Mr. Wesley Lambert discussing his timber with Kentucky Division of Forestry Services Forester during Preliminary Examination of his timberland.

Local Landowners Likes Forestry Services

Mr. Wesley Lambert is no stranger to the Kentucky Division of Forestry. Over the past 21 years, he has conducted timber stand improvement, harvest cuttings, and tree planting under the auspices of the Division. Mr. Lambert is very conservation conscious in all his operations on his farm.

Being both pleased and impressed by Division services, Mr. Lambert again contacted the Division for assistance in April of 1970. After a preliminary examination, it was recommended that part of the tract be marked for a selective harvest. 31 thousand board feet were marked for harvest on 14 acres of Division of Forestry Service Forests. Young timber was not marked but was left to produce a future crop. Advice by the Service Forester about protection of the timber for future selective harvests was taken to heart by the landowner. Mr. Lambert sold his marked timber for $1400 plus the agreement that the logging would be done in dry weather to curb erosion and that the logger would take all possible precautions to avoid damage to the young timber.

The landowner took advantage of the income from this sale on his farm. He wants to carry out further conservation practices on his timberlands. For his forestry work, Mr. Lambert is one of the finalists being considered by the state committee for this year's Tom Wallace Farm Forestry Award. Mr. Lambert is a firm believer that good forestry pays.

WINTER TIME SWINE AND CALF BARN VENTILATION TIPS

If your hog house or calf barn really stinks, then University of Kentucky College of Agriculture engineers have some tips to help you remedy your ventilation problem.

According to Howard Reed, George Truener and George Duncan, cold weather requires precise amounts of air to remove moisture and strong odor and still maintain suitable temperatures inside the hog house or calf barn. And impressed producers about the importance of proper ventilation.

The three UK agricultural engineers have the following tips on ventilation of enclosed animal buildings:

Small amounts of fresh air are needed even in the coldest weather to remove moisture and strong odors. This small amount of air must be evenly circulated in the building to prevent stagnant spots and provide uniform draft-free conditions near the floor and animal level.

During mild winter and summer weather, more air is needed to maintain desirable temperature conditions within the building and to control odors and moisture. This air must be evenly circulated in the building to prevent stagnant spots and provide uniform draft-free conditions near the floor and animal level.

Thermometers and other electrical controls can provide proper safety and more consistent operation of the fans and heaters than can be done manually.

Additional heat may be needed during cold weather to aid in moisture evaporation and temperature control, depending on the building, the insulation, and the number of animals housed.

A properly installed insulation is very helpful in allowing the ventilation system to keep the building warm and dry in winter and cooler in summer.

A vapor barrier is a must on the "warm side" of the insulated wall or ceiling. Some types of batt insulation have a foil or plastic surface which is a suitable vapor barrier.

Other types of rigid insulation boards are resistant to vapor barrier. Use adhesives, mastics or tapes as recommended for the insulation. Failure to provide a vapor-proof wall merely causes winter trouble when water vapor migrates or flows through the cracks and condenses inside the wall.

When we have warm days in the later part of Feb. the temperature should be 40 to 70 degrees F. Don't apply Rhododendron spray to broadleaf Rhododendrons, Magnolias, Boxwoods, Yew, Holly and Osmanthus.

After a short recess, the second afternoon session will be Dr. Robert Walton, president of the American Breeders Service.

The discussion by the UK specialists will be followed by a regular business meeting of the Kentucky Feeder Calf Association and the Kentucky Cattlemen's Association.

Dr. Milton B. Wise, chairman of the department of animal sciences at Virginia Polytechnic Institute will speak at a banquet held that evening at the Springs Motel in Lexington.

Consider applying commercial oil sprays to dormant plants that are infested with scale. Usually you can do this when we have warm days in the later part of Feb. the temperature should be 40 to 70 degrees F.

Registration for the event will be held at the event.

February and March can be hard months on broadleaf evergreen. Even when the ground is frozen, the top part still loses water which cannot be re-supplied.

You can start some slow growing annuals indoors. An experienced gardener can grow petunias and was begonias from seed.

Check your houseplants for insects. If you find mealy bugs or minute, red spider mites on the undersides of the leaf, immerse the plants upside down in a malathion solution.

Now too, is a good time to replot house plants. To make a good soil mix use two parts good loam soil, one part sphagnum peat moss and one part of either perlite or vermiculite.

Ammonium nitrate residue will rust out spreaders; therefore, a spreader should be cleaned after each use.

Acres ago set-aside provisions of the new farm legislation will serve national needs as well as benefit provisions in the farm programs, according to Rockcastle County officials for farm programs.

By putting crop land into conservation uses, farmers will help prevent production of farm products beyond domestic use and export markets need while at the same time saving good cropland for future use when needed.

He also pointed out that the U.S. Department of Agriculture has eliminated for 1971 the requirement that set-aside acres must have produced a crop for harvest within one of the three preceding years.

This requirement was changed, he said, because many producers have already made their farming plans for 1971 and in some cases have proceeded with land preparation, including fertilization, based on their familiarity with previous operation of farm programs.

Nearly all producers have made credit arrangements, purchases of machinery, and other financial obligations based on the new regulations regarding land set aside from production. Under these circumstances, enforcement of the new regulations for 1971 would have created an undue hardship on many U.S. producers.

If 65, Enroll for Medicare Medical Insurance

People who are 65 and have already signed up for Medicare medical insurance may enroll now through March 31 at any social security office, according to social security officials here.

Medicare medical insurance helps pay doctor bills. A person may first enroll in the program within the 3 months before or the 3 months after the month he reaches 65. He may also sign up in the general enrollment period—January, February, and March—within 3 years following the end of his first sign-up period.

Almost anyone 65 or over in the United States is eligible for Medicare medical insurance, a social security spokesman said. "More than 9 out of 10 in that age group are enrolled."

Medical insurance is funded by individual voluntary monthly premiums that are matched by the Federal Government.

If a person enrolls after his first sign-up period, he pays a premium that is 10 percent higher for each full year that elapses after that first sign-up period, the spokesman said.

"If you enroll and then cancel your Medicare medical insurance, you're eligible to re-enroll only once," he said.

THE AMERICAN DREAM

LIFE, LIBERTY, AND THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS

This was the dream that motivated men like Washington, that presided over the founding of a great nation. Sometimes we may lose sight of that dream, but it is always there . . . written for all time for all men to read, in our Declaration of Independence. Let us keep that vision before us, that the American dream may be realized for all.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

By: Roy Martin

Wise men wrote in our Declaration of Independence - "... among men's unalienable rights are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." Lets think about the "pursuit."

Many people frantically, and some times tragically pursue happiness over twisted, tortuous roads but never find it. Perhaps the Declaration of Independence would be better worded if it stated, "... The right to PAIN is happiness." ... Happiness can't be found, no matter how wild the pursuit, if it is not earned.

Perhaps one of the biggest stumbling blocks in pursuing happiness is selfishness. Somewhere in the path of life, and often in childhood, the first stumbling blocks are laid in a pattern. As the pattern takes form, self centered thoughts, selfish expectations and demands cause happiness to be elusive. Remove the stumbling blocks of selfishness and the road to happiness is straight and round. It is the best way to find happiness because the block removal is the best way to earn it.

Tips On Winter Shoe Care

Feet, and what goes on them, are a special concern at this time of year. Winter weather - no matter how mild - is bound to result in soggy shoes for boots for almost everyone in the family! It can be a particular problem if there are active, young children in a household, or the man-of-the-house spends at least part of his day outdoors. The shoe care experts at Cox Corning point out that exposure to rain and snow can ruin even the best quality footwear. Wetness can also contribute to winter colds and flu, so to mention the foot problems that develop from neglected shoes.

One way to help protect your family's footwear is to place a plastic tarp near the door. Each person can then remove his or her shoes as soon as they come inside, and put them on the tarp. Most boot treads have high-wide ridges that the footwear rains on. Water thus can drain away from shoes and boots, allowing them to dry thoroughly. (Dook trays also help you protect rugs and bare floors!)

Here are some other timely hints on caring for your family's shoes.

-Try to see that each person alternates shoes so the same pair isn't worn two days in a row. This allows them to dry out and air. Rotating shoes also helps them to wear longer, and, feet will feel better.

-A little preventive shoe care is especially important in winter, when you and your family are apt to be caught in a sudden storm. A still-one water repellent like Shoe Saver helps to weather-proof leather boots and shoes. The clear silicone liquid keeps water out; shoes stay soft and flexible after exposure to moisture. The new five-ounce family size bottle holds enough to treat four to five pairs of shoes. An eight-ounce aerosol can is also available.

-If shoes get drenched, and you forget to apply Shoe Saver, you still may be able to salvage them. The footwear should be removed as soon as possible, stuffed with tissue or clean, soft cloth, and allowed to dry away from heat.

Attention to your family's footwear before problems develop will keep shoes in good condition longer. They will look better, and feel better, no matter the weather.

Flowers
By Ruth Fel

It is safe to say that practically everyone enjoys the beauty of flowers. But many persons have little knowledge about the actual physical makeup of flowers. A flower consists of five parts. These are the petals, the stem, the petals, the sepals, and the receptacle. Sound complicated, isn't it really not.

The carpels are the seed producers in the center of the flower. The stamens are the pollen producers, located inside the petals. Of course, you know what the petals are. The sepals are the green leaf-like outer parts of the flower. And, the receptacle is just that - the topmost portion of the stalk which is a receptacle for the flower.

Flowers are nice for all occasions, and essential for many occasions. We can furnish the flowers for a cut arrangement, or for a formal wedding. Whatever your needs, call us.

ramblings

by: patricia m. underlin

Well, it took a long time getting here but winter, but when it did arrive, it did so with a vengeance.

We're speaking of course of the two heavy snowfalls which fell here in two weeks time after we had managed to go all winter without being bothered.

The eight-inch one that began falling early Monday morning came as a surprise to the weathermen and to most everyone else. Schools will probably be shut down all week making a total of eight snow days missed just in the last two weeks.

I, for one, am keeping a stiff upper lip about the whole situation though because according to my calendar Spring officially arrives in a little over five weeks. Won't that be nice?

In talking with Rep. Harold DeMarcus last week, he casually mentioned that he would be a candidate for re-election this year; however, he said he wouldn't bother to officially announce until the special Legislative session decided who was going to vote where. The re-districting question is a messy one and I don't envy the lawmakers their job of attempting a fair, just and pleasing solution to the question. Guess we'll just have to wait and see who goes where...

District Basketball Tournament play gets underway Tuesday night, March 2 at Brodhead School and Mt. Vernon plays Clay County in the first game. The Red Devils have an exceptionally good team this year and are top contenders to go on to regional play. We think it would be nice if you fans would give your support to these boys now because this is when the chips are down. They're capable of winning the district title but we are sure they would like to know that you think so too...

An attorney will be employed, the board decided, to determine the validity of a charge of $2,885.50 for rock removal while constructing the vocational school by Mays Construction Company.

The board also voted to approve a letter of intent to accept a proposal to furnish and install demountable partitions in the new high school by the Hauserman Corp. of Cincinnati, Ohio, if funds are available.

On a motion by Wittle Taylor, seconded by Kenneth

MRS. SUSIE WYNN DIES FEBRUARY 2

Mrs. Susie Madden Wynn, age 80, of Mullins Station, passed away suddenly February 2.

She was born in Harlan County on November 15, 1890 the daughter of the late Ace and Dorcas Pace Madden and was a member of the Holiness Church.

She is survived by three sons: Gilbert of Crooked Creek, George of Mullins Station and Virgil of Red Hill; one daughter, Mrs. Verda Lee of Manchester; 4 grandchildren and 36 great grandchildren. Her husband, Pete Wynn, preceded her in death.

Funeral services were conducted Friday, February 5, at the Howell & Martin Funeral Home Chapel by Bro. Murphy Martin, Bro. Charles Shively and Bro. Hugh Carpenter.

Burial was in the Lee Cemetery in Clay County.

James Mullins, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Mullins of Mt. Vernon, has been chosen by the Rockcastle County DAR Chapter to receive the American History award. The award is given annually to a junior student, selected by the faculty, as being the outstanding student in American History. Jim is a junior at Mt. Vernon High School.

TIGERS DEFEATED

The Brodhead Tigers went down to defeat to Jackson County Tuesday night 85 to 75. The Tigers led most of the way until the fourth quarter when they were unable to contain a strong Jackson County rally.

The Tigers met Jackson County again in the second game of District play. The Mt. Vernon-Casey Co. game, originally scheduled for Tuesday night at Mt. Vernon was called off.

Continued fair and a little warmer with almost no chance of precipitation through Saturday.

School Board Meets

Several personnel changes were made by the Rockcastle County Board of Education at their regular monthly meeting held last Thursday night, February 4.

Upon the recommendation of Superintendent Parsons, the board voted to transfer Mrs. Laura Durham from Livingston to Mt. Vernon School as librarian.

Replacing Mrs. Durham at Livingston will be Mrs. Barbara Hilt.

Steve Albright was hired as teacher at Maple Grove School for the remainder of the 1970-71 school year and Clint Phillips was hired as teacher at Cave Ridge School.

Mrs. Martha Sue Everstole was employed as teacher aide for Livingston, under the Title I program, and connected with the same program, the board voted to honor the resignation of Mrs. Loretta DeMarcus, effective February 28. No one was named to fill the position.

The approval of up to $200 in travel expense and postage was also granted by the board for Smith T. Powell for 1970-71 and four substitute teachers were approved, subject to certification. They are: Barbara Coffey, Louise Gibson, Virginia L. Hunt and Carol Gilliam.

A motion was made by Wittle Taylor and seconded by Billy Burdette to approve the advertisement and sale by sealed bids two used school buses, a 1957 Dodge panel truck, a 1970 Chevrolet panel truck, one 1955 Ford pickup and a house at Livingston on this fall. Bids are to be torn down and noted.

An attorney will be employed, the board decided, to determine the validity of a charge of $2,885.50 for rock removal while constructing the vocational school by Mays Construction Company.

The board also voted to approve a letter of intent to accept a proposal to furnish and install demountable partitions in the new high school by the Hauserman Corp. of Cincinnati, Ohio, if funds are available.

"They pose a constant threat to business and industry affecting skilled workers in their most productive years."

Capital Digest

Gov. Louie B. Nunn recently declared that some judges in the state continue to be "major stumbling blocks" to an enforcement of traffic laws.

Speaking at a safety conference in Ashland, Governor Nunn cited an increase of 32.1 per cent in 1970 for convictions of traffic violations. However, he said, "one of the major stumbling blocks (to traffic safety) continues to be an inadequate response to duty on the part of some judges."

The Public Safety Department is continuing to draft a "get tough" regulation which will impose a nine-point penalty on the driver's license of anyone for whom a court amended or reduced a traffic charge which would have cost the individual his license if convicted.

Governor Nunn also said progress has been made with the help of last year's campaign against drunk drivers.

42.6 MILLION BEING RESTORED TO SCHOOL AID

Nearly $2.6 million previously cut from the minimum

Foundation Program can now be restored because of an upturn in General Fund revenue, State Budget Director Jack Blanton announced.

The restoration of funds was made possible by an announcement by Governor Nunn that an additional $8.1 million was available from the General Fund.

Blanton also stated that the Department of Economic Dev. Rty, which runs the Medicaid program, is in line for a restoration of $571,846. He added that the department should receive restoration of some $2.2 million because 75 per cent of the Medicaid program is financed with federal funds.

STATE PURCHASES

"REPLACEMENT" PLANE

A used twin-engine Piper Turbo Navajo, costing $210,000 when new, has been purchased by the state for $118,000 from Cincinnati Airport, Inc., at Lunken Airport in Northern Kentucky.

The newest addition to the state's 12 planes will be used as a replacement for the

TOLL ROADS GENERATE INCREASED MONTHLY REVENUE

Kentucky's toll roads generated $1,163,013 in revenue in December 1970, a $110,473 increase over the same period in 1969.

The Audubon Parkway, opened to traffic Dec. 18, collected $7450 during its first two weeks of operation. The Kentucky Turnpike, with a revenue of $488,159 showed the largest gain ($40,312) over the previous year. The Blue Grass Parkway, showing $134,513, was the only toll road showing a decrease for the same period. The BG Parkway was down $1040 over December 1969.

ADDITIONAL FIVE CENTS SOUGHT FOR LICENSES

The Kentucky County Clerks' Assn. has proposed a five-cent increase in the state's hunting and fishing license fees.

State Fish and Wildlife Commissioner Minor Clark said he "is not making a deal" with the proposal to raise the cost to an even $5.

Clark said a committee from the association told him eliminating the nickel charge would help their bookkeeping. The extra five cents would go to Clark's department which operates solely on license fees. He estimated the increase would yield $30,000 to $40,000 a year.

"QUICKIE" BUILDING PLANNED FOR UK

A quick-construction building, costing $2.2 million, is underway at the University of Kentucky.

The facility, which would eventually house 50 science and medical laboratories, is being rushed toward a mid-summer completion date to qualify the university for approximately $1.4 million in federal grants for medical students.

Plans call for the 50 laboratories in the two-story building and about 50,000 total square feet of floor space. Hargett Construction Co. of Lexington holds the preliminary contract for completion of the first phase of the building.

Mechanical and engineering construction bids will be opened Feb. 17, with opening of contracting bids set for Feb. 24.

GROUP ENDORSES UTILIZATION OF CLAY

The Kentucky Heritage Commission has endorsed a proposal to save Clay Villa from being razed and to preserve it as an historic building. The proposal was made by Carroll Cole, a Lexington, realtor, for the Lexington residence which was the home of the late James B. Clay, a son of Henry Clay.

The KHC's resolution group asserted, "this is a rare instance within the preservation movement when a realtor has wisely chosen to preserve rather than raise an historic house."

Cole plans to put the building up, possibly as apartments, without destroying its architectural integrity, according to members of the Heritage Commission.

STUDENT GRANTS AVAILABLE

The Highway Department has announced details for engineering scholarships for state high school graduates. Scholarships are given to students planning to study civil engineering at the University of Kentucky, Western Kentucky University or the University of Louisville.

Each scholarship involves an agreement to work for the department for one summer and for one other year after graduation from college.

The grants are awarded on the basis of ACT scores, class rank, and high school recommendations.

TOM DUNCAN'S

Frankfort Watchline

"You're going to hurt some people." The view, expressed by Sen. Edwin Freeman of Harrodsburg but shared by many lawmakers, is the biggest stumbling block in the path of legislative reorganization.

Legislators naturally see changes in light of effects on their political bases and their constituencies. But falling to look beyond, to the goal of truly fair representation for all Kentuckians, can only lead to another black eye for a Legislature that says it wants independence, responsibility and respect—but sometimes doesn't act that way.

Freeman's remark came as he and Sen. Charles Upton suggested that Jefferson County be shortchanged just a bit on House seats, opening possible urban-rural fight.

And the strange part is that Senate remapping could go fairly smoothly, while redrawing House lines may border on chaos. The Freeman-Upton move came in the full legislative committee on reapportionment. But it led House members of the group, in their own session, to set standards of equality for districts that would require breaking perhaps 40 county lines.

That, in Kentucky, is chaos. And it could mean the session starting Feb. 25 won't be able to redraw House lines, especially since 51 of the 100 members must agree on any plan to take effect for the upcoming primaries.

Of course, the delay is just what some people want. Even that way, though, "You're going to hurt some people."

Just the majority of the people, instead of the minority. *****

Former Gov. Bert Combs is making Jefferson County the key battleground—right now in the Democratic race for governor against Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford.

Louisville Mayor Frank Burke's endorsement was an expected boost. But the Combs forces may find the organizational skill of Johnnie Crimmins their best weapon to offset the grassroots strength cultivated by Ford.

Jefferson County Judge Todd Hollenback is playing his cards carefully. And his moves must be judged on the basis that he's eyeing the 1975 race for governor. *****

Even some insiders were surprised at Jefferson Commissioner James Hart, the choice for lieutenant governor, is from Lexington, but has roots in Ashland.

Newly appointed Secretary of State Kenneth Harper, who'll run for that office, is from Northern Kentucky. And Court of Appeals Clerk Dick Vermillion, the candidate for treasurer, is from Corbin. Now then, go west young men! *****

The geographic pattern is being fitted together precisely.

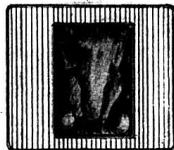

Emberton is from Edmonston. Former Parks Commissioner James Hart, the choice for lieutenant governor, is from Lexington, but has roots in Ashland.

Newly appointed Secretary of State Kenneth Harper, who'll run for that office, is from Northern Kentucky. And Court of Appeals Clerk Dick Vermillion, the candidate for treasurer, is from Corbin. Now then, go west young men! *****

Emberton's use of television time across the state even though he has no primary worries drew more than a wistful glance from mossy-conscious Democrats. One remarked, perhaps hopefully, "He's so unknown that they've got to do this to get even a basis for survival." But on money Republicans seem to be laughing over on the way back from the bank. *****

Rep. Dwight Wells of Richmond smilingly asked if Gov. Nunn and Combs don't like redistricting plans they'll submit ideas of their own. With eyes rolling, Legislative Research Director James Fleming said, "Hopefully, Mr. Wells, they'll be the same plan." *****
