

Local Board Will Consider Cancelling Deferments

The legal Selective Service board has been instructed to promptly reopen and consider for reclassification any registrant who requests, in writing, that his current deferment be canceled.

"Our instructions are that a young man wishing to drop his deferment should be permitted to do so at any time regardless of whether he continues to meet the conditions for which his deferment was granted," said Delia M. Seals, Executive Secretary of Local Board No. 85.

"The uncertainty and anxieties that young men of this county who hold high numbers in the 1959 draft lottery (1944 through 1955) to their vulnerability to the draft have lessened by the new instructions," said Mrs. Seals.

Should a young man hold a number higher than that reached by his local board it is to his advantage to voluntarily give up his deferment for a I-A classification, according to Executive Secretary Mrs. Seals. It now appears that No. 163 will be the highest number reached by Local Board No. 85 in 1970.

Any man who is currently classified in one of the following classes - I-S (Student), II-A (occupational, including apprentices), II-C (agricultural), II-S (college student), or III-A (paternity or hardship) whose random sequence number (RSN) has not or will not be reached by his own local board, is eligible to drop his deferment. The executive secretary cautioned that the written request for withdrawal of deferment must be made soon in order that the local board can promptly reopen and reconsider for reclassification.

A young man who voluntarily gives up his deferment for a I-A classification will join other members of the 1970 first priority group with unreached numbers in a lower draft priority on January 1, 1971, according to the executive secretary.

The new instructions do not apply to those men born in 1951.

Executive Secretary Mrs. Seals had a word of advice for any man that wanted his deferment continued. "All deferments are issued for limited periods of time. Generally for one year, and it is the responsibility of the registrant to submit proof for an extension of his deferment. The local board will reopen and reclassify any registrant whose current deferment is expiring and whose file does not contain current information for consideration of further deferment," the local board executive secretary said.

"It is to achieve fairness to all registrants in determining their priority selection on January 1 and we shall be glad to counsel with any young man during official office hours. Local Board No. 85 is open Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.," the executive secretary said.

SURVEY PRESENTED—Gov. Louie B. Nunn was presented with a copy of an 1819 survey of the Ohio River by Kenneth F. Harper, Commissioner of Public Information. The copy of document is composed of 227 pages of manuscript and 123 photographs displaying various points in the river between Pittsburgh and Louisville. Arthur Deboard spent Saturday night with his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Osborne and Glenda.

Hunting & Fishing

Kentucky hunters will swing into the hunting season on November 19 with rabbits, quail, ruffed grouse and furbearers being legal game after almost a year of protection.

The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources has decreed, along with the Fish and Wildlife Commission, that hunters will have as much time this season as last to hunt their favorite species and that they may take as many per day as they have in the past. That leaves it strictly up to the hunter and the cooperating species.

Seasons for rabbits, quail and furbearers will continue right on through January 31 while the ruffed grouse hunter may seek his quarry through February 28. The limits are rabbits, six daily, 12 in possession, quail, 10 daily, 20 in possession; ruffed grouse, four daily, eight in possession. There is a limit on the number of furbearers that may be taken for their pelts by traps, guns or dogs.

A valid hunting license is required to hunt any of the above named animals or birds. If a person has not been a resident of Kentucky for six months or more, he will need a non-resident license, even though living in this state now, as will all persons residing in other states but who hunt in the Commonwealth. Licenses are available from every county clerk and from assembly deputies as he may designate.

The daily limit may consist of game taken in one day of hunting and the accumulation of wildlife killed in two or more days of hunting.

Nimrods will not be confined to the above named species during this period since the statewide posse hunting season opened on November 16 and will continue through January 24. The daily and possession limit of posse is five. Biologists of the Department, who should have a better insight into the game populations statewide than anyone else, believe that the rabbit population this season will be about equal to last year's, when it was described as "spotty." That means good numbers of rabbits may be found in a given area, while nearby very few will be found. The report as compiled by rural mail carriers indicates that the best rabbit section may be the outer Bluegrass region while the western Kentucky counties are expected to offer the best quail hunting. However, there are plenty of sections in the Bluegrass region where both species will be available in good numbers.

Grouse are found in 32 Eastern Kentucky counties almost exclusively and hunters in that area may be expected to find as good a crop as was present last season. Furbearers may be as plentiful as last year, but a trapper must have in his possession a trapper's license, which may be obtained from county clerks. Also, the trapper must obtain permission of the landowner before setting his trap line and he must notify his conservation officer of the setting of the line. Each trap must be identified with tags that are available from the Department of Fish and Wildlife offices in Frankfort.

Two admonitions—Hunting is a privilege and the landowner should be asked before going onto his place, and hunting can be only as safe as the hunter, so be careful.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By: Billy Dowell

"Stubborn as a mule." No one seems to know how or when the saying started. The Bible says something about it. In Psalm 32 we read, "Be not as the horse or as the mule which have no understanding..." Maybe the saying comes from there.

Some people are more stubborn than others. Stubbornness can be described as hard headedness, hard to get along with, set in one's ways and so on. When one is in such a mood or has that attitude, it is often impossible to reason with the person. At such times, the "have no understanding" has special meaning. It takes patience to try to reach an understanding. When understanding is reached, stubbornness vanishes like a smoke ring... When two people stubbornly hold opposing views, it is impossible to reach an understanding because neither one strives with understanding for an understanding. When an issue is big enough, it is important for at least one of the two stubbornheads to have an understanding of the other fellow's lack of understanding.....

E. K. U. NEWS Varsity vs. Freshmen

Varsity vs. Freshmen will be the name of the game Nov. 20 at Eastern Kentucky's Alumni Coliseum.

The idea of this pre-season affair belongs to Coach Guy Strong, but he perhaps didn't realize at the time what he was getting himself into.

"Even this early, you would think the teams were preparing for the Western game," Strong said. "Our freshmen youngsters know they have the talent to make a strong run at the varsity."

Strong's varsity team isn't taking it lightly, either.

"The varsity players know that the freshmen are strong and they're expecting a real tough game," Strong added. Strong has made some changes in positions for some of his personnel in order to try and come up with a starting five.

"We just haven't been able to find that unit yet that can put it all together," Strong said. "What we need now is someone to step forward and claim the center's job."

Four players on this year's team are nearly set. Guards will be 6-0 George Bryant (111 ppg.) and 6-3 Billy Burton (9.5ppg.). Eastern's center for the two past seasons, 6-7 Carl Greenfield (12.6 ppg.), has been moved to a forward slot.

The other forward position is being held now by 6-3 sophomore Charlie Mitchell. Mitchell, who was Eastern's all-time leading freshman scorer, averaged 30.2 points and 17.0 rebounds a game last season, hitting 50 per cent from the field and 78.1 per cent from the foul line. He also set a school freshman scoring record with 46 points and then topped it a week later with 50 points.

Injuries or inconsistency has been the problem at center. Darryl Dunagan, a 6-5 junior from Monticello and one of the prime candidates for this position, has been bothered by a thigh injury and had to miss three days of practice this week.

The brother combination of Dan (6-10) and Tim (6-7) Argabrite also has been tried in the middle. Tim averaged 4.2 points per game last season in a reserve role at forward, while Dan was red-shirted last season and does not have the game experience that is so valuable in collegiate basketball.

Another player to watch for this season is 6-5 Charlie Eliza, a senior from East Bernstadt. "Right now, Eliza is our sixth man at either guard or forward," Strong commented. "As a team, we are going to be a good, fast-breaking bunch that also has the ability and quickness to play aggressive defense," Strong said. "We are getting good leadership out of our upperclassmen and we should be able to put plenty of points up on the scoreboard with the shooters we have."

The varsity-freshmen contest will provide basketball fans throughout the region an excellent opportunity to get a good look at the caliber of Colonel teams, not only of the present but for the future. All proceeds of the benefit game go to the Alumni Association's Century Fund to finance construction of the non-denominational Chapel of Meditation.

Tickets priced at contributions of $1.00 or more are being sold in downtown Richmond through the Chamber of Commerce, on campus by student organizations, in area schools and by mail. Mail orders for tickets should be addressed to Benefit Basketball, P.O. Box 982, Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, Kentucky, 40475. Orders of less than five dollars should be accompanied by 25 cents to cover costs of handling and postage.

A special halftime show is being planned and following the game, coaches and players of both varsity and freshman teams will remain for autographs and pictures.

Berea Homecoming Is This Week End

The Berea Homecoming festivities will get underway at 8:30 p.m. this Friday night, November 20, with the Alumni Baggett at which Billy Edd Wheeler, Class of '55, will be the guest speaker. Mr. Wheeler, popular entertainer and author, will read poetry and sing. He will also be presented with the "Distinguished Alumnus" award.

Later on in the evening, the President's reception will be held at his home followed by the Coronation Concert at Phelps Stokes Chapel and the presentation of the Homecoming queen and her court.

The evening will be topped off with a bonfire pep rally. On Saturday, November 21, the day will begin with a series of Departmental coffees and open houses from 7:30 to 11 a.m., after which there will be a band and organ concert in Gray Auditorium.

At twelve noon the homecoming parade will get underway. This year, the Rockcastle County Saddle Club will be participating in the parade. All saddle club members should be at Johnny Todd's Grocery, south of Berea on U.S. 42 at 11:30 a.m.

Announcing that the 1970 marketing cards have been issued to growers of burley tobacco, Shellie Skellins, chairman of the Rockcastle County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, also discussed use of the marketing cards.

When a grower's tobacco is weighed in at the warehouse, he must present his tobacco marketing card, which will remain in warehouse custody until payment is made for the tobacco or until the grower's tobacco is removed from the warehouse. WE WERE WRONG

In last week's paper in our story of the reappointment of the magisterial districts requested by the Rockcastle County Jaycees, we said that "Commissioners to make the reappointment will be appointed by the Fiscal Court." This is incorrect. The story should have stated that the commissioners will be appointed by County Judge Charles Carter. The Signal regrets this error.

During the last part of the summer, we decided one fine night to treat ourselves and the family to a drive-in movie. We arrived at our destination (not locally) and paid our admission and settled back for an evening of enjoyment watching one of our favorite movie stars, Anthony Quinn.

After the second scene in the "movie, we were forced to rerun by the motor and retrace our steps homeward defeated once again by that newest word in motion pictures "realism" which is only a cover-up for "dirty."

I wonder if there are very many who feel as I do that it is not "realism" I go to the movies for but entertainment. I get enough realism in my everyday life without going to a theatre and coming home so depressed that I wonder if its worth getting up in the mornings.

But, maybe I am missing the whole point of our modern film world. Maybe people enjoy sitting around watching men and women almost nude enacting problems from the seamy side of life. I don't really think they do and I think that if the film producers in Hollywood are in dire financial straits at present, they would only realize it that we would have much fewer movies to which we couldn't take children.

I realize that the old days of lightly dancing your grooves away with Mitzie Graynor, Doris Day, Fred Astaire or Gene Kelly are probably gone forever and that if I regret their passing because my children will not be able to see movies such as I grew up with and which, at that time, left me with a pleasant feeling not a depressing one.

But, enough about the "realism" of today because the days when the only thing a cowboy kissed was his horse are definitely gone....

Raise your eyes and take in the bright and shiny new American Flag which flies over the County Courthouse this day.

The old one was getting in pretty bad shape and the efforts of the ASC Office began making efforts to obtain one, through Rep. Tim Lee Carter, who had the only thing at the White House. Mrs. Harris found out that this is evidently quite a long drawn out procedure so the ASC Office purchased a new flag, which is the one now in use.

However, Mrs. Harris tells us that through the efforts of the ASC office and other county officials, a flag which has flown over the Capitol will be forthcoming later.

Red Devils Open Season At Oneida Fri. Night

The Mt. Vernon Red Devils will travel to Oneida Friday night, November 20 to open the 1970-71 basketball season. Coach Jack Laswell is coaching his 24th season of basketball. Mr. Vernon has said he feels this team has the potential to be as good as the 1953 state tournament team. This is a veteran team with all players returning from last year's winning team. It has good height for rebounding, and is a well balanced team on offense.

In practice for the past five weeks, Dale Coffey and Rudy Burdette have been running at guard, David McCullough at center and Tommy Coffey, Wesley Williams, and George Powell at forward. Real life men have been James Mullins, Troy McClure, Jerry Hackworth, and Jeffrey Kindred.

The boys have been working hard in practice and showing a lot of enthusiasm, but how well they perform under game conditions only time will tell. The team seems to have improved greatly over last season, especially in shooting department, but need more work on defense and that phase of the game will get all the attention this week.

Coach Laswell says, "I certainly hope this team will play up to their potential and have an outstanding year for Mt. Vernon High at Rockcastle County High School is not too far away and since this team is an all-senior group, this has to be the year for Mt. Vernon." Tuesday night, November 24th, the Devils host Lynn Camp and on December 1, they face High at Rockcastle County High School.

The third Kentucky in the last 24 years has been elected president of the National Tax Assn. (NTA). Kenneth Back, a native of Jeremiah (Letcher) County, who served as an executive assistant in the Kentucky Revenue Department in 1952-55 and is now chief finance officer for the District of Columbia, was elected NTA president at the recent NTA convention in Honolulu. Back graduated from Transylvania College and received his master's degree at the University of Kentucky, under Prof. James W. Martin, who was Kentucky's first commissioner of revenue (1930). Dr. Martin served as NTA president in 1946-47 and another Kentucky man, H. Clyde Reeves, in 1952-53. Coincident with Back's election, two other Kentuckians were elected to the association's board of directors. They are State Revenue Commissioner James E. Luckett and one of his former executive assistants, William H. Forst, who now is serving in the Iowa Revenue Department. Forst is a native of Louisville and a graduate of Bellarmine College. The association, organized in 1907, is composed of the nation's leading tax authorities, including professors of public finance, government economists and business representatives. The NTA articles of incorporation dedicated the organization to "promoting better understanding of the common interests of national, state and local governments in matters of taxation and public finance."

LOCAL CONTROL URGED IN HEALTH PLANNING

Committees which Kentucky health officials can use for self-evaluation of environmental problems has been prepared by the State Health Department.

The need for local control in the programing of health facilities was stressed at the Governor's Conference on Comprehensive Health Planning, held at Cumberland Falls State Park.

STATE ASKED TO HELP PAY LOCAL POLICE

A recommendation that the 1972 General Assembly vote state funds to increase local police salaries was made by a group of police chiefs who serve as advisors to the Kentucky Crime Commission.

The chiefs also endorsed a proposal that more local police offices install terminals which would be hooked up with the Kentucky State Police computer system that supplies almost instant information on stolen property and/or criminal records.

THE HANDICRAFT SHOP IS OPENED BY STATE

The State's fifth handicraft shop, selling only Kentucky-made products, was opened by the Parks Department at Capitol and Main, in Frankfort.

Items sold include ceramics, furniture, dulcimers, Christmas decorations, candy, picures and embroidered sweaters. The other shops are at Kentucky Dam Village State Park, at Pine Mountain State Park, at the Shepherdsville interchange on the Kentucky Turnpike and near Beaver Dam Spc. on Western Kentucky Parkway).

GOVERNOR KEEPS BID SOUVEREIGN

Gov. Louie B. Nunn fulfilled an unusually busy schedule which included:

Continued his campaign against drug abuse and addiction, appealing for the help of students and other young people and asking local associations and organizations to coordinate their efforts against the dope traffic.

Expressed his regret over the defeat of a proposed $48.3 million State bond issue which would have provided a new State prison, better mental-hospital facilities and other badly needed projects.

Confirmed that he will call a special session of the General Assembly to reorganize the state's legislative districts as soon as the courts settle the issue of whether counties can be split and federal census takers submit official Kentucky figures.

Attempted to obtain federal approval of a plan under which Medicaid cards would be reissued to some Eastern Kentucky families on a cost-sharing basis.

STATE ASKS 35 COUNTIES BE RECREATION AREA

The State Department of Natural Resources has asked Congress to add a 35-county Kentucky area to a list of 14 other areas which the U.S. Interior Department wants to set aside as national recreation districts.

The Kentucky area includes and is bordered by the counties of Owen, Franklin, Anderson, Mercer, Boyle, Lincoln, Rockcastle, Laurel, Jackson, Owsley, Breathitt, Magoffin, Morgan, Elliott, Rowan, Fleming, Nicholas and Harrison.

2 MORE PARKS GET WINTER CAMPGROUNDS

Year-around campground facilities are now available at two more state parks—General Burnside Island, near Burnside, and Barren River State Park, near Glasgow.

Such facilities were installed at five other state parks: General Butler, John J. Audubon, Kentucky Dam Village, Levi Jackson and Carter Caves State Parks.

Five state parks are adding primitive campground facilities: Mackey Reservoir; Big Bone; Mack. near Florence;

Lake Barkley, Green River and Jenny Wiley.

HIGHER NEW-CAR BIDS REJECTED BY STATE

Finance Commissioner Albert Christen rejected all bids for the purchase of new State cars as too high. He said bids on the 394 cars the State was planning to buy at this time exceeded budgeted funds by $300,000.

For several years the State has bought four-door sedans at $2042 each. Recently Purchasing Director N.B. McCubbin invited 85 dealers, scattered over the state, to bid on the following intended orders: 229 cars for the State Police, 90 for the Highway Department and 75 for other agencies.

Only 10 dealers responded. Bids for the same four-door sedan that was bought last year for $2042 are now $2784, and the differential on other models ranged up to $937 per car.

Christen, asserting he would not let the government subsidize the state's "greed," ordered that state agencies be encouraged to use their own cars for official travel, wherever possible, and that the purchase of new state police cars be postponed until reasonable bids are received.

WATER FLUORIDATION EXTENSION IS ADVISED

Extension of the fluoridation of public water supplies to all Kentucky was recommended in a Legislative Research Commission (LRC) report.

Only 44 per cent of Kentucky's inhabitants now have access to fluoridated water, according to a study made by order of the 1970 General Assembly. The study concluded that the drinking of fluoridated water is not injurious to humans and pointed out that most medical and scientific authorities agree that such water reduces dental trouble.

At present, a Health Department regulator requires the fluoridation of water in cities of the first four classes and in water districts of comparable size. The LRC report advised that statewide fluoridation of water be compelled by law.

TOM DUNCAN'S

Frankfort Watchline

The market for white hats just has to go up.

The chairman of Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford's campaign for governor, Senator Dee Huddleston, says:

"We believe Kentuckians should be spared a mouthful of long display of the kind of old-fashioned, irresponsible charges that give politics a bad name."

The statement came, of course, as he accused former Gov. Bert Combs' campaign chairman, former Atty. Gen. Robert Matthews, of mudslinging.

Matthews accused the Democratic lieutenant governor of being part of a coalition government with the GOP Nunn administration.

Huddleston fired back that Combs' people in the Senate were the key to passing Gov. Louie Nunn's sales tax increase. From one of the senators came the reply that Ford had worse ideas.

Anyway, we're headed into that 'good clean primary' predicted in the Democratic race for governor.

Ford's statement to the educational sanctions, investigations was aimed at blocking out a position of support for schools and teachers, while blasting the leadership of the Kentucky Educational Association and the National Education Association.

And the appearance at the hearing of two Combs stalwarts—House Speaker Julian Carroll and Majority Leader Terry McBrayer—wasn't accidental.

Last June, McBrayer said responding to KEA charges should be up to the individual and that he chose not to, Carroll, Combs' running-mate for lieutenant governor, did propose drafting a legislative reply—but such form that Ford would be the one to sign it.

The maneuvering must be read in light of KEA plans to null down its 1972 legislative program in January. Then, Mrs. Ruth Reeves, KEA

President, says, "All of us must 'pitch in' and work for candidate commitment to the program prior to the May primary."

The timing may get more complicated because it will be months before the NEA decision on blacklisting Kentucky is known.

Meantime, back at the Mansion, Gov. Nunn is looking ahead to a party—a third-anniversary fund-raising party that could bring a handsome down-payment on the present he wants—election of a second straight Republican governor for the first time in history.

Tickets are going at $100 a plate. With 12,000 going out, the take would run $1,200,000 if all are sold.

And there's the feeling floating around that it's being made "pretty clear that those on the list are expected to shell out."

On his own future, Gov. Nunn insists he isn't eyeing the U.S. Senate. But he is interested in a federal judgeship.

"You have an opportunity to pass judgment on personal rights of individuals," on

Library Notes

New books received at the Rockcastle County Library. Among them are:

THE AFRICAN DREAM, by Brian Gardner. This is the epic adventure of the conquest of Africa and of the men who fought for their lives and fortunes on that continent:

THE CHILD FROM THE SEA, by Elizabeth Goudge. Against the pomp and pageantry of seventeenth century England, the author weaves the poignant tale of the beautiful secret wife of Charles II.

THE CITY IN THE WORLD OF THE FUTURE, by Hal-Hell-

man. An enthusiastic review of what is being done and what is possible in planning and building to accommodate a rapidly growing world population.

DRUGS FROM A TO Z, by Richard Lingeman. Drugs are discussed from both a pharmacological as well as sociological point of view, in language intended for laymen.

ESCAPE ROOM, by Alrey Neave. The fantastic story of the underground escape lines in Nazi-occupied Europe.

FLOWERS IN HISTORY, by Peter Coats. In this account the author traces the stories of some of the best loved and most familiar plants. In this way he demonstrates how the plants of European and American gardens have evolved through the centuries.

IN THE SERVICE OF THEIR COUNTRY, by Willard Gaylor. This extraordinary account of Selective Service violators who chose jail rather than deformation of exile is based on a two-year research project intended originally as a scientific study. It is a moving account of the feelings and motives of hopelessness and helplessness of the imprisoned war resisters.

INSIDE THE THIRD REICH, by Albert Speer. These memoirs are from the pen of one of Hitler's close collaborators. Speer, an architect and later Hitler's armaments minister, was in the dictator's inner circle for almost 12 years. He presents to us the belated insights of a man who lacked the strength of character to resist the temptation of rising to wealth and power as the favorite of a madman.

OF RIVERS AND THE SEA, by Herbert E. Freugh. This is a lively and up-to-date look at the wonders of water.

PAT AND ROALD, by Barry Farrell. The story of actress Patricia Neal's extraordinary recovery from a massive stroke, and of her triumphant return to her acting career.

POLITICAL HANDBOOK AND ATLAS OF THE WORLD: 1970, edited by Richard Robbins. Essential political information about every country in the world.

THE SEVENTEEN GUIDE TO TRAVEL, by Mary Scott Welch. Using much firsthand information supplied by young travelers the author presents basic travel techniques for teenage girls.

THE SEVENTEEN, by Merrill D. Peterson. An authoritative life of Jefferson in one volume. It portrays the historical Jefferson and his role in the shaping of the nation.

FAMILY FINANCE, by Carlton Smith. This book is packed with hundreds of practical ideas and methods any family can use to make and save money.

TO THE BRIGHT AND SHINING SUN, by James Lee Burke. A novel of a young man growing up in a mining town of Eastern Kentucky.

THE ELEPHANTS AND THE MICE, by Marilyn Hush. The delightful Sanskrit story of how the mighty elephants and the tiny mice became friends. 2-3.

EMMAS ISLAND, by Honor Arundel. Emma faces the stress of maturity as she is (Cont. to 5)

James Mustian, district manager for social security in Somerset stated that lack of knowledge about the Social Security law on the part of an employer or a worker can result in money not being payable to feed and clothe a child whose working father or mother has died, retired or become disabled. He said that no one would knowingly take bread from a child's mouth but failure to comply with the social security regulations can do just that.

Mustian pointed out that protection under social security depends upon the breadwinner's having worked a certain length of time and having gotten credit for the work under social security. Many persons work but do not get proper credit, because their employers do not report this work for social security.

For example, cleaning women may work in homes, offices or business establishments only a few hours each day. Sometimes they work for several different people on a daily or in one week. Different reporting rules apply to this work depending on where it is done. Each employer should be familiar with the rules governing his employees.

Work done as an employee in a private home, or around the home, or at a camp or lodge is covered if the worker is paid $50 in cash during a calendar quarter. The report is made to Internal Revenue by end of the month following the calendar quarter.

Only by the correct reporting of covered wages can be the protection so important to the working man and his family be assured. For more information regarding coverage under the social security plan, telephone the social security office at 878-8168.

The Social Security Administration finds that applicants to the working man and his family be assured. For more information regarding coverage under the social security plan, telephone the social security office at 878-8168.

The Sunday-closing mess will be a rerun in the 1972 session of the Court of Appeals crackdown on Louisville stores shows it will continue to interpret the law as it sees it—no sell it.

But outspoken Chief Justice Edward Hill indicated the view on the law itself, saying he probably violates it by shopping at a Frankfort discount store "on Sunday or whenever I get ready."

The attorney for one group of Louisville stores, John Greenbaum, suggested that putting out a newspaper on Sunday might not be a "work of necessity" under the law. He said:

"I know the news is so bad—the people could wait until Monday." Reporters accused him of stopping preaching and starting meddling.

THANKSGIVING
Let's give our thanks for little things,
That waking up each morning brings.
For eyes to see the friends we meet,
We make our tiny world complete.
Let's give our thanks for ears to hear,
Familiar sounds that we hold dear.
The laughter and the gay refrain,
The wind—a robin in the rain.
Let's give our thanks that we've a heart,
To understand when tears drop start.
Strong arms to hold the ones we love,
Two lips to pray to God above.
For real Thanksgiving never brings Us peace—without these little things.

AREA 4-H COUNCIL MEETS
Mr. Jerry Hayes was elected president of the Wilderness Trail 4-H Council at a meeting held in Pineville, Thursday, November 12. Other officers elected were Mr. Paul Cox, Lendon (Lan) Cox, Jr., vice president and Miss Irma Gail Walker (Knox County) secretary-treasurer. The council is made up of representatives of county councils from Bell, Clay, Jackson, Harlan, Knox, Laurel, Rockcastle and Whitley counties.

The purpose of the area council is to bring together at frequent intervals representatives of the counties included in this area so they can organize, plan, encourage and help carry out to completion the 4-H program at the area level.

Mr. Hayes is now serving as president of the Rockcastle County 4-H Council and vice-president of the J.L. Collier 4-H Camp Corporation. FIVE FROM COUNTY TOUR UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY Several high school counselors and principals from the Wilderness Trail Area participated recently in a general information session on the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky, at the agricultural science center. A tour of laboratory facilities in the agricultural science center and a tour of the farms located around Lexington that are used and operated by the University of Kentucky for experimental purposes was conducted by some of the staff members of the college.

The principals and counselors present were briefed on the scholastic requirements for entering the College of Agriculture, scholarships and financial assistance available to some students, and the jobs available to a student upon graduation from the College of Agriculture.

Faculty members and staff participating in the orientation program included: Mr. Curte Ferguson, Director of College Relations; Dr. W.G. Survant, Professor of Agronomy; Mr. Shirley Phillips, Assistant Director of Agriculture; Dr. Jack Hatt, Chairman, Agronomy Department; Mr. George Dixler, Director of Post Admission; Mr. David Prathon, Director of Financial Aid; and Dr. Wesley Garrigus, Chairman, Animal Science Department.

The group toured the University Horticulture farm under the direction of Dr. Dean Knevel and Goldstream Spindletop and M-line Chance farms under the direction of Mr. Kenneth Evans of the University Agronomy Department. At the Spindletop Farm the group visited "Spindletop Hall," a million dollar mansion containing seven bedrooms and two four-room suites, which was completed in 1937 by the owner Mrs. Miles Frank Yount.

Those attending from Rockcastle County were: Mr. Buford Parkerson, principal at Livingston School; Mrs. Mary Saylor, counselor at Mt. Vernon School; Mrs. Jean Gentry, counselor at Brodhead School and Mr. Bige Tovey, principal at Brodhead School.

RENOVATE GRASS FIELDS NOW!

A lot of grassland in this county will be renovated this fall and winter. If you need more feed, this will help answer one of your problems. Start with a good grass sod. Remove top growth. Grazing the grass while it's tender is the best plan. Soil test and apply lime, phosphate, and potash accordingly. Do not use nitrogen; it will over stimulate the grass and crowd the legumes. Tear up the sod-40-60 percent and leave it rough. Four-tillage (around rolling hills) is a must to prevent excessive erosion. Buy your legume seed now for February or March seeding.

TO BE IN SANTA'S BAG

Turkey is the name of the game (no, not really) but it's usually head of the list for this time of year—American tradition gave it the name of "holiday bird" in most areas.

You And The Draft

During the week we received the following letter from a grandmother who lives in Central Kentucky.

"Having read your column, You and the Draft, in the local paper, I would like to submit a question.

"My grandson, who is 20 (he will be 21 in December), is classified I-A. He was examined a short time ago and passed.

"He had rheumatic fever when he was a child. The first symptom noted was that it was crippling him. At the time we couldn't imagine what had happened. He had gone skating and couldn't skate because of the stiffness. I took him to a specialist in Louisville and he was hospitalized for about three weeks.

"When he first registered for military duty he had the impression he wouldn't be called. He also was told by the girl who works for the draft board that one who has had rheumatic fever would not go.

"I would like to have your opinion on this matter.

"The local doctor has told us that one with rheumatic fever is very susceptible to the germ that causes it and there could be a recurrence. "I would appreciate your opinion on this, as I worry about him becoming crippled or suffering from heart damage."

We can understand the concern of the writer regarding the future health of her grandson. We regret that we cannot be too helpful as the Selective Service System determines the availability and the armed services determine the standards of acceptability. We would suggest this young man obtain from the specialist a letter stating the date of his examination, diagnosis, hospitalization and treatment.

Additionally, if there has been any recurrence of rheumatic fever or residual cardiac damage, a statement from the doctor should be obtained. At the time the young man reports to the Armed Forces Examination and Entrance Station for induction, he can give those letters to the medical officer for evaluation.

The draft board classified me I-A. I appealed this classification. The appeal board did not reverse the local board. Before I was notified of the action of the appeal board there was a change in circumstances which I believe will warrant a new classification. Can the local board consider this?

A. If, at any time before you receive your induction notice, you submit new and relevant evidence that shows the classification you hold should be reconsidered, the board must reopen your classification.

For example, you might request a reopening because of a serious injury or because of some sudden family hardship. But if you do not present to the board any evidence in writing of a changed situation, they will probably not reopen your classification, and you will be informed in writing of that fact.

If the local board does reopen your classification, your rights of personal appearance and appeal are renewed. Following the board's action, you will receive a new Notice of Classification to show that your classification has been reopened, whether it is left the same or changed.

Q. I have a student deferment. Can I drop this deferment?

A. Yes, you may drop your deferment at any time provided this is submitted in writing over your signature.

Public hearing set for Black Lung benefits. The Clay County Poor Peoples' Association will conduct a public hearing November 21, on the issue of Black Lung. It was announced recently by its chairman, Theo Napier. The CCPA is sponsoring this hearing so they can publicly discuss the Black Lung program, especially the administration of the Federal Black Lung Law by the Social Security Administration. The public hearing will be an attempt to find out why hundreds of miners and miners' widows are receiving details on their applications for Black Lung benefits and why many others have failed to receive any response at all from the Social Security Administration. Top-level Social Security officials from the Baltimore office have been invited to answer questions and to respond to criticisms by representatives of the CCPA. Testifying with disabled miners from Clay County will be Dr. Donald Rasmussen, the famous Black Lung doctor from West Virginia, Mrs. Sara Kamoski of the Farmington Widows Association, an organization of 78 widows whose husbands died in the huge mine explosion in West Virginia two years ago, Arnold Miller, treasurer of the West Virginia Black Lung Association and Gary Sellers, a lawyer and chief drafter of the law in Congress.

The hearing will take place at the Horse Creek Community Center, located on Route 30, 3 miles west of Manchester, Kentucky, at 2 p.m. on Saturday, November 21. All disabled and working miners and miners' widows are invited to come and take part in this public hearing. All other interested persons are also urged to attend the meeting to discuss their problems and to appeal to officials for answers to their questions.
