

George Powell and David Phipps of Lone Jack are shown as they jump for the ball to begin the second half of Tuesday night's game. The Devils were down 14 points at half-time and it looked for a while as though they might be able to pull it out. But when the going got rough, Ronnie Woods, all starter guard for Lone Jack, got busy and pulled the Mustangs out of reach.

Thus it is related in the Gospel of St. Matthew how the three Wise Men followed the Star of Bethlehem to the humble stable where Christ was born on that first of all Christmases nearly 2,000 years ago. But you, too, can follow the Star of Bethlehem across a sky that is exactly the same as the sky that night over a little Judean village — the same sky that the Wise Men saw, the same sky that sheltered the shepherds tending their flocks by night.

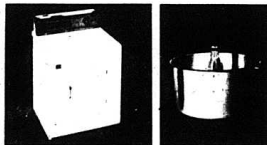

All during December the Rauch Memorial Planetarium in Louisville presents a special show recreating that greatest night in the history of mankind. The Planetarium can reproduce the sky as it was at any time in the past by five points of light projected on to a huge domed ceiling. The December show, explaining the star that the Wise Men followed, makes the Biblical story come alive. It's one of the finest ways I know to gain a deeper appreciation of the-

TREE PLANTING TIME

"Fall is an excellent time of year to plant trees," said Ron Schureman, director of the Division of Forestry, Department of Natural Resources, which operates three tree nurseries. The nurseries annually produce 10-12 million tree seedlings for use in reforesting idle land. Schureman said the nurseries started shipping tree seedlings November 16 for fall planting. "Fall planting, unlike spring planting requires a good cover of grass or other vegetation on the ground. This ground cover helps protect the seedling from being pushed out of the ground by freezing and thawing during the winter. Without this ground cover, a tree planter has little chance of success with fall planting." Anyone wishing to purchase tree seedlings can obtain an order blank from any of the Division of Forestry offices, or from County Extension, Soil Conservation Service or Agricultural Stabilization & Conservation offices.

Species available this fall include white pine, shortleaf pine, loblolly pine, scotch pine, Virginia pine, black locust, yellow poplar, and black walnut. The seedlings sell for $10.00 per thousand with the exception of black walnut and scotch pine which are $15.00 per thousand. All orders should be in multiples of 500. In the spring, the Division will have several other hardwood seedlings and cottonwood cuttings available in addition to those listed above.

Schureman said landowners who want more information or who want assistance could get it by contacting the nearest Division of Forestry office or by writing to Frankfort. The Division has a number of experienced Service Foresters whose job is to assist landowners with tree planting problems or other problems affecting their woodlands.

Ellis V. Falin Killed By Train

Ellis Vernon Falin, 23, of Pine Hill, was killed instantaneously when he was struck by a train near Pine Hill early Sunday morning, November 29.

According to Coroner Bill Dowell, the engineer of the L & N freight train, which was travelling south, saw Falin lying between the rails but was unable to stop the train in time to avoid hitting him.

Falin was carried 189 feet by the train.

The Coroner ruled the death accidental.

Vernon was born in Rockcastle County on July 17, 1947, the son of Orbin and Pearl Chestnut Falin.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two brothers, and the contractor, Forbes and McFris Construction Company of Lexington, has 480 days to complete the building. The new school was designed by Donald B. Shelton and Associates, a Lexington architectural firm and the School Planning Laboratory at the University of Tennessee.

The building will contain about 105,000 sq. ft. of space but will accommodate some 900 students. It will contain thirty classrooms, agriculture shop, industrial arts shop, art studio, plus a choral and band department.

A Library-Materials Center will contain space for teachers' office work and planning area. The dining room will serve as a concourse to the gymnasium which will seat from 2500 to 2800 people.

A feature of the building will be demountable walls which allow for flexibility for modular scheduling, open space or large group instruction.

The school will be located on the same campus as the Harry Sparks Vocational School and is expected to be ready to occupy in September of 1972.

The facility is being financed principally by the sale of school revenue bonds, $1,650,000 of these bonds were sold for various bonding companies at an average rate of 7.6865%.

After interest fees and one year capitalized interest this leaves $1,401,667.00 for construction. The Board has a Title I grant in the amount of $163,519.00 toward construction and the balance of the contract bill will be paid from available capital output funds. Total construction cost for the plant above is $1,791,000.

CONGRESSMAN CARTER GUEST SPEAKER

RED DEVILS DEFEATED BY LONE JACK

Rodney Woods and Company from Lone Jack invaded Mt. Vernon Tuesday night and showed the Devils what combination it takes to win the game.

It goes like this, you take a 5'10" senior guard with a point average of 40 per game, give him an especially hot hand on any shot he attempts, out-bound the other team and you have it made.

Actually, the game was better than the score indicates, the Devils were cold the first half and Woods, who got 51 of the team's 85 points, was hot. At half-time, the Mustangs held a 14 point lead, 50 to 36. The Devils came back in the second half hitting much better and pulled to within five points of the Mustangs. Then Woods

Mt. Vernon Red Devils Win Thanksgiving Tourney

The traditional rivalry between the Mt. Vernon Red Devils and the Brodhead Tigers took on added meaning last Saturday night as the two teams fought it out for the championship of the Brodhead Thanksgiving Tournament.

The Devils had advanced to the finals by thrashing the Livingston Blue Devils 72 to 36 in the first game of the tournament Friday night.

The Tigers downed the Crab Orchard team who had won the tournament the last two years, in the second game on Friday night.

Thus, the stage was set for what is always one of the biggest battles of the season for both teams.

The game was nip and tuck throughout with Brodhead ahead at the half 32 to 28. In the third quarter, Mt. Vernon took a 47 to 43 lead and went on to win 78 to 59.

According to Coach Jack Laswell, "the Red Devils have never put it all together and played four strong quarters; however, I was well pleased with the victory, especially the play of the team in the last half."

George Fowell, who led all scorers with 25 points, has improved greatly this year and his shooting and rebounding have been outstanding to date.

Tommy Coffey and David McCauley, who also played excellent games, were next in line in scoring with 17 and 15 points, respectively.

Dale Coffey and Jim Mullins combined to lead the team attack since Rudy Burdette, regular starter with the team, was ill and could only play briefly.

Brodhead's young team has come along amazingly well,

Reapportionment Causes Controversy In Court Meeting

The Magisterial District Reapportionment and precinct changes stirred quite a controversy in Tuesday's meeting of the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court between Magistrate C.W. "Wally" Phillips and County Judge Charles Carter.

Phillips put a motion before the Court that a resolution, opposing the reapportionment of the Magisterial Districts and precinct changes, be adopted. However, the motion died for lack of a second.

Judge Carter informed the magistrates that reapportionment and changing of precincts was the authority of the County Court, not of the magistrates, and that since he was Judge of the County Court the authority was vested directly in him.

The magistrates apparently agreed since they called to show support of Magistrate Phillips' message.

To date, Phillips is the magistrate most affected by the reapportionment and precinct changes. Judge Carter has already posted notice of his intention to change precinct boundary lines in Phillips district and in some of the other magisterial districts.

When the commissioners for reapportionment are selected, there will doubtless be other things that will be changed in other precinct boundary lines.

The Jayces originally requested the reapportionment in order that the Magisterial Districts might be made more equitable.

James Scalf, 64, of Livingston passed away Wednesday, November 25, at the Rockcastle County Baptist Hospital.

He was born in Clay County August 4, 1906; the son of the late Bill and Mary Sizemore Scalf. He was a retired coal miner, a veteran of World War II, and a member of the Horse Creek Baptist Church at Manchester.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Susie Simpson Scalf, of Livingston, four children, and three step children. One sister also survives.

Funeral services were held Friday, November 27, at the Horse Creek Baptist Church with Bro. Denver Rush officiating. Burial was in the Bowling Cemetery in Clay County.

Smith Is Named

Citizen Editor

Colbert Smith has been named editor of The Berea Citizen and began his duties December 1.

The appointment was announced by Dr. Willis D. Weatherford, chairman of the board of directors of The Berea Publishing Co., owners of Berea's 2,825 circulation weekly newspaper.

Smith, 43, has had extensive service on another weekly, The Vineyard Gazette at Edgartown, Mass., on Martha's Vineyard. He succeeded Corban Goble, Citizen editor for the past six years and associate editor for nine years. Goble is enrolling in a graduate study program in communications at the University of Kentucky.

In the announcement, Dr. Weatherford said that "Colbert Smith's ability as a writer and editor have been amply demonstrated by his long service on the staff of the outstanding Vineyard Gazette; his enthusiasm for the values found in small towns and his humane outlook as a committed Christian make him an admirable choice to enable The Berea Citizen to fulfill its newly-announced policy of service to the community."

The new editor, a native of Greensboro, N.C., was graduated from Duke University with a major in English. During high school days he worked in the news department of The Charlotte Observer. After college he served in the advertising department of The Greensboro News-Record.

Smith joined The Vineyard Gazette staff in 1952 as a reporter and advertising salesman. He served in the U.S. Army from 1954 to 1958, returning to Edgartown, he was named The Gazette's assistant editor in 1960, and more recently carried out duties as managing editor.

The Gazette's editor for the past 50 years has been Henry Beetle Hough, also well known as a writer and novelist. James Weston, noted columnist for The New York Times, acquired ownership of The Gazette about two years ago.

Smith has been a trustee of the Edgartown Public Library, a member of the executive committee of the Edgartown Federated Church, and for five years was the instructor in creative writing for the adult education program at Martha's Vineyard Island High School.

Mrs. Smith is the former Jean MacIntosh of Oak Bluffs.

PRODUCING QUALITY SEED
Farmers, growers, processors and seedmen are invited to attend the combined annual seeds meeting December 10 and 11 at the Springs Motel, Lexington.

Topics for discussion will include: corn seed stock in 1971, tall fescue seed production, Kentucky seed law, crop varieties of the future, forage seed needs and production, soybean blends vs varieties, Southern Corn Leaf Blight-Potential.

TRENDS OF THE SEVENTIES
Easter living, Convenience foods, Shopping habits changing. Why—and what's ahead? What are the "so-called" new trends? Look at the grocery carts these days. Processed products crowd out most of the fresh vegetables today. Our market baskets still show that we like fresh lettuce, cucumbers and peppers—but what about the other vegetables?

U.S. Department of Agriculture economists report that we use less tomatoes, onions and celery than we did 20 years ago. But, actually, the trend away from fresh vegetables is not really new. It started to decline in the late thirties and early forties. We stopped eating quite so many fresh peas and lima beans—then vegetable peeling came along—so many fresh snap beans. In the fifties we didn't demand fresh cabbage in quantities as we used to—then we started picking up fewer bunches of carrots from the produce bins.

We started the switch to frozen broccoli instead of fresh, then it was frozen Brussels sprouts and cauliflower. Now—the trend is towards frozen ears of corn—away from the fresh ones. Next the shift to frozen spinach and other green leafy vegetables. And so it goes. By 1969, canned or frozen items accounted for approximately 54% of the total vegetable consumption. Why the trend? What really really encourages housewives to switch to the frozen or canned items and away from the familiar fresh-from-the-farm varieties? Convenience is the number one factor. The demand for more services grows along with rising incomes. If Dad gets a pay raise, Mom doesn't put plain fresh spinach in the grocery cart—no, she buys frozen spinach souffle. Mom may be adding to the family income too—she has less time, but usually more money—so she needs the convenience foods.

According to USDA's Economic Research Service the trend won't change but the pace of the shift will probably slow down because now most families have already shifted to convenience lines.

Incentive Payments To Be Made On 1970 Wool Sales

Payments will be made beginning about the first of April on marketings of wool and mohair completed in 1970 and reported by January 31, 1971. So reports Shelle Mullins, Chairman of the Rockcastle County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, who reminded producers that the 1970 marketing year under the wool and mohair program ends December 31.

Wool payments are based on the difference between the incentive price (22 cents per pound for shorn wool marketed in 1970) and the average national price for marketings during the year. Wool and mohair sales made after December 31, 1970, will not be eligible for payment until early 1972.

Incentive payments are made through ASCS county offices to all producers who file applications and present the necessary sales receipts and other records.

Mr. Mullins reminded producers that sales documents must show all details of the sale were completed during the current marketing year -- including passing title to the buyer. There must also be a record showing either actual delivery or transfer of control of the wool or mohair to the buyer. The buyer's total purchase price must be clearly stated, also.

Proof of ownership for at least 30 days is an important requirement, the ASC Committee Chairman said. To be eligible for payments, producers must own for at least 30 days the livestock from which the wool or mohair was shorn and the unshorn lambs of which they apply for payment. Records must be presented which clearly establish compliance with the 30-day ownership requirement.

Requests for 1970 marketing year payments under the National Wool Act may be filed with the Rockcastle County ASCS Office as soon as the sales documents are available, but should be filed no later than January 31, 1971, to ensure early payment.

You And The Draft

If we began our first column with the statement, "Would you believe it is better to be in Class I-A than be deferred?" the reaction probably would have been: "It must be a new columnist and who's he kidding." When he wrote the first "You and the Draft" RANDOM was being put into effect. Some people doubted that a smooth transition could be made in the manner of selecting men for involuntary service in the Armed Forces. Our approach to the change was positive. At that time we could not foretell what the 1970 calls would be. Neither could we predict the highest lottery number to be reached in the Kentucky local boards in the calendar year. Nationwide lottery number 195 probably will be the highest, call this year. However, due to the efficiency of the local boards in this state, the highest number to be called in Kentucky will probably not exceed 170.

With new instructions from the Director of Selective Service to local boards, it is better for a man in the 1970 Priority Selection Group (born between 1944 and 1950) whose lottery number has not been reached by his local board to drop his deferment and be reclassified into I-A, I-A-O or I-A-1 on or before December 31, 1970. Exposure for even part of the year counts for the entire year and if a man ends the year in an I-A status without his number being reached, he goes into a less vulnerable category on January 1, 1971.

Earlier in the year when large numbers of registrants with high lottery numbers lost their deferment, we pointed out it was quite possible that the loss of the deferment and reclassification into I-A would be to their advantage. With the projection of number 170 to be the highest number reached, this advice has proven good.

We invite any registrant in the 1970 Priority Selection Group with a lottery number higher than that reached by his local board to take advantage of the opportunity to face the maximum exposure in a year which, for him, is already safe. For example, a man with lottery number 171 deferred as an apprentice could drop this deferment and consent to the I-A pool for the rest of 1970. On January 1, 1971, he would go into a less priority group.

Just warn you that you should be as soon as we reopening and reclassification must be done before the end of December. All that is required is that you put in writing that you do not want your deferment any longer and want to be reclassified I-A, provided your lottery number has not or will not be reached this year.

The new instructions do not apply to men born in 1951.

Q. The draft board took away my deferment. While the appeal was being processed, I became 28 years of age. My question is will they draft me?

A. No. Under current Selective Service regulations the local board cannot order anyone for induction who has reached 26 years of age while his appeal was being adjudicated by an appeal board. Q. Can I enlist in the Reserve after I get a notice of induction from the Draft Board?

A. No. Under current regulations, you cannot enlist in the Reserve after you received an order to report for induction. However, you may enlist in the Active Armed Forces, including through the Delayed Entry Program, provided this is accomplished prior to the date of delivery for induction.

POWELL RECEIVES $180 SUGGESTION AWARD

Orville Powell of Route 2, an employee of the Broomcraft industry at Berea College since 1963, has earned an award of $180 for his time- and labor-saving suggestion for drying broom corn.

The committee determines if an employee's suggestion "could and should be adopted," estimates the first year's savings the suggestion would effect, and determines the amount of the award the employee will receive.

"V-8" Juice Makes Holiday Spirits Zesty

Give your fans a great party warm-up with the zesty cocktail "V-8" vegetable juice. The zippy blend of eight garden vegetables in "V-8" juice can turn any gathering into a party.

Choose "V-8" juice in the convenient size for your guest list... the handy 6-pack of 6 ounce individual size cans, 12-ounce, 24-ounce, or 46-ounce sizes. Each size will find a happy niche in your party life.

Try "V-8" juice chilled and sipped through a straw right from the 6-ounce size can. Or serve "V-8" juice heated with spices or herbs for a hot toddy "Her-ki" or skating party.

The men of the family will like this variation of "V-8" cocktail vegetable juice... The Red Martin. The Red Martin blends the basic mixture of the popular martini with the popular rosy

Dr. Willis D. Weatherford, president of the college. "All other employees of Berea College have been invited to submit suggestions for 'Innovative Ideas' to a panel composed of the head of the department where the idea could be adopted, the director of non-academic personnel, the assistant to the business vice president and two employees who are working with the present method and who would be using the new idea, if adopted."

The committee determines if an employee's suggestion "could and should be adopted," estimates the first year's savings the suggestion would effect, and determines the amount of the award the employee will receive.

Orville Powell has been with Berea College continuously since 1963 in the Broomcraft industry. He is married to Dolores Powell, who works at the Boone Tavern.

The Powells are parents of four children: Carol, a student at Mt. Vernon High School; Ray and Sharon Kay, who attend Silver Creek Elementary School; and Billy Glenn, a pre-schooler.

STATE'S POPULATION INCREASES 208,325
The Census Bureau, in its final report Monday, listed Kentucky's population as 3,246,481, the highest in its history.

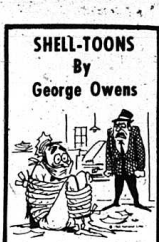

The figure represents an increase of 208,325 over the 1960 census figure and enables the state to hold onto its seven seats in the U.S. House of Representatives. Representation in the House is based on population.

The Census Bureau said its total for the state included U.S. servicemen stationed abroad and federal employees overseas.

Figures for individual cities in the state were not released immediately by the bureau.

A survey shows that one out of three families living in mobile homes plan to live there permanently.

SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue of an execution directed to me, which issued from the clerk's office of the Rockcastle Circuit Court, in favor of Rockcastle Loan Service, Incorporated, against Lorene Spoonmore, I will on Saturday, the 5th day of December, 1970, at 10:00 A.M., at the court house door, Main Street, in the City of Mount Vernon, Rockcastle County, Kentucky, expose to public sale to the highest bidder, the following described property to satisfy plaintiff's debt, interest and costs, to-wit:

ing for poultage allotments rather than the present acreage program. A. acreage poultage plan has been defeated in two previous referendums.

Supporters of this plan hope that enabling legislation can be passed by Congress so that the plan can go into effect before the 1971 planting season. If Congress approves and allows a referendum failure to pass would mean an end to price supports.

On the other hand, if Congress does not approve a referendum, and growers vote to keep acreage controls, many observers' foresee allotment cuts of from 25 to 50 percent.

These are just some of the things burley growers have to consider as they get paid for this year's crop and look toward another season. The problems are easy to see but the solutions, or the proper courses of action, are much harder to project.

Hunting & Fishing

Farmers always look with anticipation at an opening burley market, with all hoping that it will be a good one. For the past few years, there has been a greater degree of concern for a bad sales season would add to the woes of burley growers.

Increased production on the part of growers has brought about a surplus in the stocks of burley tobacco. The government likes to have about a 2.8 years supply on hand. According to recent reports, the current burley on hand is about 3.5 years supply.

The 10 percent acreage cut taken this year by growers will not help the oversupply situation. Starting January 1, the federal government ban of cigarette advertising goes into effect. Just what effect this will have on cigarette consumption cannot be estimated at this time.

So, as each grower gets his check this year—whether it be pleasing or disappointing—he must wonder what another season will bring. Action is already underway to seek a new control program.

The Kentucky and Tennessee Farm Bureaus has endorsed a proposed plan—this one calling for poultage allotments rather than the present acreage program. A. acreage poultage plan has been defeated in two previous referendums.

Supporters of this plan hope that enabling legislation can be passed by Congress so that the plan can go into effect before the 1971 planting season. If Congress approves and allows a referendum failure to pass would mean an end to price supports.

On the other hand, if Congress does not approve a referendum, and growers vote to keep acreage controls, many observers' foresee allotment cuts of from 25 to 50 percent.

These are just some of the things burley growers have to consider as they get paid for this year's crop and look toward another season. The problems are easy to see but the solutions, or the proper courses of action, are much harder to project.

Many hunters may hunt the entire deer gun season of five days. (None of these days include hunting on multiple installations, management areas etc.) The deer archery hunter has two solid months, or 62 days in which to bag his white-tail, and the duck hunter likely may go into the swamps and on the waterways for 44 days.

The goose hunter has a total of 70 days in which to hunt, the same number that the great horde of dove hunters have in Kentucky.

Now, the $4.25 hunting license is good for one or all those trips, plus it entitles a person to hunt groundhogs or crows, should he be so inclined, throughout the year.

There is one other commodity that may be as great or maybe greater bargain than the hunting license. That's the fishing license which entitles a person to fish in the waters of his choice, for the fish of his selection on each and every day of the year. And if that is not inducement enough, it may be pointed-out that he has better than a half million acres of water in which to fish. The fishing license costs the same as the hunting license, but as an added special offer, a statewide hunting and fishing license combination ticket may be had for the bargain price of only $7.50.

FORD NAMED HONORARY CHAIRMAN

Wendell H. Ford, Lieutenant Governor of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, has been appointed Honorary state chairman of the 1970 March of Dimes by Basil O'Connor, President of the voluntary health organization, Governor Louie B. Nunn announced today in Louisville.

The Lieutenant Governor, serving his third year as chairman, will assist in the enlistment and work of thousands of March of Dimes volunteers throughout the state for the annual January fund raising appeal for prevention, research, and treatment of birth defects.

The appointment signals the opening of campaign preparations for the March of Dimes Drive.

In discussing the work of the March of Dimes, Ford noted "There are so many types of birth defects, it is not possible to overcome all with one major discovery. However, individual breakthroughs are being achieved."

"One of these, for instance, came in 1969 with the licensing of a vaccine for rubella, (German measles)," Ford said. He further stated the National Foundation has invested over $900,000 in rubella research so that an epidemic, such as the one during 1964-65 that caused birth defects to some 50,000 unborn babies, can possibly be avoided in the future.

"The National Foundation is cooperating with federal, state and local health agencies in the vital task of altering the public to the danger of rubella and the availability of vaccine," Ford said.

"Our statewide drive will emphasize how the March of Dimes' public, vital community services such as this and its support of the two

March of Dimes Birth Defects Centers at the University of Kentucky and the University of Louisville.

"By visiting both of these centers, I have seen the work being done to help Kentucky's children through local research and patient care. It is every child's birthright to be born free from the abnormality of birth defects, and this is why I have agreed to involve myself in the March of Dimes work again this year," he added.

Today's rugged individualist is the chap who insists on wearing a white shirt.

Valley View Ferry Oldest Continuous Business

The Valley View Ferry, authorized in 1785, is Kentucky's oldest continuously operating business.

The ferry's history began before Kentucky became a state.

In 1780, John Craig, a Kentucky land baron, acquired lands along the borders of what is now Fayette, Madison and Jessamine counties. A survey made for him of 200 acres of land on the Kentucky River, opposite the mouth of Tates Creek, was registered on April 27, 1780, with the Kentucky land office.

An extensive landowner, Craig had obtained most of his property by military or treasury warrants. Though repeatedly involved in court cases over his land acquisitions, he was more often than not successfully represented by Henry Clay.

It was to Craig that the Virginia Assembly granted a perpetual and irrevocable franchise to establish a ferry across the Kentucky River at Valley View in 1785. And Craig became the first operator of the ferry.

In 1812, Craig sold the lands and the ferry to David Baker. As Kentucky had become a state in 1792, Baker applied to the Fayette County Court for official permission to establish a ferry opposite the mouth of Tates Creek from the north side. The Court officially established the ferry in 1812.

According to documents filed in the Fayette and Jessamine County Courthouses, "The grant of a ferry right is a contract between the person to whom it is given and the state, and prior to the statute of 1861, such franchises to 20 years, all grants, unless it was otherwise specifically provided therein, were perpetual."

Thus the Valley View Ferry was given two irrevocable licenses to operate—one from Virginia and one from Fayette Court. In the following decades, the ferry and surrounding lands exchanged many hands.

Baker sold the ferry to David Newman in 1818. Newman's heirs conveyed the property to William T. Fullilove during the 1850's. In 1860, Fullilove deeded 80 acres, including the ferry, to Richard Martin. The other land was conveyed to Martin in 1872, after Fullilove's death.

In the 1870's Martin sold the ferry and surrounding land to Leroy Land, Samuel King and H.A. Headley.

Several different members of the Land family and others held interests in the Valley View Ferry before it came under today's present ownership.

On March 27, 1950, E.P. Land conveyed the ferry to C.C. Howard, the present owner.

For over a period of 195 years, based upon deeds and other monuments of title recorded back to the establishment of the ferry-right by judicial decree of Fayette Court and further to the original grant by the Virginia

A World of Hope For A Girl Named Rhonda

At a meeting a few evenings ago, I was allowed to hold little Rhonda McKenzie of West Liberty while her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald McKenzie were presented two checks totaling $1875, the first disbursement of the Rhonda McKenzie fund.

Rhonda waved her arms, flumped around on my lap and made childish sounds that tinkled like tiny bells. She is 18 months old, with a shock of dark hair, exquisite hands and soft skin. She has one cleft lip, man-made slits for eyes and a man-made opening for a nose beneath which is an almost perfectly formed, beautiful mouth. Just holding her made you love this small bundle of girl that might some day have a face normal enough and lovely enough to meet her world.

Last April 30, in Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md., Dr. Milton Edgerton and a team of skilled surgeons performed the first of five operations on Rhonda to begin reconstructing facial features. She then was nine months old and the youngest patient in medical records to undergo such surgery and survive.

"Her age represents something of a breakthrough for medicine," said Edgerton, pioneering specialist in rebuilding facial features for children.

Mrs. Bonnah Lewis McKenzie, 26, attractive mother of Rhonda, and another daughter, Robin, who soon will be nine and an excellent student at West Liberty Elementary School, can be credited for the beginning of a long, heart-breaking program that hopefully will provide normal facial features for her daughter as well as correctional surgery for her feet.

When Rhonda was born with severe abnormalities, the young mother was not content to leave the child as was and shut her away forever from the world.

"I had just about given up hope of ever being able to help Rhonda," said the mother. "I had tried to think of ways—any way that would allow her to grow up like other children; not like other children, at least more normal. I was about to despair and glancing down at a daily paper I saw an article about a little girl in Tennessee. I read it through. Debbie Fox had been born with much the same lack of a face as had Rhonda. I immediately wrote Mrs. Edward Fox of Soddy, Tenn. and asked for names of doctors and people who might help Rhonda.

That was how the McKenzies learned about Dr. Edgerton. Arrangements were made for an examination and the subsequent surgery that required more than 10 hours. Rhonda is one in about 1,000,000 children to be born without a nose, with eyes set so far on the sides of her head that she could no possibly focus them, with one club-foot and too many toes on her feet. Muscles to control eye movement were defective. The surgical team went into the skull for bone grafts, skin grafts and other critical rearranging of tissue and bone related to eyes and brain. The grafts allowed Rhonda's eyes to be reset in a more normal position and also shaped her face. A tooth bud was removed near the eye location and using forehead skin, surgeons built nose passages. Rhonda will return to Johns Hopkins for surgery scheduled Dec. 1.

This second surgical effort will build the bottom portion of a nose over the opening made last April. (Bridge for the nose will be done later. On Dec. 1, surgeons also will attach eyelids to Rhonda's eyes so she can open them.

As I held her, I knew why she tried to throw her head back; it was her determined effort to get her eyes back so by peering beneath the lidless skin she could see what was going on around her in a strange room.

The room was the REA building in West Liberty where officers and advisory board of the Rhonda McKenzie fund could review progress in a goal of $10,000 needed to help finance family expense during the trips to Baltimore. Though Dr. Edgerton, Dr. Edward Dalton, Dr. David Knox, Dr. George Udyvarhelyi, Dr. Ed Laws and Dr. Hugh Robinson and their associates performed their work without charge, there are many other expenses including travel costs to the parents and days missed from work (McKenzie is assistant manager of a West Liberty grocery) that have to be considered.

Townpeople, knowing the hardships of the next few years for Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie, and admiring their courage and efforts to help their young daughter, got together and set up the Rhonda McKenzie Fund, West Liberty, Ky. 41872. They set the $10,000 goal and to date $3100 has been contributed to the fund, making it possible to present the parents a check to help cover expenses of last April's operation. They also check to help cover expenses of the Dec. 1 surgery.

The executive committee is made up of Mrs. Garry Elam, secretary; Stephen Bliffin, vice chairman; Mrs. Boyd Blair, secretary and Mrs. Clay Whitton, treasurer. Members of the advisory board are Ray Mitchell, chairman, Judge Gene Allen, Mayor Charles Black, Miss Naomi Finch, Miss Mary Ann Fouzey, Bert Holbrook, Earl Kinner Jr., Dr. Alec Spencer, James R. Perry, Mrs. H.B. Murray and Helen Price Stacy.

Contributions to the fund are welcomed, not only for young Rhonda McKenzie but as hope to all parents and especially to all babies who like Rhonda are born with seemingly hopeless abnormalities.

I can sincerely say that while holding Rhonda she was not "ugly"; in any sense, she had soft hair and skin, perfect hands, a sweet mouth and bell-like voice. She truly was beautiful, maybe in a sense, I was seeing her as she will look 10 years from now and eager to show her new and pretty face to the world of school, church and community.

Settlement School— A Mountain Tradition

Nestled in a small valley, where the two forks of Troublesome Creek join in the Cumberland Mountain foothills, lies the little village of Hindman, seat of Knott County.

At first glance, Hindman appears to be an ordinary mountain village; at closer inspection, it is unique in many ways. The people who came into the mountains over a century ago to settle in Knott County were of pure English stock. Words, phrases and even the native music date back to the Anglo-Saxons of England. Also, there hasn't been any great influx of foreign blood into that mountain section. Consequently, the culture of the Anglo-Saxons has been preserved to an amazing degree.

Even more unusual is the growth of the community's educational system, from a one-room school to the famed Hindman Settlement School. In 1900, Hindman was sixteen years old. The small town consisted of several residences. There was one hotel, a post office, blacksmith's shop, a water mill, the court house, jailhouse and two general stores. Also standing was a school, situated on the north side of Hindman's only street.

From the time of the inception of Hindman and Knott County, education had been an uphill struggle. In 1899, rumors began to seep into Hindman about the doings of two "lotched-on" women who were said to be carrying on some unique work with the people in and around Hazard.

Uncle Solomon Everidge, a citizen of Hindman who had seen eighty winters, had always nourished a great desire for more and better education for the youth of Hindman and Knott County. He walked twenty-two miles barefoot to Hazard to learn first-hand of the activities of those gentlemen.

There he found Miss May Stone and Miss Katherine Pettit teaching sewing, cooking, doing kindergarten work and helping to plan better systems for the public school teachers. He talked with them and watched them for a day, and then requested that they come to Hindman the following summer to help his people.

The next year the trip to Hindman was made possible for the two women. Out of a number of likely places in other mountain counties, Hindman was chosen as a location for a school. With a gift of two acres of land from citizens, combined with the purchase of one extra acre and the original school house, on August 4, 1902, the Hindman Settlement School came into being under the auspices of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

It boasted enrollment of 162 pupils and offered to the students academic work in addition to cooking, sewing, house-keeping and music. Community activities were begun, and to encourage the native arts of basketmaking, spinning and weaving, as well as to provide a market for such goods, the Fireside Industries Department was organized.

The next few years brought change and development to the Settlement. By August, 1906, four new buildings were ready for use. Included were a Settlement House, school house, weaving cabin, work shop and a power house.

The power house was used to provide the first artificial lighting to the people of Hindman. It was a steam system, controlled from the Settlement House. Every night at the designated time, the lights would blink all over town, and several minutes later, Hindman was plunged into darkness. Any citizen, desiring light after the power house curfew, found it necessary to bring out candles and coal-oil lamps.

Tragedy struck often in the form of fire during the early years of the Settlement; but as early as 1918, the progress of the school was notable. The school plant then consisted of 225 acres of land, including a coal mine and 20 buildings, including cottages, a hospital, the power house, school buildings and barns.

The entire school enrollment numbered 341 in the various departments which consisted of kindergarten, intermediate, high school, music and agriculture. The industrial departments offered hand work, woodwork, home nursing, sewing, weaving and basketry. Service work included library, social meetings, glee club, camp fire, play grounds, military drill, mid-winter extension courses and the Fireside Industries.

The Hindman Settlement School was admitted to the Southern Assn. of Secondary Schools and Colleges in 1928. That admission gave the school a Grade A standing—a "standard" classification which the school has retained to this day.

Following that milestone, a high school and modern library were erected. A Recreation House followed. In the 1950's, the May Stone Memorial Building for Girls and the Elizabeth Watts Building for Home Economics and Industrial Arts were finished. The Katherine Pettit Building for Boys is presently under construction.

Outsiders have always wondered about the relations of the Settlement to the county. Raymond K. McLain, executive director, says, "The Settlement and the Board of Education have always cooperated in a unique way. From the beginning the two worked together, and the Settlement people always say that they 'supplement the county.'"

The county supports the Hindman High School and Elementary School. The high school, with two additions, has approximately 700 students, as does the elementary. About 40 high school boys and girls stay at the Settlement, since they live too far from roads where buses can pick them up.

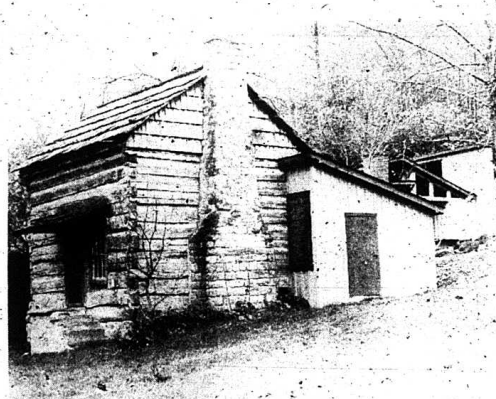

With the county supporting the local school, the Settlement has increased their assistance to the small rural schools and established extension work of various kinds. The policy has always been to begin new ventures and to release them to the community when it is ready to take over while the Settlement then turns to other projects.

The extension workers travel rough roads and creek beds in jeeps and pick up trucks to reach the more isolated centers.

Work with adults also has increased. The Settlement works with several hundred young adults who have dropped out of school and are now being given another opportunity. This is a four-county project, with classes held once a week in each county for those who range all the way from being almost illiterate to those who are nearly ready to take the high school equivalency tests to obtain high school diplomas.

In looking back over the 68 years that the Hindman Settlement School has been in existence, one can see that the development of modern means of transportation has brought great changes.

With good roads and easier means of travel, school buses can bring many of the students of the Hindman Schools who could not have come there in 1902. However, there are still as many students as the settlement can accommodate—students who, for one reason or another, want or need to live in the Settlement dormitories.
