

ZODIAC DESIGNS—Mrs. Lois Wagg, a volunteer worker for the Frankfort Comprehensive Care Center, explains the theme "Know Yourself" as expressed in latex murals of mythological figures and zodiac signs in the center's consulting room. The murals, described as colorful designs, symbolic of self-understanding, were painted by Patricia Ann Thomas, senior, Franklin County High School, and Roger C. Long, senior, Franklin County High School. (Kater Tomlin)

1971. You've changed. We've changed.

Change. That's what it's all about this year. And that's what we mean by putting you first.

These are uneasy times. There are major concerns. About pollution. About safety. About the economy. About your hard-earned dollar. We know.

For the past 10 years Chevrolet research people have questioned thousands of people on every subject, from rising taxes to the size of the glovebox in their cars.

We've found that price and maintenance costs, trade-in value and quality have become tremendously important.

Your car has to work. It has to last. And each new model must have more built-in value.

At Chevrolet, we understand. You want meaningful change. And our aim is to give that to you, as you'll see in the 1971 Chevrolets.

Caprice. The biggest, most luxurious Chevrolet ever. A complete change.

Bigness in itself is nothing. But if it allows you to lengthen the distance between the front and rear wheels, which we did... then you've got something.

You've got a smoother ride.

The idea in the 1971 Caprice was to give you the look and comfort of a six- or seven-thousand-dollar car, without asking you to pay anywhere near that much for it. And above all, to build in as much dependability and security as possible.

So we changed the body structure for 1971, too. We made it stronger. And we made it quieter by putting a double-layer of steel in the roof.

Caprice, as you can see below, is a lot of luxury at a Chevrolet price.

Vega. The littlest Chevy ever. It wasn't changed from anything.

Before building Vega, we read everything we could get our hands on about little cars. We talked to owners. We studied little cars up one side and down the other and, literally, tore them apart. We found out what made them tick, or why they didn't tick.

What we asked were gas economy and dependability. What didn't were underpowered engines, cramped quarters and getting blown around in gusts.

In our little Vega, everything ticks. It's not just another little car. You don't want that. It's one little car that uses everything it's well.

At one time reminding the public that our Funeral Home provides 24-hour a day AMBULANCE SERVICE would have been about as necessary as a summer notice of protection from the Fire Department. However, today fewer and fewer mortuaries throughout the country are willing to provide such service. Despite all attendant problems, we continue to do so from a sense of pride in a long tradition, but even more so from a sense of obligation to the community we have served so long. Dr. Burdette Elected School Board Chairman

Dr. Rudolph Burdette was elected Chairman of the Rockcastle County Board of Education and Willie Taylor was elected Vice-Chairman at Monday night's meeting of the board.

There were only routine items of business before the board and the following business was transacted.

The board approved the action of the Superintendent in purchasing Certificates of Deposit with the bulk of the funds from the revenue bonds, and to finance the new high school.

Members of Brothard Lodge No. 566, F. & A. M. held their regular meeting on December 28, 1970 and elected officers for 1971.

Several personnel changes were also made by the board. Mrs. Carol Byers was granted a leave-of-absence due to pregnancy; the resignation of Mary Hamm as teacher at Maple Grove was accepted.

by perlina m. oenderkin

Just recently two out-of-town subscribers, upon meeting me, informed me that they thought I was a "much older woman from reading this column."

Well, needless to say my New Year's Resolution at that point was never to write it again or else try to bring my use of the English language (or misuse as some of my most ardent critics call it) more up to date.

However, when you hit a week such as this one, when only one of the three three-column pictures you have taken for the front page turns out, you will do just about anything to fill up. So, here I am again...

Isn't depressing right after Christmas? At least before the holidays you have to look forward to and usually to visits from family and friends; but, afterwards, there is nothing but the memory of how quickly the past year went by and that you now have to grind yourself...

Speaking of weather, I have heard so many people this time say, "These pretty days are nice, but they will pay up for them later." Do you feel this way, I don't. I really stand to reason that Springs has to eventually come and I don't really think that the harshness of winter really has anything to do with whether it will come any earlier or later. I just sit back and appreciate the sun whenever it shines and especially when it melts a snowfall and it melts it quicker...

Gov. Louie B. Nunn has appointed the state's first Council of Economic Advisors to collect and interpret fiscal data with the purpose of making projections and recommendations. The council was also charged to report to the governor on the "state of Kentucky economy" at the beginning of fiscal and calendar years. Appointments to the council, with their terms of office, are: Mr. Charles Hayward, chairman, Lexington, to serve until 1972; Mr. Atkins, Ashland, also until 1972; Miss F. Vaughn, Lexington, until 1973.

"Bill Kendall, Louisville, until 1974; "Bob Harlow, Louisville, until 1975. Council members will not be paid by the state but they can be reimbursed for actual expenses incurred as a result of their service.

MANPOWER STUDY WILL PREDICT JOB NEEDS
A manpower study being conducted by the state Department of Economic Security for the U.S. Labor Department is expected to provide Kentucky's educators with accurate labor market data for the next 10 years.

Projections for the next five years should be received by January, while those for 1975 through 1980 will be available by early 1972. The survey is described as the first concentrated study of statewide occupational needs ever undertaken. Most of the project's cost is borne by the Labor Department, which will use the data furnished by the state to complete the five and 10 year projections. The crime commission gets federal planning grant the state Crime Commission has been awarded $49,000 by the U.S. Department of Justice to continue and expand its law enforcement planning. Governor Nunn recently announced.

Kentucky's request for $2.9 million in federal cotton funds in 1971 was approved by the commission last month. The total of $1,005,959 in discretionary funds brought into the state of Kentucky as one of only nine states to qualify for over a million dollars.

CONSTRUCTION AT STATE'S NEWEST COLLEGE WILL BEGIN SOON
Governor Nunn has released the state's drawings of a five-story reinforced concrete Academic Administration building which will serve as the hub of the planned Northern Kentucky State College campus. The initial construction project will be advertised for bids in January and the contract awarded in March. Construction is set to begin immediately after the award of the contract.

Initial cost of new campus construction at Northern is estimated at more than $6.8 million, including building construction, acquisition of land, site development and the purchase of educational equipment.

SPECIAL ELECTIONS SET FOR JAN. 15
Governor Nunn has set Jan. 15 as the date for special elections to fill vacancies in two Kentucky legislative districts. The 5th state Senatorial District, which takes in most of east Louisville, was made vacant by the resignation of congressman-elect Romane I. Mazzoli.

The 82nd House District, including Wayne, Clinton and Meigs counties, is vacant due to the death of Rep. Archie Brown, Stearns. The governor said he wants to fill two vacancies in the districts will be represented at a forthcoming special session of the legislature.

SOUTH CENTRAL BELL WILL SERVICE FT. KNOX
The state Public Service Commission has granted South Central Bell Telephone Co. permission to provide telephone service to subscribers at Fort Knox. The service will begin when the U.S. Army discontinues its telephone system. The commission rejected an application from the Brandenburg Telephone Co. to supply the service. General Telephone Co. also made application to provide the service, but later withdrew its application.

Tom Duncan's Frankfort Watchline

For those who saw the families of victims of the Leslie County mine tragedy the words "Happy New Year" will never ring the same. For those who would jump all Eastern Kentuckians in the mood of welfare-seekers, a visit with mountain miners should be mandatory. And for those who would jab the finger of blame in haste—and from a distance—a long stay in the bleak hollows should be required. The combination of bravery, need, grief, sympathy and stoicism of Kentucky's mountain people defies description. But the deep impression these qualities made on outsiders at the scene of almost unbelievable tragedy surely must change some viewpoints—and put some pretty ambitions to shame.

And for those falling to appreciate their New Year prospects, there should be reflection on one miner's simple view as he went into another mountainside the day after the blast: "You have to abide."

By: H. Lee Durham GRASSLAND CONFERENCE SET FOR JANUARY 19
The Grassland Conference will be held January 19 at the Agricultural Service Center at the University of Kentucky. The program, which will feature out-of-state speakers and representatives of the UK College of Agriculture, will begin at 9 a.m. and end at 3:30 p.m. Featured topics on the program will be a discussion of the corn blight dilemma and means to fill the feed vacancy created by loss of corn by J. Kenneth Evans, of the UK Agronomy Department, Dr. Nelson Gay, beef cattle specialist for UK, will discuss the nutritional aspects of substitute feed crops.

Other speakers will include Dr. Kay Higgins, professor of Agricultural Economics at the University of Michigan, who will lecture on the economic aspects of forage production and use; Dr. Werner Nelson, executive vice-president of the Potash Institute of North America, will discuss fertilizing forages for profit.

A panel discussion on forage production research at UK will feature Warren Thompson, extension forage specialist; Dr. Tim Taylor, land management specialist; Dr. Norman Taylor, breeding and legume specialist; Dr. Robert Buckner, plant breeding specialist; Dr. W.C. Tompkins Jr., grassland management specialist; and Dr. Jim Kaiser, forage specialist at UK's Princeton, Ky. substitution.

About 500 farmers, businessmen, agricultural county agents and advisers are expected to attend the conference.

A severance tax on coal seems almost inevitable—almost.

Finance Commissioner Albert Christen points out one major problem, though, and one discussed here before: Just what would the tax money be used for?

Christen, who's becoming a leading spokesman against higher state aid for schools, says a severance tax money should go "in restoring the asset that is being destroyed" but not for "any other use at all."

And that certainly isn't the Kentucky Education Association's idea at all. It's doubtful if the KEA would support the tax unless a big part goes for schools—or at least into the general fund.

Another problem certain to come up is the different views of strip-miners and conventional or deep mine operators. Conventional operators are sure to challenge a tax on their coal production if the money would go to restore stripped land.

The fight over how the money should be used could block enactment of the tax itself.

Most of the proposals discussed at the KEA's preliminary session on its 1972 legislative program sounded like a rebash of its ill-fated package for 1970. But the delegates do toy with one idea that has a good shot to catch on: a school system to gain job tenure instead of the present four years.

The extra time could help in weeding out poor teachers. But there's certain to be a kicker—those already having tenure would be exempt. Not that they shouldn't be—but there'll be no slate-wiping.  The Ashland Daily Independent said editorially Monday ago: "Now that teacher supply appears to be meeting or surpassing demand, boards are going to have to begin to weed out inadequate or incompetent teachers from their rolls. "This is going to mean a lot of soul-searching at the local board level. "But the alternative would be continued misuse of the stewardship of young lives, and that's a prospect that no one, not even you, should toy with."

COLOR SHORT COURSE OFFERED

A Color Short Course is being offered by the Wilderness Trail Area Cooperative Extension Service. A New Approach to color analysis will provide the framework for the course. Color combinations for apparel and home furnishings will be emphasized. Each session is designed to allow participants to make practical application for the subject matter covered. The course consists of four weekly sessions to be held each Thursday from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., beginning January 14th at the Corbin Public Library, Center Street, Corbin, Kentucky. Anyone interested in enrolling in the course should contact the County Extension Office before January 7, 1971. Phone 256-2403.

LOOKING AHEAD
If there is any one thing that helps to pass the long winter days of January it's the thoughts of spring. Spring is not really far away either—just plan and wait a bit. As an archivist—maybe you have a chance to collect and review all the possibilities for the season ahead. The U.S. Department of Agriculture Bulletin can provide both the incentive and the know-how for the procedure of plant and seed.

Anyone can be assured of color in his garden and even show quality flowers by following the suggestions on chrysanthemum and dahlia growing in two recently revised U.S. Department of Agriculture bulletins. How to grow the single-flowered mums and the tall decorative show mums are described in "Growing Chrysanthemums." Also included are instructions on planting, propagating, watering, fertilizing, pinching, and disbudding—a so important to mums culture. Tips on prevention and control of diseases, as well as descriptions of diseases, are included. The great variety of sizes, shapes, and colors of the thousands of dahlias varieties are described in "Growing Dahlias." Tips on how to make your flowers last longer are included as well as ideas on cultivating, propagating, and controlling insects and diseases.

"Growing Chrysanthemums in the Home Garden" (H&G-65) and "Growing Dahlias" (H&G-131) are available for 10 cents each from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. Please use zipcodes.

Hunting & Fishing

Initial reports on hunting accidents during the final half of 1970 show Kentuckians have been more fortunate than in former years, and may have a much better safety record than hunters in other states.

The Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources is a part of the National Rifle Association's hunter safety reporting setup. Under the plan, officers throughout the state keep tab on hunting accidents, fatal and non-fatal.

Accident-reporting blanks furnished by NRA are then completed and returned to the Frankfort office to be tallied for the state. As of late December, returns since the beginning of the squirrel hunting season in mid-August have been received and show only seven persons have been involved in hunting accidents. Of that number, there were five fatalities.

Yes, you may say, even one is too many, since most accidents are surely the result of carelessness and should not occur at all. But just like on the highways, where we are resigned to accepting accidents, so are sportsmen plagued by this carelessness.

Three of the accidents occurred in August, one in September and three in November. Strangely enough, the reports indicate that man is his own worst enemy when it comes to hunting accidents. Of the seven which occurred, five were victims of their own guns. Only two were shot by other persons.

Two were injured or killed when the gun exploded while the handlers were crossing a fence; two resulted from defective guns; one occurred when the hunter stumbled and fell; one was the result of "horse play" and the seventh victim was hit by a stray bullet fired by an unidentified person. Three accident occurred during squirrel hunting and with a rifle in the other two. The wounds were inflicted by shotguns in five instances and one each to persons seeking dove, rabbit, deer and quail. The wounds were inflicted by shotguns in five instances and one each to persons seeking dove, rabbit, deer and quail. The wounds were inflicted by shotguns in five instances and one each to persons seeking dove, rabbit, deer and quail. The wounds were inflicted by shotguns in five instances and one each to persons seeking dove, rabbit, deer and quail.

"Hopefully this will constitute all the accidents that occurred in the last half of 1970, although additional instances may be reported at a later date." (Cont. to 4)

"HOME-LIKE ATMOSPHERE"

- Visiting Hours -

In this ever fast changing world of ours, a lot of the old fashioned customs are beginning to vanish. Such is the case with visiting in the home. A lot of funeral homes no wadays have certain visiting hours in which you are allowed to be with your loved one or one of your friends and then a set closing hour at which time you have to leave.

At the Dowell & Martin Funeral Home we feel that the wishes of the family should be strictly observed and that they should be allowed to stay with their friends and neighbors for as long as they like. After all, isn't that the meaning of the word "Home"?

Library Notes

New books received at the Rockcastle County Library. Among them are:

CARAVAN TO VACCARES, by Altair MacLean. The background of this new thriller is the picturesque annual gypsy pilgrimage to the south of France.

COUNTING PEOPLE, by Hyman Alterman. The story of the census efforts through the ages, bringing it up to the present day.

THE ELECTION, by Sherwin Markman. The author of the political novel was a White House aide to Lyndon Johnson and he brings a chilling authenticity to a series of horrifying and all too plausible events.

EMBROIDERY, by Cecil Dresman. A complete handbook for the beginning embroiderer.

THE END OF THE LINE, by Monica Dickens. A novel about some of the people who cry out for help, and about those who answer.

THE GOLDEN AGE, by Clifford Dowdley. This splendid account of the relationships which existed between the leading families of Virginia emphasizes the years between 1732 and 1775.

THE LION IN THE LEI SHOP, by Kaye Starbird. An absorbing and expertly written novel about a young mother and daughter in wartime.

LOST ISLAND, by Phyllis Whitney. Against a rich mysterious sea island background the author has written an absorbing novel of suspense and excitement.

MAKING CONTEMPORARY RUGS AND WALL HANGINGS, by Dora Mellich. The latest techniques, materials and trends in making rugs and wall hangings are presented with easy-to-follow step-by-step photos.

NIXON AGONISTES, by Garry Williams. A brilliant analysis of how a complex and contradictory President tries to ward off America's ouches with the methods and ideology of past generations.

A PRIMER FOR STAR-GAZERS, by Henry Neely. A very practical primer, will enable any novice to find quickly any visible star or constellation.

THE ROAD FROM WAR, by Robert Shapiro. A journal of the Vietnam war by a writer who is regarded as an authority.

THE SHARK, by Jacques-Yves Cousteau. This account of an exotic adventure takes the reader into a world of beauty and danger while the members of the Cousteau expedition studied the shark.

SISTERHOOD IS POWERFUL, edited by Robin Morgan. An anthology of writings from the women's liberation movement.

TEN THOUSAND GREY UP A GENERATION, by Thra Ferre Bjorn. A contemporary novel about the generation gap and the problems of the young.

THRASHIN' TIME, by Milton Shair. The recollections of a childhood spent on the high plains of Montana near the turn of the century when a boy could delight in the free, clean beauty of a land not far removed from the wilderness.

21 POPULAR ECONOMIC FALLACIES, by E.J. Mishan. In nontechnical language, Dr. Mishan presents 21 questions on economics with which the average person has trouble, and through the use of logic indicates the proper answers.

UNEXPECTED DEATH, by Dick Shannon. A Luis Mandosa and his colleagues are beset by a varied and baffling series of crimes in this mystery novel.

WALDEN TWO, by B.F. Skinner. A controversial novel of morality and immorality in a scientifically-shaped Utopia.

New books for children, ANIMAL CHAMPIONS, by Ronald Root. Nature's leaders - the tiger, falcon, strongest, etc. - the great of the animal world are presented in this informational volume, 4-pp.

DIONYSOS AND THE PIRATES, by Homer. A stunning recreation of Homer's tale concerning the kidnapping of Dionysos, early Greek god, 6-pp.

THE FISHERMAN WHO NEEDED A KNIFE, by Maria Winn. An interesting little book intended for introducing the concept of money to young people, Pre-2.

FROM MANY LANDS, by Alberta Elemen. A history of the methods and ideology of past generations making up the great wave of immigration and describing the experiences all immigrants had in common, 7-pp.

THE HALF SISTERS, by Natalie Savage Carlson. A tender and poignant story of family.

SMOKE FROM CROWMELLS' TIME, by Joan Alkon. A many colored collection of tales by a master storyteller which will bring new pleasure to all who appreciate the fantastic, 4-6.

THE VITAL PROCESS. PHOTOSYNTHESIS, by Jeffrey J. Baker. A magnificent introduction to the study of the food-getting methods of all the living things of the world, 5-7.

Mr. and Mrs. W.B. Holland of Livingston announce the engagement of their daughter, Verla Mae, to Jerry Lee Poynter, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Poynter of Livingston. Both Verla and Jerry are graduates of Livingston High School and are presently attending Eastern Kentucky University, Verla is a junior Elementary Education major and Jerry will graduate in May with major in Pre-Medical Science. You And The Draft

At the beginning of the year, banks are required by state law to publish a financial statement. There is no similar requirement for the members of the Selective Service System to report on their annual manpower debits and credits.

However, in Kentucky are pleased that in 1970 our local boards met each month's call. This is what we have so often referred to as professionalism.

You may recall that in January 1970, we began to fill calls by a new procedure, that of random selection. The President determined the highest random selection number to be "reached" in filling the monthly call.

Nationwide the highest number "reached" was 195. For Kentucky's local boards, however, the highest number "reached" was 170. In keeping with the spirit and intent of the Executive Order of April 23, local boards' reclassified deferred registrants as I-A, thereby having an even flow of men with low random sequence numbers available to fill its calls.

However, some young men

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By Roy Martin

Did you make a New Year resolution? Sad but true, even the best intentioned resolution is often broken within a few days or few weeks, causing jeers to replace cheers. Why is this?

Can it be due in an attitude of "Oh, what's the use?" Most resolutions recognize an existing personal fault with an intention for improvement. Self improvement is elusive when one frets over failures or frustrations. If there was a use or purpose in trying in the first place, then surely there is equal use and purpose in trying again.

Any or all New Year resolutions are unnecessary if we forget the calendar and visit every day as a New Year's Day. The slogan, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again" is the best day by day resolution any one can make. As we meet the challenge of every new day, a circumstance may tend to knock us down in disappointment or despair. To keep the "try, try again" resolution requires our getting up one after another that we fall down. It is really quite simple. But it requires pluck, not luck.....
