The Mt. Vernon Flower Shop has for you the necessary items to take firmer measures in their collection policies. In the past, we have depended on the customer's good faith to come in and pay their accounts. Many have not done this and we find it hard to pay our bills when others do not pay us.

Effective December 1, 1970 our new policies will be:

After the first statement is sent, an additional charge of 1% per statement will be added to your account, if account is not paid within thirty days.

A list of ninety-day-old statements will be furnished to each florist and we will only service your order when the old account is paid, regardless of which florist it is owed to.

We are truly sorry to take measures such as these but those who owe delinquent accounts have forced us to.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By: Roy Martin

WHO? MIGHT BE IMPORTANT? Yes, you are important. This illustration shows you why....

This typewriter works O.K., except for one key. With 42 other keys, you might think this one key would not count for much. But this one key is needed so fast, the whole works is fouled up on account of it.

In your home, your work, your church, your club, you are only one person. But you are a key person. You are just as important as this key on the typewriter. You are one who think differently, you can find things you just like this one key jobs.

Admund Burks puts it another way.... "All that is necessary for the forces of evil to win in the world is for enough good men to do nothing."

School Bonds Sold; Interest Rate Is 7.6866%

McRill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, stockbrokers with offices nationwide, were the only and successful bidder on the County of Rockcastle School Building Revenue Bonds in the amount of $1,650,000.00. The bid was opened Tuesday at a special called meeting of the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court.

Interest rate on the bonds, ranging from a low of 7% for the first $305,000.00 to 7 and 3/4% for the last $810,000, averages out at 7.6866% and was higher than originally anticipated. The amortization schedule calls for the bonds to be paid off in 1997 at which time the school will have cost taxpayers $3,968,743.75 in principal and interest. School Superintendent Charles Parsons told members of the Fiscal Court that he had anticipated the higher rate Monday after talking with Stiles Bros. and Boyce (the bonding company) and had called Mr. Aesop with the Department of Education in Frankfort to discuss the higher interest rate. Mr. Parsons said that this rate was about the highest that the school system could "live with," but taking into consideration the expense and time of rebidding the bonds and possibly reworking the plans for the school, he (Mr. Parsons) would recommend that the Fiscal Court accept the bid. Magistrate C.W. Phillips made a motion that the bid be accepted. The motion was seconded by Sherman Sargent and passed unanimously.

Anyone wishing to make a contribution should send checks, made payable to "Homemakers Christmas Fund," to Mrs. E.J. Smith at Brodhead.

ANNUAL BANQUET WILL BE NOV. 13

The eleventh Annual Farmer's Businessmen's Banquet will be held Friday, November 13th at 7 p.m. at Brodhead High School. The farmers are hosts to the Businessmen this year. The Soil Conservation District Supervisors at sponsoring the meeting this year. Tickets are available from any of the Supervisors of the Soil Conservation District.

KING AND QUEEN—Miss Keren Adams, daughter of Mrs. Gladys Adams and the late Ray Adams, and Dorell Whitaker, son of Mrs. and Mrs. Chester Whitaker, were chosen King and Queen of the Brodhead Halloween Carnival. Miss Adams and Mr. Whitaker were representatives of the Senior Class.

PRINCE AND PRINCESS—Jettory Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Taylor, and Jennifer Poynter, son of Mr. Marguerite Poynter and the late Mason Poynter, Jr., were chosen Prince and Princess of the recent Halloween Carnival at Brodhead. They represented the eighth grade.

Mt. Vernon Brownies Troop 242 has seven new members this year, making a total membership of 16 Brownies. The Brownies meet each Thursday afternoon in the basement of the Mt. Vernon Christian Church. In the above photo, front row, from left: Linette Hiett, Jamie Anderson, Barbara Holcomb, Timmy Sue Campbell, Robin Smith, and Cindy Taylor. Back row, from left: Rena Childress, Mary Blanche Henderson, Tracy Lyons, Annette Faulkner, Michele Lee, Cara Cook, Patricia Duhon, Carolyn Childress, and Mrs. Leo Hopkins, leader. Absent when taken was Delene Brown and Tracy Bradley.

School Board Meets

Only routine items of business were taken up by the Rockcastle County Board of Education at its regular monthly meeting last Thursday night. About the only item which caused considerable discussion among the board and Attorney Zearl Clontz who was present for the meeting, was a bill presented by architect Donald B. Shelton for over $29,000. The bill was questioned by Attorney Clontz who reminded the board that should the bids not bid Tuesday, November 10, the school board would have nothing to show for their money. However, Supt. Parsons said that Mr. Shelton's contract called for payment of 65% of his (Mr. Shelton's) fee after the construction contract has been awarded.

Mr. Clontz, however, after reading the contract, advised the board that the contract was not technically awarded until the bonds were sold. The board finally decided to pay all bills including the one to Mr. Shelton, subject to the bonds being sold. In other areas, the board voted to: Approve contracts with Berea City Schools and Fayette County Schools for non-resident students. Approve the 1970-71 Title I programs for 1970-71. Approve the $1,391,216.25 close estimate budget. Approve an application to the City of Brodhead for sewer service to Brodhead School. The application, in effect, binds the board to pay a $25 bond to the city to connect to the system within 90 days after the system is completed. The charge will be 75% of the water bill. Approve three additional substitute teachers, subject to certification. Approved were: Robert C. Webb, Karen Mullins Dillingham and John Holbrook.

On request by Tom Payne, principal of Roundson School, the board unanimously approved Harry Lee Holland as substitute bus driver, subject to physical examination. High school equivalency certificates for Alice Janetta Gray and Rosemary Wilson were also approved by the board. On request of Biggs Towery, principal of Brodhead School, Blanche Baldwin was approved as school secretary until the regular secretary, Mary F. Robbins, returns from sick leave. Upon Mrs. Robbins' return, Mrs. Baldwin will resume her original job of teacher aide. Mrs. Charlotte Bullock was also approved by the board as substitute teacher aide to replace Mrs. Baldwin.

On a motion by Willie Taylor, seconded by Yashit Mullins, the board unanimously approved service to the Harry Sparks Vocational School. The board must pay the cost of the hook-up but the monthly bill will be paid by the vocational school.

Supt. Parsons told the board that he had been contacted by Jimmy Renner concerning the possibility of buying the old Sykes School building. Supt. Parsons told the board that probably to keep things legal, the building would have to be advertised for bids. A motion was made by Willie Taylor, seconded by Virgil Mullins, and passed unanimously to advertise the building for bids. Supt. Parsons also discussed with the board the possibility of his attending a meeting of impacted superintendents in Atlanta, Georgia. Mr. Parsons told the board that the meeting concerned Public Law 874, which provides between $20,000 and $30,000 a year to our school system. The money is paid by the federal government to areas where children, whose parents work at government installations, go to school. The meeting is reportedly being held for the purpose of strengthening the lobbying in Congress for this bill. Board member Virgil Mullins brought before the board the subject of the lunchroom at Climax School. Mr. Mullins told the board that Mrs. Hill has received no financial help for the lunchroom from the Title I program. Mr. Mullins said the school needed the funds in order that the lunch program might be continued. Mr. Parsons said the money could be gotten simply by filing a form with Title I director Clyde Linville. Mr. Mullins also asked the board if requests to "Save The Children Federation" (SCF) had to be cleared through the school administrator. Mr. Parsons said that the administration had nothing to do with SCF projects that teachers made requests directly to a Mr. Wesley at SCF. He (Mr. Parsons) said, however, that he would would call Mr. Wesley to see if the matter could be straightened out.

X-RAY UNIT HERE NOVEMBER 18

Jaycees Make Request For Reapportionment of Districts

County Judge Charles C. Carter and members of the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court have asked the Rockcastle County Jaycees to institute steps to reapportion the magisterial districts in the county. Robert L. Cox, president of the Jaycees, made the request in a letter to Judge Carter, which reads in part: "At a recent meeting of the Jaycees, the subject of reapportionment of the magisterial districts of this county was discussed. We (the Jaycees) decided that reapportionment was needed and that we would initiate this request to have reapportionment done."

The Jaycees are very definite on reapportionment and KIS 115,180 reads as follows: "If the county should be divided into election precincts, this county court should make the division as often as necessary to conform with the provisions of this section, and should establish the name and number and the boundaries of the precincts. Each precinct should contain portions of no more than one legislative district within its boundaries. Each precinct should contain, as nearly as practicable, an equal number of voters, based on the number of registered voters in the precinct, not to exceed 100 voters to a precinct. This section is not intended to affect KRS 125,180, relating to precincts where voting machines are used or may be used. (KRS 125,180 allows a maximum of 700 voters in precincts using voting machines.)"

TIGERS LOSE BY ONE TO CLAY CO.

The Brodhead Tigers put up a gallant fight last night before losing to Clay County 54 to 53 in their season opener played at Brodhead. Coach Billy Riddle said, "I believe I lost this game by having my boys keyed up a little too much in the early stage of the game. I feel we lost the game in the first few minutes when nothing would fall for us. It would have been nice to have won, but I couldn't have been any prouder of my team."

ASC CO-OP WORK DEADLINE IS DEC. 31

Mr. Shellie Mullins, Chairman of the Rockcastle County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, reminded farmers installing practices under the 1970 Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP) that work must be finished and reported to the county office by the completion date shown on the approval notice - and he stated most farmers do this in good time. "If circumstances prevent completion by the date set, a time extension can be granted," he said, but not beyond December 31.

WATER IS JUST AROUND THE CORNER

"It's to the point where it has just come around the corner," he said, "but it has sometimes prevented farmers from completing their conservation cost-sharing practices." He hopes it won't happen this year, he said in urging that farmers concentrate on completing their practices as soon as possible.

In a whirlwind tour in his campaign against drug abuse and addiction, Gov. Louie B. Nunn spoke in nine Kentucky cities. The governor said he is relying upon drug abuse committees set up in 10 of the state's 120 counties to carry on local programs combating drugs. Nunn spoke in Louisville, Lexington, Owensboro, Paducah, Bowling Green, Covington, Ashland, Hazard and

London, carrying this message: "I ask you to help save thousands of lives. The use of drugs has skyrocketed beyond belief. Drug abuse could destroy the physical and chemical makeup of the next generation." Because of the terrible damage done to human beings by narcotics and other drugs, Nunn said, "Addiction is worse than death." The governor appealed to Kentucky newspaper editors and broadcasters to help combat the menace that is affecting thousands of youngsters and others. SCHOOL-FUND SYSTEM OF KENTUCKY PRAISED Kentucky's Minimum Foundation Program, the system under which State funds are allocated to school districts is one of the soundest in the U.S., a national authority says. The system was praised by Dr. R. L. Johns, of the University of Florida, who is directing a national study of school financing. The study was commissioned by the U.S. Office of Education, U.S. DEPT. OF EDUCATION, MENTAL-HOSPITALS, OVERCROWDED

Patients in the four State mental hospitals total 2750, a decline of 50 per cent from 1964 but still overcrowding the facilities (by national standards), Dr. Dale Farabee, mental health commissioner, said. Dr. Farabee attributed the decline to three factors: (1) the work of 31 mental health community centers; (2) the personal care in nursing homes; through Medicare and Medicaid, thousands of other persons who formerly were treated in State hospitals; (3) the release of many addicts from State hospitals. The 1968 law, cannot be modified against their will. STATE, U.S. IMPROVE STRIP-MINE CONTROLS The State Natural Resources Department will not issue any new strip-mine permit unless the operator first signs an agreement with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service (SCS). Governor Nunn announced the joint state-federal program under which the SCS will provide technical assistance for sediment control.

COURT OF APPEALS PROHIBITS STRIKES In a unanimous ruling, the Kentucky Court of Appeals held that State laws prohibit strikes by public employees. The ruling upheld an injunction issued in March by the Jefferson Circuit Court against teachers who had walked out.

SUNDAY-SALES BATTLES CONTINUE IN COURTS The Louisville Retail Merchants Assn. has asked the State Court of Appeals to overturn Jefferson Circuit Judge Marvin Sternberg's ruling that 20 stores were not necessarily guilty of contempt for operating on a limited basis on Sundays.

The association contends that the stores acted earlier in the year with the 103-year-old Kentucky law which forbids all except "work-of-necessity" on Sundays. Meanwhile, at Bowling Green, the Warren County grand jury indicted 36 stores on charges of violating the Sunday business ban.

GO-GO REGULATIONS FOUGHT BY TAVERNERS The Franklin Circuit Court will hold a hearing on a petition by a group of Northern Kentucky and Lexington taverners to permanently enjoin the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board from regulating the garb of cocktail waitresses and go-go dancers. Judge Henry Melge signed an order for a temporary restraining order, which the ABC was expected to contest.

CIVILIANS TO TAKE OVER DRIVER-LICENSES EXAMINATIONS Starting next year, as State Police personnel engaged in driver-licensing testing, retire or voluntarily transfer to other jobs, civilians will take over their work. State Police Director Larry Boucher announced this as one method of concentrating more officers on duties directly connected with combating crime.

MRS. PAYNE IN STUDENT TEACHING One student from Rockcastle County is among 312 seniors from Eastern Kentucky University who have begun student teaching in schools throughout Kentucky.

They are assigned for 10 weeks of teaching, 92 to elementary schools and 220 to secondary schools. The social sciences (history, political science, sociology, and geography) have the greatest number of EKU student teachers in secondary schools, with 57; physical education has 55, the next greatest. Preparation for student teaching includes six weeks of class work in professional methods and fundamentals of teaching technique. The student teachers also have observed classes at Eastern's Model Laboratory School, in person and on closed-circuit television. Some 65 per cent of Eastern's more than 19,000 graduates are employed in the teaching profession.

Mrs. Kathryn J. Payne of Brodhead is now student teaching at Mt. Vernon School in the third grade.

Hunting & Fishing

The flatland people of Kentucky know very little about the grouse or about grouse hunting. Nevertheless, the mountain and knob country residents will tell you that the ruffed grouse, found almost exclusively in 33 Eastern Kentucky counties, is not only one of the finest birds to hunt but also offers the greatest challenge to the person who fancies himself as slightly more than a novice in the Kentucky hunting, panorama. The season for this swift-flying, darting woodland bird opens on November 19 and continues well past the quail season, through February 28. The bag limit is four, with a possession limit of eight after two or more days of hunting. However, it is not often that a hunter may equal either of those limits, not because of a lack of birds, but because they are so very wary and present a most difficult target. They usually are found in the very rough terrain, which is in their favor when hunting time rolls around. The grouse is basically a northern bird but, it may be found in high altitudes as far south as Georgia. The cut-over timber in the Eastern Kentucky mountains has brought about an ideal food and cover situation for the grouse and for the past 15 to 20 years, good harvests have been reported by the fit and able hunter, who is justifiably respected by his fellow hunters when he harvests one or more of the fine birds. The grouse is not large, the male weighing in the neighborhood of a pound and one-half with the female slightly smaller. But properly prepared, they are a gourmet's delight and a grouse dinner is the epitome in the wild bird food category. The feeding habits of grouse are as diversified as they are the yields of its favorite foods.

They may prefer the seeds and leaves of the green-brier or the berries from the dogwood tree. Wild grapes are a delicacy. They will eat other green leaves and if the supply of food runs low, they'll surely eat types of fern that may be found growing in their mountain area. Beechnuts are a staple with the grouse and small acorns also are on its menu. When these type foods become scarce they'll browse like deer and can make their way on buds from the various bushes. From this food sample it can be understood why the

Social Security News

There are many people who are still working full time even though they are 65 years of age or older. They have not applied for Social Security benefits because they are not ready to retire and believe that they must be retired before they can file for any payments or benefits. James Mustian, Manager of the Somerset Social Security Office, advises these people to contact their social security office now.

There are several reasons why a wage earner or self-employed person who is near 65 should contact his social security office and discuss his individual case. Mustian advises everyone to contact the social security office at least three months before attaining the age of 65, and reminds that this may be done by telephone. One of the reasons is that a person who is 65 or older may be able to receive some benefit payments even though he or she is still working for over $1,680 a year. It is usually advisable for the person to file a claim, obtain necessary documents, and have the claim processed in advance of retirement. He can then get benefit payments refigured to include earnings after the claim was filed. Another good reason for filing early, even if still working, is to qualify for Medicare benefits and this is important to everyone who is 65 or older. The Social Security Administration cannot take any action to award benefits to anyone until a claim is filed. It is therefore important, Mustian advised, that all persons who age within three months

County Agent's Notes

By: H. Leo Durham
FARMERS SHOULD PREPARE TOBACCO CAREFULLY FOR MARKET OPENING NOV. 23

State farmers have moved inside to the stripping room to get this year's Burley crop ready for the market, and they're finding the early-harvested tobacco thin, mild and very fluffy. However, the later harvested tobacco might cause some trouble, according to L. E. Miasie, Burley specialist for the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Several late-harvested crops were rained on in the field and therefore had some dirt on them. The overall average selling price could be lowered because of this dirty tobacco.

The Burley Sales Committee met last Thursday and announced that the market will open for the 16 days of pre-Christmas auctions November 23. This year's sales, due to an expected increase in volume, will operate on a four-day week instead of a five-day week as in the past.

According to L. E. Miasie, many farmers may be stripping their crop entirely too soon. "In some cases the stems are still fat and the leaf is carrying too much water," he said. "Surely it would be to the advantage of the farmers to wait until their tobacco is properly ready for stripping."

Miasie says that despite some reports of houseburn and areas where tobacco has dried too fast, the cutting season this fall has been normal.

"Farmers are generally ahead of market preparations over last year, and with care and attention the final cure has a dull, lack-luster type of leaf. It does not show well, and even though it has good weight, the useful char-

"It's a very hard this year, with the problem of over-supply, to present to the market the very best quality leaf they have," he said.

1970 BURLEY TOBACCO LOAN RATES

The U.S. Department of Agriculture October 9 announced loan rates for 1970 crop burley tobacco. These rates represent an average price-support loan level of 65.6 cents per pound, about 4.5 percent above 1969, as authorized by law and as announced April 2, 1970 (USDA press release 1045-70). The grade rates for the 1970 crop range from 40 to 79 cents per pound.

As in past years, growers will offer their tobacco for sale at auction markets in the usual manner, and price support will be made available through producer cooperative associations. Growers who have complied with their farm acreage allotments and who have certified that they have not used pesticides containing DDT or TDE on their tobacco are eligible for price support. No price support will be offered on any tobacco graded "DU" (assumed), or "W" (washed), or "NO-G" (no grade), or scrap. Only the original producer is eligible to receive price support.

Burley tobacco is grown primarily in Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina, Ohio, and Indiana.

NEW WILDFLOWER BOOK BY NEVYLE SHACKLEFORD AVAILABLE

Nevyle Shackelford, the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture writer in residence in Eastern Kentucky, has authored what must be considered one of the most informative, entertaining, and fun to read books on wildflowers found in Kentucky. It's not meant to be a textbook. In fact, the real value and beauty of the book lies in Shackelford's tales of the folklore and legend behind each of the wildflowers.

The reader doesn't have to be particularly knowledgeable about wild flowers to enjoy the romance and tales Shackelford relates throughout the book. This popular Eastern Kentucky writer has the ability to include in his descriptions something of interest to everyone.

"Why would one want to learn about wildflowers?" Shackelford answers that question in the foreword to his book when he says... "the joys of life and living are enhanced by a knowledge of what we see."

And this little book, available for 50 cents, is sure to enhance the joys of living for thousands of Kentucky readers.

Copies of the book can be acquired by writing the Bulletin Room, Agricultural Experiment Station, University of Kentucky, College of Agriculture, Lexington, Ky. 40506.

Frankfort Watchline

Running on a tightrope isn't easy. But that's what Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford and former Gov. Bert Combs are starting in to do—racing for the Democratic nod for governor on a tightrope stretched over bottomless money demands—mainly school money demands. And there's the temptation for each to try to push the other over into the pit where wretched taxpayers may be waiting.

Because all sides know there simply can't be any significant increase in state aid to schools at all levels without new or

As departing State Budget Director Lawrence Forgy Jr., said, state government could be operated on the present tax base, but it would require some extremely hard decisions.

Those decisions obviously would center on school money, since two-thirds of the general fund budget goes for education.

In other spending areas, essential operations and those tied to retirement requirements in welfare—preclude much cutting.

So the battling should converge

Lawmakers of both parties are following the move predicted by Gov. Louie Nunn—and Lt. Gov. Ford—of shuffling the witness chair at the NEA sanctions hearings.

And surely there's grave question whether the governor of the Commonwealth—or any other of the citizens' elected officials—should submit to adversary proceedings by any group outside a court of law—or the polling booth.

KEA leaders may try to label the hearings committee as "broad based." But simply coming from scattered areas doesn't make it any more broad based than coming from far away makes them experts. They may be—but distance isn't why.

And if, as the KEA would have it, the trial is before a jury of public opinion, that jury is surely the voters of Kentucky.

But if there's anything to be read from the November voting, it's that Kentuckians aren't ready to shell out more tax money unless convinced of the need—and that Gov. Nunn certainly is not out of touch with the voters.

The victory of Appellate Judge Homer Solterick as something of a personal win for the governor. And the defeat of the state bond issue wasn't much of a personal rebuff.

Analysts insidiously overlooked the fact that the bond plan didn't include any money for roads—the thing that carried others over.

And, despite any party-oriented

FAIRVIEW

A large crowd attended church services at Fairview Sunday and 100 persons were present for Sunday School. Thank God for that number. It is so good to see parents and their children in the house of the Lord. The little ones of today will be the leaders of tomorrow. Bless their hearts, we love them. So let's bring them up in the way they should go. There is nothing more beautiful than a Christian family serving God.

The many friends of Mrs. Garfield Gabbard of Berea wish her a speedy recovery. She has been a patient in the Berea Hospital for the past few days. May God bless her to be able to return home soon.
Several from Fairview attended the Revival Services at Macedonia last week. We enjoyed it very much.
Mr. and Mrs. George Viars and daughter, Tanya, of Dayton, Ohio are here visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Anderkin and Cheryl of Fairview and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Burdette of Berea.
We thank God that Mrs. Viars is able to be up and out again after a long illness.

cut-over woods have had so much to do with bringing back the population of grouse.
Food and weather conditions are a guide as to where the grouse may be found. They'll surely be where their favorite food is available, be it on the mountaintops, the plateaus or in the fertile valleys which have been cultivated, but abandoned. They'll be in those various places as the food dictates and although they are rugged birds, they'll give a bit to the weatherman and when conditions dictate they'll be found in various stages of cover.
To the person who has hunted grouse this information is superfluous; to those who have not hunted this fast-flying woodland bird, it may be an encouragement to try. But the best advice to be given a newcomer is that he buddy-up with an experienced hunter on his sashay up the mountainsides in quest of the ruffed grouse.
