Hunting & Fishing

Kentucky hunters, we have always believed, are as good as the best. And they have proved this to their own and everyone else's satisfaction in two week ends of turkey gobblers hunting on designated areas of the Land Between the Lakes.

The Land Between the Lakes for those who don't know, is a tract of 170,000 square acres between Barkley and Kentucky lakes with the largest portion in Kentucky but also with a fair amount across the Tennessee line.

LBL is designated as a multi-use recreational area and it is just that. Among its features are sections set aside for controlled hunting and the hunting sector there is a designated area where turkey gobblers with visible beards may be hunted in the spring months.

The hunt this spring was held on the weekends of April 15-17 and April 22-24. The results were most gratifying.

There was another spring hunt for bearded turkey gobblers in Kentucky but as of this date the results have not been tabulated. That hunt occurred in 18 Eastern Kentucky counties and the season opened on April 24 and extended through May 2.

The most pleasing thing about the turkey hunts was not the number of turkeys taken but the condition of those harvested. They were, perhaps, heavier than the average turkey taken nationwide.

These eight Kentucky birds averaged 21-3/4 pounds each and the largest weighed a bouncing 24 pounds, with the lightest going at 19 pounds even.

All except one were taken by Kentuckians. That one went to the old pro in the turkey hunting ranks, Col. Dave Harbour, of Leesburg, Fla. Col. Harbour is a retired service man and has successfully turned his attention lately to outdoor writing.

His articles have appeared in leading magazines with regularity in the past few years and he is also the author of the Modern ABC's of Bird Hunting. His story about the Kentucky hunt is due to appear in a national magazine within a few months. By the way, Col. Harbour's turkey weighed 22 1/2 pounds and he said, "It's the biggest 'tom' I've ever killed."

Other successful hunters and the weights of their birds were as follows: Harold Best, Salem, 29; William Morris, Cadiz, 21; Harley Roman, Fern Creek, 23 1/2; Sam Bilyer, Russellville, 23; Wilson Wessver, Fair Dealing, 19; and Alex Hughes, Paducah, 21.

But even the Old Pro's bird was not as large as John Newman's trophy which was highweighted at 24. John, by the way, is a resident of Paducah.

The 12 participating counties are: Clark, Clay, Elliott, Jackson, Knott, Lee, Lincoln, Madison, Manfies, Owsley, Rockcastle and Gerard. Jorge Tate, M.D., director of the Division of Maternal and Child Health and acting director of the family planning program, has said, "Family planning services do not end and begin with teaching methods of birth control. Those women supplied with contraceptives are given periodic examinations and follow-up care is continued," he said.

"Many high-risk patients who refuse to have children are referred to local health facilities for care including prenatal, post-natal, and obstetrical hospital delivery and post partum care," Dr. Deju said. "Their newborn remain under a physician's care during infancy."

A Berea physician, Dr. Louise Hutchins, will operate the Berea-based unit with a staff of three nurses, clerk and driver. Together the four will work hand-in-hand with all 12 local county health departments.

Rockcastle Farmers Approve Referendum

Rockcastle farmers voted overwhelmingly to support the poundage program in Tuesday's referendum. Out of an approximate 3,000 votes possible, 2,683 yes votes were cast as opposed to only 71 no votes.

The voting was similar across the state. Statistical figures for Kentucky, with 120 of 120 counties reporting late Tuesday evening from the state ASOS office, showed the referendum passed 221,035 to 4,255, with a total of 225,299 farmers voting in the commonwealth. This was 98.1 percent for the plan.

Across the eight-state barley belt last night, scattered returns sketched a victory picture in Tennessee, where "yes" votes hit 87.7 percent with half the votes counted. Other states reported: Virginia, 96.9 percent; Missouri, 96.8 percent; West Virginia, 97.1 percent and more than 90 percent marks in West Virginia, Indiana and North Carolina.

The program needed a two-thirds majority for acceptance and in Kentucky the lowest majority per county was McLean County which passed the measure by 90 percent.

By precinct, here's how it went in Rockcastle: Community A, 531-18; Community B, 156-10; Community C, 715-23; Community D, 452-14; Community E, 224-7; Absentee Ballots, 224-7.

Farmers will have the opportunity to vote on continuing the new program in three years.

If the referendum had failed, farmers would have been without price supports on their barley. The market would have been open - a situation that would have led to a flooded market and an economic depression for the veteran tobecomem.

Under the new program, farmers will be on a poundage basis, which has been a 5 percent cut for this year - in an effort to stabilize the supply-demand balance on the market, which has been in overproduction the past several years.

Kenneth Stewart, far left, and his brother, Wayne Stewart, far right, were awarded the annual Robert F. Spence Award at the 50th Annual Farmers-Businessmen banquet of Madison and Rockcastle Counties. Shown with the Stewart brothers is their father, W.S. Stewart of Wildie who received the award in 1968. The presentation was made at a banquet held last Friday night.

Stewart Bros. Receive Annual Spence Award

Two Rockcastle County brothers, Kenneth and Wayne Stewart, Friday night were presented the Bob Spence award at the 50th Annual Farmers-Businessmen banquet of Madison and Rockcastle counties.

The honorees are sons of W.S. Stewart of Wildie who received the award in 1924. In addition to farming, they deal in agricultural implements, fertilizers and other farm supplies.

The presentation was made by Sam Wheeler, who won the award last year.

The award is named for the man who was Kentucky's first extension agent and who served in the Madison-Rockcastle area.

Got a chance Saturday to go watch the Cincinnati Reds play in their new Riverfront Stadium and it was certainly a treat.

The stadium is located right off of Interstate-75 and entry to it, and the parking, is so much easier than the old Crosley Field that it was a little unbelievable. Actually, I spent so much time looking at the colorful scene around me and the electronic scoreboard that I am going to have to go back to be able to see a ballgame.

The only thing that was notable about the trip, and it was also annoying at Crosley Field, was the price of the concessions. They are sky high and I did get a little peeved when I bought an ice cream for my youngsters, that would have cost me 10c in a grocery store, and had to pay 25c for it.

But, all in all, it was a delightful day. The weather was perfect. The kids not too much trouble, and we got to see the Reds take one from the league leading San Francisco Giants.

School Board Meets

Rev. Cox, pastor of the New Testament Baptist Mission in the Roundstone Community, met with the Rockcastle County Board of Education at their regular meeting Monday night to request the use of the Roundstone School auditorium and cafeteria Monday, May 31. Rev. Cox told the board that the auditorium would be used for an all-day Bible Conference, which was expected to draw from a 100 to 150 people, and that since two meals would be served a place with cooking facilities was necessary.

After much discussion, the board decided to let stand a July, 1969 ruling by the school board that the use of school property and buses would be prohibited to all denominations. The board agreed that if school property were made available to one church group that it would have to be made available to all and that the wear and tear on the property might be a little too much.

In other business, the board approved extension of the Rehabilitation program in Rockcastle County for 1971. The board provides $4,000 cash and services to this program and the Bureau of Rehabilitation provides $36,000 in matching funds. Tommy Harold Mink is in charge of the program locally.

Authorized a short-term loan, if needed, from the Bank of Mt. Vernon up to $250,000. Superintendents explained to the board that while there were funds available in Certificates of Deposit held by the board, obligations coming due before the certificates matured would cause the loss of accumulated interest if the certificates had to be cashed in to meet the obligations. He said the bank had agreed to lend the money to meet the obligations, at a good interest rate, thus saving the interest accumulated on the certificates.

Employed qualified personnel for 1971-72 and authorized contracts to be sent by June 1.

Authorized the superintendent to place and assign all qualified teachers and staff by June 1. Any transfer of absence

Fiscal Court Meets; Buys New Dump Truck

The Rockcastle County Fiscal Court, at a meeting Tuesday, accepted a bid from Hughes Motor Co. of Somerset for a new International dump truck. The bid calls for a purchase price of $4,167.70 with trade-in of a 1967 Ford truck and delivery by August 1.

In other business, the Court turned down a request by the Mt. Vernon City Council that they ask the State Department of Highways to grade, drain and traffic bond macadam the Lake Lovell Road from the end of the state maintenance road near Interstate-75 to the junction of the Green Hill and Oak Hill Road.

The Fiscal Court felt that a request from them to the state to improve the road, a job which has been estimated by state engineers to cost in the neighborhood of $100,000, might interfere with the maintenance of the roads already set up under the County Road Aid Program. They did however pass a motion made by Sherman Sargent, and seconded by Claidin Thacker, asking the State Highway Department to look into the matter of maintenance of the Lake Road on the section mentioned above.

The Court also passed a motion to recommend to the Rockcastle County Budget Commissioners that the following (Cont. To 9)

12 MINE INSPECTORS ADDED BY STATE

The Kentucky Division of Strip Mining and Reclamation, faced with a rapid increase in surface mining and an influx of former deep miners to the more lucrative strip mining field, has added 12 more inspectors to its staff.

The 12 will raise the total number of inspectors to 32, according to division director Elmore Grim. Of the 12 additional inspectors, Grim said, 10 will enter service in Eastern Kentucky, bringing the total there to 42. Two will go to Western Kentucky, boosting the total there to 10.

Grim said surface mining operations have increased dramatically in recent months. He quoted figures showing that 13,000 acres were disturbed by surface mining of coal in 1969, compared with 23,000 acres in 1970.

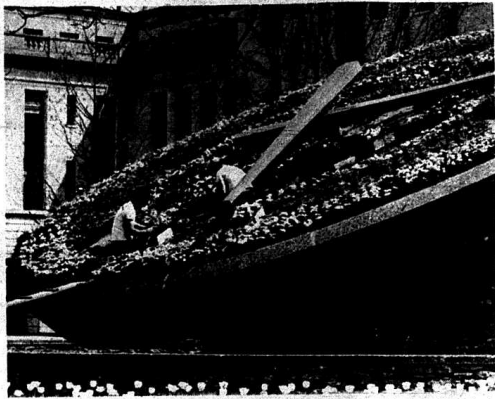

He also pointed to the sudden appearance of new strip mine operators—some driven out of deep mining by the Coal Mine Health and Safety Act of 1969, some former highway builders driven to expansion of their construction firms by a lag in road construction.

He said the construction firms had vast experience in dirt removal and transfer, and were in many cases better equipped than the strip miners themselves, but the former deep mine firms often were not so well equipped.

Grim noted that applications for permits to strip mine are being turned down recently by the division in numbers larger than ever before.

GOVERNOR RESTORES BUDGET CUT FOR EDUCATION

Gov. Louis B. Nunn has authorized full restoration of

TIME FOR FLOWERS—One of the traditional springtime tasks around the Kentucky State Capitol in Frankfort is the setting of fresh flowers in the floral clock. Here, two workmen perched precariously near "half past" in the famous simplice have to work fast to ensure that "time," in the form of the large minute hand, does not overtake them. last year's $2,993,000 budget cut in the Minimum Foundation program for schools and payment of an additional $1,988,000 to the program to offset unanticipated costs for pupil transportation.

The cuts, originally ordered last August, were required because of the estimate of the state's General Fund revenue slipped from the $577 million to $553 million.

In announcing the action, the governor said present economic trends indicate the General Fund collections will exceed a revised $580 million estimate for the current fiscal year.

The foundation program experienced its major unanticipated cost increases in five areas. The increases were: bus driver salaries, $689,000; school bus replacement, $607,000; mechanics' salaries, $500,000; bus repair parts, $10,000; and liability insurance on buses, $91,000.

A Finance Department spokesman attributed the increased costs in these areas primarily to inflation.

ROAD OVER PINE MOUNTAIN NOT TUNNEL THROUGH

Highway Commissioner B.E. King has announced that state engineers have abandoned a proposal to tunnel a highway through Pine Mountain between Harlan and Letcher counties, and have chosen instead to build a section of new U.S. 119 and over the massive divide. The proposed highway is a critical section of the Appalachian highway network, but has posed some of the knottiest engineering problems in Kentucky road-building history.

King said test drilling on the mountain had revealed the presence of a subsurface fault which eliminated the tunnel idea from consideration. The fault meant that the grade would have been so steep as to have necessitated the construction of a third passing lane. This would have upped the total cost of the project around $10 million.

Ironically, King pointed out, the route has the least projected traffic on an Appalachian highway in Kentucky, yet it will be one of the most expensive.

According to Cecil Hester, chief locating engineer, the route now favored can be built for an average cost of about $3 million per mile, but he said $6 million at the top will cost $5 million—the most expensive rural mile of road ever built in Kentucky.

The road at the top will feature a 250-foot cut and a 200-foot fill—the deepest cut and highest fill on a Kentucky highway.

DR. WALKER SHRINE MAY BECOME LARGE PARK
 The state Parks Department and a local volunteer group have taken the first step toward the development of the Dr. Thomas Walker State Shrine in Knox County to a full fledged recreational park. The 12-acre shrine, donated to the state in 1931 by the Preston said he had tried to settle the issue with the company, but the firm's response had been unsatisfactory.

In 1969 the firm received premiums totaling $161,320 in this state and paid $41,928 or just 26 cents on every premium dollar earned, the Department reported. The policies provided $100 per week in extra cash benefits for hospital confinement due to sickness or injury.

Preston said the firm waived health questions when accepting new applicants, but relied on one protective device—a provision that a claim for a pre-existing ailment was not in force at least one year.

On this basis the company threw out all renewals, then offered higher-priced coverage to the best of its policyholders.

Preston said the company then set all renewals, then offered higher-priced coverage to the best of its policyholders.

college enrollments expected to increase. Enrollments at Kentucky's public colleges and universities are expected to increase in the coming years, even though some have leveled off during the current school year, according to the executive director of the state Council on Public Higher Education.

"All predictions indicate that higher education will now grow through 1975 and possibly through the whole decade," said Ted Gilbert during a local cable television interview in Frankfort last week. "We can anticipate increasing enrollments although we at this time have leveled off."

Enrollments for 1970 are down a year ago, while other state institutions continue to show increases.

The current primary campaign for governor has produced talk that higher education will not need the same level of increased appropriations as in the past, and that some funds can be reallocated to other needs.

"It might lead us down a very dangerous path if we just assume that we have arrived and leveled off," Gilbert said. "I don't think you'll find anyone in higher education that feels they have surplus funds."

KENTUCKY COLONELS GIVE TO CHARITY

The Honorable Order of Kentucky Colonels has awarded charitable grants totaling $271,877—the largest sum the group has ever given away.

The Colonels distributed the money to 56 Kentucky agencies at the order's annual Derby by Eve dinner in Kentucky Hotel in Louisville.

Last year's total, the previous record, was $225,618. Most of the money is donated by the Colonels themselves.

The "good works" efforts of the order began in 1931 and total contributions to date are $1,648,631.

Bert Combs says:

"It's time the working man got a break in taxes."

Bert Combs believes the working man in Kentucky has been shouldering an unfair share of the state tax burden for too long. He proposes a severance tax on all minerals mined in Kentucky—coal, oil and natural gas—to be paid by the large mining companies when the mineral is removed from the ground.

Part of the severance tax revenue would be returned to the counties and the balance would go into the state general fund. This is one more way that Bert Combs gives the working man a break.

Jaycees Caboose To Be Moved

On a request by the Rockcastle County Jaycees, the Mt. Vernon City Council has agreed to allow the railroad cabooses, in which the Jaycees meet, to be placed on the City parking lot.

The Jaycees obtained the caboose from the L & N Railroad, remodeled it and set it behind the Dinner Bell Building on Richmond Street. Sam Ford, spokesman for the group, told the Council that the caboose would be placed parallel to the railroad tracks and would only take up two or possibly three spaces that way. Mr. Ford also said that the Jaycees tentatively planned to use the caboose, besides for their meetings, as a Tourist Information center on heavily traveled week ends.

SOIL CONSERVATION

Genesis Chapters 1 & 2

When God brought this earth into existence, it was in the rough nothing beautiful about it, it was in the dark, not a tree, not a flower, not a sprig of grass and not even a breath of life. It was all wet and soggy, but God got busy, hanged up some lights, drained the swamps, sowed the grass and planted fruit trees, but this could not grow with out a warming or an incubation system, so He made the sun to warm the earth and the moon to control the seasons and run the pumps to supply the water and operate the laboratory system. He also used the sun and moon for air conditioning. Then He stocked the waters with fish and the fields with birds, the cattle and other animals. He also planted trees for shade and flowers for beauty and vegetables for food. But He still had a problem, there was not a man to till the ground, (Gen. 2:8).

So He made man to till the ground and to keep it

(verse 15) this means not to let it all wash away, nor to destroy it by abuse. God also built a wonderful water system because nothing can live without water.

He made everything beautiful and expected man to keep it that way. God loves beautiful things, that is why He made so many women. He saw man could not do the job right without an adviser, so He made a woman to help him and gave her an eye for beauty. Adam went to sleep and when he awoke there stood before him the prettiest woman in the world, and he was the happiest man on earth. So God gave them (the man and the woman) the earth for a wedding present. And the task of keeping it beautiful, and man has learned that the more he puts into the earth the more he gets back, even multiplied many times.

The earth is the LORD's and the fulfills thereof the world and they that dwell therein. Psalms 24:1. Man is God's tenant, and no better landlord ever existed than God. He says keep it beautiful, pay your rent and I will pay thee well.

County Agent's Notes

Prevented Planting of Corn
As you probably already know, there are means by which producers who are unable to obtain a sufficient supply of blight resistant corn seed can still participate in the feed grain set aside program.

The Secretary of Agriculture has determined that all counties in Kentucky were adversely affected by the corn blight in 1970. Thus, prevented planting credit will be available for Kentucky producers in 1971. Under the prevented planting provision, producers who are unable to obtain a sufficient supply of blight resistant corn seed can participate in the feed grain set aside program, receive payment, and still preserve their feed grain base. Each individual producer who wants to apply the prevented planting provision will be required to file a written request with his county ASCS Committee. The request will be effective for 1971 when approved by the committee.

With corn planting time already upon us and the seemingly evident shortage of corn seed, producers who have not yet been able to obtain suitable blight resistant seed corn may want to consider the prevented planting provision. You may want to bring this provision to the attention of the producers in your county if you have not already done so. Further questions and details about the prevented planting provision may be obtained at your local ASCS County Office.

Garden Alert

Even a bug is not always bad—he may have a valuable place in your garden's ecology. He just might be a beneficial insect - or he could be a delicious meal for a beneficial insect, such as a lady bug. Even if he's a bad bug he may have other natural enemies that would eliminate him biologically.

On the other hand - the "badie" but may be a signal that a new, potentially dangerous foreign pest has sneaked past quarantine barriers or that an established pest is building up to dangerous proportions. In this case, plant protection officials at the U.S. Department of Agriculture would want the bug for official identification.

Don't forget - pesticides used improperly can be injurious to man, animals and plants - not to mention killing "good" bugs. Watch the spraying - apply pesticides selectively and judiciously. Try to know the bug you're aiming for; good or bad in your garden. Don't just "spray." If you've found a new pest, try to save it. Entomologists of USDA's Agricultural Research Service will want to study it to determine its distribution and behavior. Study is also made of the nature and extent of the damage it causes, the manner and rate at which it spreads and whether control measures are needed.

ARS plant protection experts stress the important part played by private citizens in discovering new insect enemies. It was a Florida's home-owner's curiosity about the insect he found in his grapefruit, for example, that triggered a successful campaign against the destructive Mediterranean fruit fly. The pest has become established. Florida growers estimate that it would have cost them $20 million to control it.

Citizens contribute to this service by collecting insects, preserving them in alcohol, and sending them to county agricultural agent located in the Rockcastle County Courthouse instead of indiscriminately dousing them with pesticides. Keep the gardening season safe!

Planting Time for Summer Flowers

Plant your dahlias, gladioli, tuberous begonias, and other bulbous plants anytime after May 10. This is usually considered the last frost possibility until fall. Gladioli can be planted anytime in April or May. Weekly plantings will give you cutting flowers over an extended time this summer.

For a nice effect in some dry bare spots in your yard, loosen the soil and scatter portulaca seeds. They germinate best when the soil has become quite warm in the latter part of May.

Plan to plant annual flowers and vines in borders and in long planters. When using containers for several plants, be sure to consider the individual sizes and the various colors of their blooms: Harmonious form, texture, and color are important.

Upright daffodils while you can, still fill the foliage. Dig and reset them in the same day. Try to keep the foliage from wilting, then encourage the leaves to store as much food as possible for next year's flowers.

Watch for insects and Pests
Watch your holly and boxwood plants for signs of leaf miners. If they were infested last year, it might be wise to treat them again. The newer insecticides such as dimethoate do a good job in controlling these insect pests. Bagworm larvae will start to appear sometime during the month. Timely application of malathion or sevin will con-

Cong. Tim Lee

Carter Comments

The advent of spring traditionally brings large groups of tourists from across the country to visit our Nation's capital. Representative Tim Lee Carter, of Kentucky's Fifth District, noted that April and May of this year have brought with them even greater numbers of persons, who come to express their opposition to the Vietnam conflict to leaders in both the Executive and Legislative Branches of our government.

Congressman Carter explained that during the week of April 19, "Vietnam Veterans Against the War" protested U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia. Their activities included visiting with their home state Congressmen and Senators, staging mock search-and-destroy missions, holding memorial services at Arlington Cemetery, and attending Senate hearings on the war.

Although none of the Vietnam Veterans visited Congressman Carter's office, he spoke with several of those who were at the Capitol building concerning his position on the Vietnam war. He explained that when the escalation of the U.S. war effort was under way during the mid 1960's, he was the first Congressman to speak against our involvement before the House of Representatives. He believed at that time and continues to believe that the United States has overextended its commit-
