ALFALFA IS COMING BACK
From the reports I have been getting, a lot of farmers in our county are planning a spring seeding of alfalfa. Here are some tips that should help you get a good stand.

1. Soils Pick well-drained, highly-productive soils. If a field has previously been in alfalfa and was productive for four or more years, it's a good bet that it is a fine field to use again.

2. Test your soil for lime, phosphate and potash. I would like to start getting samples this week. Don't be surprised if when you get my recommendations, they seem high. Let's stop letting fertilizers limit production.

3. Buy your seed. There are many varieties that work well here in Kentucky. Vernal, Buffalo, Williamsburg, and Narragansett presently lead the list. Team and Weevleek show promise at seedling tolerance or resistance. Seeding rates range from 12 to 20 lbs.

4. Inoculate your seed the day you make the seeding. Follow the directions of the manufacturer carefully.

5. Prepare your seedbed early. If you plow, disk following a crop or renovate an old grass field, firm the seedbed before and after seeding. For more details on seedbed preparations, ask my office for Miscellaneous 300 and Leaflet 277.

6. Weeds can be controlled in spring seeding. Disc, 11-1 also available in my office.

7. Make your seedings, any time after mid-February, when renovating and after mid-March, for plowing, will be fine.

If you need more specific help, call me. Crabgrass Control in Home Lawns Crabgrass is a perpetual problem in a home lawn. Can it be controlled? The answer is yes! Good lawn management practices, combining cultural and chemical methods, will control crabgrass in your yard.

When desirable turf grasses begin to thin, crabgrass frequently gets established in the open, lighted areas. Once started, it continues to spread by creeping stems, and eventually, it crowds out the desirable turf grass. Crabgrass seed must have light to germinate; therefore, mowing turf grasses at 2-inch heights will help to shade crabgrass and prevent it from sprouting.

To control crabgrass with herbicides, apply the chemical before crabgrass seeds germinate. In Western Kentucky, make applications before April 15. In the east, and northern Kentucky, apply before April 15. These dates vary from year to year, depending on moisture, temperature, and other environmental conditions. Some scientists believe crabgrass seeds germinate only after the soil temperature is 60 degrees F for a continuous period of 6 to 7 days.

Siduron (Tupersan) is the only recommended herbicide that controls crabgrass on newly-seeded lawns. It kills the crabgrass without injuring the young bluegrass and fescue seedlings.

To control crabgrass in established bluegrass and fescue lawns, use benflin, bensulfide (Betasan or Prefar), DCPA (Daethal) and siduron (Tupersan). These are the active ingredients in commercial products sold under various trade names as "weed" or "crabgrass killers." When using these herbicides, follow the directions and precautions on the label closely.

Homeowners frequently ask, "Are combinations of pesticides and fertilizers the best way to care for home lawns?" I usually answer that attacking each problem separately is generally more desirable, using the correct material at the proper time. If weeds are the problem, insecticides are not necessary; conversely, if insects are present herbicides are not needed. Another problem with formulated combinations is that they may not contain the correct analysis or quantity of fertilizer for a given lawn.

Although combinations do not always give the most desirable results, they will control crabgrass and will reduce the total time and effort spent on lawn care.

Growing Potatoes in the Home Garden

Are you one of several thousand Kentuckians who plant potatoes? Try these suggestions and grow a better-quality crop and increase your yields.

1. Plow your soil as soon as it can be worked. Freezing and thawing action helps get soil in better physical shape for planting.

2. Have your soil tested, and apply fertilizer based on soil tests. See your county agent for local recommendations.

3. Plant a good variety. Red La Soda is one of the best red varieties and Kennebec is one of the best white varieties.

4. Buy certified blue-tag seed.

5. Cut seed pieces so that each piece weighs at least 1 1/2 ounces. Size is important. Store food reserves are necessary for growth until roots form and the plant can draw nourishment from the soil.

6. Disk and prepare a fine seed bed. Don't work clay soils when they are wet.

7. Plant seed March 15 to 20. Potatoes thrive and produce higher yields when grown early in the season while soils are cool.

8. Maintain the soil for potatoes at a pH of 5.5.

PREVENTIVE PLANTING OF CORN

There have been numerous inquiries from producers affected by the corn blight in 1971 regarding applicability of the prevented planting provision of the ASCS Program. Paul Paquin, Chairman of the Kentucky ASCS Committee and the Secretary of Agriculture has determined all counties in Kentucky were seriously affected by the corn blight in 1970. The prevented planting credit will be available in 1971. Each individual producer will be required to file a written request with his county ASCS Committee. The request will be effective for 1971 when approved by the Committee. This provision will enable many of our producers, who are unable to obtain a sufficient supply of light resistant corn seed to participate in the feed grain set aside program, receive payment, and preserve their feed grain base. Producers having further questions should contact their local ASCS County Office.

Historic Special Session

OPENING NIGHT

For the fourth time this century the Kentucky General Assembly has been convened in a special session to reapportion itself. Gov. Louie B. Nunn, called the state's legislators to study, revise and finally to vote on a plan bringing Kentucky into conformity with the state and national constitutions and with the courts.

Although the Kentucky Constitution requires governors to call a redistricting session each ten years, this is only the second time since 1892 a special session for reapportionment has been called voluntarily.

The uniqueness of this year's session is underscored by the likelihood that, for the first time, counties will be split and combined with parts or all of other counties to make the new districts as equal in population as possible.

Addressing the opening session of the assembly, the governor said that body is in a better position to reapportion itself than any court. He urged the legislators to abandon old partisan measures and acquit themselves with honor as servants of the people.

Fiscal Court Meets

Representatives of the State Highway Department met with the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court at their March meeting to present a supplemental agreement to the County's Road Aid Program. The agreement calls for the construction of a portion of the Highway-Clear Creek Road. The Highway officials also presented the Court with a Equipment Rental Contract for the fiscal year 1971-72, in the same amount as the previous fiscal year. Both the supplemental agreement and the contract were accepted by the Court.

On other business the court voted to add the East Fork-Skeggs Creek Road to the County Road Aid Program, beginning at Ernest Bu'locks' on Highway 1240 to property of Lloyd Robbins. A distance of 3.2 miles.

In a similar action, the court, on a motion by Magistrate C. W. Phillips, approved the addition of the Dry Fork - Crooked Creek Road to the County Road Aid Program. The addition will begin at the Salspeter Cave Church by the Poplar Gap Church.

One road was taken off the Road Aid Program. On a motion by Magistrate Phillips, seconded by Sherman Sargent, the Pleasant Run Road, beginning at the Pleasant Run Church property and ending at the property of Shelby Robinson, a distance of one-half mile, was removed.

Tom Emberton, Republican gubernatorial candidate, was in Mt. Vernon Monday and spoke to the above group in the Circuit Court Room at the visit here via one of four visits planned to different counties that day.

Emberton Visits Rockcastle Co. Monday

In a concentrated effort to carry on with his pledge to "renew and stress people to people politics," Republican gubernatorial candidate Tom Emberton came to Rockcastle County to day.

His stop here was one of five counties to be visited on Monday, March 8, as part of an intensive four day, 24 county tour this week of the entire Fifth Congressional District.

Going hand in glove with these county visits is a set of public hearings which Emberton has planned to conduct through consideration of the major issues facing Kentucky. On Tuesday, Emberton will host the first of these, on Consumer Protection, in Louisville, as part of his effort to further listen to the people on their suggestions for dealing with such problems.

In his comments in the Circuit Courtroom in Mt. Vernon, Emberton reflected on his personal ties with the Fifth District. He said, "I am here today because I want to come back to my home district and the people who have meant so much to me to launch my major campaigning and county tours."

Emberton continued, "I sincerely thank the people of Rockcastle County who already have been so kind and helpful. I ask for, and will deeply appreciate, your active support for the remainder of this campaign."

During his visit here today, Emberton cited many examples of the enthusiasm which his candidacy has received since his announcement on February 3. Recalling recent visits to Paducah and Owensboro, he noted that these were two of the largest gatherings for a Republican candidate ever held in that section of the state. "Many thousands of Kentuckians who are registered as Democrats and Independents have pledged their support to his campaign because of the responsibility, honest government which we seek. With your continued response and effort, we will receive since these intended Kentuckians to a resounding victory in November."

Emberton's whirlwind tour of the Fifth District follows right on the heels of the endorsement of his candidacy by Congressman Tim Lee Car-

Charged are Tommy Roberts of Manchester and Roger Albert Loks of Michigan. Roberts is reportedly AWOL from the U.S. Army and Loks is on furlough.

Besides the above charge, both men are charged with Malicious Cutting and Wounding With Intent to Kill and Grand Larceny of an Automobile. Warrants were taken by Mike Farthing of Winchester who told police that late Saturday night, while traveling north on the Interstate, he picked up the two men who were hitchhiking.

MESLEY LAMBERT of Rockcastle County, the first improvement prize winner in the 1970 Tom Wallace Farm Fertilizer Awards Contest sponsored by the Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times, receives a $200 check from the newspapers' associate publisher, Barry Blingham, Jr. The awards were presented at the annual Farm Awards Luncheon in Louisville on Feb. 27.

Jackson Co. Wins 49th District Tourney

Clay County's domination of the 49th district was ended last Saturday night when they went down to defeat to winners of Jackson County in a squeaker 63 to 61.

Clay led at half-time by 12 points; however, it was all Jackson County during the second half as the crowd rooted the much smaller team to victory.

Clay County advanced to the finals by defeating Mt. Vernon and Anville and Jackson had defeated Brodhead and Owens in preliminary games.

Drawings for the 19th Region were held over the week end and Jackson County drew tough Lymh, who knocked Harlan out of competition in district play, and in their game, which was the first one played in the 19th Region Tuesday night, Lynch defeated Jackson County easily 85 to 50.

The other game Tuesday night was between Lone Jack and Lynn Camp and Lone Jack won.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday, March 9 at the Dowell & Martin Funeral Home Chapel by Bro. Ralford Herrin. Burial was in the Elmwood Cemetery.

ramblings

by verlina m. andarkin

Got some bad news for the early morning mall picker-up, the Mt. Vernon City Council voted at its regular monthly meeting last Monday night to more stringently enforce the City's Ordinance against double parking. They tell us it will cost you a cool $5 if you are ticketed.

That presents quite a problem for us too since it has been our habit for some time to park on Main Street early in the morning when parking spaces were unavailable. Guess we'll either have to move the car to a different exercise in the form of walking.

Of course, if most ladies are like myself, the main reason we double park is because we can't get in. In case you haven't noticed, we can't usually have the City of Mt. Vernon has a new policeman.

Former deputy sheriff Clinton Winstead assumed that duty last Monday.

Speaking of the City Council, a recent action of theirs has caused several city and county residents to talk to us concerning the problems it poses.

We are speaking of the Council's decision to charge people who would be on hand to supervise what and where people dumped.

One city resident called us to suggest that perhaps we should take a stand editorially against the charge for dumping since people, on whom it might conceivably be a burden to pay the fee, would probably throw trash on private property and right-of-ways rather than the city charge.

We hadn't thought of that angle until it was brought to our attention and shortly afterwards we actually heard in the county complained bitterly to us because the dumping on their land had increased tremendously since the charge went into effect.

We called City Hall to see if they had been getting any feedback and were told that the fact that the charge for using the city dump did encourage random dumping couldn't be helped because it was so necessary to the dump's operation.

After delving a little further, we found that the City is not actually required by law to operate a dump and could, if the notion hit them, close the dump facilities entirely.

The best solution would be for the City and County to work together on a project that would be county-wide, but to date there has been no meeting of the minds on this project by city and county officials.

Need a job for the summer? Well, you might be interested to know that the Mt. Vernon Recreation Council is now taking applications for playground director for their summer program. For complete information, contact Jerry Hayes at the Kentucky Utilities office in Mt. Vernon or call 256-2112.

MRS. EVARÉE E. WATSON DIES IN LEXINGTON
 Mrs. Evarée Edwards Watson, 64, of Brodhead passed away Tuesday, March 9 at the Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington. She was born in Garrard County on December 14, 1906, the daughter of the late Arthur Franklin and Jennie Scott Edwards and was a member of the Brodhead Christian Church.

Survivors are her husband, Everett C. Watson, of Brodhead; one daughter, Miss Edna Marie Carson, of Florence; one son, Kelly Ray Carson, of Richmond; one step son, Everett F. Watson of Brodhead; one sister, Mrs. Beulah Edwards Boone of Stanford, and one brother, James Ray Edwards of Arlington, Va.

Funeral services will be held Thursday, (today) March 11 at 3 p.m. at the Brodhead Christian Church with Bro. O.O. Cloyd and Bro. Jerry Sidney officiating. Interment will be in the Piney Grove Cemetery.

Arrangements are by the Watson Funeral Home in Brodhead.

Amendment Would Put Rockcastle In 15th

The vote was 30 to 7 Friday when the Kentucky Senate approved a committee substitute plan for redistricting the 38 seats in the upper chamber. The substitute reapportionment bill splits up two instead of seven counties. The counties to be split are Fayette and Kenton.

Of course, of utmost importance to Rockcastle County is the fact that it will be included with four other counties entirely different from those we have been used to voting with for State Sen-

Kentucky's 38 senate districts as proposed under a plan approved Friday by the upper chamber of the state Senate would be divided as shown in the map above. The measure will go to the state House of Representatives next week for consideration. Rockcastle County will be in the 15th Senatorial District if the substitute amendment is passed.

"To the Victor Belongs the Spoils" the old saying goes and that is exactly what Jackson County thought as they decided they wanted the basketball net after winning the 49th District championship game from Clay County in a thriller 53 to 61. Shown getting the net are Brent Gay, Leon Coffey and J.B. Whitehead. All three boys were also named to the All-Tournament team. Named to the team from Rockcastle were: Dale Coffey and George Powell from Mt. Vernon; Ritchie Bray and Tommy Mullins from Brodhead and Lonnie McGuire from Livingston.

Grubbs heads a select team of Kentuckians to host an aerospace luncheon there on March 15. The officers of the most prominent aerospace industries including Lockheed, Grumman and North American Rockwell, have accepted invitations to meet with the Kentuckians to view a presentation on the state's opportunities for industrial diversification and expansion.

TOM DUNCAN'S Frankfort Watchline

Every Kentuckian counts. The slogan promoted by Gov. Louis Nunn's administration could haunt the Legislature in court.

Because if the House and Senate reapportionment plans emerging in the special session are tested in court it will be obvious that not every Kentuckian counts the same in the Legislature.

But in private some from each side tell with relish about out-manuevering the other.

Word was leaked that there could be a plan splitting Combs' home county of Floyd. That would have put Floyd's Sen. Clifford Latta into the same district with another Combs man, Sen. Francis Burke of Pikeville.

Both aides backed away from tampering with the other's work. And both will tell you privately they outsmarted the other.

Both Democratic camps seem to sense the primary race is near the psychological breaking point. And tensions are mounting as old friends chop away at each other.

But Republican candidate Tom Emberton is avoiding even the semblance of a commitment as he tours the farm chicken and teacup circuit. So far, he's pulling the switch of having the people tell him where they stand on things instead of taking a stand himself.

That could keep him unscathed for the fall campaign. But it's already drawing some goodies from those trying to pin him down.

Wife & Children

The rolling streams of time flows on
But still the vacant chair,
Recalls the love, the voice
Of mother who once sat there.

The flowers we lay upon her grave
May wither and decay
But the love we have for you
Dear mother
Will never fade away.
For all of us she did her best,

NOTE OF APPRECIATION

Social Security News

Traditionally, a bride should have "something old, something new, something borrowed, and something blue." Well, we can't help with the borrowed and blue." James Mustian, manager of the Somerset Social Security Office stated. But, all new brides upon visiting their nearest social security office will be issued a new social security card with the old social security number. "Something old, something new."

Employers, Mustian said, would be doing their female employees a great service if in addition to changing the bride's name on their records, they also advised the bride to change her name on her social security card. Social security numbers, Mustian stated are used to keep a special personal and confidential record of your earnings. To keep these earnings records correct, a "miss" who becomes a "Mrs." must have her name changed on her social security card and have the change of name recorded with the social security administration.

Hunting & Fishing

Don't be surprised any day now to hear that the white bass have moved into the headwaters of a number of lakes, that croppie are being caught in greater numbers and that black bass are hitting on surface lures. That time of year is not far away and the fishermen are ready.

A friend, who keeps a calendar of his fishing events, produced records to show that last year on March 13, in the head waters of Lake Herrington, he caught a big string of white bass by casting just below the first riffle. He consulted his calendar to prove to us that he had caught whites in the Dix River section far well over a month that same year.

To most persons it would seem a bit early for the whites to be running now. But credence is lent to that by the fact that even on March 13 this year reports came from Dixe Hollow of whites moving into the headwaters of that lake, where the surface temperatures were about five degrees above that of the lake itself.

Expert croppie fishermen have been catching this species all through the winter, but now it's to the stage where just about anyone who knows anything about fishing can harvest "Old Papermouth." They already are being caught from ponds and a few have been picked up in the streams. Many sections of the rivers have been too muddy and too high for fishing, but where there is clear water, croppie and black bass are being taken. This is not to indicate that fishing is good right now, but is meant as a reminder that before you know it fishing will be in full swing, and that more favorable fishing weather cannot be many days away, notwithstanding the hasty prediction made by Mr. Grounding on Feb. 2. Many fishermen are of the opinion that fishing will hit a high mark earlier this year than for the past several when cold winters and colder waters delayed top fishing until well up in April. Of course, there were exceptions to last year's trend and the shallower waters, always the first to warm, produced fish at an earlier date.

During the past winter there were very few long, drawn-out periods of frigid weather and the lake waters did not become as cold as in previous cold winters. By the same reasoning, with favorable March and April weather, the water should warm at an earlier date than usual and, of course, with warm water, comes good fishing.

The first frantic fishing to follow the ligging season will be the white bass runs and, contrary to popular belief, they occur in a number of lakes. Most persons have heard of the runs in Herrington, Cumberland and Dixe Hollow. Lesser known runs, but good ones nonetheless, occur in Barren, Rough River and Dewey, to name a few. So, the best advice to eager fishermen is to be ready. The time is not too far off when the whites will be on the move.

State Tournament Gets UnderWay Soon

It won't be long before the elite sixteen of Kentucky's 396 high schools competing. The 128 survivors of the district contests will be playing in regional meets this week with the 16 winners earning the right to participate in the 54th annual tourney.

The state tourney started back in 1918 at Centre College, Lexington High, now Henry Clay, defeated Somerset in the first two tournaments for the championship. Since then, 93 state champions representing 33 different schools have carried home the trophy.

The tourney was moved later to University of Kentucky Alumni Gym and then across the street to Memorial Coliseum, when that structure was completed in 1950. The state tournament was alternated between Louisville and Memorial Coliseum before becoming permanently stationed at Freedom Hall in 1965.

Masari has appeared in 22 tournaments with Owensboro and Ashland playing in 21 meets. Henry Clay, participating in 16 meets, has captured five state championships to lead Ashland, Lexington, Lafayette, Louisville Manual and St. Xavier, who have won four times.

The Kentucky High School Athletic Assn. took over the tournament in 1938 with attendance that year at 13,978. The event has increased to an attendance mark of over 1000,000 eight of the last 14 times. Only a few Kentuckians have had the honor of both playing and coaching in the tourney. One of them is Elmer T. (Bully) Gibb, former coach at Lexington Henry Clay.

Gibb appeared once as a player, with Newport High in 1925. His team won its first two games but lost to Manual, the eventual state champ which later won an invitational national championship in Chicago.

After his playing days, Gibb made two other trips to the state meet as a coach, both with Henry Clay. "It's quite a thrill to go there as a coach too," he said.

Comparing teams of yesterday with today, Gibb said,

"No match. The teams today could beat the old teams with their right arm tied behind their back. It wasn't as competitive as it is now."

Only three of fourteen records set during the state tournament were set in the last decade, Louisville Central 101, Ohio County 72, set the record for most points combined and most points by a team in a championship game. Both records were established in the 1959 tourney. Covington Catholic, scoring 73 points, holds the record as the highest losing final-game total, set in 1965.

While Central was setting its record with 101 points in 1969, King, a central player, set the single game scoring mark for a title contest with 44. Cliff Hagan held the previous standard with 41 for Owensboro in the 1949 contest.

You And The Draft

About a month ago, our mail included a letter from a former neighbor who believed his son, George, had been harassed by the draft board. The gist of his complaint was that George had been examined five times within a year and rejected each time for the same reason.

Before replying to our neighbor, we called for a review of the young man's file by a state officer. Our review disclosed that the registrant was born in the year 1949 and his Random Selection Number (RSN) was 54, based on the Dec. 1, 1959, lottery. In February 1970, he was sent to an Armed Forces Examination and Entrance Station (AFSES) for a physical examination. He was found not acceptable because he was overweight. However, the AFSES commander recommended that he be returned for re-examination in 60 days.

Following the first physical, the young man was classified I-Y by the local board. When the 60-day period expired, the board ordered George to the local medical advisor to have his weight checked. He had lost some weight but not enough to come within the standard prescribed by the Department of Defense.

Thirty days later, he was returned to the medical advisor for another weight check. The loss of pounds was negligible, but the doctor suggested another check in 60 days based on the slight reduction. The local board adhered to the advisor's recommendation and in 60 days had the registrant report for another check of his weight. At this weighing, the scale indicated George's weight to be within the maximum prescribed as acceptable.

Current Selective Service regulations, with a few exceptions, authorize one physical examination and one re-examination at an AFSES. You will recall that the first check was made in February 1970. Therefore, the local board had determined George to be the AFSES for his fifth examination. At that time, George's weight was back up, and placed him above the Department of Defense's maximum acceptability. As a result of this re-examination, he remains in class I-Y.

We hope that the facts as detailed in this column will convince the father there was not any harassment by the local board as they acted under existing regulations.

A lot of persons have the misconception that the Selective Service System determines the acceptability of young men for military service. Congress has delegated the responsibility of determining military acceptability to the Department of Defense. Congress has delegated the responsibility of determining availability to the Selective Service System. The letter which we have shared with you points out that the local board had determined George's availability, and his non-acceptability was established by one of the six AFSES stations where Kentucky registrants are examined.

SHIFTING OF COAL TEND Kentucky may soon become the nation's No. 1 coal producing state but the trend seems to be shifting from surface to underground mining, state Mines and Minerals Commissioner H.N. Kirpatrick said recently.
