TO THE VOTERS OF EAST LIVINGSTON, WEST LIVINGSTON, & SOUTH MT. VERNON PRECINCTS

I have filed as a candidate for school board member of Educational District No. 1. I am a 1957 graduate of Livingston High School, 32 years old, a veteran and have three children.

I pledge four years of dedicated service to the best interest of all our children. I think our children's interest should come first. To put the pupil's interest first naturally teachers must be included in the planning of school programs and curriculum changes. Teachers are the ones who ultimately carry out all educational programs.

I feel that we have dedicated and well qualified teachers who are devoted to our children and their educational interests.

I pledge to study our educational system very closely and work for any improvements that will upgrade education in Rockcastle County. While putting the children first I will give great consideration to parents and taxpayers.

I will make every effort to see that the taxpayer's money is used wisely and that your taxes are not raised.

Your support and influence will be appreciated on November 3.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By: Billy Dowell

Counterfeit is mostly thought of in terms of money. But it is a fact of life that we willingly accept many things in life as counterfeit. And they are pleasantly welcomed.

The millions spent for cosmetics, for example, show a form of counterfeiting which more of us, for the most part, find pleasing. We accept a form of counterfeiting in jewelry, clothing and other items. When we know we have substitutes for the genuine, no harm is done. It is tragic however when love is counterfeited. Many persons, by the very nature of things, have mistakenly picked a lemon in a counterfeit garden of love. That too is a fact of life. Even emotion can be counterfeited. It is difficult to detect because only the person who displays the emotion knows for sure whether the emotion is genuine or counterfeit. A conscience is the only guide. This brings us to the one thing in life that can never be counterfeited. CONSCIENCE! Conscience is strictly a personal possession for which there is no substitute. One can not counterfeit a conscience and it is useless to try.....

Corn Prospects Discussed

Pointing out that considerable public attention has been given to corn leaf blight, this year, Shelle Mullins, Chairman of the Rockcastle County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said a special national corn crop report on October 2, as well as the regular monthly crop production report on October 12, will give more definitive indications of the extent of losses. As of the September 1 crop report, indications were the 1970 corn crop would be the third largest on record. However, actual production of the 1970 crop cannot be accurately determined until harvest is complete.

"There is no crisis, I want to emphasize this to the public and farmers alike. Total carryover stocks of corn and other grains amount to about two and a half billion bushels more than enough to take care of domestic feeding requirements through the-1971 harvest. And still permit sizable increases in export sales," Mr. Mullins said.

"This is not to say that the disease which struck the nation's corn crop this year can be taken lightly. It has to be regarded seriously. It is estimated that it, along with drought, reduced corn crop prospects considerably this year," he added. Based on the September 1 crop report of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the reduction would be about 6 percent. The 1970 harvest is expected to total about 4.4 billion bushels.

The ASC Committee chairman reported that Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin recently commented on the reaction to the disease which hit corn, one of the nation's basic crops, this year. The secretary reported: "We are working closely with the seed companies in an effort to maximize supplies of blight-resistant seed for planting next year. Fortunately some stocks are on hand and some more can be produced in warm climates during the winter months."

"The amount of international concern with our corn crop has, I think, surprised every one. We have had urgent requests for information from almost every part of the world -- from Japan, from the Southwest Pacific, from several of the Latin American countries, and from most the European countries."

"Corn definitely has become an international commodity, reflecting the rising levels of living around the world -- which in turn is reflected in an expanded demand for animal products, and therefore, more feed grain."

NATION'S FARMERS HOLD READY RESERVE OF GRAIN

Over a billion bushels of feed grains and wheat from 1969 and prior year crops currently are held under Government price support loan by farmers. These farmer-owned commodities are stored both on farms and in commercial warehouses throughout the grain-producing areas. The price support loan enables farmers who watch the market closely to pay off their loans and sell their crops at the most advantageous time for them, according to Shelle Mullins Chairman of the Rockcastle County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. In addition, he said, 1970 crops are now being put under price support loan in quantity. He pointed out that this grain under loan constitutes a ready reserve of basic agricultural commodities, thus assuring the American public of a steady, stable supply month in and month out. In citing the latest grain under loan report of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Mr. Mullins also said that the quantities include only a part of the reserve supply of grain in the U.S. Not included are farmer-owned grains which are not under price support loans, grain stocks held by agribusinesses, and Government owned grain. Total carryover amounts to about 2.5 billion bushels -- more than enough to meet domestic needs and export demands.

Historians say cosmetics were used in 4500 B.C.

DONKEY BALLGAME IS FRIDAY, OCTOBER 16

Donkey Ball, the world's craziest sport, comes to Livingston High School on Friday, October 16.

This ballgame, played from the backs of trained donkeys, is reputed to be wilder than a rodeo and funnier than a circus.

For the game, the Livingston has obtained the services of the nationally known Buckeye Donkey Ball Co., Columbus, Ohio.

All local riders will be used for the exhibition and the local boys and girls have gone into serious training for the big event. The Livingston teachers announced that its players are on a strict diet of mother's oats and raw carrots.

Junior Hamer, the local druggist, announced on hearing of the game, that he is increasing his supply of liniment in anticipation of a large increase in business the morning after the game.

"WHERE THE BOONEWAY JOINS THE DIXIE"

VOLUME 43 NUMBER 5

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1970

by: perline m. anderson
Watch those twenties! There have been two (that we know of) passed Mt. Vernon within the past week. So, be very careful of your change....
Now on to more serious matters, for us anyway since we don't have any twenties to worry about. For the last two weeks we have been informed numerous times, that we erred in the political advertisements of School Board candidates Billy Burdine and Murphy Martin, Jr. We need to set the record straight and here goes. Both Mr. Burdine and Mr. Martin are candidates for the board seat representing Educational Division No. 1. This division is made up of the East Livingston, West Livingston and South Mt. Vernon precincts....
But stay tuned, that's not all. Also in last week's issue, we named Magistrate Boone Cromer as one of the Magistrates who obtained on the vote, at last Tuesday's special court meeting, on the supplemental road agreement presented to the Court by the State Highway Department for the approval.
Mr. Cromer did not abstain but rather voted in favor of the agreement. The two abstentions came from Magistrates Tom With Jones and Cleo D. Thacker. Thacker later changed his vote in favor of the agreement and the motion passed.
That takes care of those two items, now let's ramble about pictures, of which the Signal must have one of everyone in Rockcastle County. If a favorite one of yours is missing and you think you may have brought it down to us to use, come on in and check. Relating to pictures we have about decided to put a sign over the door saying, "Abandon Hope All Ye Who Enter Here."
Seriously, our office hours are from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday and the pictures are all in a big box....

Land Can Be Grazed Beginning Oct. 15

Farmers who have contracts in the 1970 Feed Grain and Wheat Program may begin grazing acreage under contract on Thursday (today), October 15, according to the Rockcastle County ASCS Office.
However, permission to use diverted acreage for grazing does not mean that the land can be used for cutting of hay since Rockcastle is not a county approved by the State ASCS Committee for emergency haying.

Council Closes Boat Dock; Discuss Bulk Water Rate

The City Councilmen of Mt. Vernon voted at its regular monthly meeting last Monday night to close down their boat dock on Lake Livette until next spring. The Council decided that since fisherwomen seemed to think that the fish were still small to be taken there was little use in the boat dock remaining open.
In other business, the Council also decided to request the Economic Development Administration (EDA) to furnish them with a rate to charge Brothred and the Northern Rockcastle County Water District for bulk water. Gattiff Craig, director of the Cumberland Valley Area Development District, was at the meeting to request the Council to set the rate themselves, and also approved by Mr. Craig to the Council that if they would go ahead and set the rate that Farmers Home if any, customer would be added to the line, besides the housing project. The route advocated by Mayor Ed Winstead would involve a distance of approximately 1550 feet, most of which, according to Mayor Winstead, would be through dirt. This way, five customers would be picked up in addition to the housing project and several acres of land would be serviced for possible future development. Allegedly, the cost between the first two routes mentioned is not a factor since the deep rock cut on the first route would make it about as expensive as the additional length on the second route.

However, there is a third route available. This is the shortest in length but would gain no new customers, now Mr. Craig told the Council that if they would go ahead and set the rate that Farmers Home Administration (with whom application for a grant to finance the water project) and representatives of the water district could get ahead with work necessary to the project. However, after much discussion, the Council decided to request EDA to set the rate to be charged.

The water district will be charged for the water as it goes through the meter. They will have their own board, labor crew and accounting office. Approximately 165 persons have signed for water service in the area.
Representatives of property owners and residents on Geneva Street in Mt. Vernon presented the Council with a petition requesting the City to improve and maintain the street, which was dedicated to the City of Mt. Vernon in 1925. According to Claude Hanel, one of the property owners on the street present at the meeting, the street has not been worked on by the City. Mr. Hanel told the Council that the street is approximately 200 feet long and he (Mr. Hanel) has always had it traveled at his own expense in years past.

As the last item of business, the Council authorized new population signs for Mt. Vernon with the official population according to the 1970 census. The figure unofficially is 1854 up over 400 from the 1970 census.

Another city resident, Paul Harper, was also present to request the City to improve and maintain the street which runs by his house off of Ferguson Street. According to Mr. Harper, the street is about 100 feet long. However, there was some question in the minds of the Councilmen if City Attorney Carl Clontz as to whether or not the street had ever been dedicated to the City. The Council finally decided to obtain estimates from Al Company and J.C. Newland of Brothred on blocking Center Street and another street Sunday night at Stanford during the A.D.A. Annual District Meeting.

Next Thursday, October 15, is the deadline for local applications to be received by the Kentucky Crime Commission for $1.5 million more federal anti-crime funds to be granted this year.

Gov. Louie B. Nunn recently approved 44 grants, totaling $1.5 million, representing half the funds allotted to the State for 1970 under the 1968 State Streets Act. Forty per cent local matching money is required.

The recent awards included $100,000 to the Lexington Police Department for a community-relations program in high-crime areas and $106,579 to Louisville for a new police communications system.

Other grants were to Covington, Earlington, Ashland, Paducah, Springfield and Uniontown and to Kenton, Campbell, Fayette, Jefferson, Daviess, Warren, McCracken, Hopkins, Christian, Harlan, Gallatin, Harrison, Franklin and Meade Counties. The projects range from juvenile delinquency-prevention programs to criminal-identification work.

A $50,000 grant equated the Mobile Police Training Unit, a 32-desk classroom of wheels which will tour the state to help instruct local officers. The unit is sponsored by the Law Enforcement Training Council.

STATE POLICE ACADEMY MIGHT MOVE TO EASTERN

If federal funds are available to build larger training facilities, the State Police Academy might move to Richmond and become part of Eastern Kentucky University's proposed $6 million Center for Law Enforcement and Traffic Safety Studies.

Col. Larry G. Boucher, State Police director, said the academy's present buildings and three-acre tract, on U.S. 60 just west of Frankfort, are insufficient.

EKU has asked federal agencies for $4.3 million toward the proposed center. The trustees have sold $9.5 in revenue bonds to construct three other buildings—a university center, a classroom building and a service complex.

STATE TO ADD 2 PARKS AND POSSIBLY MORE
With plans for two more state parks announced by Governor Nunn, Kentucky's system of parks is the finest in the nation will total 40.

One of the new parks will be established along Fishtrap Reservoir, near Pikeville, on several tracts to be leased by the State Parks Department from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The other new park will be located on a 400-acre Jefferson County site which Central State Hospital formerly used as a dairy farm. This park, near Louisville, likely will be only the first in a series of State parks to be located in urban areas under a new U.S. Interior Department program, Nunn indicated.

The governor also cleared the way for federal approval of an 840-acre reservoir west of Paintsville by agreeing to spend $750,000 on the first phase of establishing a State park on the rest of the 14,000-acre tract there provided the General Assembly approves.

CAMPBELL GRAND JURY URGES BINGO FOR CHARITY

If the State Court of Appeals upholds the 1970 bingo law, cities and counties should allow the games only under the strictest of "charity only" rules, the Campbell County grand jury recommended.

The report criticized "commercial bingo," such as those which took in $368,000 in a three-month operation recently in Newport and passed on only $702 to charity.

NEW STATE TAX TABLE TO BOOST WITHHOLDING

Because of decreases in federal income tax rates since 1969, the State Revenue Department is sending Kentucky employers new tables which call for a 13 to 15 per cent boost in State income tax withholding effective Jan. 1.

The new tables were authorized by the 1970 General Assembly. The department estimates that only about 20 per cent of Kentucky taxpayers subject to withholding will be affected because employers of the other 80 per cent will use a form which produces the same result.

Because federal tax payments are deductions on State returns, lower federal income taxes mean higher State income taxes—hence the increase in withholding.

STATE ASSISTING VICTIMS OF WELFARE-CHECK THEFTS

Issuance of food stamps on credit was arranged by State Economic Security Commissioner Merritt Deitz to help relieve an emergency caused by the theft of 200 welfare checks from a mailman's truck in Louisville.

Deitz also asked State Treasurer Thomas Gentry to stop payment on the stolen checks and mail duplicates on the basis of affidavits being obtained from welfare clients who failed to receive their monthly payments.

CHRISTEN URGES STATE COUNCIL TO GUIDE CAMPUS CONSTRUCTION

Finance Commissioner Albert Christen said he does not intend to compel State universities and colleges to take all their bond-sale proposals to the State Council on Public Higher Education for approval.

But he said the council should review and guide such construction-financing plans, and he hopes the council and schools will work together.

HARNESS-HORSE SALE BREAKS 2 RECORDS

Two new records were set at the Tattersalls Yearling Sale of harness horses, at Lexington.

Sales in a single day totaled $2,001,200—a Kentucky record. Another Kentucky record was set when Miracle Tip, a foal of Good Time out of Flaming Arrow, was sold for $117,000 to Dr. Arthur Galt of Golf, Ill., and Cliff Baker of Studio, City, Calif. The price paid to Castleton Farm was the highest ever paid in this state for a Standardbred horse.

Tom Duncan's Frankfort Watchline

The maneuvering over legislative redistricting has more form than substance.

There's little real doubt that the Supreme Court's one-man one-vote ruling will override state constitutional guidelines.

The Constitution forbids joining just part of a county with another or several other counties to form a legislative district.

And that would be required to get equally populated districts.

If recent rulings mean anything at all, the courts will say the one-man one-vote mandate must prevail. And all sides know it.

But the question is who will go to court and when knowing that any redistricting must weaken rural strength in the legislature.

The main hassling is over a special legislative session for redistricting, seldom a pleasant prospect for a governor when another election is brewing.

But Gov. Nunn is pretty well committed to calling one unless there's some loophole. And the fact is that the next regular session would face the problem if it isn't handled before.

And, despite the smoke-screens, it's obvious that even if the courts haven't ruled in advance, they'd ultimately accept districts breaking county lines if they provide fair representation.

Don't expect any real move by the governor on a special session or next year's Republican ticket until the November election is over.

Tom Emberton's resignation from the Public Service Commission gives him all the room he needs to run for governor. And his formal announcement will be timed carefully.

Former Parks Commissioner Robert Gable remains in the picture, working to build a base to challenge Emberton or for the outside chance he might wrest the administration mantle from him.

And the jockeying for the lieutenant-governor slot stays intense, with Parks Commissioner James Host rated the favorite but Budget Director Lawrence Forgy, Jr., and Public Information Commissioner Kenneth Harper still charging.

Republicans are learning what Democrats knew all along—there just isn't enough pie no matter who's slicing it.

The National Education Association investigation on whether Kentucky should be blacklisted wasn't figured to be the highlight of the fall social season for Gov. Nunn and the legislature.

But it managed to get off to an unexpectedly sour note. News stories hit his desk before anyone had asked for an appointment.

Right now, Gov. Nunn doesn't plan to appear at the NEA hearings, feeling the record and his previous statements speak for themselves. Of course, that could change if he gets steamed up.

The differences we've hinted in testimony about that alleged payoff offer involving 10 million dollars in highway projects are shaping up in deposition.

Public Service Commission Chairman Harold Kelley denies knowing anything of a $300,000 offer.

But the conflict in testimony may center on whether he told

Gov. Nunn that in a tense, closed-door session, Punctuation in the deposition of the governor's executive assistant, James Watson, obscured some of his statements.

But Watson really said that Kelley was asked directly, "Was there an offer made of $300,000 at the Ashland airport by him to Mr. (Gobe) Hastings (a contractor)?" And Watson said, "I recall, his answer to it was that the figure was mentioned."

Bettering Rural Environment Is ASCS Policy

Improvement of rural environment is one of the tasks assigned to all agencies of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, including State, county and community committees of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, according to Jack Welch, Chairman of the Kentucky ASCS Committee.

"Our specific assignments are local administration of such farm programs as acreage allotments and the price-support, and the conservation cost-sharing program," he said. "We have some programs of special interest to an entire community cost sharing for pollution abatement on agricultural lands, for instance, and special conservation projects which benefit an entire area.

"We would be happy to talk over any local projects for rural improvement with those interested, find out whether our agency can be of official assistance, and do what we can to help, as an official group and as individuals," he added.

Mr. Welch pointed out that ASCS county and community committees are farmer-elected and for the most part have extensive farm backgrounds in the local area. He drew attention to recent comments by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin in speaking of the rural areas of the Nation. Secretary Hardin said:

"Our Nation, as President Nixon has often reminded us, stands at a crossroads of decision with respect to the kind of environment and living quality to be inherited by those who follow us. Ours is the challenge, reiterated by the President, to evolve a new policy of national growth, one that will develop greater economic, cultural and environmental opportunities.

"There can be little question that such a policy of creative growth will be implemented and carried out to ultimate success in rural areas of the Nation. As the President said in his State of the Union message, 'we must create a new rural environment that will not only stem the migration to urban centers but reverse it.'

"The Department of Agriculture is in the forefront of plans and programs to mobilize the talents and energies of rural people -- farmers and non-farmers alike -- in the country's effort to build a better Nation that we all want our posterity to enjoy. This will involve improving and expanding rural towns and small cities, establishing entirely new growth centers in America's heartland, and encouraging orderly, healthy population of the country's population.

"This will be a task for people to perform -- individual citizens and their local governmental units. The Federal Government can help, but it's at the local level where sound plans need to be laid out and careful decisions made.

"People in agriculture can and should figure prominently in these efforts. State and county Extension leaders, ASCS officers, conservation district people and many others can make tremendous contributions."

Weather conditions during harvest will influence the final out-turn. Infected fields are subject to more than usual harvest losses. Corn borer, stalk rot and root worms were causing some lodging and ear droppage in parts of the corn belt.

Generally, corn was maturing faster than usual over much of the country on September 23. Heavy blight - infested fields appear much as they ordinarily look much later in the season. Dry weather in the West corn belt in July and August hastened maturity. The blight also caused corn to mature rapidly in much of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and in most of the southern and southeastern states. In most states many farmers were harvesting corn early to minimize harvesting losses and damage from blight and other diseases. Prospects declined 6 percent in the East North Central and Northeast from September 1 to September 23 largely because of additional damage from the leaf blight. Prospects were also slightly lower in the west north central states as of September 23. Much of this region was plagued by dry weather during July and August. Prospects in the southern states declined 4 percent from September 1 to September 23.

For this report, estimates were carried forward from September 1 for the nine western states and New Jersey, Delaware, West Virginia, North Dakota, Arkansas, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

Help Needed To Protect Forest

Forest fire ranger, Stephen C. Bullen is seeking aid of Rockcastle Countians in preventing destruction of our forest by wildfires. He noted that anyone starting a blaze is responsible under law for damage it may cause and also subject to a fine of $100.00 and six months in jail or both, plus the cost of suppression of fire. This type of law violator will be contacted and every effort possible will be exerted in the apprehension of persons found guilty.

Once the fire is suppressed, the work of finding the responsible party begins. Sometimes this is relatively simple as in the case of a fire escaping from a plant bed or brush pile. Note - No burning in or within 150 feet of woodland or brushland before 4:30 p.m. Local time is permitted during the months of October, November, and December 15th.

A wildfire starting in the middle of a forest or on a lonely stretch of back road, miles from any houses, takes all the experience and know how a fire investigator can muster.

THE MT. VERNON SIGNAL, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 15, 1970, PAGE THREE

SEVEN SPECIAL INVESTIGATORS

To assist district and county forestry personnel in determining fire causes and apprehending the person responsible, the Division of Forestry has seven special investigators. These men have received special training in investigation procedures, and are themselves experienced forest fire fighters.

Even a simple case requires many hours of painstaking work interviewing witnesses living in the vicinity of the fire. Trying to find the point where the fire started and evidence of what started it is most important in determining if it was a carelessly dropped cigarette or match or a deliberate act. All evidence must be carefully weighed before the fire investigator files his report.

Remember a wildfire is illegal, no matter how it starts and any fire "out" of control is a wildfire.

will be a special night for the youth with a county-wide choir leading in the music. Bro. David Woods, pastor of the church, will serve as song evangelist for the week and he extends a Christian welcome to all to come and examine the message of the Scriptures with the Wildie folk from night to night.

The revival will close Sunday, October 23 with the annual Wildie Homecoming.

TO THE VOTERS OF BULLOCK, NORTH MT. VERNON, AND WEST MT. VERNON PRECINCTS

Teaching is a profession of honor and dignity. Those who follow the profession should rate a high degree of excellence in character and moral integrity. They must have qualities suited to inspire, and to command respect.

Several timely questions are being raised all across Rockcastle County at this time:

I. Do our young people after they measure up to standards, and spend time and money becoming qualified teachers, return home finding that they must become a member of a certain faction in order to find favor? Do they find that the more dedicated they are to the faction the better their chance of advancement?

II. Have you ever seen any of our very good teachers going through the embarrassment of standing on their tired feet at the polls on election day handing out cards for the administration sponsored candidates? What category of leave are they granted? How are they paid?

III. Should administrators be expected to contribute money for administration supported candidates? (NO! I see absolutely no reason for competent administrators to have to buy their positions.)

IV. Should school personnel be expected to influence their friends and relatives in behalf of administration supported candidates? (NO! School personnel, just as all citizens, should be allowed to vote for whom they desire.)

V. Should the theory of administration be based on pressure and obligation? (NO! Any good manager knows that fear and intimidation are not substitutes for leadership.)

VI. Should the school administration do the campaigning, write the advertisements, and furnish the funds for candidates supported by them? (No! This creates a passive Board member who is obligated not to children, parents, voters, or tax payers, but to a system.)

VII. Should administrators continue to draw exorbitant salaries from our tax dollar even after their retirement? (NO! The State Board of Education readily, without cost, fills consultant needs.)

The questions listed above represent an attitude in our county today—that of "general distrust"—regarding our school program. If elected, I pledge to work toward restoring credibility to the administration of our schools. Your vote and influence will be sincerely appreciated.

"IN AUCTION THERE IS ACTION"

Sell your Real Estate at the time desired.

The Auction Method is recognized as the modern, surest, quickest, most convenient, and most efficient system to sell Real Estate in America today.

When you sell at Auction, the Spotlight of Publicity is thrown on your property, giving it individually above all other places on sale day. It is a fascinating way with the public and concentrates attention, interest, desire, energy, and action.

Auction advertising is effective. Attractive features of the property are emphasized in carefully prepared advertising. Good advertising and salesmanship will find buyers and reach the best buyers wherever they may be. It attracts buyers from other property to yours on sale day.

In the past, prices paid at Auction have often exceeded the price asked at private treaty. The Auction creates an atmosphere favorable for the action. Action becomes much easier when once begun. Excuses are easier overcome in the heat of an Auction. Reluctant buyers will often bid more on the spur of the moment.

The Auction gives all buyers an equal chance. Sellers appreciate using their own judgment, but are often influenced to pay more when property is appreciated by a gathering of several bidders. Being in unced by the judgment of others, stimulates competition. One buyer wants what the others want, and the result is the highest possible price for your property.

Be fair with yourself. Consider the Auction Method, the highest class and most refined grade of salesmanship.

You And The Draft

Our middle name is SERVICE (Selective Service System). Throughout the year, we are asked to register. Letters rightfully catalogued as having been written in other than the registrant's interest. An area in which we have been asked to assist is in domestic relations. The System does not have legal authority to interfere in family problems. Sometimes the information provided by the writer, when verified by the local board, will affect the present classification of the registrant.

A few weeks ago our mail included a letter from a mother stating that her daughter's husband abandoned his wife and three-year-old son. Since the young man was no longer providing for his family, the mother-in-law wanted him drafted in order to provide child support for his wife and child. The Selective Service law could not be used as a motivation for forcing this registrant to support his family.

However, the local board by law had the responsibility to determine if he was entitled to his present classification based upon verified information. The board secured new information which convinced them the registrant was no longer entitled to a dependency deferment. He was reclassified I-A. This was appealed. The appeal board sustained the local board. As the young man's random sequence number had not been reached in his local board, the local board could not proceed further.

In that case, the writer did not accomplish her mission but the information furnished was helpful to the System in that it was the basis for an early reviewing of classifications.

Q. I am working off the railroad extra board, I want to volunteer through the draft board, if I go into the Army will I get my job back when I get out of the service, be eligible for seniority and pay raises?

A. We have contacted the personal department of a major railroad and they have reassured us that the railroad protects the rights of any employees under the provisions of the Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act.

Q. On September 9 the draft board classified me I-A. I want to appeal. Will this take any order to report for induction which might be issued by the draft board?

A. If you make a timely appeal your local board may not order you for induction during the period of time allowed for an appeal or while an appeal is pending.

Q. My billfold containing my draft registration card was stolen. My draft board is in another state. How do I get a new card?

A. You may go on any Selective Service local board and they will assist you by preparing a Request for Duplicate Registration Certificate or Notice of Classification, or you may request the form by letter. Your local board may require the presentation of satisfactory proof that your Certificate has been lost, destroyed, mislaid or stolen.

MANGANESE TOXICITY REPORTED IN TOBACCO

There have been many reports of manganese toxicity in tobacco this season, and according to Dr. J.H. Smiley, tobacco specialist, the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture, this condition is easily corrected.

"Manganese is one of the minor elements necessary for plant growth," Dr. Smiley explained, "and it is needed in very small amounts." When large amounts are taken up by a tobacco plant, light green or yellowish areas appear between the larger veins of the leaf. In severe cases the plant may be stunted or even die.

The availability of manganese is closely associated with soil acidity. As the soil becomes more acid, the amount of manganese in the soil solution is increased to a point where it becomes toxic to plants. Fertilization and cultural practices on burley tobacco frequently cause the soil to become more acid, which results in a need for ground limestone to sweeten the soil. Since not all tobacco fields will need lime, a good soil sample should be taken from each tobacco field as soon as the crop is harvested to determine if lime is needed. If limestone is needed, it should be applied and disked in before the cover crop is seeded this fall, Dr. Smiley advised.

"When this is done the limestone will have the winter months to reduce soil acidity before next year's crop is planted," he said.

For this reason, it is important that tobacco ground be tested immediately following harvest.

USDA WARNS AGAINST FEEDING GREATER SEED

The Department of Agriculture has issued another caution against the use of pesticide-treated seeds in feeds. The warning followed serious poisoning of children in the Southwest when they ate pork from an animal which had eaten treated seed.

Even sweepings or tallings pose severe hazards, USDA pointed out, and should never be allowed to enter feed channels.

If unused quantities of treated seed must be destroyed, USDA explained, they should be buried 18 inches deep in a level, isolated location where water supplies will not be affected.
