BIG PAY - NO WORK

PSC aides work at home

By LIVINGSTON TAYLOR
Courier-Journal Staff Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The state Public Service Commission (PSC) has eight administrative assistants, including the sister of chairman Harold Kelley, assigned to job locations in their home towns and drawing PSC salaries of $5,484 a year each.

Kelley, who was ousted June 30 from administrative control of the PSC by fellow commissioners Joe Travis and Howard Clay, said Friday that he hired the eight to "handle complaints" about the state's 352 utilities, which the commission regulates.

Clay said Friday that he and Travis plan to "take a new look at things" this week.

"I know there'll be some changes," Clay said. He declined to go into specifics until he talks further with Travis, who was out of town for the weekend.

The eight administrative assistants currently on the payroll were hired between April 1968 and February 1970. They are:

✓ Mrs. Beatrice M. Reed, 57, of Ashland, Kelley's sister.

✓ Mrs. Mary Lee Jones, 61, of Elkton, wife of Todd County Judge W. S. Jones. Jones is a Democrat who supported Republican Gov. Louie B. Nunn in the 1967 election.

✓ William R. Adams, 66, of Jeremiah in Letcher County, a former Republican state representative.

✓ Lawrence E. Forgy, 56, of Lewisburg in Logan County, father of Lawrence E. Forgy Jr., former deputy finance commissioner in the GOP state administration and now a University of Kentucky vice president.

✓ Sam H. Sartin, 67, of Willow Shade in Metcalfe County, listed on state personnel records as a state-level U.S. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) official during the Eisenhower administration.

✓ Mrs. Pauline E. Bratcher, 48, of Greenville, widow of W. D. Bratcher Bratcher, a 1st District GOP chairman appointed by Gov. Nunn to the PSC in early 1968, died later that year.

✓ James L. Bersot, 57, of Louisville, listed in the Louisville city directory as president of Custom Perma-Gutters, Inc.

✓ Raymond F. Grizzell, 75, of Mount Sterling, listed in state records as a former school-book sales manager.

Mrs. Jones was contacted at her Elkton home and asked what her state duties are.

"Anything that comes up that requires investigation or looking into," Mrs. Jones said.

Could she give an example of her work?

"No sir, not at the present," she replied.

Asked whom she reports to in her work, Mrs. Jones said, "The man in Frankfort, I can't think of his name right now."

Four decline to answer query

Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Bratcher, Bersot and Sartin declined to say what they do in their jobs, referring the question to Kelley.

Sartin did describe how he came to Frankfort to apply for a job and met Kelley in a Capitol Building office in the presence of a fellow Metcalfe countian, Tom Emberton, then an assistant to the governor and now the Republican candidate for governor. Emberton also formerly was a member of the PSC.

"He (Kelley) told me my headquarters would be at Willow Shade, and he would call me when I was needed," Sartin said.

Asked how often he has been called, Sartin said, "I haven't been called very often."

Adams, Forgy and Grizzell could not be reached for comment.

"These people handle complaints and do this and that and the other," Kelley said in a telephone interview from Ashland. "I don't have a big enough staff there (at Frankfort) to handle them... We have 352 utilities to regulate."

The utilities are telephone, electric, gas, water, pipeline and telegraph firms.

As for his sister, Kelley said she "does as good a job as the rest of them."

Asked what she can do in Ashland that Kelley, also of Ashland, could not do, Kelley replied, "She can do a whole lot, just like Louie's sister (Mrs. Virginia Strohecker) works in his office, you know."

"They had five or six. I may have three or four more than they had, but our number of utilities has increased."

(In December 1967, state records show the previous commission had two administrative assistants and five investigators. The investigators were paid on a $25 per diem basis, rather than a straight salary.)

State GOP raises, spends more on election than Democrats

By CHRIS WADDLE
Courier-Journal Staff Writer

Kentucky Republican campaign machinery has raised more money and spent more than the Democrats during the current electioneering.

In required reports filed yesterday (30 days before the Nov. 2 election) with the state Registry of Election Finance, the political price tags looked like this:

The Kentucky Democratic Campaign Committee reported it has received $273,641 in contributions and receipts from such occasions as campaign dinners. Expenditures listed by Democrats totaled $142,618.72.

The Tom Emberton for Kentucky's Governor Committee, which an official of the election finance registry said includes all the candidates on the party's statewide slate, reported $357,855.74 in contributions and receipts. The party has spent $366,128.84—more money than has been taken in.

However, Republicans previously said that since Emberton had no primary battle for the nomination, a surplus in the party treasury has helped meet expenses.

Wendell Ford, Democratic nominee and the state's present lieutenant governor, had to campaign in his party's primary against former Gov. Bert Combs.

In sharp contrast to the major parties, the American Party State Campaign Fund reported receiving $1,015 from contributors—none of whom gave more than $500—and spending a total of $683.45.

2nd member, 'disillusioned,' quits GOP's state committee

FRANKFORT, Ky. — Describing himself as disillusioned with the state Republican administration, a second member says he has resigned from the GOP State Central Committee.

John Sharp, Williamsburg, said he submitted his resignation to GOP State Chairman John Kerr Jr. last Thursday but Kerr said yesterday that he had not yet received it. Kerr declined to comment on the matter until he receives formal notification.

Sharp's resignation comes less than a month after Marshall (Nick) Burelew of Owensboro resigned from the committee.

Burelew said he was resigning because he supported Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford, a Democrat also from Owensboro, in next month's gubernatorial election rather than Tom Emberton, the Republican.

Sharp, in explaining his resignation, said he felt he had been "slapped in the face" by the state GOP administration when "about a couple of months ago they started paying attention to other sides here."

"Instead of letting me call the shots," asserted Sharp, who was Whitley County patronage chairman, "they've been listening to other people."

Specific examples of his being overruled by the administration, he said, were in road placement and transfer of personnel.

Gov. Louie B. Nunn's only comment on Sharp's charges yesterday was that they were "self-explanatory."

The Man Who Proved His Right To Be A Leader

WE WERE looking through our files near prestime this week in search of a suitable picture of Wendell Ford to run in the paper along with the story that he would be in Logan County for yet another campaign visit.

What a file it is... What a witness to one man's effort to persuade a people. There he is at a Rotary meeting, chatting away with several fellows while "Doc" Beauchamp looks on with a smile that could only be described as "inscrutable."

Then, here he is again, grinning at a pretty girl who was a winner in the Tobacco Festival Beauty contest. In dead of winter, he's shivering on the platform while the Lewisburg Christmas parade passes in review—the only major politician who foud his way to the Coon Range in the middle of December. A factory scene flashes up—the back of candidate Ford, arms outstretched across a pile of garments to touch the hand of a Logan woman.

Airport meetings—rather bare and sweeping. The candidate stands beside a little airplane, pensively listening to a faithful friend, usually Doug Shoulders, that persistent and enduring buddy from the Jaycees, or James Millam, in earnest conversation. There's something rather jaunty about those airport pictures. They were in the primary when the running seemed all uphill against the big man—Bert Combs—and there wasn't much money (there has never been) to buy the gas, and the wise boys said the Ford campaign would run out of money and votes before the primary election day. Another set of pictures—at Doc Beauchamp's funeral. Wendell Ford at the edge of the Scene, keenly aware that Beauchamp was joined with Combs, but somehow determined to show his respect to the old party hero just the same.

TURNING FURTHER, there's a picture of Wendell Ford at the Strawberry Festival, just before the primary. It's stuck against a misplaced picture from an earlier visit when they asked him to make a little talk at a Baptist Church. (Did he ever refuse to make a little talk?) Here's another shot. He's walking toward the Courthouse with a serious-faced band of youngsters who are making their debut in politics as his Russellville workers. The candidate is just a few feet away from the barber shop where he won some votes four years ago when he was running for lieutenant governor...

Wendell Ford didn't carry Logan in that race for lieutenant governor, but he almost did—and the votes that he did get may have been the difference in his 1967 victory, for his opponent had expected to win a large majority here. This year, Wendell Ford didn't capture Logan either, but his loss margin was slim, and there was no doubt that in all these visits Wendell Ford had won the hearts of many Logan countians.

Now at last the nominee and standard bearer of the Democratic Party, Wendell Ford comes back to this familiar stumping area the winner of a smashing primary upset and the leader under whose banner the Logan County Democrats have buried their factional hatchets.

He has worked for and earned every vote he ever got in this community. Each fight has been uphill, and his courage and warm personality have brought around more voters in every campaign. In politics, all campaigns are crucial, there is never a minor election for the candidate whose name is on the ballot. But for Wendell Ford, the test of tests is just a few weeks away.

Through perseverance, a dogged determination to get through the politicians and into the hearts of the people, by dint of much hard work, and because he has shown himself a man who doesn't know how to give up, he is returning to Logan County in the closing days of the campaign as a man who has proven his right to the leadership of the party. He will find a warm welcome here, reflective, we are sure, of a hearty vote in November when, most observers believe, Wendell Ford will carry Logan County and earn, at last, that majority for which he has so diligently and gallantly labored.

Man To Man

An appraisal of Wendell Ford by a campaign worker

He is a person who works constantly at the job of getting along with other people and helping them to get along with each other. He goes out of his way to see the other fellows point of view and help bring understanding where there is tension. Although he himself may be able to jump across the chasm that he sees in human relations, he thinks of the other people affected by it and starts to build a bridge of understanding, cooperation and good will.

Radiance and joy are characteristic of this person who has this quality of personality. He is not afraid of fighting, but he is concerned with fighting over things that are trivial and not worth the struggle of the soul. He is concerned of the damage that can come to human personality from an unkind word thoughtlessly spoken. He is concerned of the prejudices that like leeches suck away the life of a nation. He is concerned, but he is concerned with the tensions between races and groups and classes of people. He is concerned, but he is honest and courageous, and so he builds bridges of appreciation, of understanding, and of cooperation.

He works at the job of helping people live together in peace and harmony.

Is there anybody our state needs more right now than this person? Is there any of us who could not work harder at becoming this kind of person?

Livingston Policeman Charged In Shooting

George Wynn, city policeman of Livingston, has been charged with unlawfully and feloniously shooting and wounding with intent to kill on a complaint taken by Robert Paul Griffin of Red Hill.

According to Sheriff Billy Kirby, Griffin was shot once in the neck by Wynn early last Thursday night, October 21 behind Dingman's Restaurant in Livingston. Sheriff Kirby said Wynn stated that he was attempting to arrest Griffin at the time of the shooting for public drunkenness and that the shooting was accidental.

Griffin was taken to the Rockcastle County Baptist Hospital for treatment and has been released. Wynn was charged, lodged in the Rockcastle County Jail and released Sunday on $1,000 bond.

Wynn also faces a Civil Action brought by Cella Bernice Hammond and Lee Bradley Hammond. The action stems from a wreck July 4 on U.S. 25 in Livingston when an auto, driven by Lee Hammond and owned by Cella Hammond, was involved in an accident with a car driven by Wynn, who was city policeman at that time for Livingston.

This suit, filed against the City of Livingston and George Wynn, asks $2,500 for damages to the Hammond car and $1,000 for the defendants for injuries reportedly received by Hammond in the accident.

During the July term of Circuit Court, the Grand Jury returned an indictment against Wynn charging him with becoming intoxicated and unable and incompetent to discharge the duties of his office as town policeman.

The indictment and civil action will be docketed for the November term of Circuit Court and the shooting case will go before the Grand Jury for action.

Real issues are so scarce in this governor's race that a fellow finding one may get quality for an explorer's medal.

But Republican Tom Emberton has tossed one into the muddle by saying he'd outlaw the broad form deed.

That's the type document common to the Eastern Kentucky coalfield that separates ownership of the surface land from ownership of the minerals beneath.

because of damage strip miners do to the surface—even if they don't own it—to get the coal.

But there's a real question whether the broad form deed can be flatly outlawed under Kentucky's Constitution.

It has a section forbidding any retroactive law or any law that would impair the obligations of a contract.

Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford, the Democratic candidate, cites that provision as a bar against outlawing the broad form deed.

Ford's own proposal for a state-local revenue sharing plan also has drastic some constitutional questions.

And he now is saying he'll share funds with local governments "within constitutional limits."

He insists that's not to back away from the promise but simply to emphasize that his plan will be legal. It would be easier to judge if Ford would just come on out and say what the plan really is.

But the whole thing really is appropriate for this campaign—even if you find an issue you'll be hard pressed to explain it.

Ford people haven't been too worried by Emberton's stand on the broad form deed. They figure it's pushing some coal operators to Ford although most were against him in the primary.

Some Democrats have been worried by Gov. Louie Nunn's revived up schedule.

In a single day he raced through a half-dozen dedications, groundbreakings and project announcements.

Each, of course, was loaded with potential for the Republicans.

But Democrats just had to cringe at the report from the governor's office that, after all those events, Nunn would get down to politics with a rally that night.

The campaign letter-writing offers plenty of quantity if nothing else.

One letter the Republicans sent said:

"I understand that the dinner held for the Democratic nominee for Governor on September 18 was quite successful and that you were extremely helpful in that effort. However, since most impartial observers increasingly agree that Tom Emberton will be Kentucky's next Governor, we are hopeful that you might equally assist the Emberton Campaign as an expression of your interest in good government and fair play.

"Your contribution would be most appreciated. Checks should be made payable to 'Emberton for Governor.'"

And one the Democrats sent to insurance agents said:

"Why is Wendell interested, in keeping the best possible conditions under which the industry, both agents and companies, can operate? Because after completing his term of office as your Governor, he will reenter the agency business..."

"Help insure your future with an understanding Chief Executive by sending your financial support today. These letters do have one merit. They were mailed with

Congressman Tim Lee

Carter Comment

Congressman Tim Lee Carter issued a reminder in Washington today that the time is approaching when the people of the Commonwealth of Kentucky will once again be called upon to exercise their right to vote. "It is our duty and our privilege," he indicated, "to respond to this call, and carry on our great tradition of renewing the strength of our democracy through the ballot."

"A favorite pastime of many people," the Fifth District Representative continued, "is to complain about the quality of their Government. I have nothing against this as such. In deed, it is vital to a healthy democratic form of Government that the people are interested, and that they do make constructive criticisms. If a person desires to see a certain policy implemented, it is essential that he exercise his franchise and vote for a candidate who endorses that policy. His candidate may not win. There is no guarantee that the candidate one supports will win the election. Nevertheless, if one does not vote, it seems to me that he forfeits the privilege of complaining about the quality of his Government. The quality of Government is directly related to the quality of those who hold public office. One should be certain that the candidate will reflect in his actions the will of the people."

"During my years in public office," Congressman Carter continued, "I have always admonished citizens to keep the issues and vote. Voting is certainly where the action is for the vast majority of our citizens."

"I submit," explained Congressman Carter, "that the act of voting is a right and a duty. Voting determines who the place where each American is equal — one man, one vote — where each has his say in the kind of Government we are going to have."

"For the majority of persons there is no good reason for their not registering and voting. In addition, Kentucky was one of the leaders in the Nation in the issue of lowering the voting age to sixteen years."

"I submit," explained Congressman Carter, "that the act of voting is a right and a duty. Voting determines who

Poetry

Japanese Haiku poetry, which is 400 years old, is presently being studied by the fifth and sixth grades at Roundstone School under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Williams, teacher, and Miss Deborah Watson of Brodhead who is doing her student teaching there.
Haiku poetry consists of five lines and must have five syllables in the first line, seven in the second and five in the last.
The poems repeated below, written by students, all deal with Halloween or the Japanese people and we thought our readers would enjoy them.

VOTE FOR MONROE BAKER FOR MAYOR CITY OF MT. VERNON

I am your Independent Candidate For Mayor. When I say I am A Independent Candidate, I mean I am not slated with any of the City Councilmen that are running for office. I am not tied to, or obligated to, any group or so-called clicks, and I have no personal money-making gains to achieve whatsoever.

I can and will work in harmony with any men you elect for City Councilmen. If you elect a part of the so-called old board and a part of the so-called new board, I still can work with these men because I have no chip on my shoulder for any of them and I am sure that every man running is sincere and that we can work for the betterment of the City of Mt. Vernon.

If you see fit to elect me as your mayor, I promise you that I will do everything in my power to make Mt. Vernon a better place to live.

Sincerely,
Monroe Baker

Capitol Digest

Gov. Louie B. Nunn announced the creation of a state planning and advisory council to help Kentucky obtain federal grants to care for the mentally or neurologically disabled under the Development Disabilities Act.

The federal act seeks to help individuals suffering from disabilities "attributable to mental retardation, cerebral palsy, epilepsy and another neurological condition, closely related to mental retardation or requiring treatment similar to that required by mentally retarded individuals."

Federal grants will be available for planning, providing services and constructing and operating facilities for such individuals.

Governor Nunn said the new council will serve as a planning and advisory body as required by federal law and be made up of various state officials.

Serving on the council will be the superintendent of public instruction, commissioner of child welfare, economic security, health and mental health, the head of the Commission on Handicapped Children and six consumers and six providers of services.

PROBATIONARY LICENSE ASKED FOR YOUNG

State Driver Licensing Director Roger Whitlow announced legislation will be proposed to permit probationary license for new young drivers.

During the probationary period, a young driver could have his driving privileges suspended more easily than the holder of a regular license. Whitlow told a Governor's High School Traffic Safety Conference in Louisville that such licenses already are being issued in about a dozen states.

He said the probationary license is aimed at identifying the problem driver more quickly than the current point system allows.

No guidelines have yet been proposed for how many points a probationary driver might receive before losing his privileges.

Whitlow added that probationary licenses would "help get problem drivers off the road-through suspension of license-or into a driver-improvement program."

The Rockcastle County Saddle Club's Endurance Ride from Rentro Valley to 3 Tree Tower was held recently with Royce Sargent having the shortest time of 4 hours and 35 minutes. Shown in the above photo are, from left: Mr. Sargent on Chigger, an eight-year-old quarter horse; Peggy Cox, who was second with a time of 5 hours and 4 minutes, on Holy Smoke an Appaloosa; Jimmy Peel, third in 5 hours and 6 minutes, on Gray Fox and Martin Cox, fourth in 5 hours and 35 minutes, on his Palomino, Dynamite. In all 19 riders left Rentro and 17 made the round trip.

equine encephalomyelitis and said the state now is "safe" for horses.

Some 157,017 horses, mules, donkeys and ponies-about 90 per cent of Kentucky's equines -were vaccinated.

Before the program began Dr. Northington said 90 per cent coverage would be required to put Kentucky in the "safe" category.

"We're well satisfied with the program and feel it turned out better than we at first expected," he said. "We won't have to make the program mandatory now for those who didn't have their animals inoculated, because experts on the disease feel that the 90 per cent figure is enough to make the vaccination program effective."

The U.S. Department of Agriculture paid all costs for the program with private veterinarians administering the vaccine at a $4-per-head fee rate.

Dr. Northington said 195 veterinarians worked on the program and collected about $650,000.

He added that one-by-product of the program will be a fairly accurate tally of Kentucky's horse population which will be available after final tabulations.

TAX RECEIPTS SHARPLY UP FROM LAST YEAR

Revenue Commissioner J.E. Luckett and Finance Commissioner Albert Christensen announced general fund tax receipts for the first quarter of the fiscal year increased 17.5 per cent over the same period in 1970.

Luckett also noted receipts for the quarter, which totaled $144,809,198, were some 4.6 per cent above estimates.

He added that this is due partly to processing factors and that current economic conditions are too uncertain to predict whether the upward trend will continue.

Road fund tax receipts for the period totaled $43,045,618, or 7.3 per cent over the first quarter of fiscal 1970.

HOUSING - Get Ready for Winter

1. Weather-strip doors with either felt, copper, rubber or aluminum weather stripping. Each material has its own advantages and disadvantages to consider.

2. Check putty around door and window frames and glass. If it's cracked and crumbling away, dig it out and replace it with one of the newer putties that keeps its elasticity. Where old-type stationary upper-sash windows do not fit tightly, this new kind of putty can be used to fill in the air space and can then be painted over to match the window frame.

3. Check your attic insulation to see if it's properly placed. If your house is not well insulated against those winter winds and the cold, it's time to get the job done. You'll have a more comfortable house and lower heating bill.

4. Are your water pipes insulated? If not, if you don't know how to do it, get some expert's help and advice. If you just can't get the pipes, you might follow the example of many other folks with older homes that don't have adequate crawl space: stop up all vents or openings to the space under the house. Some people find that heavy plastic tightly fastened around the foundation helps keep the pipes from freezing by keeping the cold winds from forcing their way through.

5. Have your heating system, fireplaces and flues checked before putting them to work for you.

6. Clean out that accumulation of leaves, bird nests and debris from your gutters - or when snow and ice come, the gutters may pull loose from the effects of freezing.

Now is the Time to Plant Spring Bulbs

It's time to look ahead, gardeners - spring flowering bulbs are hardy plants that require little care and they provide early color in your garden or yard at a time when few other plants are in bloom.

In most areas, spring flowering bulbs should be planted in the fall so that roots can develop before the ground freezes, a U.S. Dept. of Agriculture bulletin notes. Home and Garden Bulletin No. 136, called "Spring Flowering Bulbs," discusses selection of bulbs, planting, care of bulbs, and forcing bulbs. Also, the 14-page publication has charts showing how deep to plant bulbs and how high they normally grow. Pictures of some of these bulbs are also included.

You can use bulbs anywhere in your garden and some make excellent flowering plants for indoor arrangements. Planted outdoors, some are best suited for border plants. Others should be grouped for large masses of color. And many of them can be scattered in lawns or planted among shrubs as ground cover.

Some of the more uncommon bulbs mentioned are blue-bells and squills, oxalis, snowflake and winter aconite, snowflake, anemone, and glory-of-the-snow.

If you want to know even more about bulbs, you may also order the booklet on indoor arrangements. Planted which offers an alphabetical list and description of how to plant and manage the more commonly grown summer bulbs. The booklet is available if you are planted in the winter - February or March - indoors. These bulbs cannot be planted outdoors until danger of frost has passed in the spring. Each booklet sells for 15 cents and may be ordered from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

Get That Run-Down, Worn-Out Feeling?

Loss of pep and energy may mean you are not getting the right foods in your diet. Your body needs a balance of different kinds of foods to function properly. A lack of the necessary vitamins and minerals may give you that run-down feeling. If you have that run-down feeling and lack the energy to do all you need to do or would like to do, then you should check what you are eating.

Are you getting at least 2 glasses of milk a day? Some foods of dairy foods such as cheese, cream in your coffee, or milk in prepared foods can be substituted if you are not a milk drinker. Growing youth and teenagers need 3 to 4 glasses of milk a day.

Are you getting at least 2 servings of protein rich food each day? Some foods rich in protein are meat, poultry, fish, eggs, dried beans, peanut butter and nuts.

Are you getting at least 4 servings of vegetables and fruits each day? Fruits and vegetables are important sources of vitamins. The richer and darker color the vegetable or fruit, the richer in vitamins it will be. Don't forget the citrus fruits such as oranges, lemons, grapefruits, as well as tomatoes. These are rich sources of vitamin C. Some researchers believe that vitamin C helps to prevent colds.

Do you get four servings of bread or cereals a day? This is probably the easiest food group to include in your daily food intake. (Dieters often try to leave this group out of their meals, but cereals and bread are good sources of bulk to keep your system running properly. This food group also contains important vitamins and minerals.

The bulls are stationed in Canada but special permission has been granted by U.S.D.A. to permit some of them to tour the U.S.

Three of these bulls will be displayed at the Kentucky Artificial Breeding Association 1930 Herr Lane, Lexington, Kentucky on Monday, November 8, 1971. A short program will be presented at 10 a.m. and the same program again at 2 p.m.

The bulls are about 3 years of age and are Capone, a Maine-Anjou; Erso, a Limousin; and Rens, a Simmental. This is the first and possibly the only opportunity for Kentuckians to see these bulls from Europe. Everyone is invited to see them.

Bulls cannot be brought into the U.S. from Europe because the necessary quarantine facilities are not available at this time. A limited number can be brought into Canada and must stay there except for tours such as this one.

An Unusual Household Pest This Year

According to Dr. Rudy Sheibner, Extension Specialist in Entomology, University of Kentucky, reports are coming in about a velvet black "worm" which is invading homes. Occasionally the worm is reported as digging out mortar or doing some other kind of damage. The reports of damage are not likely to be true and can be discounted as errors in observation.

The "worm" ranges from 1/4 - 1 inch long, is velvet black and has 3 pairs of short legs on the region behind the head. The head is tan. The creature is the larval stage of a soldier or carabid beetle. According to all the entomological literature, it is exclusively predaceous on other ground dwelling insects. In past years I have received specimens that were reported as eating strawberries. There is a possibility that this is true because these insects don't read textbooks and don't always do what they are supposed to do.

The adult form of this beetle feeds on the nectar and pollen of goldenrod. It has soft wing covers that are dull yellowish-orange with a large black spot at the end of each. Except for its color and head being visible from above, it resembles fireflies somewhat. No chemical control is needed for this pest even when the larvae crawl indoors. Just pick them up and put them outside again.

Screens for Privacy
 Screens for backyard privacy can be provided by combining shrub borders and back yard trees. Usually wintertime privacy is not as important as summertime privacy. Thus, deciduous plants are best for much of the plant material in this type of screen. Evergreen trees used as background plants produce the best effect.

Hedges are also often used as screens. Unless wintertime screening is important, deciduous plants are best. Trimmed hedges usually bite up less space than borders, but require repeated shearing to keep them neat. Maintenance will be easier if the border and hedge plants selected will mature at about the height desired rather than taller. If they are not subject to attack by insects and diseases, if they are winter hardy for the location, and if the soil is suitable, then rhododendrons can be used widely in the acid soils of eastern Kentucky to provide dense borders and back yard plantings, but they are of doubtful value in the Bluegrass Region without special care. Chinese hollies, such as Burford, are useful in much of southwestern Kentucky, but of little value in northern Kentucky because they lack reliable winter hardiness.

Fences, either permanent or temporary, can provide the quickest screen effects. The brick or concrete block walls are permanent. For restricted backyards, they may become the background for small or espaliered plants, or flower borders. They can also serve as wind breaks and lowered fences are designed to produce a turbulence which slows strong winds and yet lets breezes through for European Deciduous.

Wooden fences can be permanent, if kept in repair, or temporary. A solid temporary wooden fence can supply the quick screen needed until shrubs and trees have become large enough to be effective. Plank or other decorative fences are often used for permanent effects with plants. Some woods, however, can also serve as wind breaks and lowered fences are designed to produce a turbulence which slows strong winds and yet lets breezes through for European Deciduous.

Time to...

Dig up most tender bulbs. However in much of Kentucky they are hardy enough to remain in place over the winter, but they need division or separation to prevent crowding and to produce best results. Of these bulbs, gladiolus is probably the most hardy, callas next, and cannas limited to the warmest third of the state. Dahlias should be dug up for best results next season, through though they will winter over at times and in favorable locations.

Stop Wendell Ford and "The Hawaiian Plan"

- Sworn affidavits reveal that Ford's candidate for Superintendent of Public Instruction supports the Hawaiian Plan of Education.

- And the Ford-Ginger Hawaiian Plan would also put higher property taxes on you.

Hunting & Fishing

Perhaps, the most rugged hunting in Kentucky is offered by the ruffed grouse whose numbers are greatest in a tier of 33 Eastern Kentucky counties. Those rough mountains contribute much to the difficulties of grouse hunting and the hardness of this mountain, woods bird poses more problems than the terrain.

A day searching out grouse is a day well spent for the person who is in fair physical condition, but who needs ruggedness to take off a few pounds.

To follow the pathway of the grouse is to ask for the ultimate in Kentucky hunting. The grouse, a wily bird that seems to anticipate the hunter and his dog's every move, prefers second-growth timber stands in high altitudes.

The roughest areas, those furnishing food and cover, are his home. If the food is available on a plateau halfway up a mountain, that's where he'll be. If abandoned cropland tracts have produced some berries and succulent buds, he'll be in the valleys, and if acorns and beechnuts are to be found high on the mountaintops then that's where the hunter is apt to encounter the grouse.

Seeking out the grouse is only half of the contest. Bagging him is something else again. On given days he'll sit tight when hunter and dog appear and will be most difficult to flush. On other days he'll "come up" for an abundance of the dogs and fall away for 100 to 200 yards before sitting down again. He'll invariably put a tree between himself and the hunter and if a man is to bag his quarry he must be sharp of eye and quick on the trigger.

Harvested, the grouse offers delicious meat, near the top of a gourmet's list of fine foods.

All in all, the grouse is a majestic bird, admired by all hunters.

NOTICE

This is to advise the Citizens of Mt. Vernon that the following letter was received from E.D.A., in regard to lowering the Water and Sewer rates; Also an increase in Minimum Gallons of water from 2,000 to 3,000 gallons.

Dear Mayor:

In reply to your letter, regarding the possibility of a reduction in the water and sewer rates for your community, your request was passed on to our Financial Review Branch for their analysis. After careful study they advise that a rate reduction at this time is not possible nor is it anticipated that a rate reduction could be contemplated in the foreseeable future. This same decision applies to an increase of minimum gallons from 2,000 to 3,000.

Sincerely,

PROPOSED PICNIC SHELTER

Construction Scheduled For Levi Jackson State Park

Parks Commissioner S.W. Palmer-Ball today announced plans for construction of a large meeting hall complex and covered picnic shelter at Levi Jackson State Park. "I feel," said Commissioner Palmer-Ball, "this structure will provide both the park and surrounding communities a welcome addition to an already fine camping area."

"Because of increased visitation and tremendous local enthusiasm we are proposing more recreational facilities for Levi Jackson. This building is only a start of a large capital investment."

The building will contain approximately 6,000 square feet, with the ultimate capacity to seat more than 350 persons.

Special design factors include an open-pit style fireplace and walls allowing for displays or slide projection.

The building will also include rest rooms and a utility room. Palmer-Ball said Levi Jackson, which is the largest day-use park in the system with more than 1,500,000 annual visitors, has earned the right to join the "priority park" list.

"We are currently surveying and evaluating 600 acres of park land east of Kentucky 23 adjoining Palmer 4-H camp with the aim of giving the park definite areas for day-use and overnight development," the Commissioner said.

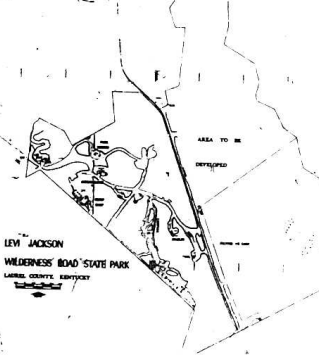

"Of course as the usefulness of the park is expanded, more employees may be added as required by increased attendance."

One idea under study for the park is a historical interest trail system centered around the historical Levi Jackson cemetery and museum.

Continued development of the park will provide additional revenue for surrounding communities, according to Palmer-Ball.

"The longer we can keep tourists in the area, the more money they spend with local business," he added.

Parks planners noted that Levi Jackson would soon become a major stop-over for the tourist trade. The area, which is already linked to I-75, is also included in a long-range transportation study which will tie the entrance of the park to the Daniel Boone Parkway, an east-west route, currently under construction.

This headed a story involving a Kentucky registrant who had been drafted because inadvertently he had seen as signed a wrong lottery number by the draft board.

We re-emphasize that every Kentucky registrant may be assured every effort has been and will continue to be made by his local board to give him fair and equal treatment with his peers. We strongly urge each young man with a low RSN, if in doubt to check with the local board to reassure himself that there has been no error to the assigning of the lottery number. We think this step will eliminate a later headline of "Sorry, wrong number."

After a pledge of no new taxes, the Republicans added a five cents sales tax and more than doubled your vehicle license fees. What can you expect if they get in again?

Wendell Ford has always been on the side of the taxpayer. He voted to get the tax removed from prescription medicine and farm implements. Attention: Mr. John Alden

Gentlemen:

November 2, 1971 is a significant date for all Kentuckians. On that date Kentucky voters will have an opportunity to chart a progressive course for our Commonwealth in the years ahead. I think they are going to do just that. They are going to elect Wendell Ford as Governor, Julian Carroll as Lieutenant Governor, the entire Democratic State Ticket and an overwhelming majority in both Houses of the General Assembly.

Because I believe so strongly in the promise held out to Kentucky by the Democratic Party and its candidates, I want to assure you that I shall be campaigning as vigorously as I can to bring about the victory.

The Ford-Carroll ticket will provide the vigorous, far-sighted and energetic leadership our Commonwealth so desperately needs to overcome the problems now facing her. With that leadership confirmed by Kentucky voters, the Commonwealth will surely take its place in the front rank of States in the years to come.

Best wishes,

Sincerely,

Carl D. Perkins, M. C.

Congress of the United States
House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

September 9, 1971

Dear Fellow Kentuckian:

November 2 is a very important day on the calendar. On that day we decide who will be the leaders of our Commonwealth for the next four years.

Wendell Ford and Julian Carroll head a ticket of capable and experienced leaders. Thelma Stovall, Ed Hancock, Drex Davis, Mary Louise Foust, Lyman Ginger, Wendell Butler, and Frances Jones Mills are devoted to serving the people of Kentucky.

Wendell Ford, Julian Carroll, and their running mates will fight for the rights of the people of Kentucky.

The real issue in every election is people. We owe it to ourselves and to all the people of Kentucky to elect Wendell Ford, Julian Carroll, and all our fine Democratic Candidates. They'll do the job for us in the next four years--let's do the job for them on Election Day.

Sincerely,

ROMANO L. MAZZOLI
Member of Congress

Congress of the United States
House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

To The Voters of Kentucky:

It has been my pleasure to work with the Democratic candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, Wendell Ford and Julian Carroll, in the interest of promoting Kentucky through the years.

They are dedicated men, who are knowledgeable and experienced in the affairs of State Government where they have served in responsible positions of leadership. Wendell Ford and Julian Carroll would give all Kentuckians the efficient, honest and progressive administration which is basic, if we are to move Kentucky forward in the crucial years ahead.

Sincerely yours,

Frank A. Stubblefield
Member of Congress

Congress of the United States
House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

On November 2 the voters of the Commonwealth of Kentucky will have an opportunity to cast their votes for an outstanding group of candidates who will, upon being elected, render excellent service and bring honor and distinction to our Commonwealth.

Our candidate for Governor, Wendell H. Ford, will make an outstanding Governor. He has the necessary legislative experience, ability and training to fill this office with distinction and will establish a superb record as Governor of our State.

Julian Carroll, in addition to his legislative experience, is an eminent lawyer and is well prepared to serve as Lieutenant Governor of Kentucky.

Dr. Lyman V. Ginger is recognized throughout the United States as a great educator and will serve splendidly as Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Mrs. Frances Jones Mills is a tireless worker and has clearly demonstrated this fact down through the years. She is admirably qualified to serve as Clerk of the State Court of Appeals.

Mary Louise Foust is a noted professional auditor who has proved her ability during her service as State Auditor and will continue to do so upon being reelected to this post.

Thelma Stovall is loved by everyone in Kentucky and has established outstanding records in all of her assignments and will, in my opinion, render the same fine service as Secretary of State.

Drexell "Drex" Davis is well established in politics in Kentucky and is recognized throughout the state as a dedicated public official. He will perform the duties of State Treasurer in an excellent manner.

Wendell P. Butler, our nominee for Agriculture Commissioner, has a solid record upon which to run and will again carry out the responsibilities of this office most effectively.

Ed Hancock is one of Kentucky's great lawyers and will serve as Attorney General in such a manner as to soon become recognized as one of our outstanding lawyers to serve in this post.

We should get the vote out and elect our entire Democratic ticket consisting of all of those named above, together with all of the Democratic candidates for the House of Representatives and the State Senate.

Vote the straight Democratic ticket. We will have a great victory on November 2.

Regards,

William H. Hatcher

Primary foes together

Combs endorses Ford at Democratic rally

By BILL BILLITER
Courier-Journal Staff Writer

Former Gov. Bert T. Combs last night told a cheering Democratic fund-raising rally in Louisville that Lt. Gov. Wendell Ford is a man of "ability" and "integrity" and that he unqualifiedly supports Ford for governor.

Ford defeated Combs for the Democratic nomination for governor in the May 25 primary, and since that time, Combs has appeared on stage with Ford several times, but never mentioned him by name.

"I didn't say specifically I was for Wendell Ford, but I say it now," Combs told those attending the $25-a-plate "Rally Round the Rooster" rally at Louisville's Convention Center.

The audience roared with applause as Combs mentioned Ford's name. Combs wryly noted that Ford had once been his executive assistant "and there have been times when I feel I trained him too well."

Combs said Ford "is a tremendously hard worker, and take it from me, he's a hell of a campaigner." Combs then warmly praised Ford, saying: "He has experience and ability; he has integrity, and what is very important, he is the choice of Democrats across this state.

"I introduce to you the man who is going to be your next governor, the honorable Wendell Ford."

Ford thanked Combs for the "overwhelming" introduction, then proceeded to deliver a speech that sharply criticized Republican Gov. Louie B. Nunn, GOP gubernatorial nominee Tom Emberton and the national Republican Party.

In denouncing "Nunn and Tommy," Ford predicted that Democrats in Kentucky would sweep this year's election and win "by no less than 100,000 votes" on Nov. 2.

Ford spoke at the fund-raising dinner at Convention Center after a $100-a-person reception held at Stouffer's Louisville Inn. During the dinner, House Speaker Julian Carroll, the Democratic nominee for lieutenant governor, and all other Democratic candidates for state-wide office were presented to the audience.

Carroll delivered a fiery speech roasting the Republican administration, and his speech was frequently interrupted by applause and shouts of "Give 'em hell, Julian."

Ford's speech also assailed the Republican administration. Ford said Nunn had prohibited the Kentucky GOP from having an "open" primary last spring.

"We saw, during the primary, Republicans denied their own freedom of choice at the polls, a denial that places the Republican nominee under single domination," said Ford.

"My opponent (Emberton) owes his nomination not to the people, but to the special interests of the Nunn administration. My opponent will be obligated and responsive not to the people, but to the special interests of the Nunn administration.

"Wendell Ford's obligation will be to every Kentuckian," Ford added.

Ford said a Democratic victory in Kentucky would signal to the nation the beginning of a "dump Nixon" movement in 1972. Ford criticized President Nixon's economic record, saying "the little people were first in a squeeze and now they're in a freeze."

In predicting a 100,000-vote victory in the gubernatorial race, Ford said, "I can hear the thunder! I can hear the rooster crow!"

Tax Relief From Republicans?

NO WAY

Reduce Auto Tags?
NO!
Louie Nunn Raised Them From $5.00 to $12.50

Question
Are there any service charges or fees, such as for auto license tags, that you think should be increased or decreased?
Answer
EMBERTON — "No, I know of no license fees or any others that I'm recommending any change in."

Reduce Income Taxes?
NO!

Question
"Do you believe any changes should be made in the state's present income-tax arrangement, such as possibly abolishing exemption of the amount paid in federal income tax?"
Answer
EMBERTON — "At this point in time, I see no reason why there should be any necessity for it (changes in the state's income-tax arrangement)." He said there are no changes that he would advocate.

City - County Revenue - Sharing?
NO!

Question
Do you favor state government's sharing some of its tax money with city and county governments, regardless of fate of proposed federal revenue sharing?
Answer
EMBERTON — Under our present structure, I don't see how it (state-local revenue sharing) can be worked out."

All questions and answers are printed verbatim from an interview with the candidates in the Louisville Courier-Journal.

New Taxes?
YES!

Question
Do you support any new tax such as a severance tax?
Answer
EMBERTON — "I favor the levying of a severance tax on coal, oil and natural gas which is mined in Kentucky." He said Kentucky is rapidly becoming the nation's No. 1 coal producer and a severance tax on coal "would give an expanded source of revenue as we move up the ladder of coal producers."

Hundreds Employed Since The Freeze

WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 25, 1971

State employes top 30,000 mark again

By WILLIAM BRADFORD
Associated Press

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The total number of state employes has climbed past the 30,000 mark again, about 300 more than when Gov. Louie B. Nunn ordered a freeze and cutback in jobs two years ago. As of the quarter that ended June 30, Personnel Department records show 26,455 permanent full-time employes, 2,187 seasonal full-time workers and 2,085 others, for a total of 30,727. The "other" category covers temporary, emergency and part-time (both permanent and seasonal) employes. For comparison, the figures for June 1969—shortly before Nunn ordered his freeze and cutback—were 25,599 permanent, 3,208 seasonal and 1,588 other, for a total of 30,395.

And when compared with four years ago—during the final year of former Democratic Gov. Edward T. Breathitt's term—the latest figures show a 2,738 increase in total number of employes. Broken down by category, the 1971 figures show 2,836 more permanent employes than in 1967, 785 fewer seasonal workers and 687 more other employes. Every four years there are charges that the incumbent governor is handing out jobs as favors to drum up support for the candidacy of the man that governor would like to succeed him. The total number of state employes now as compared to four years ago reflects an average increase of 2.5 per cent a year, but the boost over last year's total of 28,774 represents a 6 per cent jump. The seasonal and other jobs are those most often mentioned as being handed out for political gain since the control over them is not so strict as over permanent full-time jobs under the merit system. But the 4,272 employes now in such jobs actually number 100 fewer than was the case four years ago. The high point in employes in those two categories was 4,798 in 1969, when the only statewide political race was for auditor. In that contest, Democrat Mary Louise Foust defeated James Thompson, the Republican Nunn had appointed to the post upon the death of Clyde Conley. The total number of seasonal and other

(not permanent or full-time) employes dropped from 4,370 in 1967, Breathitt's last year, to 3,068 in 1968, Nunn's first year. Then it went to 4,798 in 1969, dropped to 3,436 in 1970 and rose to 4,272 this year. The total number of permanent full-time employes for that period went from 23,619 in 1967 to 23,005 in 1968, 25,599 in 1969, 25,416 in 1970 and 26,455 this year. The decline in all categories for 1968 was a result of mass firings of Democratic employes—up to around 4,000—during the early months of Nunn's Republican administration for alleged political activity. The state Personnel Board subsequently ordered various state agencies to reinstate more than 100 or those on the ground that their alleged political involvement had not been proved.

FRANKFORT, Ky.—State agencies so far have hired 262 persons under the federally financed Emergency Employment Act designed to fight unemployment, the program's state director said yesterday.

Market Declines Sharply

NEW YORK —Concern and confusion about Phase Two of President Nixon's economic program kept the stock market on the defensive Wednesday.

Flue-Cured Leaf Prices In Decline

From AP Dispatches
Grade prices for flue-cured tobacco continued downward Thursday as sales ended for the week on the Eastern, Middle and Old Belt markets in North Carolina and Virginia.

The Federal-State Market News Service reported that averages for most leaf grades were lower again on the Eastern Belt, but only small fluctuations occurred for the remaining grades.

1970: It was a very bad year for many state farmers

By JAMES R. RUSSELL
The Courier-Journal Farm Editor

A farm income analysis by University of Kentucky agricultural economists shows that 1970 was near disastrous for many of the state's farmers.

The corn blight, higher feed costs, low hog prices, unfavorable weather and the 10 per cent burley tobacco allotment cut were tagged in the new UK study as the major factors contributing to the greatly reduced profit. These factors sent many farmers to their savings accounts or to lending agencies.

The report dealt with 319 farms in 65 counties. The farms, with an average investment of $350,000, are enrolled in the Kentucky Farm Analysis Groups which are directed by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture.

The final figure is what economists call the net management return, or the "reward" for the farmer taking the risk of being in business for himself.

It showed that income for each of the farms in the survey was just a little over $3,600 in 1970 compared with an average of $14,000 in 1969.

Here's how the program works and the procedures used in determining farm profits:

Earnings are figured on net farm income, to which is added the value of farm products consumed by the family, the value of livestock, grain and other farm products on hand at the end of the accounting period and depreciation of assets along with any other changes in total assets.

From that figure, interest on the assets is subtracted at a rate which would be equivalent to the money the farmer would receive if he sold out and invested in sound common stocks. Also deducted in the record keeping is a charge of $300 per month for family labor.

The economists say that the net management return added to the salary for family labor may be compared with the salary a non-farmer gets from a factory or office job.

Economists point out that in 1970, the six areas in the state involved in the study ranged from 4.91 per cent to 2.12 per cent return on invested capital and managerial ability of the farmer. By comparison, wise investment in common stocks would have netted 7 to 8 per cent return, the economists said.

They add that the farmers in the analysis group are among the top half in efficiency and management ability. Farmers with less efficiency and management ability are in "sad trouble" and can only hang on as long as their capital lasts, the economists said. If land values don't continue to rise, giving these farmers added credit base, the marginally efficient farmer will be in serious trouble, the economists said.

The report shows that Bluegrass farmers were hardest hit in 1970. Twenty-seven farms in the study showed a net management loss of $6,180 for 1970 compared to a loss of $4,282 for 1969.

The 10 per cent cut in burley tobacco allotments was a factor in the lower profits. The cut, the report says, counter-

State's mine safety record called worst in the nation

By JOE WARD

Courier-Journal Staff Writer

LEXINGTON, Ky.—The director of the federal Bureau of Mines told Kentucky coal mine operators here yesterday that the commonwealth's coal mine safety record is "the worst of any major coal-producing state in the nation."

The director, Dr. Elbert F. Osborn, called the fatality rate in Kentucky's small coal mines "deplorable," and said the state's larger coal mines "have not been doing well either."

He said Kentucky's underground mine fatality rate through the first eight months of this year is 1.64 per million man-hours, which he said is "getting close to twice the national rate of .94" and "approaches three times the rate for all underground coal mines" in West Virginia.

Osborn indicated that the weight in the high over-all rate comes from a 3.47 per million man-hours rate in the small coal mines, but he noted that the state's large mine rate is 1.64, itself higher than in nearby coal states.

The bureau director blamed the high fatality rate on miners' "failure to adjust to changing conditions and failure to follow time-honored safe-mining practices."

Osborn's audience, members of the Kentucky Coal Association attending their annual business meeting, did not react outwardly during the speech but at least one man challenged his figures privately afterward.

Robert Holcomb, a Pike County coal operator and spokesman for area coalmen, said the Kentucky Mines Department had told him it doesn't have man-hour figures for the first eight months

$445,911 bid to repair KY 15 section never formally opened to the public

By ANNE PARDUE

Courier-Journal Staff Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The state Highway Department yesterday received one bid—for $445,911—to resurface a six-mile stretch of KY 15 in Perry and Knott counties that has not been officially opened to through traffic.

And Highway Commissioner B. E. King repeated that the state hopes to collect the "whole amount or a portion of damage" caused by coal trucks tearing up the road, either through negotiation or lawsuits.

If the damages cannot be collected, payment by state and federal governments will be committed once a contract for the bituminous resurfacing is awarded, King said.

King said a decision on yesterday's bid is not expected until next week. The bid was submitted by Adams Construction Corp. of Pikeville.

Don Duff, deputy commissioner for administration, said the department's legal and engineering staffs are currently accumulating information preparatory to filing suit for damages done by coal trucks on the six-mile stretch of KY 15.

Duff said the department has asked the Department of Motor Transportation for accumulative listings of citations issued to overweight vehicles to determine who has been hauling and for whom.

Further, Duff said a department attorney and engineer inspected the road

Wednesday to obtain their personal views.

Duff said no lawsuit has been drawn since the department is still in the information-gathering stage. One factor in a suit would have to be an allegation of what damages have occurred, he said.

Duff said yesterday's bidding involved 6,068 miles of KY 15 from near Jeff to near Red Oak Branch, of which 4 miles is a new section and not involved in the resurfacing.

The six-mile section originally was paved two years ago, and had not yet been opened to traffic this summer because of work being done by the Army Corps of Engineers in connection with an impoundment on Carr Fork. But the six-mile Jeff-Red Oak section had been opened to local traffic, which includes mine-to-tipple coal-truck traffic.
