on this line.

(Fourth in a series of sketches of Revolutionary ancestors of prospective members of the new Rockcastle County Chapter DAR which will be organized in October.)

News Summary

U.S. Sens. John Sherman Cooper (R., Ky.) and Marlow W. Cook (R., Ky.) and 11 other senators asked the Senate Interior Committee to investigate the worsening coal shortage, including the purchase of coal mines by oil firms... The State negotiated with coal operators who proposed a cash per pound mile penalty to pay for road damage by overweight trucks... Atty. Gen. John B. Breckinridge ruled that counties can regulate but not outlaw strip mining.

FARMING— Recent rains helped soybeans, pastures and hay prospects and benefited tobacco in most areas... Seventy per cent of Kentucky corn fields are infected with blight, damage varies.

EDUCATION— If the U.S. Highway Safety Bureau has school-bus standards, officials say Kentucky's school boards would have to buy thousands of additional buses, costing millions of dollars... Federal aid to Kentucky schools for 1970-71 will increase by $8 million. The new money is chiefly for special programs for children from poor families and for vocational education.

MENTAL HEALTH— Dr. Dale H. Farabee, Mental Health Commissioner, said thousands of Kentuckians interested in mental health know the urgent need for new hospitals which would be built along with new state prison and other facilities. If a $48.3 million bond issue is voted in November.

PUBLIC HEALTH— Health officials called for State help in combating Louisville's worst infectious syphilis outbreak in 10 years... A hearing will be held in Northern Kentucky Oct. 6 on a regional air-pollution plan which federal officials hope will develop into a national model.

ECONOMICS— State Government departments are adjusting to a $6,036,254 cut in the 1970-71 budget, necessitated by a revenue decline. The U.S. Commerce Department reported that average personal income in Kentucky rose 97.7 per cent in the last decade... The Greater Cincinnati Airport, at Florence, Ky., will apply for $445,000 federal aid to expand runways.

Hunting & Fishing

A few weeks ago, when this column carried the story of a 44-pound, 4 ounce rockfish caught from Herrington Lake, a rundown on the rockfish in Kentucky was promised.
 Many people were unaware that a number of Kentucky lakes sported a good many of the former sea-giant striped bass.
 The catch of the gigantic "rock" from Herrington startled some readers. They were not informed of the program which was started in the late fifties. Charlie Bowers, director of the Division of Fisheries, and biologist in charge of the rockfish stocking program, tells the Kentucky rockfish story as follows:
 On November 12, 1941, the waters of the Santee and Cooper Rivers in South Carolina were impounded to form the Santee-Cooper Reservoir. This should have meant nothing to Kentuckians. However, it meant a great deal, because trapped in these waters were some Rockfish, Roccus saxatilis, normally a salt water fish, which spawned in the fresh waters of Santee-Cooper.
 By the middle 1950s, local fishermen and fisheries men became convinced the large schools of rockfish held in the Santee-Cooper Reservoir represented the first known spawning population of landlocked rockfish.
 In 1957, enough had been learned of the desirability of the rockfish that Kentucky was eager to obtain some of those hard-fighting, good-tasting, shad-like fish.
 Two men were sent to South Carolina, road and reel in hand, to catch and bring back 12 rockfish from their pond, which were to be placed in Lake Cumberland. In the next four years, about 2700 young rockfish, about nine to twelve inches, were caught and transported by truck, airplane or helicopter to Herrington, Cumberland and Kentucky Lakes. The fish grew, but did not spawn. The fishermen who caught the fish, after a few years in Kentucky waters, had trophies to remember.
 In 1955, Kentucky began stocking rockfish fry, produced by South Carolina in a biological breakthrough of major proportions. In 1955, some 500,000 were placed in Lake Cumberland. A Tennessee-Kentucky effort in 1956 stocked 3,000,000 fry in newly impounded Lake Barkley, Dewey Lake was next in 1967, with 500,000 fry. In 1969, another newly impounded lake, Green River Reservoir, received 200,000 fry.
 The fry were producing some catches, but it was thought that greater survival could be obtained if they were released in fingerlings. In 1969, some 64,222 two and one half inch fingerlings were reared from 500,000 fry at the Frankfort National Hatchery and placed in Herrington (21,872) and Cumberland (42,350). In 1970, the effort was repeated with larger 3 to 4 inch fingerlings produced from the 500,000 fry and stocked—89555 in Herrington Lake and 9080 in Lake Cumberland.

Wayne VanHook Announces For School Board

Former County Judge Wayne VanHook has announced his intention to file for the Rockcastle County school board race, Judge VanHook and Dr. Rudolph Burdette have both announced to the seat presently held by Preston Kummelley, which represents the Bullock, North Mt. Vernon and West Mt. Vernon precincts.

Concerning his announcement and candidacy, Judge VanHook said, "after careful consideration and after talking to several citizens of Rockcastle County, I take this means to announce my candidacy for member of the Rockcastle County Board of Education, representing the precincts of Bullock, North Mt. Vernon and West Mt. Vernon."

"I am deeply concerned about our school system, my first concern is for the children—their basic needs might be met and for the parents who sacrifice for their children, their prime interest in life. I support the teachers who have spent their time and money preparing to carry the grave responsibility that rests upon their shoulders. And, I also support the taxpayer and the approximately 75% of his tax dollar which goes toward making our educational program possible."

Judge Wayne VanHook

Ballots Mailed For ASC Committee Election

Rockcastle County farmers are now receiving mail ballots for election of ASC committee members, announced Sheriff Mullins, Chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee. Mailed ballots are to be put back in the mail or returned to the County ASC Office by September 11.

In each of the five (5) ASC committees in the county, eligible farm voters will elect three committeemen and two alternate committeemen to serve for one year. ASC committee members will be elected by the County ASC Committee in administering government farm programs. The county committee members also elect members and choose officers for the County ASC Committee.

Three Face Charges After Resisting Police

Two Berea men are lodged in the Richmond Jail under $10,000 bond each and another Berea man, Howard David Smith, 18, is free under $2,000 bond following a fracas between two Berea City Police officers and the men which began at Berea early Sunday morning and ended near Roundstone.

According to Berea City Police Chief Donald Tudor, it all began about 12:45 a.m. Sunday morning when Assistant Police Chief Edmund Todd and Patrolman Robert Conn were traveling north on U.S. 25 in Berea. They met a car traveling south which reportedly ran them (the policemen) off the road and up on the curb as they passed.

The policemen turned around and gave chase, which at times resulted in speeds up to 110 m.p.h. According to Chief Tudor, the cruiser was blowing its siren and had its red light on but the man would not stop and at one point fired two shots at the cruiser hitting the hood of the car.

As the chase neared Roundstone, Patrolman Conn shot out three of the four tires of the car with a shotgun forcing it to come to a halt. When the car stopped, Smith, a passenger in the car, jumped from the automobile and fled on foot. Pursuit was given by Patrolman Conn. Smith managed to grab the shotgun from Conn and Conn shot him with a pistol. Meanwhile, according to Chief Tudor, back at the car, Asst. Chief Todd was having his own problems. When the other three occupants of the car, Jesse Wayne Abney, 26, Bennett Abney, 18, and a juvenile, refused to comply with Todd's order to lay their hands on the car and the older Abney began brandishing a .38 Smith & Wesson in his hand and threatening to kill him, Todd warned him that he would shoot. When his warning was not heeded by Abney, Todd shot him in the leg. With this turn of events, the younger Abney, Bennett, also allegedly advanced on Todd with a knife and was hit over the head by the policeman.

According to Tudor, a knife was found at the scene later by policemen. The men were finally made however and all three men were taken to the Berea Hospital and from there to jail. Jesse Wayne Abney will stand jury trial September 8 in Berea City Police Court and face charges of Reckless Driving, Failure to Yield Right of Way To Emergency Vehicle and Driving While Intoxicated.

Registration Books Close Sept. 6

Voter Registration books for the November General Election will close September 6 and will remain closed through November 8, according to County Court Clerk Clifford Bales.

Candidates for the School Board election may file from September 4 through September 19. However, there will be no election of city officials this November as previously thought and it is all because the school board race does not completely encompass all precincts in Mt. Vernon.

"WILDCAITS" WIN BOWLING LEAGUE

The "Wildcats" carried off first place team honors in the recently completed Rockcastle County Summer Bowling League. Members of the team were Terry and Lenora Cummins and Glen and Alice Faulkner.

Second place team winners were the "Pillpushers" consisting of Jack and Betty Lewis and Tommy and Cigaretta Hodges.

Individual winners were John Noe, high series-men; Virginia Winstead, high series-women; Glen Faulkner, high game-men; Evelyn Mullins, high game-women; Terry Cummins, most improved bowler-men; Virginia Winstead, most improved bowler-women and the Evelyn Mullins.

Anyone interested in bowling in the winter league which will start right away should contact Jack Noe, Mt. Vernon.

Fiscal Court Accepts Deed To Lake Linville Roads

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court, at its meeting Tuesday, to accept a deed from the City of Mt. Vernon to the roads around Lake Linville. There has been a bit of controversy in the past over ownership of the roads with the county contending that since the road was covered up by the city with a new road, which the city built, and since the city did not legally take over the road from the county to begin with, they had no reason to help with the upkeep of the road.

He has also been bound over to the Grand Jury by Police Judge George Ness under charges of Resisting Arrest and two counts of Assault With A Deadly Weapon.

MRS. MARY A. BLANTON DIES IN STANFORD

Mrs. Mary Alabam Blanton, 93-1/2 Routes 3, Crab Orchard, died Thursday, August 27, at the Fort Logan Hospital in Stanford after an illness of two months.

Mrs. Blanton was a native of Harlan County, the daughter of the late George and Phoebe Howard Colclough. The widow of Wm. C. Blanton, Mrs. Blanton is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Phoebe Davis of Middletown, Ohio, Mrs. Emma Simpson of Indianapolis, Indiana and Mrs. Fred Nunn of Kettie Island, six sons, Oliver Blanton of Paoli, Indiana, Albert, Jess, and Ed Blanton, all of Middletown, Ohio and William J. and George Blanton, both of Route 3, Crab Orchard; 27 grandchildren, 92 great grandchildren and 17 great great grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by a daughter, Mattie Blanton, in 1931. Funeral services were held Saturday, August 29 at the town's funeral home in Crab Orchard with Bro. Jess Messer officiating. Burial was in the Turkey Town Family Cemetery.

JOHN ANDERSON REESE DIES MONDAY, AUGUST 31

John Anderson Reese, 82, of Mt. Vernon, passed away suddenly Monday morning, August 31 in Berea.

Mr. Reese was born in Clay County on February 8, 1888, the son of the late Tandy and Mary Wolfe Reese, and was a retired millwright in Crab Orchard and a member of the Baptist Church. Besides his wife, Mrs. Etta Abney Reese, of Mt. Vernon; he is survived by three sons, Edward Earl Reese of Dayton, Ohio, Clarence Reese of Maineville, Ohio and John Reese, Jr., of Maude, Ohio; three daughters, Mrs. Edna Burdette of Lynn, Indiana, Mrs. Bernice Hurd of Route 3, Mt. there was a stalemate. The City finally gave in to the extent that they spent several thousand dollars on the main road filling cracks and widening spots. This work by the City was one of the main reasons that Magistrate Hewitt Jones, Fiscal Court member of that area, called a meeting Tuesday to accept the deed to the roads from the City. The motion passed unanimously and the Court decided to ask the state to take these roads over.

In other business before the court, Everett Robinson of the Scaffold Cane area presented a petition to the court with over 40 signatures asking that the Court repair its blacktop .7 mile of the Scaffold Cane Church Road.

The Court said there was no money for local financing of the repairs and blacktop of the road but they did vote to petition the state to accept the road under their program.

Another road, the Maple Grove Road, was also brought to the attention of the court by Magistrate Wally Phillips. Phillips asked the court to petition the state to accept this road and the court agreed unanimously.

MRS. SUSIE WINSTEAD DIES IN MICHIGAN

Mrs. Susie Winstead, 82, of Fallow's Switch, Ky., and formerly of Mt. Vernon, passed away Friday morning in Detroit, Michigan. She was born in Lincoln County, the daughter of the late Sam and Mary Baker and was a member of the Baptist Church.

Besides her husband, George Winstead, she is survived by two sons, James Winstead of Loyalt and Matt Winstead of Harlan; three daughters, Mrs. Mary Thomas of Kenner, Ky., Mrs. Alice Bolenger and Mrs. Katherine Gilson, both of Speedwell, Tenn.; one sister, Mrs. Martha Higgins of Maryland; 18 grandchildren and 8 great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon, August 31, at the Dowell-Martin Funeral Home Chapel by Rev. Ray Cummins. Burial was in the Elmwood Cemetery in Mt. Vernon.

Mr. Burcett was before the court to ask that the number 1650 be returned to the road (Dug Hill Road) which had

INSTEAD OF "dog eat dog" it was "snake eat snake" in this case as is shown in the above picture. Charles Tipton of Fairborn, Ohio is shown holding a copperhead snake which about one-half has been swallowed by a black snake, also shown. So, you know that old saying that a black snake will kill poisonous snakes is true. This rarely seen event took place about three weeks ago at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Wright on Route 1, Brodhead. There they found the snakes. Later on the blacksnake regurgitated the copperhead but was later seen eating it. Mrs. Wright's father, who will be 85, on September 3, said he had never seen this happen before. Have you?

No. 47 for Mercer County is shown receiving a pass during last Friday night's game between the Mt. Vernon Red Devils and Mercer County. Mercer won the game 22 to 0. The Red Devils will face Russell County this Friday night at home. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Senator Cook Advised Of Corn Leaf Blight

Kentucky along with many other states is suffering from corn leaf blight this year. Although the blight is not new to Kentucky it is more prevalent than ever before. According to the College of Agriculture at the University of Kentucky the full picture of the corn damage to Kentucky farmers will not be known for another two or three weeks.

Senator Marlow W. Cook has asked the U.S. Department of Agriculture to advise him of what help Kentucky farmers might expect if they suffer undue loss to their corn crop. In answer to Cook's questions the U.S.D.A. says there are four avenues open for assistance at the present time. Also, if provisions in the Farm Bill passed by the House of Representatives become law, another big aid will be made available. The Farm Bill is currently in the Senate Agriculture and Forestry Committee and could be reported to the Senate floor by the end of this week.

These are the programs available now: First, the County A.S.C. Committees may permit seasonal grazing and buying on acreage diverted under the annual farm programs. Next under recommendation by the Governor and the U.S.D.A. State and County Disaster Committees, the Secretary of Agriculture may grant permission to graze or cutback on land diverted under the Cropland Adjustment Committee. Another option is to reduce prices on community credit crop-owned feed grain can be made available by recommendation of the Governor and U.S.D.A. State and County Disaster Committee. And the final bit of help, Cook was advised, might possibly be in the form of an emergency loan from the Farmers Home Administration.

Although the blight cannot be cured, it is not a serious financial effect upon the individual producer, Cook said. "The Nation as a whole has no immediate worry because government controlled stocks are in substantial and adequate supply."

Producers in affected areas are placing orders for non-T gene hybrid corn early, in the hope that seed growers will be able to fill needs of American farms for a resistant strain of corn. Seedmen are going all out to provide adequate supplies, even to the extent of planting in southern hemisphere countries for harvest this winter.

The U.S.D.A. also informed Cook that farmers would be wise to notify their local seed dealers this fall as for their expected corn seed needs for next spring, since there could be some shortage in the new hybrid next year.

Ky. State Fair Termed Successful

Prizes and pride are the things which stand out from the 1970 Kentucky State Fair.

I, like so many thousands of Kentuckians, found the 1970 edition of our State Fair to be among the best ever. Of course the high attendance, increased entries and the other outstanding features speak for themselves. Above all, I feel the fair accomplished the purpose for which a fair is held. It would be impossible to list all of the prize winners in the various divisions of the fair. Most all divisions had a record number of entries, making it all the more difficult to give proper recognition to all the participants.

However, one of the most impressive agricultural events would have to be the annual Kentucky Ham Breakfast and the auctioning of the grand champion ham. Some 600 Kentuckians were joined by friends from other states for some early morning enjoyment of one of Kentucky's better known products. The grand champion ham sold for $180 to Mrs. W. W. Cook of Louisville, being the top bidder. The ham was exhibited by Curtis Harper of Clinton, and with a weight of fifteen and one-half pounds, brought $1,550. While this was a special auction with the money slated for a special purpose, it nonetheless adds another laurel to our famous hams. Exhibitors of produced products may not have had a similar opportunity to get such special attention, but I feel all of Kentucky agriculture can share in the glory of the ham show and ham breakfast.

Not being able to name all of the winners individually, I would like to congratulate them as a group. Moreover, I want to commend each exhibitor for their participation which made the agricultural side of the fair.

In this competitive age I feel it good that we can bring our products together for exhibition and judging which will not only recognize but also advance our industry. Also, I feel that since we must live and work in a hurried atmosphere, it is good to have an opportunity to pause and view with pride and enjoyment, those things which our labor and investment are producing. This is one of the major purposes and provisions of the Kentucky State Fair.

Protect Hardwood Stands From Grazing

In Kentucky, farm woodlands supply fuel wood, fence posts, rough timbers, and other products in considerable quantity for home use and for sale. If these woodlands are to continue producing timber crops of high quality and yield, they should not be grazed.

Many of the farm woodlands in the hardwood regions of the Southeastern Kentucky have lost their former thrifty appearance; they are now open and have no young growth coming in to restock the stands; the larger trees are in many cases stunted, and others are dead or dying; timber production is low, and frequently the soils are eroding and washing away. These are results of grazing by livestock.

Grazing seriously damages trees of all ages. In general, a thrifty farm woods makes a poor pasture. If pastured, it soon becomes a poor woodlot. Timber, like a corn crop, needs some attention, and both need protection from livestock. In the case of timber, the returns are deferred because of the longer period required for the crop to reach merchantable size, but if properly managed, the woodland can be made to produce an income besides meeting, in large measure, the timber requirements of the farm. In balancing the farm program it is important to remember that a good timber crop offers means for profitable use of labor, teams, and equipment during the late fall and winter when field operations are at a standstill.

Kentucky school districts would have to buy several thousand more school buses, costing in the millions of dollars, if the U.S. Highway Safety Bureau adopts and enforces a rule forbidding the transportation of students, State officials point out.

The bureau is reported considering such a rule. It is put into effect, non-compliance could cost Kentucky a ten per cent cut in the $80.8 million a year now received in federal roadbuilding aid and loss of all the $1 million a year now received for highway safety aid.

A State Education Department official said he knows of only one Kentucky county where there are enough school buses to seat all pupils.

PROBE OF COAL CRISIS SOUGHT WHILE PROBLEMS MULTIPLY

A U.S. Senate investigation of the worsening coal shortage—including the purchase of coal companies by oil corporations—is being demanded by U.S. Sen. John Sherman Cooper (R., Ky.) and 11 other senators. Meanwhile, the State negotiated with coal operators who proposed a cash per-pound-mile penalty as a means to pay for road damage from overweight trucks.

Six drivers of overweight sand-and-gravel trucks drew fines at Louisville, and the State Water Pollution Control Commission reported that poisonous chemicals into the Tennessee River declined sharply following an investigation at Calvert City.

HEALTH OFFICIALS ARE ALARMED BY SYPHILIS INCREASE

State and Jefferson County County Health Department officials are keeping a close watch on the Louisville area, where the worst outbreak of infectious syphilis in 10 years is prevalent.

Thirty-one cases have been discovered in the area since July 20, and officials expect the number to soar. So far, there has been "no significant increase statewide," Dr. C. Hernandez, epidemiology director for the State Health Department, said.

CLEAN-AIR HEARING SET FOR OCT. 6

A hearing will be held in Northern Kentucky Oct. 6 on a regional air-pollution control system which the federal government is pushing as a possible nationwide model.

The State Air Pollution Control Commission reviewed plans for Kentucky's participation in the Cincinnati Interstate Air Quality Control Region program. Indiana officials also are cooperating since the region comprises nine counties in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana.

Meanwhile, a distillery, a railroad and two other firms drew fines for air pollution at Louisville, and the State Water Pollution Control Commission reported that poisonous chemicals into the Tennessee River declined sharply following an investigation at Calvert City.

70% OF CORN FIELDS IN KENTUCKY INFESTED

Seventy per cent of Kentucky's corn fields and 60 per cent of Indiana's are infested with the Southern corn borer, and the infection is spreading, officials of the two states report.

"Damage varies widely, from light to severe," the Kentucky Crop & Livestock Reporting Service said. Damage has been low in recent years because hybrid corn has been resistant to the fungus, but a new variety of the blight has appeared.

STATE AGENCIES ADJUSTING TO BUDGET

Finance Department specialists, where needed, are helping various State agencies work out the specific cutbacks needed to implement a $6,056,254 reduction in the State's $557 million 1970-71 budget.

Kentucky law forbids a State deficit and requires the governor to reduce spending, if necessary, to avoid it.

When sales tax collections fell below expectations, when income tax refunds increased and when the 1969-70 surplus proved less than forecast, the Revenue Department cut its 1970-71 General Fund forecast by $4 million and Finance Commissioner Albert Christen ordered 11 per cent across-the-board cut in the current budget of each State agency.

"The timing of this adjustment allows State agencies to gear their expenditures to a new level over a 10-month period," Christen and Revenue Commissioner James E. Luckett pointed out.

Frankfort Watchline

In talk of an open primary for the Republican nomination for governor does materialize, Warren Schweder will resume the role of the loneliest man in town.

One who never seeks the spotlight, Schweder is little known to the general public. But he's a key in GOP organizing success.

As executive director of the Republican State Central Committee, he'd stay neutral in any primary battle—keeping his eyes on the November race.

And he already knows how both sides can snipe at neutrals, having caught plenty of jobs from partisans of both Gov. Louie Nunn and Sen. Marlow Cook during their hot 1967 primary.

Even so, Schweder doesn't think a tough primary is necessarily bad. He definitely thinks having eager candidates is good.

"I remember the days when we almost had to draft someone," he says.

Whether there's a primary or not—a decision probably up to Gov. Nunn—the Republican nominee's basic platform must be the Nunn administration's record.

Schweder feels it provides a sound political base. But he differs with those who think the campaign money chests need only to be opened to catch an overflow from the party faithful.

He says the committee isn't in shape to help congressional candidates financially. And he doubts it can give legislative nominees anything like the backing it did last year.

But no matter what—with the inherent fund-raising strength of a state administration—Republicans must rate the money edge over Democrats, already locked in what must be a well-frustrating primary.

Gov. Wendell Ford and former Gov. Bert Combs. Still, the extra exposure could help the Democrats in November.

Schweder's ever-present sense of humor shows in a letter offering "help" to Morgan County's Democratic Judge Gene Allen.

It seems the county's purgation board wants to cut 2,500 names from the voter-registration rolls. But it's stymied because the fiscal court won't put up the money to mail required notices.

So Schweder wrote Judge Allen that the Republicans would be glad to pay the $150 for stamps.

He mentioned filing a suit to sue if that's needed—suing Morgan County has 10,530 registered voters but a total population of only 9,738 according to the Census Bureau.

Schweder didn't spill out the obvious point to his need—Morgan County has 9,725 Democrats registered and 805 Republicans.

So there's no way the GOP could lose if 2,500 are purged.

The University of Kentucky's ill-timed purchases of nearly one million dollars worth of securities of the now-bankrupt Penn Central railroad may be bad news in more ways than one.

There may be a full-scale check on finances at UK and other state schools' right at the time they're facing a lot of questions on campus policies and troubles.

and other bookkeeping machinery to keep some money available that isn't technically "available" funds.

Only about half the Penn Central paper was bought by the UK itself. But losses—gains by its foundation or athletic association ultimately affect the university.

And both administration and legislature, frustrated in the past in trying to get a handle on the high finance of higher education, may try to grab another hold now.

The cryptic announcement of a top-level shakeup of the Kentucky State Police not even mentioning the names or fate of those demoted left reporters scratching their heads.

But maybe you won't need reporters to serve as a medium for information. The announcement said the revamping will help "keep the public informed" about the State Police.

Social Security News

Most Americans know that social security provides retirement checks for older people. Many also know that benefits are payable to surviving widows and children of deceased workers. But few people are not aware of the fact that social security benefits are also payable to disabled workers and their dependents.

James Mustan, manager of the Somerset Social Security Office says that the disability protection is one of the most important aspects of social security for the younger worker.

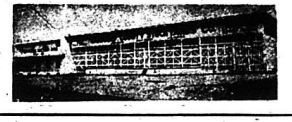

Disability benefits are payable under social security to either a man or a woman who is totally disabled and meets the work requirements. The work requirement is 5 years work out of the last 10 years if the worker was over 31 years old when he becomes disabled.

disability begins. In the case of a young worker who became disabled before age 24, 1 1/2 years work out of the last 3 years if needed.

The amount of any social security benefit, including disability, is based on the worker's average earnings. The disability benefit for the worker varies from a minimum of $44.00 to a maximum of $250.70 per month. For example, a worker who had average $4,000 per year while working would receive $189.80 per month from social security. If he had a family with at least one child, the family would receive $354.40 per month.

JACKSON COUNTY RECC

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By: Roy Martin

America's number one atheist has reportedly obtained over 27,000 signatures on letters protesting the action of our astronauts in broadcasting Scripture on their moon voyage in December, 1968. Their protest demands to that future demonstrations of religious faith by astronauts and public leaders be banned.

Along with many other funeral directors in the country, we agreed to sponsor a suggestion in newspapers from Maine to California. Here is an issue on which all God-loving, religious minded people can unite and take positive action to repudiate the atheist demands. We suggest you sign and mail letters to NASA, commending the astronauts action. Mention too that you support the right of any one to publicly express faith in God without fear of censure. Here is your chance to stand up and be counted, to have your voice heard. Mail your individual or group letters without delay to NASA, Astronaut Office, Houston, Texas, 77058. Can we count on you?...

Visiting back and forth among the Fritz, Peck and Rustin relatives means plenty of good food, family togetherness and another family tradition too: electric heat in all three homes. Why? From the ladies you hear, "I'm a modern grandmother, that's why!" "Electric heat's so clean it cuts my housework 'way down'!" "With all that draft free comfort, I don't worry about the children playing on the floor!"

The mentalk like the economy of electric heat: "It's great not spending a penny on maintenance." "That flameless cleanliness saves us plenty of work and dollars-on redecorating!" And every one says they wouldn't have any other heat at any price!

There's a wide choice of electric heating systems. But if your present heating is forced-air, your new electric furnace installation is already half completed. Get the facts. Call our nearest office for an accurate estimate on all costs of converting to and enjoying electric heat. Then you make the decision.

The social security office is in the Tradewind Shopping Center, in Somerset. The telephone is 678-8108.

James Mustian, manager of the Somerset Social Security office today stated that the Social Security trust fund is on a firm foundation and in no danger of going broke. Mustian's statement was in response to several letters to the local office inquiring about social security not being able to fulfill obligations to the more than 25 million beneficiaries now on the rolls.

Mustian said, "this occurs every time Congress passes an amendment which increases social security benefits." He was referring to the recent amendments which raised payments by 15% to all social security recipients.

Mustian pointed out that the Social Security trust funds are watched over by the best economists in and out of the government.

Mustian pointed out that there is a 6 month waiting period before disability benefits can be paid. This waiting period begins with the first full month after the person becomes disabled. Thus, for example the waiting period for a person who became disabled in July 1970 extends from July thru December. The first month for which benefits would be paid would be January 1971. The January check would be received on February 3, 1971. Although no benefits can be paid for the first 6 months after the disability begins, Mustian strongly emphasized that the disabled person should not delay filing a claim. By filing an application with the

King Announces Road Projects

Highway Commissioner P.F. King today announced the addition of four road projects to Rockcastle County's 1970-71 Rural Secondary Program. The projects are:

- Bituminous surfacing for 0.3 miles of Burton School Road and 1.4 mile of the Depot Grove-Willalls Road.
- Bituminous resurfacing is planned for 3.5 miles of Cooper Creek-Conway Road.
- Rural secondary projects are financed by two cents of the seven-cent-per-gallon motor fuel tax. Commissioner King also announced the approval of a project that will involve ditching, shouldering and bituminous initial treatment on the Richmond-London (Red Hill) Road in Rockcastle County. Construction will begin at the end of existing blacktop, approximately 7.5 miles north of the junction with US 25, and will extend north 2.5 miles to the junction with Old County Road. The expected completion date of the project is November.

During fiscal year 1969, nearly 48 percent (4,700) of the youth found illegally employed were under 16 working during school hours, over 3 hours daily and 18 hours a week, when school was in session, over 8 hours daily and 40 hours weekly in non-school periods, or in jobs not permitted under Child Labor Regulation No. 3.

DAR MEMBERS MEET AUG. 29

Several prospective members of the Rockcastle County Chapter of DAR met August 29 at the home of Mrs. V.G. Walker in Berea. Fourteen persons have completed records necessary to join this organization and a few others expect to have records completed before Sept. 10 which is the deadline for submitting these records to state officials. These records will then be taken to Washington for approval by national officials. After this approval is obtained, a national meeting scheduled for October 9, the chapter in Rockcastle will be established and the officers who were elected August 29, will be confirmed. Those elected were: Mrs. Norma Kamesse Eversole, regent; Mrs. Ann Lair Henderson, vice regent; Mrs. Jean

Second Chance Offered For Drop-Outs By TV

If you don't have a high school diploma, and still want to get one, you can tune in and turn on this September to a special Kentucky Educational Television series that will prepare adults for the state high school equivalency tests. The Rockcastle County Library has the materials you need to participate in the series.

The "TV High School" will begin its half hour lessons on September 21. Two different lessons will be broadcast per week with two repeats of each lesson. A total of fifty 30-minute programs, shown over a 34-week period, have been produced to help persons pass the tests. Certificate issued.

Lessons and the tests cover areas of education development in: natural sciences, English language and literature, social studies, and mathematics. Completion of "TV High School" helps prepare students to take the GED (General Educational Development) test for high school equivalency. The Rockcastle County Library has the materials needed to participate in the "TV High School" series for "free," free of charge. The kit contains ten paperback books, plus various study guides, and answer keys.

The materials have been provided to all county libraries in the regional library system by the Department of Libraries, Frankfort, Kentucky. The program is free to all viewers. Anyone may take the high school courses at home by tuning to their local KETV station, UHF channel 42. For those persons who wish to buy their own study kit, rather than borrowing it from the library, the kit is available for $15 (send check or money order) from the Kentucky Educational Television Network, 600 Cooper Drive, Lexington, Ky., 40502. Responsibility for successful completion of the courses is placed on the student-viewer who must follow the lessons, study on his own and progress toward his goal with a strong purpose.

Towery, treasurer; Mrs. Bell Huff, registrar; Mrs. Janie Ramsey, genealogical records chairman; Mrs. Iris Stevens Young, secretary; Mrs. Virginia Crawford Lair, chaplain, and Mrs. Judith Williams Cummins, librarian. Speakers at the meeting were Mrs. Wilburn H. Walker, Lexington State Organizing Secretary; Mrs. Wilson A. Evans, Berea, State Regent; Miss Frances Moore, Berea, Regent; Berea-Laurel Ridges Chapter and Mrs. V. Gordon Walker, Berea, State Corresponding Secretary. The next meeting will be held October 9. Any person who would like to join this organization may contact Mrs. Norma Eversole of Mt. Vernon.

The most recent figures compiled show over 750,000 Kentuckians over the age of 26 do not have a high school diploma. This is one of the reasons why hundreds of Kentuckians have already joined in the effort to make this program a successful project in the Commonwealth.

FARMERS REMIND NOT TO GRAZE DIVERTED ACRES

Rockcastle farmers cooperating in the 1970 feed grain and wheat programs were reminded that they may not graze livestock on diverted acreage until October 15. Haying or other uses are not permitted on acreage which farmers agreed to divert from production in return for farm program benefits.

Shelley Mullins, Chairman of the Rockcastle County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, pointed out that the farm program agreements entered into by producers cover the entire calendar year. He explained that as part of the effort to balance production with demand, feed grain and wheat producers agreed to divert a portion of their cropland from production and maintain it in a conserving use. In return for participating in the programs they earned price support payments or wheat marketing certificates, and their program crops are eligible for price support loans.

Farm program payments in Rockcastle County are now being made. The ASC Committee Chairman said, "I want to remind farmers that their diverted acreage must continue to be maintained, however, and that no grazing is permitted until October 15. Haying is not permitted." He explained that in event of intentional violation, a farmer may lose all program benefits.

He also reminded farmers that erosion, weeds, insects, and rodents must be controlled on acreage diverted under the 1970 feed grain and wheat programs.

ment who recommend changes to the trustees of the fund. The trustees are composed of the Secretary of the Treasury, Secretary of Labor, and the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. The trustees in turn report to Congress once a year on the financial status of the trusts funds. He also noted that revenue can always be predicted since government economists know how many workers are in the working force at any given time and expenditures are always within these boundaries. If anyone wants a further explanation as to the financial status of social security he can call the Somerset office any time during working hours.

HEY, TEEN-AGERS!

HOW MUCH MONEY ARE YOU PLANNING ON MAKING?

You can plan on working 40 to 45 years at a regular job. That will add up to a lot of money — more than a quarter of a million.

At the end of that time how much will you have saved?

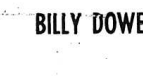

If you adopt the saving habit, it'll be quite a sum.

Your future is up to you. Start saving now.

Library Notes

THE ASSASSIN, by Evelyn Anthony. A high-voltage suspense and romantic novel set in New York during a U.S. Presidential year.

BIRTH OF A GIANT, by Richard Crabb. This is the fascinating detailed story of the most influential and powerful force ever exerted on American life and progress—the emergence, rise and maturity of the automobile industry in this country.

THE BLESSING WAY, by Tony Hillerman. To read this novel of suspense is to learn much of the remarkable Navajo people and to meet a superb new fictional detective.

A BURDEN AND AN ACHE, by Clarence McConkey. A profoundly moving glimpse of the people of the inner city—of their turmoil, anguish and hope.

COMMON SENSE MEDICINE, by Curtis Baylor, M.D. In no sense is this book meant to take the place of a visit to a physician. Instead here is information to supplement that gained from a visit by or to the doctor.

THE CONTROL OF LIFE. Based on the award-winning CBS television series "The 21st Century" this volume forecasts a new era in which man may possess the awesome power of directing his own evolution.

GARDENS UNDER GLASS, by Jack Kramer. In this comprehensive new book, easy and satisfying ways to garden in bottles, jars and brassy snifters are given in detail.

HOW TO PROTECT YOURSELF TODAY, by Robert Hair and Samm Baker. Crime and the threat of crime is probably the single most critical problem facing Americans today. The authors of this book tell you many things you need to know about the basic facts of protection, presented in simple, easy-to-use detail.

JOURNEY FOR JOEDEL, by Guy Owen. Set in North Carolina in the 1930's, this is a fine and descriptive portrayal of a 13 year old boy's journey to manhood in the course of a single day while helping his share cropper father bring the tobacco crop to the auction market.

LEGEND OF THE PRAYING COLONELS, by John Y. Brown. This little paper back recreates one of the most romantic and exciting eras in college football, when a then tiny college swept aside seemingly insurmountable obstacles to become a national football powerhouse.

PEDIA OF BASKETBALL, edited by Zander Hollander. The comprehensive record of what has become one of the world's most popular sports—basketball.

THE NASHVILLE SOUND, by Paul Hemphill. An intimate portrait of the Country and Western music scene.

THE PRACTICAL HANDBOOK OF PAINTING AND WALL-PAPERING, by Morton Scholtz. Valuable information given in this book includes all about the new paints, preparation of the surfaces, new types of wallpaper, painting masonry surfaces, exterior painting and many other practical ideas.

THE PRACTICAL HANDBOOK OF PLUMBING AND HEATING, by Richard Day. Valuable information given in this book includes how to hook up fixtures, water supply pipes and fittings, maintaining your home heating and plumbing, rural water supply and disposal and many other practical ideas.

New books for children.
THE ABC OF CARS, TRUCKS AND MACHINES, by Adelaide Hall. An ABC book devoted to small boys for they all love cars, trucks and machines. K-2.

BIRTHSTONES, by Willard Heape. Every birthstone assigned to a calendar or zodiacal month has its legacy of superstition, myth and legend. These myths have added richness and mystery to the alluring beauty of the jewels. 5-up.

CELLS, by Alvin and Virginia Silverstein. Here is the amazing story of how a cell is born, what it is made of and how it works with trillions of other cells to make us what we are. 4-7.

by K.M. Peyton. In addition to its romance, this story is filled with the exploits—dangerous and thrilling—of the visionary men who pioneered aviation in the years just prior to World War I. 12-up.
FEE, FI, FO, FUM, by Adwan Stoutenburg. A delightful retelling of seven of the best legends about friendly giants. 5-7.

A FLOCK OF WORDS, collected by David MacKay. An anthology of poetry for children and others. 7-up.

FULL HOLD AND SPLENDID PASSAGE, by Bill Houston. Through the use of personal diaries of seamen, the authors offer a firsthand look at America's early 19th century sailing history. 5-9.

GROVER, by Vera and Bill Cleaver. This is the story of a 10 year old boy's attempts to deal with the changes death made in his life. Through those attempts he learned that real friends must share both the good and the bad and that people have to "howl" sometimes. 4-7.

JOHNNY LION'S BAD DAY, by Edith Thacker Hurd. Johnny Lion is back with a bad cold, which means a bad dose of medicine which brings a bad dream. A funny picture book! K-4.

KING THRU-SHEAR, by Felice Hoffman. In this lovely and colorful picture book the author captures to perfection the meaning and beauty of this old fairy tale of the proud prince who learns her lesson. K-3.

KNEE-KNOCK RISE, by Natalie Babbitt. From the moment young Egan arrives in Instep, he senses the spell cast over the village by Magrim—the mysterious something that lurks on the mist-wreathed peak of the mountain. 4-6.

RRA-AH, by Eros Kethl. A picture book about a freedom-loving toad. K-1.
SWAPPING TURTLES ALL WRONG DAY, by Peggy Parrish. How a little Indian boy's "wrong" day at long last turned into a "right day." K-3.

THE WAY OF AN ANT, by Kazuo Mizumura. A sun-drenched picture story of an ant who must have heard somewhere in his travels that they aim too low who aim below the stars. K-3.

THE STORY OF VOLCANOES AND EARTHQUAKES, by William H. Matthews III. This book will tell you what's bad about volcanoes and earthquakes and what is good about them. In order that you may understand better the important role which they have played throughout the history of our earth. 4-6.

SO WHAT ABOUT HISTORY? by Edmund Morgan. Dr. Morgan shows in this unique book that it is nice to know what we have kept and why and also what we and other generations before us have thrown away. 5-12.

A LITTLE KNOWLEDGE IS A DANGEROUS THING?

Not where arthritis is concerned.

Arthritis is our most widespread chronic disease... and modern woman is its chief victim.

A little knowledge about it can be a very valuable thing. It can make the difference between control and crippling.

Instead of pretending to yourself that those pains and swellings will go away... that it won't really get worse... that you may be imagining the whole thing...

Instead of wearing a little copper bracelet on your arm... or indulging in other fantasies...

Instead of smiling bravely when you want to cry inside...

Use this little knowledge: something can be done. And see a doctor. Do just what he tells you. He'll help you realize how much can be done about arthritis. If you act in time.

Another thing. To give help. The Arthritis Foundation needs help. For research to find cause and prevention. For services to patients. For finding new ways to prevent and correct disability. For training specialists. For finding and testing new drugs. For spreading knowledge.

Now that you know... let's help each other.
