"HUNTING AND FISHING" (Cont. From Page 3) cides that would accomplish their missions without disarming, snuffing, stings, insects and humans. ITEM-A coalition of all persons on earth, banded together in a plan for survival. Of course, it would be fanciful to believe that all those things could come about overnight or even in a few years. But the handwriting is there in view of all; and it says that unless our technology produces counterbalancing procedures, the world as we know it die in its own wastes, brought on by the extravagance, greed and recklessness of people.

Flowers

A STRANGE WILD FLOWER

One of the most unusual wild flowers is "Skunk Cabbage." Although classified as a wild flower, the name tells the story. The plant looks somewhat like a lavender colored cabbage and it emits a rather vile odor. Thus, the name, skunk cabbage. The plant is found around swamps over much of the Eastern United States. It usually grows to a height of from one to two feet. The leaves unfold in the same manner as an ordinary cabbage. The smell of skunk cabbage may not be sweet, but the plant is a welcomed sight since the appearance of skunk cabbage is an indication of the coming of Spring.

When you need flowers that do smell good, call us. Our flowers are always fresh and we pride ourselves on making beautiful arrangements.

IN MEMORY
 Of Martha Griffin
 This is the first Christmas that we could not see your face or hear your sweet voice. Some glad day soon, a voice will sound: In triumph from the skies; The dead in Christ will hear his voice, and from their graves arise.

The angels on earth shall be caught up, to meet him in the air, and be with him forevermore, to see his beauties rare. The day or hour we do not know, but that the facts now point to this: His coming draweth nigh. The angels now is up above preparing us a place; But soon will pierce the hollow sky, and then we'll see His face.

A happy day it then will be to join our loved ones there; but best of all to be with Christ, in that blessed land so fair. All showings then will flee away and sorrows be no more; the cares and trials of this old world, will be forever over. Sadly missed by husband and daughters

 In loving memory of our dear Father and Mother, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Philbeck, who God took from us; our mother, 15 years ago December 21, 1955, and 10 years ago December 1, 1960. God took our Dad. Please God hold your arms around them. Keep them in your loving care, for no one knows, God, how much we miss them here. To all of you who still have your parents, love and cherish them with care, for you never know the heartache till you find they are not there.

Library Notes

New books received at the Rockcastle County Library. Among them are:

AMATEUR FURNITURE CONSTRUCTION, by Vernon M. Albers. A book written for the layman; its purpose is to acquaint the newcomer with the proper tools and procedures for use in fabricating furniture and other woodworking projects.

THE BANK ROBBER, by Giles Tippette. A novel in the tradition of the fine old western.

BLACK PROFILES, by George Metcalf. Biographies of outstanding Black Americans who have led the struggle against racial injustice.

BODY LANGUAGE, by Julius Fast. Social scientists are discovering that movements of the body give off messages of their own that may amplify or contradict verbal expression.

COLLECTING ART ON A SHOESTRING, by Alicia Faxon. A book for people who love beautiful things, want to own them and live with them, yet have limited means at their disposal.

EARLY AMERICAN HERB RECIPES, by Alice Brown. These recipes, sometimes quaint but always serious, reflect the tremendous importance of herbs to the rigorous survival of our forefathers.

EL RANCHO RIO, by Milton Eberhart. A large, rich working ranch in the Southwest is the setting of this absorbing mystery.

THE EMMY AWARDS, by Paul Michael. This book supplies the names of all Emmy winners since 1948, along with interesting highlights of each year's awards, plus details on "winners." It is a compendium of the facts and foibles of the television age.

GEORGE GERSHWIN, by David Ewen. In this fascinating biography, Mr. Ewen traces the development of George Gershwin from his childhood on New York's East Side to the success of his most beloved composers.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S EXPENSE ACCOUNT, by Marvin Ketman. As Commander-in-Chief of the American forces during the Revolutionary War, Washington accepted no salary but preferred to charge his expenses to the government. The author reproduced this account after extensive research. It gives a witty insight into colonial American history.

HOW TO GEORGE GEORGE WITHOUT FATTENING HIM, by Nancy Gage. More than 200 slim-styled, calorie-weakened recipes.

THE INTELLIGENT WOMAN'S GUIDE TO FUTURE SECURITY, by Lulu Kuter. A helpful book for the woman who fears her own practical ignorance of the financial "facts of life."

LSD, MAN AND SOCIETY, edited by Richard De Bold & Russell C. Leaf. The facts about LSD - its characteristics and effects, its impact on the individual and on society - soberly stated, and analyzed by nine scientists.

MEALS THAT CAN WAIT, by Patricia Brooks. A cookbook for commuters' wives, weekend hostesses and other dependents of the underclass.

Bright, practical and sympathetic to the harassed housewife, this book offers a collection of meals that laugh at time tables.

THE NIGHT CREW, by J.R. Goddard. A novel of four men of a state fire-fighting crew stationed in central California.

BETTER ENVIRONMENT CAN BE SAVED, by Nelson Rockefeller. Governor Rockefeller provides a citizen's guide to a better environment.

FARNELLI, by Bill Libby. The story of Farnelli Jones, auto race driver, and the story of auto racing itself.

THE PETE ROSE STORY, by Pete Rose. Pete Rose's autobiography is a testament to the fact that desire, hustle and devotion to baseball are what make the fine athlete a super-star.

SOCIAL SECURITY AND MEDICARE SIMPLIFIED. It is important that you know what your rights and benefits are. This book does that important job.

TAKING GARY FELDMAN, by Stanley Cohen. A kidnapping story that is appealing instead of vicious - an excellent mystery.

THE UGLY FRONTIER, by David Shears. An account of the day-to-day realities and dangers of life on the 85-mile armed frontier between East and West Germany.

VACATIONLAND U.S.A., by National Geographic Society. Here's where the action is, from the thrill of parachuting in New Hampshire to the spills of surfing off Waikiki.

WHEN THE FIRE REACHES US, by Barbara Tucker. This is the story of a handful of black people living in a Detroit ghetto during the summer of the 1967 riots.

THE YOUNG CLEMENTINA, by D.E. Stevenson. Set against the background of the 18th century, this is the story of ill-starred lovers forced apart by a small web of lies.

New books for children.

ALL STARS OF THE OUTFIELD, by Milton Shapiro. The outfielders, the "big guns" of the baseball world are presented in this volume which will provide exciting reading for baseball fans of all ages.

5-UP, an amazing baseball team, by Dave Wolf. A colorful and informative discussion of famous baseball teams which have held the public eye since the turn of the century, 3-6.

CAR OF THE YEAR 1895-1970, A 75-year parade of American Automobiles that made news, 5-11.

CHRISTMAS FOLK, by Natalia Belting. The traditions and folklore of past Christmases are celebrated in glowing color in this volume of rich poetry, 3-6.

EVERYDAY TURTLES TOADS AND THE KIN, by Gertrude E. Allen. An encouraging introduction to small children to explore the world of nature. Pres.

Capital Digest

The Kentucky Turnpike Authority hopes to sell from $70 million to $100 million bonds to finance construction of toll roads, at an interest rate lower than that being paid on the last bond issue. The last issue, for $50 million, was sold in August at a record 7.4 per cent interest rate.

The actual award of contracts for $27 million in work on the Owensboro-Bowling Green and Somerset-Bowling Green parkways, on which low bids already have been approved, has been held up until the new bond money is available. State Highway Commissioner B.E. King expects the bond market will be "much more favorable and the interest way down," when the next bonds are sold—probably in late January or February.

TEST SHOWS ACCURACY OF PORTABLE SCALES
 Fairness of truck-weighing portable scales used by officers of the State motor transportation department was proved in a test conducted by a Jefferson County judge in Shelby County.

Tired of hearing complaints that the portable scales are inaccurate, Quarterly Court Judge Kyle Hubbard held the test at the State weighing station on Interstate 64 east of Shelbyville.

A test truckload provided by a truck charged with being overweight registered 69,280 pounds on the certified State platform scales. The portable scales registered only a tiny fraction lighter—69,000 pounds.

REPORTING LAW CHANGES RECOMMENDED
 A legislative subcommittee has recommended passage by the 1972 General Assembly of a law requiring every policeman investigating a traffic accident to send a copy to the State Department of Public Safety.

A State Police official suggested that such a law could replace, for motly to a $200 (damage level) the present statute which requires drivers to file reports when they are

In an accident in which the damage is $100 or more.

Large Attendance at Coal Dock Hearing

A large attendance was at a public hearing, December 14 on a coal company's application to build a barge dock on Lake Cumberland, near Albany.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers called the hearing at the Russell County High School, near Jamestown. Fishermen and conservationists opposed the company's plan to barge coal along a 35-mile stretch of the lake.

COMPENSATION BOARD MEMBER IS REPLACED

Gov. Louie B. Nunn appointed Bennett F. Bratcher of Morgantown as a member of the State Workmen's Compensation Board.

Bratcher succeeded William B. Hazelrigg of Paintsville, former State highway commissioner, who resigned from the board to devote more time to his law practice.

Atty. general Burt R. Bratcher was named to fill the seat.

The State attorney general cannot intervene in a suit over coal trucking on two mountain roads, the Johnson County Circuit Court ruled at Paintsville.

The court upheld special permits issued by the State Highway Department that allows certain trucking to haul loads of up to 73,000 pounds provided they pay for any damage to the roads.

ROAD-ENGINEERS FIRM IMMUNE IN FATAL CRASH

The Kentucky Court of Appeals ruled that the Brighton Engineering Co. of Frankfort cannot be held liable for damages in an accident that killed a couple and their three children on the Blue Grass Parkway in Nelson County in 1966.

The five persons were killed when a car struck a bridge pier. The law suit charged the road-consultant firm failed to recommend guardrails, but the court found the State Highway Department set the standards for the toll road.

Frankfort Watchline

The "little black bag" theory is disappearing.

That time-dis-honored symbol of Kentucky political shenanigans was missing from one of the latest money-raising forays.

An official applying "last-minute persuasion" to state employees who hadn't bought tickets to Gov. Louie Nunn's Third Anniversary Party didn't carry any of the black bag.

No sir, his roamed state office building halls with a snappy black attache case—very business.

And administration forbes cannot business.

There'll be denials all over the place, of course, but state employees say the pressure was open—and intense.

In at least one big department it was applied by the personal director—who handles such things as assignments and raises for the employees he was tapping.

This is certainly nothing really new in Kentucky politics. Democratic regimes in the past have done the same thing, even if with more finesse sometimes.

But you wonder, each time, what you can wonder about the total money take produced by the anniversary party. Attendance didn't tell the whole story.

As usual, tickets were sold to people who couldn't—or wouldn't—attend.

And the pitch was to sell $100 tickets in batches, but with a number of state employees the purchase of one or two $25 tickets got the heat turned down—If not off.

At the same time as the Republican gathering in Louisville, Democratic Lt. Gov.

fracts totaling $9,773,168 for construction of three connected sections of U.S. 23-460 between Prestonsburg and Pikeville.

Approval came after the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads conducted "in the award of the less than bids rejected several months ago.

There could be two special legislative sessions next year

—one to handle negative remapping and another on property tax limits.

If the Court of Appeals does uphold the ruling that the tax patch law is void the decision probably wouldn't come until after the session on redistricting.

And anyone who thinks such a decision couldn't be used to trigger a special session was after the courts ordered Murray State University President Harry Sparks then was state superintendent of public instruction. His incredulous response to a local superintendent who wanted to keep the old $150 tax limit on the new higher assessments was, "Where in hell have you been?"

The Department of Fish and Wildlife has a few dreams that deal with maintaining an ecological balance.

ITEM—Crops that would be productive and of financial benefit to the farmer but which would not jeopardize the wildlife on that farm.

ITEM—Coal mining methods that would allow coal to be taken from our lands without the residue producing poisoned waters in our streams, wasted soils on hillsides, valleys and the flatlands in which and on which fish and wildlife cannot prosper or even survive.

ITEM—Electric power production plants that would provide for the increased demands for electricity; yet, which would return the waters to the streams in the condition they were before being used and which also would be equipped that the sabb menace would be eliminated.

ITEM—An alert public that would "clean up its litter" left in our parks, over-the-countywide and along our highways, streams and lakes.

ITEM—Internal combustion engines that would eliminate the poisonous gases that may be causing up to 60 per cent of the air pollution in the United States.

ITEM—Cities with water purification plants which would release unpolluted water, without releasing the by-product refuse into our streams and on our countryside.

ITEM—Garbage disposal systems that would handle the growing tonnage of our daily wastes.

ITEM—Pesticides and insecticides.

was telling Somerset meeting.

"There is a saying that there is no problem that enough money can't solve. That has been the policy of past governors in Kentucky. Big it is not going to be my policy."

Now, about that problem of campaign money...

Surely this year set a record for the number of news conferences for people to say they're not running.

Public Information Commissioner Kenneth Harper joined the list with his announcement that he won't seek the GOP nomination for Lieutenant governor.

That just about seals the previously reported sealing of Parks Commissioner James Host, who earlier held his own press conference to say he isn't running for governor.

Administration people haven't given up on getting Harper to run for governor.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By: Billy Dowell

Christmas: A time for gay decorations; for ivy, mistletoe; candies, flowers, simulated snow, lights both dim and bright. A time for presents, pretties, games and goodies. A time when Salvation Army people ring bells and humbly appeal for gifts for the needy. A time for giving gifts. A time when not only neighborhood merchants, but whole communities engage in competitive maneuvers to clang cash registers. A time for parties; a time to celebrate a time for family reunion. A time for cheerful faces and kind hearts. A time for antagonistic minds and moods to mellow. A time to gladden the eyes and hearts, especially children's.

Depending on one's view, these are only a few of the pleasant or unpleasant Christmas customs. With it all, let us be thankful for the pleasant custom of the many people who celebrate the Silent Night—reverently. Let us be thankful the crystal Star of Bethlehem sprinkles us as it still glows in the sky; as it still outshines the romance of the moon and a host of other silent stars. Above all, let us be thankful we have the choice and the privileged right to join with those who are thankful—and reverent.....

Hunting & Fishing

Once a year, at Christmas time, we are reminded that "it is better to give than to receive," but, traditionally, Christmas is also the season of wishful dreams—everyone hopes St. Nick (or someone)

"Don't look a gift horse in the mouth," are appropos to "You and the Draft."

Under new instructions from National Director Dr. Curtis Tarr, Selective Service registrants have until midnight, December 31, 1970, to voluntarily drop their deferments and be reclassified into Class I-A status to take advantage of a year-end policy previously announced in October.

We do not know how many young men have requested a cancellation of their draft deferment to be dropped since October 23. However, we do know that time to voluntarily request in writing a cancellation of deferment is getting short.

If you want to be in the 1970 Prime Selection Group (1944-1950) and you have not already done so, get your letter in the mail by midnight, December 31, 1970.

New instructions to draft boards altered the previous policy which stated the application had to be in the local board prior to their last December meeting. The Director said the new policy was lettered throughout the country were scheduling the last meeting of the year at different times. By defining a specific cut-off date, the new policy allows all registrants an equal amount of time to take advantage of the reclassification offer.

Since Director Tarr's first announcement of the reclassification on October 23, we have made a maximum effort to invite every young man with a Random Selection Number (RSN) higher than the highest to be reached in his local board this year to voluntarily drop his deferment for a I-A classification. We repeatedly emphasized to you that the young man's advantage to drop his deferment provided his ran had not been reached in his local board by the end of the year.

We would like to spell it out, again that the best classification for any young man with an unreach RSN is I-A as of midnight, December 31, 1970. If he is in Class I-A at this time or has requested reclassification, he would move to a lower priority group on January 1, 1971, thus effectively eliminating his prime vulnerability for military service under present regulations.

THE HOLIDAYS ARE HAPPY DAYS!

don't let yours be marred by accidents!

You're spending more time in the kitchen to keep an eye on small children playing around hot stoves and burning spoons. Guard yourself against cooking burns!

Exercise extreme caution around fireplaces. Flying sparks and hot ashes can cause severe burns and damaged eyes!

Keep an eye on toddlers around the hot Christmas tree. They might help but touch the lights and "ouch" - they burned fingers!

Keep your holidays happy! Be alert for home emergencies and accidents!

CLASS FAVORITE CHOSEN
Miss Marsha Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Brown of Mobile, Alabama and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ewell Cummins and Elden Brown of Mt. Vernon, was chosen "Class Favorite" of the Freshman Class at W.P. Davidson High School, for the year 1970-71.

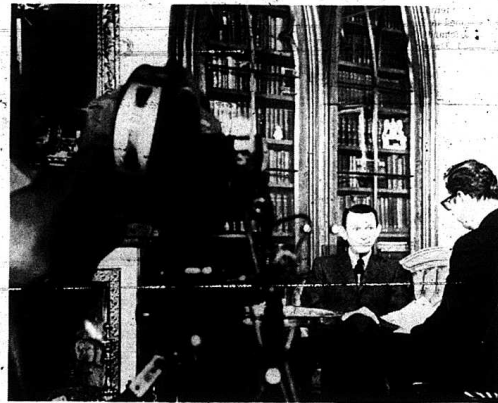

"NEW FARM PROGRAM"

Farmers are not required to plant feed grains to earn price support payment as has been required under prior programs. However, if you plant less than 45 percent of your feed grain base, your base for 1972 and subsequent years may be reduced (except if you participate in both the feed grain and wheat programs or if you have no wheat allotment and participate in the feed grain program). Wheat acreage in excess of the allotment will be counted as feed grain for base retention purposes. A letter is being mailed to each farmer to give an idea of the amount of acreage to set aside from crop production and the acreage of feed grains and other crops that may be planted in 1971. A sign-up will be required in the spring of 1971 as has been the case in previous years. Prior to sign-up each farmer will be officially notified of the exact feed grain base, pro-

Mr. and Mrs. William Edward Jackson of Leesville, S.C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn, to William Joel Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sumpter Eugene Adams, Sr., of Greenwood, S.C. Miss Jackson is also the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Craig of Mt. Vernon. A graduate of Batesburg-Leesville High School, Miss Jackson is a junior at Columbia College. She will attend Lander College in January. gram yield, conserving base and the set-aside requirement for his farm. At that time he will have an opportunity to file an appeal if dissatisfied with any of these.

BALANCE NEEDED—Minor Clark, commissioner of Fish and Wildlife, answers questions during a television interview with Joe Bauer of "World Tomorrow." Clark said a balance is needed between the needs of industry and ecology if the environment is to be preserved. World Tomorrow, which focuses on current issues, is viewed on 50 stations in the United States and Canada. (Karen Tam Photo)

APPROXIMATE LIGHTING - A crowd of about 500 got a first look at Kentucky's official Christmas tree Sunday night at the tree lighting ceremonies at the Capitol. Gov. Louie B. Nunn presided at the event and provided the final decorative touch by pulling the switch to set the tree aglow with more than 500 lights.

CARE OF CHRISTMAS POT PLANTS

Poliogettas, cyclamens, chrysanthemums, and other pot plants received during the Christmas season will provide a colorful display, for special weeks. If they are given the proper care, Many environmental conditions affect the keeping quality of pot plants. Plants are sensitive to cold or warm temperatures, too little or too much water, and low light intensity. Temperature for the plant should be neither too low nor too high. Poliogettas and chrysanthemum plants should be kept in an area that is free of drafts and maintained at 50 and 70 degrees F. Temperatures above or below this range may cause the leaves and tracts to drop on poliogettas. The cyclamen plant prefers cool temperatures. The temperature should be maintained at 50 degrees F at night and 60 degrees to 65 degrees F during the day.

Plants are as sensitive to overwatering as they are to underwatering. Plant roots need air as well as water, but excessive water suffocates the roots. Plants should be watered when the surface of the soil feels dry to the touch. Enough should be used so that water drips out the bottom of the pot. If less than this is used, soil near the bottom stays dry and will cause a decrease in keeping quality. Low humidity causes the plant to lose water faster and thus may cause wilting. Little can be done to correct this condition, except to install a humidifier in the home.

Unrooted and unrooted pot plants have a relatively high light intensity in comparison to that in the home. Pot plants should be given as much light as possible. Place the plant close to a south window for more light; however if it is placed too close it may become chilled.

By giving Christmas pot plants the best possible environmental conditions, they will provide a colorful display for several weeks.

oh, Christmas tree, oh, Christmas tree

Short or tall, slender or broad, compact or open--there's a Christmas tree for every preference. Millions of Americans select an evergreen tree to decorate--usually because of their own nostalgic memories of childhood. The most common species are the Scotch Pine and the Douglas Fir. Also popular are the Balsam Fir, Red Pine, White Spruce, and Eastern Red Cedar.

To help you select a Christmas tree that'll stay fresh and green throughout the holidays, the USDA's Forest Service offers these tips:

- Run your fingers along a branch; green needles should not come off in your hand. Bend a needle; it should spring back quickly in place.
- Grasp the trunk and thump the butt of the tree hard on the floor. If no green needles fall, the tree is fresh. Note however, that green needles of spruce trees will tend to fall earlier than those of other evergreens.
- Also a few brown needles will fall from any tree.
- Touch the butt of the tree where it was cut. On fresh trees the cut surface feels sappy-moist, not dry.
- When you bring your tree home you can take measures to keep it fresh and attractive.
- If you don't want to set it up immediately, place it in a bucket of water in a cool, sheltered spot. Put the tree in a stand which can be filled with water or use a bucket of wet sand for a stand. Just before putting the tree in the stand cut an inch or two of the trunk off squarely to allow it to take up water more readily. Add a pint of water to the stand each day. Don't decorate the tree with cotton, paper or other flammable materials. Be sure to check lights and wiring for worn spots and cracks and don't overload electric circuits. After the holiday season, dispose of the tree properly, according to your community regulations. Usually, communities have a special tree disposal program. Never burn the tree in a fireplace.

A Christmas pageant entitled

"The First Christmas Morn," will be presented at the Fairview Baptist Church, Wednesday night, December 23, at 7 P.M. Everyone is invited to attend.

Please remember church and Sunday School. Thank God for the good things of life. He has provided us with so much. Pray for and visit the sick. They are so lonely during the holiday season. Good health is a wonderful blessing, as many of us know what it means to be bedfast for weeks. So while we are well and able let's work for the Lord.

Have a real happy holiday season. God bless everyone of you wherever you are. Especially you American boys, serving in the Armed Forces far from home.

FAIRVIEW HOMEMAKERS MEET

The Fairview Homemakers Club met Friday night at the home of Mrs. Cletus Peters of Seaford.

Attending were Mrs. Peters, Mrs. Doris Gabbard, Mrs. Barbara Rader, Mrs. Norma Treon, Mrs. Laura Gabbard, Mrs. Judy Gabbard, Mrs. Gertrude Anderkin, Mrs. Mildred McCollum, Mrs. Betty Poynter, Mrs. Pat Barrett, Mrs. Claudia Wren, Mrs. Ray Jones and Mrs. Mona Treon.

Each member at this meeting brought a Christmas gift (some of which were handmade) to be presented to the children at the Cardinal Hill Crippled Children's Hospital in Lexington.

Included in this collection of gifts were game sets donated by Sunday School Classes of the Fairview Church, Intermediates (teacher, Mrs. Gladys Rose) and young people, (teacher, Mrs. Hubert Chasteen).

May God bless and watch over these and all other children.
