

County Agent's Notes.

By: H. Lee Durham
 Follow Directions With Care
 When You Use Parathion

Dr. R.A. Scheibler, Extension Entomologist with the University of Kentucky, School of Agriculture.

Parathion is one of the in-secticides that probably will be more widely used now that

DDT use is restricted, he points out. And parathion must be handled with care. A 160-pound man can be killed by less than half a teaspoon of parathion concentrate if it is absorbed through his skin and not washed off.

Because of concern about possible danger to the environment, DDT and similar insecticides are no longer recommended for many of the purposes they were used for in the past, Scheibler continues.
 In fact, in Kentucky, it is against the law to use DDT except for bat, rat, mouse, and termite control.

Growers now must use
 insecticides other than DDT that will not harm the environment but will still handle the insect problems which are still so common that they can't afford to use them. And many of these other insecticides, such as parathion, are very dangerous to the people who come in contact with them.
 Although relatively few cases of parathion poisoning have been reported, it is a very dangerous insecticide. It is used more often, especially by people who have not used it much before. So be sure you read the directions on the label and follow them exactly
 when you use parathion.

Federal and state agencies and the pesticide industry are working together in a parathion safety education program. The pesticide industry has changed product labels to make directions clearer and the warnings stronger. Parathion manufacturers are also providing pesticides dealers with warnings that will be given only to persons who buy parathion; users should post these signs around parathion-treated fields.

If you buy parathion, you probably will be asked to fill out a card stating that the dealer has told you about the insecticide label insecticide that you understand parathion is to be used only according to label directions, and that you understand the dangers of parathion to humans and animals.
 State and federal agencies will check dealers to make sure they are explaining the use of parathion to buyers and giving out the warning signs.
 These agencies also will educate the dealers about parathion and post on new information about the safety program.

Kentucky, as yet, does not have a "pesticide dealers' licensing" law, so licensing of the sellers of parathion is sometimes difficult for the agencies that check dealers, Scheibler notes. And since dealers do not have to prove their knowledge of pesticides, some may not be qualified to carry out the responsibilities that go along with selling parathion.

For example, a case was recently reported where a dealer sold a man parathion in place of methyl parathion, telling him they were the same chemical with different trade names. Parathion and methyl parathion are not the same chemical and their effect on different crops is not the same, although they are closely related and both very hazardous, he says.

Since some dealers may not explain the use of parathion when he sells it, you - the buyer - should be sure you understand the dangers of parathion and handle it safely, whether or not you are warned by the person who sells it to you. And, if the dealer does not give you the warning signs to get them for you; then post the signs wherever you use this insecticide.

Many common materials can cause poisoning, so be careful when you use any chemical compounds, Scheibler points out that, in four recent years of records in Florida, all pesticides combined (insecticides, rodenticides, herbicicides, etc.) were involved in about 9 percent of the poisoning cases. Of the total number of poisoning cases, 95 percent involved medicines and 16.6 percent were caused by household cleaners, polishes, etc.

The Silverfish is No Fish and
 He Isn't Very Silvery

The silverfish isn't a fish and he's more gray than silver. He's a carrot-shaped, moisture-loving little insect that often invades new homes
 - and, sometimes, old ones -
 People often find the silver fish trying to climb the slick sides of sinks and tubs and think he came up the sewer line. But this is another mistaken idea about this slender-bodied, six-legged, triple-tailed insect. Actually, the silverfish found in the tub or sink was looking for water and,
 once in, couldn't get out again. He's seeking water,

Changes In Farm Program Regulations

Aimed At Improving Farm Income

A change in government regulations broadening eligibility rules for farm commodities under government loan programs will be the more step toward improved farm income.

"It's another change in line with the policy of adding to the freedom of farmers to handle their farm operations as they think best and compete more effectively in the marketplace," said Mr. Fuqua, Kentucky farm program official.

"To start with, the Agricultural Act of 1970, which provides more options to farmers in the voluntary wheat, feed grain, and cotton programs.
 Since then, many U.S. Departments of agriculture regulations have been broadened, also giving farmers more options," Mr. Fuqua said. Mr.
 Fuqua is Chairman of the Kentucky Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee which administrates USDA farm programs in Kentucky.

Three other illustrations of how recent changes in regulations are opening more choices for farmers were mentioned: "With prior approval, loan commodities may be delivered to points beyond the customary delivery points. Soybeans, corn, and oats loan rates are to be based on county-where-stored instead of county-where-grown. More types of farm storage are eligible under the farm storage facility loan program.

"Non-farmers, these probably sound rather unusual," Fuqua said. "Even farmers who aren't directly affected may not pay much attention, and not every farmer is aware of every change. Under the cumulative effect for agriculture as a whole is very important.

"We have more freedom to choose their crops and acreage, as provided in the Agricultural Act of 1970, and with more options in storing and marketing their crops, as changes in regulations are providing, farmers are better able to improve their net income. Improvement in farm income is essential. Farmers must have assurance of more equitable returns for their labor, so that they can keep up with the cost of their money, time and technological know-how," Fuqua said.

The latest change in regulations will permit producers to enter into contracts to sell cotton, grain and similarly handled commodities without loss of eligibility of these commodities for Commodity Credit Corporation loans.

Eligibility is dependent on the producer retaining control, rate of loss, and title of the commodity.

This broadening of the regulation will permit more freedom to producers in using his commodity at the best price obtainable, Mr. Fuqua commented.

Regulations governing release of commodities under loan to buyers remain unchanged, and the CCC's security interest in the loan collateral will continue to be held until the loan has been repaid.

Producers should check with their ASCS county office for full details on obtaining CCC loans on eligible commodities, including the new regulations which permit sales contracts on commodities under loan, Mr. Fuqua said.

Mrs. Robinson Dies After Short Illness

Mrs. Marilyn Jeanne Robinson, 24, of Gallon, Ohio and formerly of Livingston, died Tuesday, July 13 after a short illness at a hospital in Columbus, Ohio.

Mrs. Robinson was born in Richmond, Indiana on July 11, 1947, the daughter of Bob and Ida Greer Black. She was a member of the Lamero Methodist Church.

Besides her parents, she is survived by her husband, Billy E. Robinson, one son, Billy Scott Robinson; three brothers, Gerald Everole, Hamill, Ohio, Kenneth Everole of East Berwatt and Bobby Black of London; three sisters, Mrs. Brenda Roark of London, Miss Elizabeth Black, London and Mrs. Patricia Abney of Greenville, Ohio and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Lizzie Greer of London.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m., Friday, July 16 at the Livingston Baptist Church with Bro. Maynard Head officiating. Burial will be in the Pilgrim's Rest Cemetery in Laurel County.

Workers for the McGregor and Neal Construction Co. of Lexington are shown beginning construction on the new sewer disposal plant for the City of Brodhead. The plant will be located between Soward Nursing Home and the old swinging bridge on land formerly known as "Robbins Bottom."

County Attorney Files Suit Against Officials Over Budget

A controversy over a budget appropriation for the Fiscal Year 1971-72 between County Attorney William D. Gregory and the Rockcastle County Fiscal Court and its officers has culminated in a Civil Action Suit being filed in Rockcastle Circuit Court by the County Attorney and a Restraining Order being issued.

The suit names as defendants, County Judge, Charles Carter; Magistrate C.W. Phillips; Hewitt Jones, County Clerk; Sherman Sargent and Cleith Thacker, County Court Clerk; Clifford Bales and Mrs. Arletta Norton, County Treasurer.

Item 2 of the Civil Suit states that the budget for the Fiscal Year 1971-72 contains an arbitrary and illegal expenditure of county funds in that the section providing for payment of Magistrates' Expense Account, Budget Appropriation No. 14-7 in the amount of $3,000, is not a proper expenditure of county funds.

As Mr. Gregory's basis for the above charge, he quotes in the suit KRS 64.155 which states in subsection three: "Said amount ($30 per month in expense money for each of the five magistrates) may be paid by the Fiscal Court only when the county possesses sufficient excess fees in its treasury to permit such payments. Payments should not be made where the fees are not sufficient to pay all of the Justices or Magistrates."

The suit alleges that since there have been no excess fees paid into the county treasury by any county fee officer for the Fiscal Year 1971-72, the action of the Fiscal Court in approving the portion of the budget is arbitrary and illegal as being in contravention of the aforementioned statute and said order is voidable.

Also a part of the suit was a request for a restraining order to be issued against Clifford Bales, County Court Clerk, and Mrs. Arletta Norton, County Treasurer, prohibiting them from payment of the Magistrates' Expense Account and for such other relief as plaintiff may appear to the court to be entitled.

The Restraining Order was issued by Circuit Court Clerk Money E. Cummins, in the absence from the county of Circuit Judge Lawrence Hall.

The defendants have twenty days after they are served in which to file an answer and the case will then be docketed for hearing before Judge Hall.

Bank Deposits Total $11,298,536.02

Deposits at both banks in Rockcastle County at the close of business on June 30 totaled $11,298,536.02, statements issued by the two houses reveal.

The Bank of Mt. Vernon showed deposits of $6,764,113.21, the Citizens Bank in Brodhead, $4,534,422.81.

Total assets were reported by The Bank of Mt. Vernon at $9,439,251.91 and Citizens Bank at $8,736,977.50, for a total of $18,176,229.41.

MRS. BOWLING WINNER AWARDS

Miss Judy Gayle Bowling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Bowling of Route 1, Mt. Vernon, was recently selected to receive the Governor's Merit Award.

The award was a personal notation from Honorable Louis B. Nunn, Governor."

New Program Will Aid 3,250 Kentuckians

A new federal-state program to provide care to the aged, blind and disabled will require an intermediate type of service being operation recently in Kentucky.

Louis B. Nunn, in announcing the innovation, said the program will be for recipients who need a higher level of care than is provided in personal-care homes, but less than is provided in nursing homes.

He said an estimated 2850 Kentuckians will be eligible for benefits under the new program, including some 500 now in nursing homes at a cost of $460 a month each, and about 2000 presently in personal-care homes.

The state should save nearly $1 million by moving those who are unnecessary to nursing homes to the intermediate care homes, the governor said.

The program will be administered by the state Department of Economic Security, although details of the arrangement were worked out cooperatively among a number of state agencies and private groups and individuals.

The new program will pay a maximum of $300 per month per recipient for the intermediate care, less any income the recipient may have that flows toward his expenses. Payments will be made directly to the homes.

According to Governor Nunn, the state Health Department will certify facilities that will

Council Votes To Halt All Garbage Collection

Several residents of the City of Mt. Vernon were at the City Council meeting Monday night to voice their non-support of the City's proposed plan to institute a city-wide garbage collection.

The Council had discussed at an earlier meeting the possibility of having garbage picked up once a week for residents and twice a week for businesses and adding a fee to the water bills of $1.50 a month for businesses.

However, the several citizens who showed up at Monday night's meeting protested this service vigorously. The Council finally decided to do away with even their former once-a-month pick-up.

The Council by a unanimous vote decided that effective July 15 (last Monday) that the City would only be responsible for maintaining the dump and that there would be no free garbage pick-up in the City of Mt. Vernon.

In other business, the Council voted to Mrs. Tina Rottel as street sweeper; to blacktop four streets (Mill St., Center St., School St. extension and Greenway Drive); to patch Paul

The large, white, Berea-based mobile unit is holding regularly scheduled clinics in 16 counties, working closely with county health departments to provide birth control and the full range of medical care associated with family planning.

Also, on July 20, the unit will be in Livingston where a birth control clinic will be held for anyone wishing to come. The response to this "satellite" clinic in Rockcastle County will determine the planning for future clinics in Rockcastle County outside of Mt. Vernon.

TOM DUNCAN'S

Frankfort Watchline

Tom Emberton has grabbed the ball. But Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford won't play Emberton's game.

That's about the shape of things since the Republican candidate for governor announced he'd take the sales tax off food bought for home consumption.

Emberton's more and the pre-packed endorsements—especially from some who backed former Gov. Bert Combs against Ford—obviously gave his campaign a shove.

But Ford strategists say they won't be drawn into a full scale battle this early. They think it would only help Emberton to become known—and deplete Democratic campaign money which won't come close to matching the GOP war chest.

Ford also is pretty well tied down in trying to mend fences with Combs people. He's well aware of the rumblings and grumbling across the state, including those who say he isn't even trying to patch things up. Ford says he just can't be anywhere else.

Still, Emberton has seized the initiative on the always loaded tax question. And, with Gov. Louie Nunn's shrewd assistance, he's continuing to woo Combs backers.

Whether a romance like that can last until November is another question. And perhaps a bigger one is whether Emberton's dollar estimates on the tax cut and its effects can stand up that long.

But Emberton won't be a standing target. He's off and running.

Emberton estimates eliminating the sales tax on take-home food would cost state revenue 40 million dollars a year. But Sen. Gibson Downing, in a private memo while he was helping Combs' campaign, used Revenue Department figures to project much more loss.

The department estimates take-home food produces 16 percent of the total sales tax. And Downing figures that would be 52 1/2 million dollars in the coming fiscal year, 56 million the next, 60 million the next and 64 1/4 million in the fourth year.

How'd you like to buy 27 acres right at an I-65 interchange in the Mammoth Cave area for $2,700?

That's what the Highway Department said the tract just 700 feet from the southbound I-65 ramp at KY 255 was worth as it prepared to sell the land on sealed bids as "surplus property."

Actually it was only 26.91

But we'll never know. Bids were sent back unopened—and unannounced—when officials began asking some questions.

Like, "What's going on?"

Derro Downing may get read out of the club.

Western Kentucky University's president has found a private developer who'll build 150 units of married-student housing.

Western five months ago got state approval for a two million dollar bond issue to construct 150 units. But now President Downing says he hopes private interests will meet all in the need.

In this age any university president who backs away from a bond issue may be tagged as a heretic—or worse—by the other chiefs.

Tourist Dept., Finance Commissioner Albert Christen has compiled a document showing that employee travel cost the state more than six million dollars for the 10 months ending June 30.

Employees claimed mileage expenses for more than 33 million miles in private cars. Some average 3,000 miles a month.

What else do they do? Christen says, "Not much."

Some lawmakers are having second thoughts on the homestead tax exemption amendment they're submitting to the voters in November. In a discussion of information to be sought from the Revenue Department, Rep. William McCan asked, "Is there any way to make that retroactive to the last session of the Legislature?"

The Social Security Administration has found that most of their business can be conducted quickly and efficiently by use of the telephone. This includes the filing of claims, change of address, work notices, Medicare claims, and many other important actions. Let's change our habits and save ourselves trips which cost us in both time and money. If your business is with the Somerset Social Security Office, you may call 678-8168.

CONGRESSMAN TIM LEE Carter Comments

Congressman and Mrs. Tim Lee Carter attended a luncheon on Friday, July 2nd, in honor of Mrs. Consuelo Gonzalez de Velasco, wife of the President of Peru. Mrs. Consuelo was in the United States to present Mrs. Nixon with the highest decoration of the Peruvian government. This honor, given only to two other Americans, was bestowed on Mrs. Nixon in recognition of the committee she established in the United States to assist Peruvian earthquake victims.

Congressman and Mrs. Carter were received by President and Mrs. Nixon and Mrs. Gonzalez in the Blue Room of the White House immediately preceding the luncheon. Mrs. Carter noted that "Mrs. Gonzalez is a very attractive woman. Of course, she had an interpreter with her at all times, since she does not speak any English."

After going through the receiving line, the Carters entered the State Dining Room where the luncheon was held. On tables bedecked with pink tablecloths and decorated with numerous arrangements of garden flowers, they ate an exotic luncheon. It included fresh fruit cocktail, baked Columbia River Salmon with Sauce Moutonaise, Green Beans Almandine, Hearts of Palm Vinaigrette, and Mousse Yarrow.

The famous Mr. Forster-Stirling Strips appeared at the luncheon. At the conclusion of the delightful luncheon, the President proposed a toast to Mrs. Gonzalez, succeeded by a toast to the Nixon by the Peruvian Ambassador, Fernando Berkenmeyer.

"After the toasts were given," recounted Mrs. Carter, "President and Mrs. Nixon and the guests retired to the Blue Room for coffee."

As one of only three Members of Congress asked to attend the luncheon, the Carters stated that they were extremely honored to have been invited. "One of the other Congressmen who was present," explained Mrs. Carter, "said that this was the first time in his 29 year service in Congress that he had been invited to the White House for a State Affair."

There's hardly a day goes by but that someone calls the Department of Fish and Wildlife and in a most succinct voice reports having found and confiscated a nest of baby rabbits and says he is protecting them in a shoe box in his home.

The caller goes on that apparently the mother bunny had deserted its young because it could not be seen around and the young rabbits actually had crawled from the nest, perhaps because they were starving.

Now, what to do about this situation, the caller wants to know. The young rabbits have become a burden, and he wants to get rid of them.

The instance used is a theoretical one and we use rabbits, the young of which are most difficult to raise, but it could have applied to a young deer, or squirrel, or bird (just as correctly. Here's what the kind-hearted individual did wrong in the case of rescuing young wild animals or birds.

The first mistake was picking up the so-called orphans. In all probability the young rabbits' mother was nearby and would have rounded up her crew as soon as she thought it safe to do so herself.

Secondly, even if the rescuer had seen the adult rabbit killed or maimed, the chances of his raising young rabbits to adulthood in captivity are very remote. The reason—because it is most difficult to feed a young rabbit and because the food required is not available.

So, with the mother rabbit incapacitated, the dotting rescuer should have brought the young animals to an individual who knew something about young wildlife and asked his advice on the proper procedure. Likely the young animals would have been taken to a game farm or a veterinarian, but even there, in all probability, they would have died.

In the third place, it's against the law to pick up protected animals or birds unless a person has a permit from the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. Such a permit may be obtained only after the facilities for handling such animals have been inspected.

And fourth, if the rescuer had obtained his permit and had raised a wild animal to adulthood, he would have the animal on his hands from now on. Such an animal, when raised in captivity, would not be able to "make it" on his own if released in the woods or fields.

So the rescuer, regardless of his admirable concern for wildlife, would have been stymied by his efforts to help from the start.

The best advice, that which is given by biologists and all wildlife management officials, is to leave wild things in the field, in the majority of such cases, they say, the parent is nearby to care of their errant young.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Double Indemnity

"Harvey, the 'other man' in a domestic triangle, heard some faint noises in the woman's home and he bought a gun and was spending for trouble. No coward, Harvey decided to confront his rival face-to-face.

It was a fatal mistake. Words led to bullets and Harvey was shot dead.

In due course, his relatives tried to collect on his $10,000 life insurance policy. They claimed not only the $10,000 but also the $10,000 as "double indemnity," payable in case of accidental death.

However, court denied the extra $10,000, saying Harvey's death was not really an accident at all. The court said he was well aware, when he sought out the angry husband, that he had an excellent chance of being killed.

Double indemnity for accidental death is a common feature in life insurance policies. But it is not payable if the victim had recklessly sought danger.

This is true even if what he did was simply in the name of fun. Thus, double indemnity was denied to the family of a young man slain in a game of "William Tell" in a spirit of playfulness, he had allowed a friend to shoot at him in the top of his head.

"One who volunteers his head for such an experience," said the judge, "must anticipate injury. And suppose the act was dangerous, but the danger was not apparent at the time. Then, as a rule, the death would still be considered accidental. For example:

A motorist skidded into a ditch. While waiting for a tow truck, he ran the motor to keep his heater going. What he failed to realize was that the end of the exhaust pipe was trapped in a mud puddle, causing deadly carbon monoxide gas to seep into the car. Result: he was dead by the time the tow truck arrived.

Was this accidental? Yes, ruled a court, awarding double indemnity to the victim's family. The court said his conduct could fairly be judged only by what he knew at the time, not by the wisdom of hindsight.

Month-Old Actress Gets Job in Movies And a Social Security Number Too

Almost everybody knows you need a social security card when you start to work. But Amy McCoy didn't.

As a matter of fact, Amy had never heard of social security when she went to work. But then, she was only 1 month old when she got that first job.

Amy is seen as the infant in the new film, "Tomorrow." The movie, based on a short story by William Faulkner, was shot in Tremont, Mississippi, not far from Amy's home town of Tupelo. When the producers announced they were looking for an infant for a part in the film, Amy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elvis McCoy, took her to Tremont for an audition.

She got the part, and that's why she had to have a social security number. Her earnings from the movie, and all covered earnings she has under social security from now on, will be recorded under that number.

Even though McCoy is not a unique name, there are about 72,000 other McCoy's on the social security rolls - the number issued to Amy is.

She is the only person in the country who has that number. And she will keep the same number the rest of her life, even if she changes her name.

Who knows? When she grows up she may take a "stage name."

ACTRESS GETS CARD—Little Amy McCoy explains her social security card, held by Jerry Gibson, social security field representative in her home town—Tupelo, Miss. Amy had to take a social security number when she was only 1 month old because she had a job. She plays the part of the infant in "Tomorrow," a new film to be released this spring.

GOVERNOR NUNN VISITS HARLAN

Governor Nunn, during a recent day-long visit in Harlan, dedicated the Pine Mountain Boys' Camp, attended the Poke Sallet Festival and closed the gates to newly repaired Cranks Creek Dam.

The governor said the boys' camp is the Department of Child Welfare's eighth specialized treatment facility for juvenile delinquents, and added, "The past three and one-half years have seen Kentucky emerge from obscurity and shame to a place of national prominence and leadership in this vital human service."

He noted that the National Council on Crime and Delinquency has rated Kentucky among the top three states in juvenile care and delinquency prevention.

At the festival the governor cited the development in Eastern Kentucky of 48 new industries and the expansion of 67 other companies. He pointed out that the new and expanding industries have created almost 9000 new jobs, leading to a decrease in unemployment in the area.

He added that more than $20 million has been invested in highway construction in the area since he took office in 1967.

Governor Nunn concluded his day in the area by closing the gates to Cranks Creek Dam.

The dam was completed seven years ago, but a flash flood caused the lake to overflow, flooding adjacent farmland. Farmers whose land was flooded tried to open the gates with a heavy wrench and bent the rods. Repairs cost $250,000.

Harlan countians had mortgaged their courthouse to pay for the facility, which is to be a recreation area.

DEPENDENT CHILDREN AID UP IN KENTUCKY, NATION

During the past 23 months, the number of dependent children in Kentucky has increased 49 percent in 49 of the 50 states.

According to a report released recently by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, only West Virginia has had a smaller rate of increase than Kentucky in the number of AFDC recipients during that time.

Nevertheless, Kentucky's increase since August 1969, according to the state Department of Economic Security, represents an additional cost of about $780,000 a month, and brought the total number of AFDC recipients to 161,868. This was in line with a steady increase in welfare rolls that has seen the number of AFDC recipients in Kentucky increase by 64,400, or 81 percent, since 1961.

The annual cost of the welfare program, which is administered on an state-federal partnership basis, increased to more than $63 million a year during the same decade, records show.

The AFDC program is the largest of the welfare programs administered by the Economic Security Department. It is designed to assist fatherless children and their mothers and those children with fathers unable or unwilling to provide for them.

PRE-SCHOOL REGISTRATION CONSIDERED FOR THREE-YEAR-OLDS

Mandatory pre-school registration of children at the age of three is one of the ideas now being considered by the Kentucky Task Force on Exceptional Children.

The task force, an arm of the state Human Resources Coordinating Commission, is busy formulating suggestions which are being sent to Kentucky's 15 regional task forces for study.

One advantage of such an early registration would be that it would make possible early medical and psychiatric screening to detect and plan for exceptional children, a member of the task force said.

"With knowledge from such early screening, a school system could plan three years in advance what special facilities would be needed," the member noted. "Now the planning is actually one year behind the discovered need."

"Eventually, savings in tax dollars could be expected from better school planning on future needs."

Such early screening also would be valuable to parents, he said.

General recommendation that the General Assembly be asked to pass legislation for pre-registration at age three may be made as a result of the surveys now being carried out by the task force.

EX-AIDÉ TO GOVERNORS NAMED TO POST

Governor Nunn has appointed a former administrative assistant to two Democratic governors as a member of the Kentucky Council on Public Higher Education.

Fontaine Banks Jr., Frankfort, was named to the four-year term replacing Edward F. Prichard Jr., also of Frankfort, whose term had expired.

Banks, 42, was assistant to Gov. Bert Combs and Edward T. Brambitt. He is a Pike County native and a graduate of Berea College.

Also named to the council is Joseph W. Coultaville School of Medicine.

In other appointments: * Joseph William Coubourne was named superintendent of Lake Cumberland Boys' Camp by the Department of Child Welfare. Coubourne, a Springfield native, has been with the department for six years at Kentucky Village, near Lexington, and at Woodburn Boys' Camp in West Liberty. He succeeds Leon Huff who resigned to take a similar post in Illinois.

State Natural Resources Commissioner James S. Shropshire was elected vice chairman of the Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Commission, the eight-state compact which polices water quality along the Ohio River. Member states of the commission besides Kentucky, are Illinois, Indiana, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia.

You & The Draft

Between last fall and spring semesters identical twins, Kenneth (Ken) and Bennett (Ben) came to our office seeking information about the "draft." Our first impression was that sameness went beyond their physical characteristics, personal appearance, mannerism and politeness.

What was distinguishable was that Ken wanted to learn how he could best fulfill his military obligation and then seek gainful employment in his profession. On the other hand, Ben was searching for legitimate means to delay his. "You and the Draft" would like to relate to its readers what these two young men have done since visiting the State Headquarters in Frankfort. This requires some case background.

Ken and Ben are registered with a local board in the south-central part of the state. They were born July 1, 1948. The twins graduated from high school in June 1968 and that fall they enrolled in college. Their educational objective was a degree in architectural engineering, a five-year program.

Both young men were good students (on the Dean's List for two years) and met all requirements for a student deferment (Class II-S). Before we continue, readers of this column should remember that since January 1970 young men are selected for the "draft" by lottery (random selection number). Selective Service registrants born between 1944 and 1950 got their random selection number (RSN) from the December 1969 lottery.

Within the past week the staff counselor (manpower officer) visited the twins' local board and as a point of interest he inspected their files. He reported that Ken stopped around and then decided he wanted to fulfill his military obligation by enlisting in the Army Reserve. This was accomplished before he was reclassified I-A by the local board.

The executive secretary of the board had learned through a friend of the family that Ken

The RSN for a registrant born on July 1, 1948, was 93.

Although Ken and Ben had a low RSN and one that had been reached in their local board in 1970, it was not of immediate concern until the final semester in college. At the time they visited our Headquarters they knew upon graduation that they would no longer be entitled to a I-A classification. Our manpower officer participated in the discussion and he explained the military options available. They were given brochures, including "It's Your Choice."
