Capitol Digest

Gov. Louie B. Nunn said a lack of continuity in some federal programs causes budgetary problems for states. Governor Nunn spoke to reporters in San Juan, Puerto Rico, where he is attending the 3rd Annual National Governors Conference.

He identified lack of money as the major problem facing American governors and said cutbacks in federal matching programs have aggravated the situation.

"These programs that Congress starts are well-intentioned," Governor Nunn said. "And of course there is great pressure on governors to take part in them."

"But after getting into them, we (governors) often find that Congress is changing its mind or the bureaucracies aren't administering the programs like Congress intended."

He said the nation's governors must seek solutions to these matching programs.

The governor said better coordination between Congress and the states must be sought along with less administrative authority for the federal bureaucracies that interpret congressional programs.

SITE-SEEING TOUR FOR INDUSTRIALISTS

Industrialists from around the U.S. will visit Kentucky Sept. 27-30 on the fourth annual Industrial Site Seeing Tour sponsored by the state Commerce Department.

The tour is designed to interest industrial officials in locating plants in Kentucky.

Commerce Commissioner Paul W. Grubbs said the tour will attract the largest number of industrialists ever to visit the state at any one time.

The tour will feature visits to Paducah, Louisville, Kentucky Lake, and areas in Western Kentucky.

Gov. Louie B. Nunn will greet the visitors at Executive In in Louisville along with other state officials.

LRC WILL STUDY EQUALITY OF SCHOOL FUNDING

The Legislative Research Commission has approved a study to determine the equality of support for public schools in Kentucky.

The action will be coordinated with the attorney general's office and James Melton, an assistant superintendent of public instruction.

House Minority Leader Harold DeMarcus, R-Stanford, sought the move and said he has long felt the state should educate its children on the basis of "being citizens of the commonwealth" rather than on the basis of their location.

The California Supreme Court has held that unequal financial backing for schools violates the U.S. Constitution.

STATE WILL STUDY KIDNEY DISEASE PROGRAM

The state Finance Department soon will begin consideration of Kidney Disease Incentive proposals for an educational program and screening and treatment of kidney patients in the next biennium.

Albert Christen, commissioner of Finance, said he will assign a budget analyst to the institute's advisory council to help prepare the budget for submission to the 1972 legislature.

Figures submitted for the program list $47,226 for education during the 1972-74 biennium; and $1,012,000 for treatment of kidney-disease patients at the University of Louisville medical schools.

Dr. Robert G. Luke, UK College of Medicine, said there are about 100 new cases of kidney disorders in the 15-55 age group each year in Kentucky and state support now is essential.

Educational proposals include television spot announcements and a speaker's bureau composed of kidney disease patients, doctors and other knowledgeable in the field.

PANEL WILL STUDY CONTROL OF PESTICIDE

The interim legislative subcommittee on agriculture soon will begin study of a proposed bill to license persons who commercially apply pesticides.

Rep. Bernard Keene, D-Bardonia, subcommittee chairman, said the bill would accomplish three purposes:

- * Standardize services so farmers can get exactly what they want.
- * Promote proper use of pesticides and avert bans which might result from misuse.
- * Coordinate with a federal law which would classify pesticides for general and restricted use and allow some to be used on an individual permit basis.

Nursery operators say the suggested bill would help protect them from fraudulent peddlers and help identify insect build-ups quicker so they can be controlled.

Beneath the earth's surface in Carter County lies a 65-acre farm—once a rock quarry—changed in 1968 into a Kentucky mushroom farm.

Within cold, damp walls, 50,000 pounds of mushrooms are shipped weekly to a cannery in Kelton, Pa. They await their future as a tasty sauce for steak, a spice for pizza or a can of soup.

$196,301 Grant Approved For Health Organization

Senator John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky) and Donald W. Whitehead, Federal Chairman of the Appalachian Regional Commission, today announced approval of a $196,301 grant for the development and initial operation of a Health Maintenance Organization in a 16-county area of Southeastern Kentucky.

The grant was made to the Southeastern Kentucky Regional Health Demonstration Corporation, which has been operating a demonstration health program in 16 Southeastern Kentucky counties since 1968.

Initially, the HMO will center its services in the Harlan, Kentucky area where existing medical services and facilities, such as the Appalachian Regional Hospital, offer a good base from which to build comprehensive care.

The program will then expand into the counties of Clay, Rockcastle, Whitley, Breathitt, Knox, Leslie, Letcher, Owsley, Perry, Bell, Lee, Jackson, Knox, Laurel, and Wolfe.

This grant will establish the first Health Maintenance Organization in Appalachia and the first HMO in any rural area of the country. The HMO is a key part of the Nixon Administration's health strategy.

The HMO is an organized system of health care to provide a comprehensive range of services to voluntarily enrolled members for a fixed pre-paid annual fee.

Senator Cooper emphasized that the HMO program is innovative in providing health care. The organization receives a fixed payment from enrollees, and then participants are eligible to receive a complete range of medical services throughout the year for no additional costs. 2. Unlike the traditional method of health care in this country, the emphasis of an HMO is on preventive medicine and early care. Because the organization receives a fixed fee for the health care of members, there is a strong economic incentive to keep people well. 3. Anyone can voluntarily enroll under the program, regardless of their economic status.

Health Maintenance Organizations which have been started in other parts of the country indicate that health-care expenses may be reduced by one quarter to one third under the organization.

The demonstration program in Eastern Kentucky is funded by Section 202 of the Appalachian Regional Development Act. Senator Cooper with Senator Jennings Randolph of West Virginia introduced the first Appalachian Regional Development Act in 1965 and this year introduced the bill to extend the Act for four more years.

Malaine Deannett Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Thomas of Cincinnati, Ohio, celebrated her first birthday August 30 at her home. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Clark of Climes and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Thomas of Orlando.

HUNTING & FISHING

If you are not addicted to hunting or even if you are, but have an allergy that won't permit you to go into the fields, then the place for you this fall is on the lakes where fishing reaches a fever pitch in late September, throughout October and into November.

Seems a bit odd that hay fever sufferers always find success from their allergen while on the waters of Kentucky's larger lakes. In addition, during the fall, they catch a great many fish.

It's a period when fishermen are little bothered by boaters and actually may fish a full day without cursing speed boats upsetting their sleepers. In all probability the only persons they will see on the lakes are those kindred members of the fishing fraternity.

And those fishermen will be of the "old pro" variety. The novices usually give up fishing as fall approaches and leave the waters open for those who are devoted to the sport.

Fishing is good in the fall. The black bass becomes more active as the waters cool and early morning and late afternoon casting (surface lures) in the heads of tributary creeks usually brings good results.

During the "heat" of the day black bass usually may be found bottom feeding off rocky points and will take a deep runner to entice them. If it's relaxation you're seeking you may set your poles with a trolling rig and cruise about the lakes, especially off the points, and have your rest and catch your fish, too.

Trotting is highly profitable in the fall months. This type fishing also permits the fishermen to drink in all the beauty of the palisades around the lake and to observe wildlife with a clearer view than at any other time.

If bass are not the fisherman's bag, he does reasonably well by fishing for the abundant crappie in the mar-jority of the larger lakes. This species school up in the fall and usually will be found around a submerged treetop, over stumpbeds or even right in the middle of a deeper slough, where they can be located by drifting a minnow back and forth across the area. When a hit occurs it's time to anchor the boat and get ready for action.

To be sure a few other species may be taken in the fall, but the best fishing is for black bass and crappie. And the big lakes are not the only areas from which they may be taken.

Before the water becomes too cold, a wading expedition down a smaller stream with flyrod in hand will yield some of the most exciting fishing there is. These streams will offer a quantity of fish rather than the larger ones, but an afternoon in a stream can bring pleasure untold in other types of fishing.

So, hang the hay fever and hunting. Go Fishing.

YOU AND THE DRAFT

In response to many inquiries from college registrars and young men entering college for the first time, our National Headquarters on Sept. 8 issued a policy statement with respect to student deferments. Although this statement was given wide publicity it may be possible that some of our registrants or others interested in deferments for undergraduate students, did not read or hear it at the time of release.

We believe the subject matter is of significance to be repeated to minimize some of the uncertainties that many young men have regarding being drafted.

The Sept. 8 statement, by Selective Service Director Dr. Curtis W. Tarr, reads as follows:

"College students who were enrolled full-time in the 1970-71 academic year will be eligible for student deferments in the 1971-72 school year if they continue to make satisfactory progress in their programs of study.

"However, young men who entered school for the first time this summer and those who enroll as freshmen this fall will not qualify for student deferments if the pending changes to the Selective Service Act are passed by Congress. The House has completed action on the bill and final Senate action is expected in September.

"Few incoming freshmen students are likely to be inducted in the near future because of the student deferment phase-out. Of the 1,034,000 incoming freshmen males estimated by the Office of Education, approximately 80 percent are 18 years old and only 20 percent are 19 years of age or older.

"The 18 year olds will receive their lottery numbers in 1972, and will not be subject to induction until 1973, when draft calls should be low. The 19-year-old freshmen received their lottery numbers Aug. 5 of this year and will be subject to induction next year at least one-half should have high enough lottery numbers to preclude their induction.

"Of those remaining, approximately 50 per cent will be disqualified on mental, moral or physical grounds. This means that a maximum of 50,000 men will be directly affected in 1972 by the student deferment phase-out and one-half of these, or 25,000, will probably not be inducted because of enlistments in Regular, Reserve or National Guard units, participating in commissioning programs or because of procedural delays."

Dr. Tarr said college students will not be drafted in the middle of a semester or term.

"If called while enrolled, they will be allowed to postpone their induction until the end of the semester, or term. If in their last academic year, they will be able to postpone their induction until after graduation."

Dr. Tarr advised incoming freshmen and students who started their program of study in the summer of 1971 or later not to file applications for student deferments even though the current law authorizes granting deferments to students in full-time programs of study.

"If the pending Selective Service legislation does not pass," Tarr said, "it would not be in a registrant's best interest to obtain a student deferment which would extend his liability until age 35.

"Should Congress change the legislation to provide deferments for new incoming freshmen, which is most likely, applications for deferments will not be jeopardized by delaying their submission until after passage of the new law. The President's authority for the induction of all men under 35, except for those who have or who had had deferments, expired on June 30, 1971. If Congress does not reinstate the general induction authority, the President could authorize the induction of those registrants who hold or have held deferments.

In this unlikely event, Selective Service officials believe manpower requirements of the Department of Defense probably could be met by inducting those young men who have recently dropped deferments because they graduated, dropped out of school or changed their occupations. Recent college graduates or dropouts would make up the bulk of inductions.

The officials add that cancellations of deferments probably would not be necessary nor would it be necessary to call those who have passed into the second priority selection group.

Currently, there are approximately six million young men under age 35 with deferments. Approximately 800,000 of these normally lose their deferments during a 12-month period. The largest groups of deferred men are those who have received fatherhood, occupational or student deferments.

When the congressional impasse with respect to restoring the induction authority is resolved and the new bill is signed by the President, "You and the Draft" pledges that it will keep its registrants well informed in order that they may plan for the future with as much certainty as the current situation warrants.

Hospital Initiates New Policy

The Rockcastle County Baptist Hospital has initiated a new policy toward out-patient treatment collection, according to Danny Price, administrator.

Mr. Price announced today that effective immediately, the hospital will no longer accept checks for out-patient services but must be paid in cash.

Mr. Price said, "We regret the inconvenience this policy offers; however, for this institution to upgrade its facilities, it must have liquid funds from which to operate."

The two-bedroom trailer home of Mr. and Mrs. Edna Stallworth was heavily damaged by fire last Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Stallworth and her small daughter were at the home of a neighbor when the fire broke out and was beyond control when the Mt. Vernon Fire Department arrived on the scene in answer to Mrs. Stallworth's alarm. No possessions were retrieved from the trailer which was located behind Dowell-Martin Funeral Home.

New Regulations Effect Local School Programs

Kentucky Senator Marlow Cook called other Senate members to support his letter to President Nixon asking for Administration intervention regarding the school breakfast and lunch programs and stating that proposed regulations will have a disastrous effect on the states involved.

Locally, Superintendent Charles Parsons said that from what he can find out about the new regulations governing the school lunch program and breakfast program, the amount of money which the schools now receive for each free lunch would be reduced by 80 percent and the breakfast program, now in existence in all consolidated schools and Maple Grove, would have to be cancelled since there would be no funds available for the program.

Mr. Price said, "We regret the inconvenience this policy offers; however, for this institution to upgrade its facilities, it must have liquid funds from which to operate."

Two Break-ins

Newman's Restaurant at Burr and an adjoining service station were both broken into Monday night. At the restaurant, entry was gained through a back door and about $3 was taken. This was the second time the restaurant has been broken in since it opened several months ago.

At the service station, operated by Ronald McFerron, entry was gained by forcing a side window. The cash register, containing no money, was taken from the station and later found at Mullins Station broken open. Keys to the two soft drink machines in the station were in the cash register and sheriff's officers theorized that after breaking open the cash register and finding the keys, the thieves returned to the station and opened the soft drink machines garnering about $10 from both machines.

The local sheriff's department is investigating the robbery.

Twelve File For City Council; Three File For Mayor's Seat

Three candidates have filed for the unexpired term of Mayor of Mt. Vernon and the voters in November will have two candidates from which to choose six city councilmen. Incumbent Mayor Ed Winstead and five of the six present councilmen filed for reelection. City Councilman David Henderson chose not to run for Council and was replaced on the slate by Dennis Hancock, who along with incumbents Harvey Rush, James M. Robinson, Bob Jasper, Charlie Hines and McKinley Perchick make up the slate running with Mayor Winstead.

Running for Council with Curtis Roberts are James T. Wall, Jesse T. Pike, Marion W. Woodall, Chester Ballard, Conrad Parrett and Fred Morris (former city councilman).

The other majorly candidate is Monroe Baker.

Of course, the mean very little in the upcoming election since as in any other election, expect that of how they split their vote however they wish in voting for a mayor and six councilmen.

In Broadhead, the five incumbent members of the town board have filed for reelection and are unopposed. They are: Bobby Proctor, David Cash, Preston Parrett, Lawson Saddle and Johnny Wilcox.

HISTORIC LANDMARKS LISTED

Three Kentucky historic structures—Lexington's Waveland and Mary Todd Lincoln House and the Old Bank of Louisville Building—recently have gotten historical pedigrees.

The buildings join 23 Kentucky sites, prominent historically or architecturally, recorded in the National Register of Historic Places, maintained by the National Park Service.

The Old Bank of Louisville Building (upper right) was designed and built by Gideon Shroyock, the father of Greek Revival style in Kentucky. Built in 1837, the building awaits a new future as the home of Actors Theatre at 320 W. Main.

Often overlooked by passers-by is the brick building on Lexington's W. Main Street (lower left)—the girlhood home of Mary Todd, Abraham Lincoln's wife. Mrs. Louie B. Nunn spearheaded the fund-raising drive to begin restoration of the house.

Waveland (lower right), now housing the Kentucky Life Museum, is one of the finest examples of Greek Revival architecture in Kentucky. Built around 1845 by Joseph Bryan, Waveland sits five miles south of Lexington on Higbee Mill Pike.

It Cost Money Not To Lime

Recently a prominent agricultural experiment station published some figures that opened our eyes.

Based on 28 years of experimental results, it was stated that a 160-acre farm which used lime and clover had an average annual income of $950 more than the same farm would have made without lime and clover.

Tom Duncan's Frankfort Watchline

Relax, folks, things are back to normal... The missing ingredient... school money... now is simmering in the pot of a political campaign...

Economy and efficiency dept.: The Public Information Department sends packets of publicity... The combination will make a tasty dish. The indignation comes later.

Not that the candidates are likely to embrace the Kentucky Education Association program fully... KEA says it will cost $104,616,283 over the next two years...

That, of course, would be an impossible figure with the present tax structure... And a severance tax on minerals won't make much difference.

The LRC page "continuation" counts for school programs at an increase of $7 million... And even if teacher salary raises were only half what the KEA is asking they would cost 40 million.

The KEA is asking 10 percent salary increases in each of the next two years... On the other hand, in view of the past results...

Remember that offer by Republican gubernatorial candidate Tom Emberton to open his books for inspection by three newsmen?

Well, your contrary columnist took him up. And we feel duty bound to report the scandalous expenditure of $249,100... for bottled spring water.

The GOP books offer some interesting comparisons... Telephone costs for the fall campaign are over $19,000... more than the total for newspaper and radio advertising.

And fees plus expenses for Civic Service, handling surveys and research, are almost as much as the total for television—about $72,000.

Finance Commissioner Albert Christian is deeply disturbed over the contract with the Western Pioneer Life Insurance Company for insurance for state employees.

He has staunchly defended awarding the contract without bids to the firm headed by Gov. Louie Nunn's political friend Roger Moore.

But Christian feels the company has been less than candid about several points. And he plans to call in outside experts.

"By increasing our productivity and imposing a 10% surtax on foreign goods, the United States will be able to look forward to future years where our balance of payments situation is more favorable and our economic position is one of greater strength."

CARTER COMMENTS

In his remarks before a joint session of the 92nd Congress, President Nixon urged the enactment of three tax proposals. These tax proposals will significantly stimulate the economy, creating 600 new jobs in the coming year.

"I wholeheartedly support the implementation of these programs," said Kentucky's Fifth District Congressman, Tim Lee Carter, "I am especially in favor of the repeal of the 7% state tax on automobiles, which if enacted, would mean a saving of about $200 on each new American-built automobile."

The Kentucky Representative added, "I am introducing a bill to remove the excise tax on farm tractors of one ton or less. I regret that this provision was not included in the original proposal sent to Congress, but I am confident that it is included in the version of the bill brought before the House of Representatives."

Representative Carter, relating the importance of making foreign-made products less competitive in the United States market, strongly supports the President's decision to impose a 10% surtax on foreign imports, in commenting on the 10% surtax, Representative Carter said, "In several of our major industries, imports have risen so rapidly that domestic production has been displaced. We must not let our past leniency toward foreign imports continue, for this would eventually threaten the basic strength of entire industries and result in great loss of job opportunities for American workers. The economic strength of this Nation has been founded on the productive and competitive capability of its industries and their workers."

Representative Carter noted that perhaps the most significant effect of the 10% surtax on foreign imports will be the bolstering of the position of our dollar abroad by easing the balance of payments deficit. In order to help ease the balance of payments deficit, Americans will have to stop buying foreign automobiles and many other products which have flooded into our markets from abroad.

"The time has come for the United States to compete more vigorously in the area

AMERICAN MOTORS INTRODUCES THE GUARANTEED CAR.

If anything goes wrong with one of our '72's and it's our fault, we'll fix it free. Anything.

AMERICAN MOTORS 1972 BUYER PROTECTION PLAN.

For years, car buyers in this country have been saying that instead of shiny new chrome every year, what they really want is a good car they can count on.

That's why American Motors and its dealers put together their 1972 Buyer Protection Plan. Here's how it works:

A STRONG GUARANTEE IN PLAIN ENGLISH.

When you buy a new 1972 car from an American Motors dealer, American Motors Corporation guarantees to you that, except for tires, it will pay for the replacement of any part it supplies that is defective in material or workmanship.

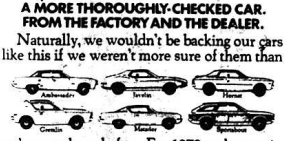

This guarantee is good for 12 months from the date the car is first used or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first. All we require is that the car be properly maintained and covered for under normal use and service in the fifty United States or Canada and that guaranteed repairs or replacements be made by an American Motors dealer.

This guarantee gives you 12-month or 12,000-mile coverage on a lot of things most car warranties don't. It covers air conditioning, battery, radio, wiper blades, front end alignment, light bulbs - literally everything we put on the car except tires.

In other words, if something we did goes wrong with one of our '72's, you won't have to pay for the parts or the labor. We will.

A MORE THOROUGHLY-CHECKED CAR FROM THE FACTORY AND THE DEALER.

Naturally, we wouldn't be backing our cars like this if we weren't more sure of them than we've ever been before. For 1972, we've put in more quality control steps, more tests and more people to see that every car leaving our factory is as perfect as man and machine can make it.

At the dealer's, it's checked over again.

STARTING TODAY, THESE AMERICAN MOTORS DEALERS WILL DO MORE FOR YOU AFTER YOU BUY A CAR THAN ANY OTHER DEALER IN TOWN.

SCHOOL LUNCH POLICY ANNOUNCED BY BOARD

Rockcastle County Board of Education today announced a free and reduced price lunch policy for all Rockcastle County school children unable to pay the full price. Local School Officials have adopted the following family size and income scale to assist them in determining eligibility.

Table with columns for Family Size, Free Lunch, Reduced Price Lunch, and Number of Children in School, Pre-school, or Day Care Centers (1-11).

Eligibility determination are made on a family basis, that is, all the children in the same family attending schools under the same certificate of the local school board authority are to receive the same benefits, a free lunch to a reduced price lunch. A reduced price lunch that 20¢ may be inserted in this scale.

Families falling within these scales or those suffering from unusual circumstances or hardships are urged to apply for free or reduced price lunches for their children. They may do so by filling in the application forms sent home in a letter to parents. Additional copies are available at the principal's office in each school. Applications may be submitted any time during the school year. The form itself is simple to complete and requests information needed to determine economic need based on the income and number of persons in the family and any unusual circumstances or hardships which affect the family's ability to pay for school lunches. The information provided on the application will be confidential and will be used only (Cont. to 8)

Fall Setting of Spring-Flowering Bulbs and Lilies

From mid-September through October is the best time to set your spring-flowering bulbs and lilies. Bulbs are more than an inch deep or borders than are needed, so the soil can be prepared wholely rather than plant by plant. Bulbs are often pests among bulbs. If you control grubs, you can control moths. Aldrin, Heptachlor, or Dieldrin can be used. Follow the manufacturer's rate recommendations given for control of grubs in lawns. Depth of setting will vary with the type of bulb. A light winter mulch is desirable for newly set beds of bulbs but is not needed for established beds in Kentucky. A mulch prevents heating due to alternate freezing and thawing. Often spring-flowering bulbs are planted among other perennials, or annuals are planted in the bulb bed, for summer color. Daffodils made excellent companion plants for roses.

Fall Fertilizer Program for Lawns, Shrubs, and Flowers

Lawns need feeding in late September or October. In most of Kentucky apply 15-20 pounds of a 10-10-10 or similar fertilizer per 1,000 square feet of lawn. In areas where phosphorus and potash are naturally abundant in the soil, such as in the Bluegrass region, 7-7 pounds of ammonium nitrate per 1,000 square feet is usually adequate.

Shrubs can usually be fed at the same time. These shrubs which continue to grow succulently late into the fall should not be fed heavily with nitrogen. Usually one to two handfuls of 10-10-10 fertilizer per moderate size shrub is about right. Very large shrubs can benefit from more; smaller ones should have less. On shrubs which are still succulent apply 5-10-10 or similar formulas. Using 20-10-10 is all right for many of the others. In the Bluegrass region use ammonium nitrate at one-third the rate that a 10-10-10 is used elsewhere.

The benefit of phosphorus fertilization of mature shrubs and trees has never been shown. Young plants need it, but it transfers readily from place to place in the tops of mature woody plants.

Most herbaceous perennials and annuals benefit. Woody plants whose tops are removed annually such as roses, butterfly bush and white hydrangea benefit from having an adequate phosphorus level in the soil.

Most annual flowers and bulbs will not benefit from fall fertilization. Many perennial flowers will.

The idea with shrubs, trees, and herbaceous perennials is to get these minerals into plant parts which live over winter in order to be ready to "go" when spring comes. Early spring fertilization is often too late to obtain good results in the spring, recent research has shown.

A Pretty Peach—Beware

Don't be misled by a pretty peach! Nearly every kind of peach tree has some good years when it bears baskets of beautiful, luscious fruit. (This is especially true following a mild winter, such as 1969 and to a lesser extent, this year). But don't let one good season truck you into buying a poor performance variety. Get to know your peach trees — they are different!

At least ten varieties of peaches have a history of weak, easily winter-killed flower buds that might fall in this "pretty peach" category. They include Coronet, Kaystone, Southland, Washington, Blake, Jerseyqueen, Jefferson, Shippers Late Red, Monroe, and to some extent, the Loring variety.

Proven hardy varieties with good quality are Garnet Beauty, Sunhaven, Redhaven, Harken, Reliance, Glohaven, Harmony, Ozark, Veteran, Crest-haven, Georgia Belle, Madison and Redskin. Most of these are readily available from reliable mail order nurseries.

For more information on this subject write your County Extension agent and ask for Kentucky Extension Misc. Publication 37-B, "Peach Variety Performance—1970."

Kentucky Starts New Central Testing Program for Beef Bulls

Faster-gaining, better quality beef cattle and more profits for Kentucky cattlemen are the results expected from Kentucky's central bull testing program, which gets underway in October.

The test, to be conducted at a new bull testing station on Seaway Farms near Paris, is a feedlot trial which measures the ability of a bull to grow. Since bulls pass on their offspring much of their rate-of-growth potential, those bulls that perform best themselves are likely to make the best sires, according to Dr. Russell L. BreDahl, beef specialist with the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture's Cooperative Extension Service.

Supervised by UK Extension beef specialists and sponsored by the Kentucky Cattlemen's Association, the testing program is open to purebred or recorded percentage bulls of all breeds, born between February 10 and May 10, 1971, that meet certain preconditioning requirements. After the 10-day test ends, the bulls that have performed well in the test will be sold at a special auction.

Since the program is mainly for Kentucky breeders, consignments for the test will be accepted until September 30 from Kentucky breeders only.

After that date, out-of-state consignments will be accepted if space is available. Deadline for all consignments is October 7, with the bulls to be delivered to the testing station October 18-19. Consignments of at least five bulls from one sire are preferred, although smaller groups and single bulls will be accepted. BreDahl lists several ways a breeder can benefit from this new program.

He can compare the performance of his bulls with those of other breeders under standardized conditions — all bulls in the test will be fed the same rations in the same environments under the same management.

He can then use the test data for his purebred breeding registry performance program. And, since the test will measure gain performance of the offspring of his herd sires, test results will help him plan a more profitable breeding program.

He can get top prices for his good bulls, since a central performance tested bull sale will attract buyers from many states. And he'll have a chance to buy test-proven bulls at the sale for his own herd replacements.

The new testing station, which includes a well-ventilated barn and an exercise lot, can handle 288 bulls per test. BreDahl points out. The bulls will be penned by breed and size in groups of about 25. Each pen has concrete slotted floors, concrete feeding hoppers, and automatic waterers.

Cost to the breeder for having his bulls tested will be based on gains plus a flat testing fee and sale costs. For more information on the central testing program, contact your county Extension agent or call BreDahl in Lexington (Area code 606) 258-2956.
