State ASCS Officials Named

Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin has named Paul L. Fuqua of Hardinsburg as chairman, with Jack Welch Owen and James C. Finley, Sr., of Tompkinsville, as members of the Kentucky State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASCS) Committee, it was announced today by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

ASCS committeemen are responsible for the state administration of federal farm programs, including the cotton, feed grain and wheat set-aside programs; the rural environmental assistance program; acreage allotment and marketing quota programs; price supports, storage facilities loans and other programs assigned by the U.S. Congress and the Secretary of Agriculture.

Fuqua, a graduate of Western Kentucky University, owns and operates 800 acres of farmland devoted to burley tobacco, corn and certified fescue grass seed. He has been a member of the Kentucky Farm Bureau for 20 years and served as a member of the State Farm Bureau Board of Directors. He also served as a community ASCS committeeman from 1952 to 1955. He has been a member of the Kentucky State ASCS Committee since June, 1959.

Welch owns and operates a 525 acre farm where he produces burley tobacco and hay and operates a cow-calf live stock business. A 33 year veteran member of the Kentucky Farm Bureau, he also served as a member of the American Farm Bureau Board of Directors. He is a member of the Kentucky Purebred Livestock Association and the Owen County Fair Board. He currently serves on the state Board of Agriculture and the Governor's Commission on Agriculture. He served as chairman of the Kentucky State ASCS Committee the past two years and fills a vacancy created by the appointment of Mr. Fuqua from regular member to chairman.

Finley has a 1,444 acre general farming operation the sick list. We wish her a speedy recovery. Mr. and Mrs. Henry McCracken celebrated their 31st wedding anniversary March 26th at their home. Those present were Thomas McCracken and Mr. and Mrs. Jerrold Stewart of Johnetta and Mr. and Mrs. James Brummett and family of London.

producing corn, tobacco, and hay. He also has a livestock operation including a polled hereford herd and swine. Finley replaces Douglas C. Evans, Tompkinsville, who had served for the past two terms.

Charles E. Barnhart, Director of the Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service, is an ex-officio member of the state ASCS committee.

Order Of The Golden Rule

Wearing an American flag pin stirred a nation-wide controversy when New York policeman, Patrick Dolan, defied a superior's order to remove it. Officer Dolan won a reversal of the order, and shortly thereafter he received a personal letter of congratulations and appreciation from President Nixon. Billy Dowell and Roy Martin, of Dowell & Martin Funeral Home, state that this controversy may have been the start of a new trend: citizens across the land, he says, are beginning to wear pins of the American flag as a gesture of national loyalty.

To further this trend locally, the Dowell & Martin Funeral Home is offering plastic flag pins without charge. Along with the pins, the firm is making available a full-color booklet outlining the history of the American flag and explaining how and when "Old Glory" should be displayed. In announcing the availability of the pins, Mr. Dowell said: "It seems to me that there has been a move away from flag and country in recent years. People have shied away from the word 'patriotism' because they've been embarrassed by it or have considered it 'corny.' I think Officer Dolan's story may have helped to mark the point in history where people again demonstrate their pride in being patriotic Americans. At least I hope so."

Mr. Martin said that pins and copies of the booklet, entitled "A Symbol of Pride," may be obtained by calling, writing or visiting Dowell & Martin Funeral Home at any time.

Revival Meeting

First Baptist Church
Brodhead, Kentucky

APRIL 26 - MAY 2

7:30 P.M.

Rev. J.W. Farmer, Evangelist
Margie Wilcop, Music Director

There will be special music and films will be shown before each service.

You are cordially invited to attend.

THE TENSION MOUNTS-Last year's Kentucky Derby infield crowd watches the finish of the seventh race, prior to the Derby, but with little enthusiasm compared to what the next two hours bring. The infield spectators are only a part of the more than 100,000 fans which will gather for this year's 97th running at 5:30 p.m., May 1.

County Burley Growers Received $10,278,222

Burley tobacco production in Rockcastle County over the last five years has given growers here income totaling $10,278,222 and has been worth five times that amount to the county's economy.

The figure, compiled from Kentucky ASC records, was reported by the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association and the Council for Burley Tobacco to show the importance of burley production in Rockcastle County--both to the county's farmers and to its business interests.

University of Kentucky agriculture economists note that each such farm-produced dollar multiplies in the county's economy five times before it disappears -- which, in the last five years, would reflect an economic multiplier effect of $51,391,110.

A referendum among burley growers will be conducted in early May on the question of whether they will accept a new program of pesticide controls or reject, for the first time in 31 years, price supports which guarantee fair prices and income stability to growers in Rockcastle County and elsewhere.

Small growers vote against accepting the new pesticide control proposal, there will be no price supports for the 1971 crop of burley producers. Without the program, growers taking their crops to market would have no guarantee of price--only what they could get for it at auction on the whims of market conditions.

The five-year income figure for Rockcastle County growers is based on the net yearly production of burley in this county in the 1966 through 1970 crops and the state average price they received for it each year.

Income for Rockcastle County burley producers in each of the years included: 1966, $2,046,782; 1967, $1,623,368; 1968, $2,181,352; 1969, $2,143,521 and 1970, $2,048,198.

"The importance of price supports on burley tobacco can readily be seen, and price supports -- in order to keep them -- must necessarily be coupled with reasonable controls on production," John M. Berry, president of the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association, said. The Burley Co. administers the price support program in Kentucky and four other states.

"The over-riding consideration," Berry said, "is all of the efforts to change the burley program was the fact that we must preserve the price support system to the lasting benefit of all growers."

Kasnof Appointed

Robert Kasnof, son-in-law of L.D. Bryant of Mt. Vernon, has been appointed attorney-in-charge of the Criminal Court Branch of the Legal Aid Society of New York. In his new position, Mr. Kasnof will supervise a staff of 200 attorneys assigned to the Criminal Court and Supreme Court throughout the city as well as to the United States District Courts for Southern and Eastern New York.

William Stanley "Bill" Payne, Jr., 26, of Disputants, died Saturday morning, April 3 from a congenital heart condition. Mr. Payne was born in Berea and was a merchant, postmaster and farmer. Rev. J.W. Farmer, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Irvine, will be leading the First Baptist Church of Brodhead in revival services April 26 through May 2. Rev. Farmer received his B.A. and B.D. degrees from Georgetown College and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He made a trip around the world in 1970, visiting England, France, Switzerland, Italy, Israel, India, Thailand, Japan, Hawaii, Germany, Burma, Egypt, Greece and Cyprus. Services will begin each evening at 7:30 p.m. with special films of Rev. Farmer's world travels being shown at 7 p.m. John Zupancic, pastor of the church, and the congregation extend a special invitation to everyone to attend the service.

Dr. George Griffith last week moved into offices in his new building on Main Street which was recently completed. Maggard Drug occupies the major portion of the building and Dr. Griffith's offices are on the right hand side. Dr. Griffith is now taking appointments for the convenience of his patients.

Steel work is going up on the new Rockcastle County High School, which is being built on the same site as the Harry Sparks Vocational School on the Old Brodhead Road. The school will be ready for occupancy by September of 1972 and will house the four top grades from Mt. Vernon, Brodhead and Livingston. Forbes-Morris Construction Company of Lexington are contractors for the almost $2,000,000 project.

Council Opens Dock; Will Buy More Equipment

The boat dock at Lake Linnville will be opened as soon as possible, the Mt. Vernon City Council decided at its regular monthly meeting Monday night. Herman and Virgil Alcorn were hired by the Council to get the best dock facilities ready to open and to operate it thereafter.

The Council also voted to buy up to $1,000 worth of boats and $1,000 worth of motors for the dock for renting to the public. The Council made no definite decision on whether to purchase the equipment but appointed a committee of three, Mayor Ed Winstead, Councilman James Robinson and Water Department Superintendent Jack Craig, to check the types available and make the purchases.

A Clean-Up Week for Mt. Vernon and Rockcastle County will be conducted April 26 through May 1. The Council also decided. During this time, the city garbage truck will run and anyone, city or county residents, may dump garbage free at the City Dump.

The Council also agreed to enter into a lease agreement with D.C. Craig for his property situated between the Pioneer Bell Building and the L & N Railroad track. Under the lease, Mr. Craig will be paid a token sum for the use of the 184 foot strip which will be used for parking. Local merchants will be asked for funds to prepare the site, on which about 18 or 19 cars will be able to park.

Mt. Vernon needs a street cleaner, if you are interested. Joe Sweeney, who has held that job for several years, resigned at Monday night's meeting because of ill health and no action was taken on replacing him.

Mrs. Hendrickson Dies At Residence

Mrs. Ruth Frith Hendrickson, 59, of Brodhead, passed away Wednesday, April 7, at her home. She was born in Rockcastle County July 5, 1911 the daughter of Mrs. Emma Pennington Frith and the late Ora Frith. She was a school teacher for 39 years and a member of the Brodhead Baptist Church. Besides her mother, she is survived by her husband, Robert F. Hendrickson, of Brodhead and one son, Robert F. Hendrickson, Jr. of Lexington.

Funeral services were held Friday, April 9, at the Brodhead Baptist Church by Bro. John Zupancic, Interment was in the Piney Grove Cemetery. Watson Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements. Pallbearers were Edith McBea, Earl Mullins, Floyd Owens, Billy Riddle, Cleston Saylor and John L. Saylor.

Friday Night Show Added to Barndance

Things are looking up for Country Music fans ("Bentley Valley Style," since there is now a show held each Friday night in the Big Barn in addition to the regular Saturday night performance. The show begins at 7:30 p.m. and features such regulars as Bonnie Lou and Buster, and the famous comedians, Red and Fred. Admission is $2.00 per person.

DeMarcus Unopposed; 13 Out For Governor

Kentucky will have one of its famous "bedsheet ballots" for the May Primary. There are nine Democratic and four Republican candidates for governor and the Democrats especially are contesting each other hot and heavy for every race except State Senator and Secretary of State where Thelma Stoval reigns supreme, at least until the November election when she will have to face Republican Kenneth Harper, who is also unopposed.

Only two Republicans filed for State Senator from the 15th Senatorial District and since no Democrats filed for the office, whoever is victorious in the May Primary will automatically be the new Senator representing Rockcastle, Pulaski, Lincoln, Casey and McGregory Counties. The two opposing Republicans are Norman E. Faris of Somerset, vice-president of Southern Belle and Wae Chilton of Millersburg in Casey County.

Of course, one race which usually ferments a lot of interest, that of State Representative, will be a "hot" affair this year since incumbent Harold DeMarcus will go into his fifth term in office unopposed. The deadline for all filing is past and for the first time in eight years, Mr. DeMarcus gets a free ride.

According to Jack Crawford, whose firm Crawford and Crawford are engineers for the project, the bids were very good and the work order should be issued within the next thirty days. After issuance of the work order, the contractors will have 300 days to complete the project.

Laswell Gets Votes In State Coaches Poll

Coach Jack Lawell, basketball coach at Mt. Vernon High School, received several votes for Coach of the Year in the Courier-Journal Coaches Poll taken after the state basketball tournament. Jack Upchurch, coach at Anderson County High School, received the most votes. Coach Upchurch took his team to the finals of the state tournament.

Capital Digest

Immediately following Vice President Spiro Agnew's recent address at the Kentucky State Capitol prom-ding President Nixon's revenue sharing plan, Gov. Louie B. Nunn announced he plans to launch a statewide effort in the near future to mobilize support for the program.

The governor's plans for mobilizing citizen support will be announced within the next few weeks," Press Secretary Larry VanHook said.

The vice president told members of the General Assembly and the various mayors and county judges in attendance that "contrary to what you may have read in your papers," Kentucky would get $5 million more for rural development each year under special revenue sharing than it now gets for such existing programs.

And, under general revenue sharing, he said $5 billion in "new money" would be made available to state and local governments, Kentucky's share in these funds would amount to about $78 million in the first full year, he said, with $52 million going to the state and $26 million to local governments.

The vice president said the revenue sharing plan would reduce the confusion and overlapping in the present system, and would not require "matching funds," would not require "prior approval" through confusing federal guidelines, and would not require "maintenance of effort"—keeping a program regardless of its cost or effectiveness.

CHRISTEN ASKS CANDIDATES TO FIND FUNDS

Albert Christen, commissioner of the State Department of Finance, has asked gubernatorial candidates to address themselves to supplying the funds for proposed new programs, noting that anticipated growth of present programs and some promised programs are going to cost an additional $17 million in the next biennium.

The theme of Christen's speech, delivered to the Danville Rotary Club, centered around the growth of Bureau of Education and government spending and the losing battle of officials to hold this growth in check.

"We are now observing the politicians going around promising more service and repealing slogans of past years," he said. "Surely it is time for them and the citizens to do some serious thinking about what will happen to their taxes if there is a delivery on these promises."

He suggested that the candidates reveal where funds for these items are coming from. "If $10.8 million for the normal increase in the school founation program.

* $45.6 million for the proposed six per cent annual increase in teacher salaries.

* $20 million needed to offset lower tuition rates at the University of Louisville after it enters the state system.

STATE'S COAL PRODUCTION HITS RECORD HIGH

Kentucky's coal production reached a record 125 million tons last year, with auger and strip-mining showing the biggest increase according to the Department of Mines and Minerals.

The new total is 17 million tons more than in 1969 and 25 million above the 1968 production.

Mines and Minerals Commissioner H.N. Kirkpatrick said 25 million more tons of coal were produced in 1970 than in 1969. The most dramatic gain of 1970 was in auger mining which showed a 95 per cent increase. Some 20.3 million tons were produced by auger mining last year compared with 10.4 million in 1969.

Muhlenberg County in Western Kentucky remained the leading coal producing county in the nation, increasing its output from 21.4 million tons to 25.5 million tons last year.

MEDIA SHOULD REPORT GOOD WITH BAD

Governor Nunn voiced his concern recently that judgment by the news media of what constitutes news is faulty and that the use of specialists by the media has led to prejudiced reporting.

In an address in Louisville to the Kentucky chapter of the professional journalistic society, Sigma Delta Chi, the governor said, "It may be simplistic and trite, but it bears repeating that the news media has a responsibility to show that there is something right in America today."

"You have a responsibility to show both the good and the bad," he added. "It may be harder to make progress as exciting as failure, but that is the challenge the news media face today."

"It may be more difficult to interest your audience in something for which there is unanimous agreement than it is to interest them in a divisive controversy, but I have confidence that you are equal to that task."

He also told the journalists that so many of the specialist reporters "have become advocates as well as interpreters" of the causes about which they write.

"And in your zeal for the cause," he stated, "they may sometimes be guilty of reporting not what really happened but what in their clouded judgment they thought happened, or what they thought should have happened."

STATE POLICE WILL CITE WIDER COAL TRUCKS
Public Safety Commissioner William O. Newman announced his department will continue making arrests for alleged overwidth coal trucks despite a recent unfavorable verdict in Perry Circuit Court.

The first of more than 70 cases of alleged overwidth and overweight trucks to be tried in Perry Circuit Court ended with a deadlocked jury.

Newman said the Kentucky State Police will "continue to make arrests where indicated and leave it up to the courts," until directed otherwise by the Court of Appeals.

He added his men have made more than 200 arrests involving overwidth coal trucks in the last several months in Eastern Kentucky coal-producing counties.

The case heard in Perry Circuit Court involved a charge of operating a truck wider than the maximum of 95 inches permitted by state law.

Newman explained the extra spacing between dual tires on the coal trucks permitted them to carry heavier loads.

MORE KENTUCKIANS GET TAX REFUNDS

More Kentuckians will receive bigger federal and state income tax refunds this year than ever before according to tax officials at both levels.

The Internal Revenue Service reports that 425,778 or 544,212 Kentucky returns filed have had refunds processed. Compared with the same date last year, and with about the same number of returns processed, this shows an increase of 35,744 Kentuckians receiving refunds.

William R. Reed, state income tax director, said refunds from his office this year are 259,484 compared with 192,945 at the same time a

TOM DUNCAN'S Frankfort Watchline

"Don't look back—something may be gaining on you."

Fabled baseball pitcher Satchel Paige said it. But Kentucky politicians seldom seem to listen to his advice.

And in the Democratic race for governor, the camps of both Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford and former Gov. Bert Combs are spending plenty of time watching each other, waiting to react.

If history teaches anything about Kentucky politics it's that waiting to react—'to answer the other fellow'—is fruitless. The momentum almost always goes with the candidate charging on.

Some people on both sides know this, of course. And if they have their way there'll be more charging than in the Newport vice cleanup.

And so far this year has had all the violence of a Girl Scout touch football game—and aroused about as much interest.

The burning issue seems to be which one is the "real" Democrat.

And it's hard to warm up a campaign with a fig leaf that.

The Republican search for a Western Kentuckian to put on the ticket headed by Tom Emberton produced an interesting sequence.

State Rep. R.K. Keith of Hodgenville had been angling for the spot for commissioner of agriculture. But strategists looked west to Daviess County and picked Ben Allen Burns. Burns happens to be a brother of County School Supt.

year ago.

Both collection agencies expect the trend to continue in the days preceding the April 15 filing deadline.

Everett L. Meek, director of the Covington IRS center, said the Kentucky average dollar refund has been growing the last three years.

"The biggest explanation is the increase in the average wage received," Meek said. He noted that more people have more jobs and more returns are being filed. The increase in refunds does not mean less income tax revenue for the state.

Observers are still scratching their heads over why Democrats on the Legislative Research Commission rejected the idea of hearing former Parks Commissioner James Hoot's version of buying a plastic bubble for the swimming pool at General Butler State Park.

Ford and Combs forces joined against the motion by Senate GOP Leader Wendell Van Hoose. As he often does, Van Hoose may have looked farther ahead than the Democrats.

Republicans now are on record as being ready to have Host, their candidate for Fred Taylor Burns, who happens to have been allied at key times with J.R. Miller, ramrod of the Ford campaign.

An monument to the alliance is an all-electric school, served by Miller's co-op, hardly a rock throw from the Texas Gas Transmission home office in Owensboro.

When both sides are happy somebody's wrong. So somebody's wrong about the reaction to Combs' favoring a bonus for Vietnam veterans.

His people say the reaction has been "very, very favorable."

But Ford backers saw it as an opening to attack Combs' method of financing the 1960 bonds with a bond issue to be paid off from the sales tax.

When both sides are unhappy—with the press—somebody's right.

Unless both sides are at least a little displeased with coverage of their campaigns some reporters probably are being taken.

And right now grumblings are coming from Ford forces about their treatment at the hands of newsmen.

The Combs complaints are mainly that he's being smeared by stories that lack or bear no bearing on the race or his record as governor.

Cook Pleased With Hearings

Senator MacIow W. Cook today announced that he was extremely pleased with the Commerce Committee hearings on his amendment to the Uniform Time Act of 1966. This amendment would shorten the period during which Daylight Saving Time is in use from Memorial Day to Labor Day.

"I feel that we established a very good record as to the great importance of this change. The witnesses from school and farm organizations were very effective in explaining the hardships which Daylight Saving Time creates during the spring and fall months."

Cook also said that he has sent a letter to each member of the Commerce Committee reiterating the need for the shortened period, and urging their support for the change. The amendment will now be considered in executive session, and it will then be decided whether to report the Bill favorably to the Floor.

"There seems to be growing support for this change," Cook said, "and I feel there will be a good chance for passage of the bill if it reaches the Floor."

Cook also mentioned that he has gotten several additional co-sponsors for his bill.

Mr. Floyd L. Jernigan has been named General Chairman for the 1971 Kosair Crippled Children Hospital Operating Fund Campaign. He is Executive Vice-President and Managing Director of Southern Savings and Building Association, at 424 South 5th St., Louisville.

Kosair Hospital serves Kentuckians with pride and dedication. Youngsters from every county in Kentucky who cannot pay for their treatment and would otherwise be left with life long handicaps are treated at Kosair. Many of these youngsters require long and expensive care, but the results are a whole and happy child who can grow up to be a useful citizen of his community.

No matter how long their stay Kosair makes only two requirements for admission; that the child have a crippling disability requiring treatment, and that the child's parents are financially unable to provide the treatment.

Kosair does not receive money from any other campaign so the support for this work must be raised through contributions made to Kosair Crippled Children Hospital, 882 Eastern Parkway, Louisville, Kentucky 40217.

Essay Winners

The Mt. Vernon Woman's Club held its annual student essay contest again this year and were well pleased with the interest shown by students and teachers in the county schools.

Carolyn Reppert, a senior at Mt. Vernon High School, won first prize. Marjorie Thomas, a sophomore at Mt. Vernon won second place. The title of her essay was "Competent Concern for My Citizenship."

Finalists in the elementary division were: Kim Payne and Rhonda Bradley - Brothead School; Farina Joy Morris - Livingston School; Karen Louise Abney and Jerri Lane Wren - Roundstone; Roxanne Hammons and James Shannon Franklin, Mt. Vernon.

First place winner in this division was Jerri Lane Wren of Roundstone. James Shannon Franklin of Mt. Vernon won second place. Their essays were entitled "The Price I Owe for My Heritage."

Reprinted below are both Miss Reppert's and Miss Wren's essays.

A keen awareness for the membership of our United States does not just happen as rain falling to the good earth. The seed must be sown, cultivated and nurtured beyond maturity.

The seed has been sown when we acquire citizenship by either birth within the boundaries of the United States or by the due process of naturalization. Education is the factor needed to cultivate a knowledgeable citizenry to overcome fear. We must get off the sidelines and take part in the struggle.

The United States and its citizens are not separate terms, because the citizens guide the destiny of the nation. We all have heard the saying that the little man can't do anything so he might as well just be contented with his common lot and not take part in governmental affairs nor even mark his ballot. Let us not forget that the humble ounces of the manual laborer are the ounces which tip the scale for the mighty leader to make the great shores for humanity.

As aware citizens doesn't build a fence around his life. He lends a helping hand to his neighbors and says yes to worthy causes. He has a sense of living in which the spirit moves and takes precedence over his actions. A competent citizen teaches his children to salute "Old Glory" and to cast aside the ideas behind the rebel flag as well as it. He teaches and believes that for as long as the stars and stripes wave their colors, we'll be backing her up for more.

The concerned citizen does go to the polls and he does cast his ballot for the man whom he feels will strive and crusade for the type of local, state and community policies which will make the world a more decent place in which to live.

The concerned citizen does not overlook the dirty deals in government by throwing up his hands, sighing and saying, "Well, there's nothing I can do, I'm only one person!"

There is no surrier cause that can be uttered, because after all, there aren't any super-humans walking around. If one has enough energy to throw up his hands, he should have enough gumption to sit his opinions, speak out against the ill-deeds and get involved to eradicate the misdeeds. It only took one man to have the Bible readings banned from public schools and only one person to object to the astronaut's reading of the Creation on the moon. So isn't that a negative view on what one person is capable of getting done? Oh, I think you who we'd object to her concern for civic matters. We didn't have enough time, did we? There were more important things we had to attend to like doing the daily shopping. I bet God really chided us up one for doing the shopping. So what are we planning to do, give up our right to vote because we won't, through disinterest, and lack of time use the two-party system? Are we giving up our right to own property because we are giving up our right to vote? Are we giving up our right to free speech for fear that we are speaking against the establishment? Aren't we afraid to peacefully assemble on the streets for fear that the weird-o and go preachers might commit a crime because we won't let our officials in enforcing the law? I suppose the colleges will have to be closed down too, since we aren't able to keep the riots at a minimum. Let us not forget, we may all find the need to move to Viet Nam so that we may all have our cemeteries there where all lived and died bravely.

Questions and Answers

Q. I have been offered part-time work by my employer when I retire next month. Since I have already applied for monthly social security retirement benefits, will my employer still have to withhold social security contributions from my wages?

A. Yes. The fact that you draw monthly social security benefits has no bearing on the requirement that your employer withhold and report social security contributions on your wages.

Q. I get social security payments as a widow. I do not work, but I own a small apartment building. Does my rental income count toward the $1,680 a year that I can earn before social security payments are reduced?

A. No. Only wages and self-employment income count as earnings for social security purposes. Rental income will not affect your cash benefits unless you are a real estate dealer.

Tom Owens visited Bob Allen Sunday evening.

Teen Leader Environmental Workshop

Kentucky young people are learning about "Natural Resources and Our Environment in Kentucky" this week
(April 12-16) at the state Teen Leader Environmental Workshop.

Nearly 150 young people,
representing 92 Kentucky
counties, are at the workshop,
which is being held at Lake Cumberland 4-H Center in Wayne County. This is a record attendance at this annual event, according to Fred Brookman, Extension specialist for 4-H programs with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

Most of those attending are sophomores or juniors in high school and members of 4-H or other youth groups. All have leadership potential and an interest in resources and environment, and each will do some follow-up work in his or her home county, using the training received at the workshop.

The workshop is planned to create in young people an awareness of the kinds and abundance of Kentucky's natural resources and to teach them
the relationship between management, use practices
and the effect on environment.
Brookman noted, Local Soil Conservation Districts' Board of Supervisors have provided scholarships for the workshop
for most of those attending.

Opening sessions on Monday, April 12, included a talk on "The Geological Resources and Environment in Kentucky"
by Preston McGrain, assistant state geologist, Kentucky Geological Survey, University of Kentucky, and a discussion of agencies and organizations involved in conservation work by D.C. Sherman, a member of the Pulaski County Soil Conservation District Board of Supervisors.

In other workshop sessions
during this week, delegates are studying different aspects of Kentucky's natural resources
related to wildlife, forestry, fishing and water. Besides this,
these fields are talking to the group and serving as resource persons for group discussions.
The group also will see demonstrations on forest fire control and on fish pond and game management and will tour a local farm. Scheduled for the night programs are conservation films and recreation.

The University of Kentucky
Cooperative Extension Service, in cooperation with the Federal Cartridge Corporation, the State Committee for Youth Programs in Natural Resource Conservation, local Soil Conservation Districts'
Board of Supervisors, and other state agencies, are sponsoring this annual event.

Billy Frank Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Stewart, and Tommy Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stewari, are attending the workshop. The local Soil Conservation Service board of supervisors sponsored these two boys.

Poison-ivy

Poison-ivy causes more discomfort to a greater number of people during the year
than any other plant found growing in Kentucky.

The poisonous material is produced in the leaves, flowers, fruits, and bark of the stems and roots. You don't have to come in direct contact with the plant to become poisoned. The poisonous substance from poison-ivy can be carried to individuals in various ways such as by particles of soot, tools, clothing and pets.

Since the degree of immunity varies with individuals,
condition of the plant, and circumstances under which the individual is exposed, it is important for everyone to avoid contact with the plant
as much as possible. Immunity from poison-ivy is not necessarily permanent.

Poison-ivy is sometimes separated into several species according to the variation in growth habits and leaf shape. However, since the results are similar in all contact with all forms of the plant and since the control measures are the same, for practical purposes we consider these plants as one species.

For controlling poison-ivy around the home lawn, we suggest spraying the leaves with ammate at the rate of 3/4 to 1 pound dissolved in 1 gallon of water with amlitrol at the rate recommended
in the directions on the label
of the particular product purchased. There are several formulations of ammitrol;
therefore, the rates may vary somewhat.

Neither of these materials is volatile; therefore, they can be used near crops such as tobacco, tomatoes, grapes,
cotton, and many ornamentals
that are susceptible to 2,4-D.
However, during the spraying operation it is important to avoid spray drift on desirable plants.

Applications with ammate
and ammitrol should be made when the poison-ivy plants are in full leaf and growing rapidly. Thorough coverage of the leaf surface is important.

Both ammate and ammitrol
can be washed from a sprayer
by rinsing it thoroughly with water.

Before spraying, read and follow directions on the label.

Hunting & Fishing

There're probably no more than 1500 of this hardy, dedicated breed left. We're talking about wild turkey hunters
in Kentucky.

But they'll be taking to the fields in two widely separated areas soon and even if as many as 1200 of them
join in the hunt, their total harvest of turkeys probably will not be a dozen. By a little deduction it can be seen that a hunter may hunt 99 times without bagging a par on the par with the average hunter.

But it's the greatest sport,
the hunters say, and hopefully it will continue many,
many years in the protected areas. There turkey perpetuation is closely guarded by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources and other conservationists.

The few gobblers that are harvested will in no way damage the turkey population, because one turkey should have roughly 200 acre to call his own—that is, if he is to properly prosper.

Kentucky's two spring seasons occur in the Daniel Boone Forest area, an 18-county tier in southeastern Kentucky, and on a designated area of about Land Between the Lakes, with headquarters at Golden Pond.

In the 18-county area the season will open on April 24
and continue through May 2, both dates inclusive. In the Land Between the Lakes two week ends have been set aside for the gobbler hunters: April 15, 16 and 17 and April 22, 23 and 24.

(Cont. From Page 5)
cerned enough to do something about the conditions of our citizens in relation to citizenship, I can only say, "Alright, Americans, wake up, we have become so consumed with apathy that we have no Americans, only an America where competent American citizens used to live?"

By: Carolyn Reppert
The verdict of the court martial finding Lt. William L. Calley, Jr. guilty of the murder of twenty-two persons at My Lai has intensely aroused the feelings of citizens throughout the United States.
Congressman Tim Lee Carter, Representative of Kentucky, in a recent speech expressed his feelings in the following statement:
"As a combat veteran of World War II, I have personal knowledge of actions some of our soldiers may occur. When a soldier sees his buddies killed, maimed and mutilated, he sometimes becomes intensely angry with those responsible for what it is true, as General William T. Sherman said, that "war is hell."

"War is a total failure of nations' abilities to reconcile their differences peacefully, I long for the time when nations' differences can be sensibly and amicably reconciled by negotiations, when our species shall be weaned into pruning hooks, and our swords into plowshares. In Benjamin Franklin's words, "There are three things in a good war or a bad peace."
If Lt. Calley was guilty at My Lai, so was that Administration guilty at Nagasaki and Hiroshima of killing thousands, when they dropped the atomic bomb. I am today asking President Nixon to pardon Lt. Calley."
