

JUNE IS DAIRY MONTH — AND WE WOULD LIKE TO SAY . . .

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE Dairy Industry!

This month is a good time for all of us to take a closer look at our Dairy Industry. One thing is certain, it has become big business and is getting bigger every day. And our dairy farmers have done an excellent job in increasing production to meet growing demands. They are using the most modern, up-to-date equipment in rigidly controlled modern plants. We salute them for a job well done!

"JOHN LAIR"

stater, Clyde, would say, "John knew that if he were reading a book or drawing a picture, Mother would never call on him for any chores." And whenever possible, John liked to gather his "musical" friends, Carl Davis, Hartford Taylor, and Dock Hopkins, and they would all crawl under the high front porch of his home to play the guitar and sing. (In later years he brought these three boys to Chicago and made them featured performers on the WLS Barn Dance.) When grandfather Judge Lair heard about this, he would repeat to John his stern admonition that, "no man could ever amount to anything if he played a fiddle or partied his hair in the middle." After the first six or seven grades at Red Bud School, Mr. Lair went into Mt. Vernon for his "higher education," and found more opportunities to pursue his "show business" interests. According to Ben Finback, a schoolmate, John was not a natural musician but was always patiently coaxing music out of any horn he could find. And he was always ready with an amusing parody on any song of the day, or his own made-up comedy acts. For instance, when Mr. Lair was 12 years old he went to the Livingston School and contracted the school auditorium. We felt sure that the "apple and deception" was not used here but somehow everyone was led to believe that the Mt. Vernon School was to present a major play, Mr. Lair had made elaborate decorative plans even getting the loan of the big red velvet curtains from the Mt. Vernon Theatre which he used as backdrops. Business was great, the house was full and the crowd soon discovered that the entire show consisted of John Lair and his "Baker" who was also 12 years old at the time. Most of the show was comedy skits and Mr. Lair said that the laughs were about as good as he could expect by the time that stole the show was when the curtain fell down and hit him in the head.

But by high school days, he was a mature showman and took over the management of the student entertainments. He coached all the acts, was head-property-man, painted backdrops, rigged the lines and pulleys, designed the costumes and etc. Appearing with him in these endeavors were schoolmates Bill Davis, T.R. Richards, John D. Henderson and Ruth Mullins McFerron, to name a few. In 1914, Mr. Lair was one of the three members of the first graduating class of Mt. Vernon High School, the other two being Robert McKenna and James Thompson. After graduation, he enrolled in a Cartoonist School in Battle Creek, Michigan for awhile, but returned home to teach school at Livingston for a couple of years. He also did some substitute teaching at Mt. Vernon during this time, and one of his pupils in Geometry class was Virginia Crawford, who he didn't know much about the subject, but used every means to hide this fact from his students.

He was drafted into the Army in 1916, reporting to Camp Taylor in Louisville where he was assigned to Special Services, and sent to Camp Meigs in Washington, D.C. Along with Army routine, he still found time to pursue his own interests. This included a published book of poems, entitled "Lest We Forget," and another poem "Before I Crossed" which would have special significance for him. He was also in an Army dramatic group which teamed with "Gladys" which he wrote several comedy sketches, one of which was the "Backward Squad Drill" which has been reworked many times for various shows. In the Spring of 1918, Helen Ware (a famous actress of the day) was appearing at the National Theatre in Washington. John was invited to attend the performance but was probably a little baffled when the Commanding General called for him in his car and seated him in his box at the theatre. When Miss Ware appeared on stage she recited his poem "Before I Crossed" and then announced that the author was in the audience. Walking to the wings, she extended her hand to Mr. Lair and led him on stage. This incident also prompted an article in the Literary Digest proclaiming him a second James Whitcomb Riley. It also earned him a feature. While home, his father and Mr. Lair was charged from the Army as he was his mother's sole support.

During the next six years, Mr. Lair tried his hand at politics, farming, newspaper editing in Ctrina, and a job with Kentucky Printing in Louisville. While in Louisville, he met a man hiring for Liberty Mutual Insurance Co. and so went to Boston as a Claims Adjuster. Within a few months he was transferred to the Chicago office. On June 18, 1924, he and Virginia Frances Crawford were married at her home in Mt. Vernon, and returned to Chicago to begin their life together. For the next 10 years, Mr. Lair continued to work for Liberty Mutual, but a new show-business venture began to fascinate him, this new thing called "radio." He became a frequent visitor at the WLS Radio Station and soon realized the great appeal that country music and sentiment would have through this medium. Before long he had contacted Carl Davis and Hartford Taylor to the big city with promises of a job in radio. He then added Dock Hopkins, Ben Miller, Gene Ruppe and Red Foley to form the original Cumberland Ridge Runners group. By 1934 Mr. Lair could see his future in developing and promoting talent for radio. He severed this with Liberty Mutual and went to work full-time with WLS. Actually, he was now beginning what would seem to be the hardest work of his life, but for him it has never been work...in the sense of drudgery. From 1934 to the present day, John Lair has been doing what he loves best...and getting paid for it, an enviable position that few men achieve.

Nov. 24, 1939 the discovery and promotion of such stars as Lulu Belle and Sissy, Linda Parker, Red Foley, Hugh Cross and Lily Mae, Homer & Jethro, Jerry Byrd, Little Jimmy Dickens, Merle Travis,

Pat Buttrick, Earnie Lee, Shorty & Eller, Aunt Tye & Little Clifford. One of the outstanding acts ever to appear on the Barn Dance, Harry Mullins was Little Clifford. Some of the "firsts" he inaugurated were: first to have barn dance performers dressed in costumes, first to have square dancers perform on stage, first to include the bass fiddle and steel guitar as "hillbilly" instruments, first to have a live audience for a radio broadcast, and he was the first to have the vision and confidence that the public would rather hear country music as it was meant to be sung rather than changing the songs to fit the popular style. Another important first was the song book, "100 WLS Barn Dance Favorites" which he compiled and edited.

(Ed's. Note: Due to the length of the article on Mr. Lair, the remainder will appear in next week's Signal, p.m.)

5 Local Teen-Agers On European Tour

Five teen-agers from Mt. Vernon left Louisville Sunday on the first leg of a three-week European tour that will take them through eight countries.

The local group included: Lida Henderson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joe Henderson; Vicki Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James O. Smith; John St. Clair, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack St. Clair; Elizabeth Allen, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. John Allen and Charles Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles "Tuck" Baker.

Also leaving Louisville Sunday with the five local teen-agers were 23 youngsters from Somerset and when the entire tour group left Kennedy Airport in New York Sunday evening there were over 100 in the group.

Chaperones for these on the tour from Mt. Vernon and Somerset are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Conn Crawford, Jr. of Somerset and Mrs. Bob Omara of Louisville.

The first stop in the Holland group was in Amsterdam, Antwerp where they arrived in a 400 passenger 747 Royal Dutch jet. After visiting the Netherlands, they will also tour Italy, France, Switzerland, England, West Germany, Liechtenstein and Austria before arriving home July 11.

Miss Wheat Injured

Lavinia Lee Wheat, 18, of Mt. Vernon was seriously injured last Tuesday afternoon, June 15, when she was involved in a two-car collision on U.S. 180 between Brodhead and Mt. Vernon.

The other car involved in the accident was driven by Vernon Cummins, 37, of Route 3, Crab Orchard, who was not seriously injured. A passenger in his car, Bobby McKinney, 25, of Brodhead was treated for injuries at the Rockcastle County Baptist Hospital and released.

John Bullock of Brodhead, who witnessed the accident, told police that Miss Wheat, who was traveling east on U.S. 180, came over a small rise and lost control of her car. According to Miss Bullock, Miss Wheat's car turned crossways of the road and began sliding up the road sideways.

Cummins, who was traveling west on 180, applied his brakes and steered left to try and avoid the collision but his car skidded and collided with Miss Wheat's in the middle of the road.

Miss Wheat is a patient in the Central Baptist Hospital at Lexington.

Dr. Earl Hays, Berea Dies At Residence

Dr. Earl T. Hays, 48, who had practiced medicine in Berea since 1955, died early Monday at his home in the Baker Addy 1 on here after illness.

A native of Berea, Dr. Hays was graduated from Berea College in 1944 and received his M.D. in 1949 from the University of Louisville School of Medicine.

A member of the Union Church here, Dr. Hays also was a member of the Oletha Shrine of Lexington, the American Medical Association, the Kentucky Medical Association, and the Madison

Funeral services were held Monday, June 21 at the Marlet Baptist Church with Bro. Paul Trautner officiating. Interment was in the Marlet Cemetery.

Arrangements were by Cox Funeral Home.

Duckworth, Douglas Brock.

John Lair Honored As "Outstanding Countian"

The Rockcastle County Jaycees' first annual Rockcastle Countian Award Banquet was held last Thursday night at the Rockcastle Steak House.

Following the banquet, John Lair, founder of Renfro Valley Enterprises was presented a plaque, naming him the Outstanding Rockcastle Countian for 1971. The award was given in recognition of his past achievements and contribution to the economy and growth of Rockcastle County.

The program was opened with a welcome from Jaycees President Sam Ford and recognition of special guests.

Invocation was given by Bro. David Woods, a Jaycee and pastor of the Wildie Christian Church, following which a delicious full-course dinner was served. Following dinner, entertainment was provided by Lilly Mae and the Coon Creek Girls, one of the original acts at Renfro Valley when it began in 1939.

Glenn Pennington of Berea, who was also an entertainer on the Renfro Valley Barn Dance as early as 1941 and who is the present day master of ceremonies for the Saturday night show, was the guest speaker for the evening. Mr. Pennington gave a brief history of the highlights of Mr. Lair's career from his birth in 1894 to present day.

Information Center To Be Here June 30

The Blue Cross and Blue Shield Mobile Information Center will be in Mt. Vernon on June 30.

The Mobile Information Center will be located in the Farm Bureau parking lot in Mt. Vernon. All Farm Bureau members with questions regarding health care protection are invited to visit the service unit. Michael C. O'Leary, manager of the unit, will be available to serve you.

The text of Mr. Pennington's speech is as follows:
"John Lee Lair was born on July 1, 1894, the second child and only son of Isabella Coffey and Thomas Burke Lair. His parents had just recently moved to Livingston, as his father was working as carpenter for the L&N Railroad, and lived there only a short time. Just long enough to "knock me out of being born in Renfro Valley," to quote Mr. Lair. When John was five years old, his family moved to a farm on Renfro Creek, adjoining his grandfather's place which was known as Rose Hill. In those days, life on a farm meant hard work for everyone and John did his share, but he could always find time for things more to his liking. As his (Cont. To 12)

Local Warrant Taken In Madison Fracas

A John Doe warrant for shooting into an occupied motor vehicle was obtained Saturday in Rockcastle County in connection with a 12-hour spree which also resulted in two charges of armed assault in Madison County for four Whitley City residents.

It all reportedly began when early Saturday morning, a truck driver reported that he was "shot at" by motorists in a car in Rockcastle County near Berea. The truck driver, Charles Vining of Asheville, N.C., a driver for Youngblood Truck Lines, told police he was traveling north on I-75 about 7:15 a.m. when he spotted a car traveling in front of him which "was weaving."

Vining told police he passed the car about four miles south of Berea (near Conway) and sounded his horn.

Vining said the car in turn passed the truck and in passing one of its occupants fired three shots into the cab, barely missing a passenger in the truck, Gilbert Robinson, also a driver for the trucking company, who was asleep at the time of the incident.

Vining told police that the car proceeded on in front of him for a few miles, crossed a bridge and headed back toward the interstate and headed back, traveling south in the northbound lane. Vining said he took the exit ramp into Berea and that the car then took a second ramp, again heading in the wrong direction.

Vining said he again met the car at the end of the ramps and proceeded onto the highway behind it. When it turned into a service station on Ky. 21, Vining said he was able to get the license number and proceeded to the Berea Police Station where he reported the incident to Police Chief Tudor.

Tudor, who left the station alone to investigate, found a car answering Vining's description at the service station where it was ready to leave. Tudor placed its four occupants under arrest and was attempting to handcuff one of the suspects when one of the men brought out two pistols and assaulted him.

Police said Jack Mantley, owner of a service station across the street, reported hearing loud voices and told police that when he saw the situation "worsening" brought out a shotgun and hid behind some bushes. The four then got into the car and fled, leaving the police chief lying on the (Cont. To 4)

The annual Father-Son Golf Tournament at the Cedar Rapids Country Club was won this year by Dr. Joe Henderson and his son, Bill, (on the right) who shot a 177. Runners-up this year was last year's winners, Wayburn Mayfield and his son, Tim. The Mayfields came in one stroke behind the Hendersons at 178.

The gymnasium and agriculture and industrial classrooms and work shops are shown in the above photo. The gymnasium, which will have a seating capacity of 2000, is on the left hand side of the photo. There is still to be a foyer constructed in front of the now existing gymnasium structure.

Forbes and Morris Building Company of Lexington, contractors for the new Rockcastle County High School, have reported to Charles Parsons, Superintendent of Schools, that construction of the new school, the main part of which is shown in the above photo, is quite a bit ahead of schedule. The school is scheduled for completion for classes beginning with the 1972 school year.

TOM DUNCAN'S

Frankfort Watchline

The rollback law will haunt another Legislature. The Court of Appeals rulings upholding the 1965 law limiting property taxes means efforts to get some leeway by legislation will be stepped up. And there's been plenty of pushing before.

The 1970 session did ease things a bit by raising property tax units to benefit from inflation of property values.

And it was all set to do more when those in the House who yielded to the pleas for schools refused such help for cities and counties. That ground things to a halt.

It will take some moving to get the lawmakers working again.

They know most taxpayers are up in arms anyway. And they know the governor's race isn't likely to produce a tax boost mandate.

In fact, if either Republican Tom Emberton or his Democratic opponent, Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford, even suggests higher property tax limits it will be as surprising as former Gov. Bert Combs' fatal endorsement of the Kentucky Education Association program.

They've seen former Gov. Edward Breathitt take a fundamentally bum rap for the rollback itself—taxpayers saying he raised their taxes and school people and other officials charging he hurt them.

The fact is that it was far from the worst solution suggested for the public outcry against inflated trebled property assessments.

The court said the "law had the purpose and objective of protecting the taxpayers against sudden substantial increases in their tax burdens...and was in fact the only method by which full accomplishment could have been achieved."

So off out for another round on the roll back.

There was some head-scratching over why Judge John Palmore didn't dissent on the rollback law. In a 1969 decision he wrote, "I concur in the result on the ground that I do not think the 'rollback' legislation was valid in the first place."

For the first time in many long years, Rockcastle County should have a representative to the Miss Kentucky Beauty Pageant next year. If plans go according to schedule, there will be a beauty contest July 15 in the Big Barn at Rentro Valley to choose Miss Rockcastle County. The event is being planned and organized by Mrs. Roland Mullins, director of the County Kindergarten and proceeds from the affair will go toward the operation of the kindergarten. The contestants, who will be sponsored by local merchants and civic organizations, must be between the ages of 15 and 22, single and a resident of Rockcastle County. Further information may be obtained by calling Mrs. Mullins at 256-4252 or Mrs. James Cox at 256-2595.

Oh, by the way, this event will take the place of the annual laid out basketball game which has been held in past years to raise funds for the kindergarten...

Another important event coming up earlier in July than the beauty pageant will be the grand opening of Great Salt-petre Cave on July 4th (see story elsewhere) which will also be a celebration in honor of John Lee's 77th birthday.

This will be one of the biggest events Rockcastle Countians have had a chance to participate in a long time and will most assuredly be well worth our time in attending. The event is being sponsored by Hal Smith and Hank Cochran (owners of Remtro Valley, Inc.) and the Remtro Valley Folk, Colonel Harlan, of Ky. Fried Chicken Fane, will be on hand to provide over a mammoth stir-fry feast big enough to serve 1,000 people. So, mark the date down on your calendar. Besides paying tribute to Rockcastle County's leading historian it will be an entertaining and wholesome way to spend the 4th of July holiday...

And, speaking of holidays, since July 4 falls on Sunday this year, the Signal office will be closed on Monday, July 5. Superintendent Charles Parsons also informs that the school administration building will also be closed on Monday, July 5 and that the school board meeting, regularly scheduled for that night, will be held on Wednesday night, July 7 at 7 p.m.

Well, my oldest went to church camp this week and as of right now I am counting down the days until he comes home. When we first discussed his going, I must admit my main feeling was one of relief that there would be one less child to worry about for a week. But, it doesn't work out that way. Not only are his talents a "big-gee" story mine but I suppose no matter how many children you have, you always dread to see those initial signs of independence from one of them. Oh well, he comes home Saturday morning and probably by Saturday afternoon I'll be hunting up another camp to send him to.....

Library Notes

New books received at the Rockcastle County Library. Among them are:

THE AGELESS STORY OF JESUS, by Marian King. From the priceless treasures of the National Library of Art, Marian King has selected with thoughtful care some of the world's most famous works of religious art. This pictorial biography of Jesus will appeal to all ages.

ARE YOU SAFE FROM BURGLARIST, by Robert Earl Barnes. A professional burglar reveals the tricks of his trade and tells you how you can best protect your property.

BEST SPORT STORIES, edited by Irving Marsh and Edward Eira. Written by some of the best talented and best-informed men covering sports for newspapers and magazines today, these articles assembled here demonstrate the excellence of the work of today's top sports reporters.

THE CACTUS THRONE, by Richard O'Connor. The tragedy of Maximilian and Carlotta of Mexico is told in this account of ambition, greed, intrigue, violence and war.

ENRICO FERMI, PHYSICIST, by Emilio Segrè. Unlike former biographies of this great scientist, this one gives an image of his methods, intellectual acumen and achievements in the framework of contemporary science.

A GIRL CALLED JUDITH STRICK, by Judith Strick Dribben. A powerful, true story of a remarkable young Jewish girl who lived in a time and place of horror - and refused to know fear.

THE LITTLE LEGISLATURES, by George Goodwin, Jr. The author traces the development of the committee system in both the House and the Senate from the beginning of World War II through the Johnson administration and provides a comprehensive analysis of the organization, makeup and assignments of the standing committees.

A MATTER OF ACCOUNTABILITY, by Trevor Armbrister. The true story of the Pueblo Affair is investigated thoroughly by the former Saturday Evening Post bureau chief. He puts together the shocking facts and the behind-the-scenes story of incredible blunders by military personnel, officers and enlisted men alike.

THE NEW YORK AQUARIUM BOOK OF THE WATER WORLD, by William Bredemeyer. A useful and representative guide to fishes, aquatic invertebrates, reptiles, birds and mammals.

THE PARENTS' HANDBOOK ON ADOLESCENCE, by John L. Schnick, M.D. There are no easy solutions to the problems of adolescence, but there is a way to bridge the generation gap that separates the child from his parent. This excellent guide will help.

THE FILL ON TRIAL, by Paul Vaughan. In straightforward terms, the author reviews all the arguments for and against oral contraception and squarely confronts such issues as the side effects and social reasons raised by its widespread use.

RUNNING BLIND, by Desmond Busley. A tale of revenge and betrayal in the world of international espionage.

WORLD WILDLIFE: THE LAST STAND, by Philip K. Crowe. With interest and concern for conservation growing everywhere, this book emphasizes (Cont. To 6)

CONGRESSMAN TIM LEE

Carter Comments

On Release Of Secret Documents

This week the New York Times began publishing a 5-part series, exposing a top secret document on the origins and escalation of the U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war.

In commenting on this release, Kentucky's Fifth District Congressman, Tim Lee Carter, stated, "It has long been understood that the previous Administration 'pushed' U.S. participation far beyond the level the President proclaimed he would maintain during the 1964 campaign. There was bombing and raiding of North Vietnam and war planning. Even while the President claimed that he did not want American troops to do the job which should be carried out by Asian boys, he intended for American involvement to be expanded. As this has been known." "It has now been clear, however, with the publication of these secret documents, is that the righteous are bold as a lion."

The Fifth District Representative noted, "more important than the allegations and denials resulting from the release of the 47-volume top secret document are the long-range implications for our nation. There are many people in this country today who break the law in the name of some higher motivation, such as morality or justice. Whatever his motivation, the man who released the document betrayed the trust placed in him and is guilty of no less than spying.

"The seriousness of his action can be measured by the effect that this leak will have on our position in the international arena. If the entire document is published, the American code will be broken and all transmissions of secret data which have been picked up by the intelligence agencies of Russia, China or other countries may be compared with information released publicly.

"As for myself, if secret codes were not broken and laws of our country violated, then I would have no objection to the publication of the 47 volumes of this study.

Mr. and Mrs. David Eaton of Mt. Vernon spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Wanda McHargue and family. Mrs. Larry Simpson of Stanford spent Sunday with Mrs. Wanda McHargue, Mrs. Delta Brown and Darlene.

T.E.L. CLASS MEETS

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Parking Lot Perils

As part of its service, a neighborhood market maintained a parking lot behind the building. Near one corner of the lot, the stump of an old post jolted up from the ground. One evening a woman shopper tripped over the stump and fell, dislocating a hip.

Was the market legally liable for her injury? In a court hearing, the owner insisted that she should have kept a sharper lookout for danger. But when the woman pointed out that the lighting was poor at the site of the accident, the court upheld her claim.

The law places upon the owner of a parking lot a basic responsibility to keep it in safe condition. Furthermore, he is usually liable for injuries caused by the negligence of his hired help.

Nevertheless, the owner does not guarantee absolute safety. Some accidents are simply not his fault. Thus, a man got hurt in a parking lot when he slipped on a gob of ice cream. Demanding damages in court, he argued: "It is up to the attendant to keep the place clean. Since he failed to do so, his employer is liable."

However, no one had any idea how long the ice cream had been lying there—or who had dropped it in the first place. Rejecting the man's claim, the court said there was "no evidence that the condition had existed long enough for the attendant), in the exercise of reasonable care, to have discovered and remedied it."

Suppose the accident is caused by someone's careless driving within the lot. May that be blamed on the lot owner?

This question arose when a motorist drove the wrong way in a one-way aisle and knocked down a small boy. The boy's parents tried to pin liability on the owner of the lot, on the theory that it was his duty to "police" all drivers on his premises.

However, the court held the owner not liable, because even a watchful attendant could hardly have acted quickly enough to be helpful. Preventing this kind of an accident, the court felt, would call for closer policing by the management than the law could fairly expect.

IN MEMORY

Of my Dad, George Murphy, who passed away a year ago June 17.

Not only was my Dad one of the best Dads. To me he was one of my closest friends and I wouldn't have him back in this troubled world to face heartache, pain and sorrow; but so many times I would love to see him and hear his voice. If I could recall all of the heartaches dear Daddy, I caused you to bear; if I could have erased those lines from your face and brought back the black to your hair, if God would have granted me the power to have turned back the pages of time, I'd give all I own if I could have put a tone to that silver-haired Daddy of mine.

Now he has taken you from me, but in Heaven you are happy I can see. And you don't need your cane for in Heaven, there is no lame. So with these words to console my soul, I will close. Daddy, my loss was just as sweet Heaven's gain.

FAIRVIEW

Church services were well attended at Fairview over the week end and 91 persons were present for Sunday School. It is so good to see people in the house of the Lord. I'm so thankful to see so many young people and little children there. Bless their hearts, they are precious. But I feel so sorry for the little ones that are not able to attend. Children are little only one time and that is the time to teach and train them in the way they should go. So I urge you parents everywhere to bring up your children in church and Sunday School. You will never regret it.
The Vacation Bible School commencement was well attended Saturday night, June 5. Thank the good Lord for Bro. Dean, and the teachers and children who attended. The enrollment was 80 and the average daily attendance was 75.
We extend our deepest heartfelt sympathy to the families of Mrs. Ethel Wren of Berea and Eszar Rick of Conway, who passed away recently in the Berea Hospital. May God Bless

County Agent's Notes

County Extension Agent

After-Harvest Care of the Strawberry Field
As soon as possible after the berries are through, the strawberry field should be worked. Plantings can be profitable for several years. If kept free of weeds and diseases and fertility is kept at a high level, in reworking a field, the following steps are recommended:

1. Mow the field about 3 inches high, cutting the foliage off the plants. Mow the field with a commanfield mower (or in case of a garden patch, a scythe can be used). Tilt the mower guards so that the patch will be mowed some 3 inches above the ground. Allow the berry tops, which are cut off, and any weeds present, to dry or cure in the sun for a couple of days. Rake the field if needed and haul off the surplus mowings.

2. Broadcast 500 to 800 pounds of 10-10-10 or 12-12-12 fertilizer before renovation is started. For smaller patches, use 5 pounds per 100 feet of row. After broadcasting the fertilizer, brush it off the leaves with an old broom or leafy sprout to prevent leaf burn.

3. With a 12 or 14 inch turning plow, make a back-furrow into the balk on each side of the row. Narrow down the old fruiting row some 20-22 inches wide. It may be necessary to make the equivalent of three or four round flips between each row in order to get the ground pulverized.

4. With a cultivator (Gustus, double shovel or springtooth) work the backfurrow down level. For best weed control some folks like to leave the back furrow three or four days before leveling.

5. The plant bed may be thinned with narrow points on the same cultivator. A good stand to have is 6 plants per square foot. Thinning is done by plowing on top and across the plant beds.

6. Weeding can be completed with the hoe and pulling by hand. A chemical such as Daethal W75 or Seacon can be used after the field is cleaned to help greatly with weed control. Directions are on the containers.

The method just described is much used and very satisfactory. There are other ways that are also satisfactory, but the three things to remember are: do the job early - get all the weeds out - keep the fertility level high.

Two Virus Diseases May Hit Field Tobacco

Watch tobacco plants in the field for two virus diseases - etch and streak. Both have been problems in past years.

There is no chemical control for either disease. Both can hit field plants throughout the growing season. The etch is slow-down in growth and eventually reduce yields.

Too many plants die from either disease. The slow-down is the main problem.

Etch is spread to tobacco by the potato aphid insect, the tobacco field. It is probably spread from plant to plant by the green peach aphid. Streak probably is carried by insects, usually from second-year clover, but the exact spreading method is not known.

CONTROL: Both diseases apparently come from weed plants found near tobacco fields. Weeds along tobacco field edges or in adjacent fields should be kept cut or eliminated.

Etch is marked by white areas on leaves (similar to the mosaic disease familiar to most growers). The infected portion has an uneven pattern.

Streak shows up as depressed, dark areas on the stalk, dark streaks in the leaf midrib, and darkened small veins. Streak also is marked by downy rotting and puckering of the leaves.

Watch Out for Poison Ivy! Leaflets, leave it alone! If you don't you may find yourself bothered by watery blisters that itch and torment you.

What is it? Man's old plant enemy - poison ivy (or poison oak, depending on where you live).

Every year at this time, poison ivy comes out strong. Smart homeowners stamp it out with sprays or by careful grubbing and disposal. Those who don't often regret their neglect. And vacationers who don't watch out for it may find their fun-time spoiled.

Poison ivy is always in a three-leaf cluster. Botanists describe its leaves as "toothed," that is, the outer border has cutbacks in it. (There are other similar looking plants, but none quite fit the description of poison ivy).

Berries are white. Bark ranges from pale to tan to reddish. Sometimes leaves have a reddish cast.

Take care of poison ivy with sprays. (Pulling it up may be a "rash" move for you; the bark, leaves, berries, and roots all can cause the rash.)

Around homes, where you want to protect ornamentals, use amitrol or ammate. These don't vaporize and drift onto ornamentals. In fields (if you are not near tobacco or other desirable plants) use 2,4-D or 2,4,5-T. However, sprays drift from these can harm ornamentals or crops.

Check labels for rates and safety precautions. Sometimes, you may have to retreat, as new growth comes along.

One final warning - don't burn the plants, because smoke can infect you, too.

Father's Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Chasteen were their five children, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Chasteen and family, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Chasteen and family and Mr. and Mrs. James Seal, all of Berea, Mrs. Janet Adams and children of Newby and Mr. and Mrs. John Church and daughter of Scotland Cane.

Please remember church and Sunday School. Live a good life for the Lord, have love and compassion for your friends and neighbors. Visit and pray for the sick, and always keep in mind our boys in Vietnam, they need our prayers.

And remember to live one day at a time because -

No one can see what is coming tomorrow.

Nor tell if it's hours - will bring laughter or sorrow.

So I'll turn to your love and with perfect trust say - Give me your help Lord, to live this one day.

Producers Benefit By Early Certification

Producers have to certify their compliance under the 1971 set-aside farm program. Deadline for certification in Rockcastle County is July 15 according to Shellee Mullins, Chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

In most cases, it will be to a producer's advantage to certify his program as early as possible, he said. However, he emphasized that early certification is optional, and that a producer may certify at any time through July 15.

A producer must complete his certification before he can receive any set-aside payments.

To certify, a producer signs a statement at the County ASCS Office showing the acreages devoted to various crops under the 1971 farm program. At the same time, he designates the amount and location of his set-aside acres.

The Rockcastle County ASCS Office is ready to give farmers all possible help in correctly certifying their acres," Mr. Mullins said.

GOVERNOR SIGNS NEW RULES

In an effort to "upgrade our personnel system and develop a framework that will ensure the level of professionalism in state government" Gov. Louie B. Nunn signed into effect improved benefits for state employees in a meeting with the Board of Personnel.

The proposal, which was initiated by the governor May 7, called for longer vacations for veteran state employees and pay increases for outstanding work and educational achievement.

The measures, which are expected to take effect July 1, are:

- A 5 per cent salary increase for initial employment of college graduates with a 3.25 on a 4.0 scale or an examination score of 92 per cent or better on a merit examination.

- Merit salary advancements for the upper 10 per cent of the permanent, full-time employees in a department that are recommended by their agency heads for outstanding job performance.

- A 5 per cent salary increase to employees gaining additional job-related education within the state if they attend school for two years or more on their own time.

- Increased vacation benefits for employees with five or more years of service.

PHONE RATE INCREASE DENIAL AFFIRMED

A decision handed down from Franklin Co. Judge Henry Melgs last week denied South Central Bell Telephone Co. the right to raise their service charges for local service in Kentucky. The increase would have meant some $14.8 million to the firm.

The decision, which affirmed the Dec. 30 ruling of the Public Service Commission, blocked an average 15 per cent increase and kept the company's rates the same for the present time.

An appeal of the decision is considered likely. A Bell official said that the company will have to study the judges order before an appeal will be filed. It was by an appeal that the case was brought before Melgs.

In a 2-1 decision the utilities board had told the company that their existing 7.37 return on net interstate investment was sufficient.

The company rebutted the statement by claiming that excess construction and added operating cost facilitated the need for the raise.

JUVENILE PROGRAMS GET GRANTS

Governor Nunn has announced a $151,000 federal grant to the state Child Welfare Department to aid juvenile courts and for a delinquency-prevention program.

The Kentucky Crime Commission also granted $50,333 in state funds for the two projects.

Some $33,333 will be used for establishment of training sessions, model court standards and an annual conference for juvenile judges.

Another $33,333 will go for delinquency prevention, including efforts to get adjusted delinquents back in school.

Continuing training programs for child welfare personnel will get $40,000 and some $20,000 will go for a compilation of resources for juvenile delinquency treatment and rehabilitation.

CATLETTSBURG OFFICIALS ORDER POLICE OUT

Kentucky State Police have disclosed that their authority to operate within the city limits of Catlettsburg has been suspended.

State Police Director, Col. Larry Boucher, said that the order directing the troopers to stay out of the city was signed by Catlettsburg Mayor Charles Friley and six of the town's eight council members. In their letter to Boucher, city officials said "they were tired of being ignored by State Police."

Boucher said the letter apparently referred to a State Police search at Catlettsburg on last May 14 which was conducted without local police participation.

Under Kentucky law, cities of the first five classes (Population: 1000 or more) have the authority to deny State Police power to operate within their jurisdictions. Catlettsburg is a fourth-class city.

PRESTON PROPOSES TO INCLUDE INSURANCE

Insurance Commissioner Robert Preston has filed a proposal to include crime insurance access under the Fair Access to Insurance Requirements (FAIR) plan.

The FAIR plan sets up a pool to customers who otherwise could not obtain coverage and is used to subsidize risks assigned to all companies on the basis of the amount of such business they do in Kentucky.

Preston filed the claim with the Legislative Research Commission as an amendment to the regulation on the plan. It will take effect within 30 days unless stopped by court action.

Preston said he would like the FAIR plan to include crime insurance to keep the federal government from writing its own policies in Kentucky. Washington has said it would take that step in any state in which crime insurance is not sufficiently available at affordable rates by Aug. 1.

Insurance representatives at the meeting for the most part were in favor of allowing the federal government to write such policies.

A new lower rate for civil disorder surcharge will be a flat 1 per cent of all policies, or 65 cents for the average homeowner policy.

STATE POLICE DRUG UNIT WILL GO UNDERGROUND

Governor Nunn has announced a $100,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Justice to help the Kentucky State Police begin an intensified campaign against illegal drug sales.

The governor said members of the newly created narcotics enforcement unit will go "underground" to combat the growing market in illegal drugs in Kentucky.

Officers will wear mud clothing when necessary, drive rented automobiles and keep under surveillance fields where marijuana grows wild.

The unit plans to spend more than 10 per cent of the grant to pay informers who make undercover purchases for use as evidence. The state will put up $31,804 in matching funds for the project. The grant is for one year.

Maj. Robert C. McKinney, head of the narcotics unit, said stress will be placed on "getting the pusher."

"We don't arrest the user," he said, "we're after the source."

McKinney said the unit will "most definitely" concentrate its work in the cities.

ground. Manley said he then fired several shots at the vehicle, hitting the wing glass in the rear.

A search was then begun for the four and their abandoned car discovered shortly thereafter about eight miles north of Berea on I-75. The four had apparently turned off the highway and attempted to drive through a fence, then pushed the vehicle over to a wooded area and abandoned it.

Police said they then apparently walked to a nearby farmhouse occupied by Earl Gross, Duncannon Lane, Mrs. Gross, who was in the yard, told police that the four approached her and held her at gunpoint while they searched the house for guns. She said they then forced her to dress a head wound of one of the men and then ordered her husband and their 16-year-old daughter to drive them to Fayette County.

Gross, who told police that he drove the quartet to the Grimes Mill Road, said they got out of the car and fled on foot, warning him not to "tell the police."

State Police, who were informed of the incident, set up a stake-out around the area. State Trooper Lee Arnold and State Detective Bob Morgenson, who combined the area on foot, found broken weeds leading to a hay barn on the farm of Tommy Toomey in Clark County. The two policemen went to the home of the tenant, Earl Stears, and with him went to the barn. The policemen roused the building and found the four asleep, with three guns beside them - one of which was identified as belonging to Police Chief Tudor. The four offered no resistance and were returned to Madison County.

Police said that at least three of the four were wanted for questioning in connection with the armed robbery of an elderly couple near Whitley City and in connection with a reported rape in McCreary County, both of which occurred early Saturday morning. The quartet was taken to the Patti A. Clay Hospital, Richmond, where they were held under guard. Police said they will be lodged in the Madison County Jail under $15,000 bond.
