Rockcastle DAR Meets With Berea Chapter

The Berea Laurel Ridges Chapter DAR met November 17, 1971 at the Annex of the Christian Church with Miss Gladys Parrish, Regent presiding and with Mrs. C.T. Harwood, Mrs. W.B. Jones, and Mrs. A.M. Hlatt as hostesses. Special guests of the chapter were Mrs. Tracy Neal, KSDAR Chairman of American Indian Committee, Mrs. Reese D. Bach, KSDAR Treasurer, both members of the Captain John Waller Chapter DAR of Lexington, and members of the Rockcastle Chapter DAR.

Mrs. Wilson Evans, vice president General NSDAR, introduced Mrs. Neal. She spoke on "The Arts and Crafts of American Indians." She said that in the past the arts and crafts had been a necessity for the Indians as they were used in trade, and are now a profitable means for the Indians to further the education of their children. Mrs. Neal asked that the members of the DAR support the Indian schools, Bacone and St. Mary's, and so enable the students to continue the heritage of their forefathers. The current NSDAR project at Bacone is the establishment of a professorship to teach the Indian students silversmithing. At St. Mary's the current Indian project is providing a recreation room for the students. DAR Chapters from the entire United States contribute to these schools to be used for tuition, scholarship, maintenance etc. She said that the Indians were an independent and proud people who did not like charity. Many Indian families contribute to the tuition of their children enrolled in these schools by giving to the schools handmade wavings and silver and beaded articles.

Mrs. Noel displayed articles of Indian jewelry and wavings explaining the materials used by various tribes. The Navaho do their jewelry in turquoise and turquoise polishing the stone very little. The Hopi work in silver alone and the Sini ironwood and silver. The Navaho have become the great craftsmen as they have had available more silver and turquoise with which to work. An Indian mother strives to teach her child pottery making at the age of four or five, breaking each piece of pottery the child completes until a perfect piece is made.

The Regent was assisted in the ritual by Mrs. Mahala Lytle and Mrs. A.M. Hlatt. Mrs. Hlatt also read a prayer in memory of Mrs. Isaac N. Odell, the last organizing member of the chapter who died November 8, 1971. The President General's Message was read by Miss Frances Moore, KSDAR National Defense Report telling of the plan before Congress to take the Panama Canal and Canal Zone from U.S. control. Miss Parrish told of the party for Veterans which the Berea Chapter held at the Berea Nursing Home on Veteran's Day. Mrs. Evans reported that the nine Junior American Citizens Clubs which she had organized at the Silver Creek School in grades 3-6 now have flags. Following the business meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Members of Rockcastle Chapter attending were Miss Janie Ramsey, KSDAR co-chairman of Genealogical Records, Mrs. Elbert Eversole, Regent, Mrs. Joe Henderson, Vice Regent, Mrs. John Lair, Chaplain, Mrs. Gilbert H. Adams and prospective member, Mrs. B.H. Parsons.

What tobacco means to you . . .

Kentucky's leading cash crop, tobacco, obviously is important to our state's farmers. What is sometimes overlooked, however, is that tobacco is equally important to the banker, the factory worker, the local businessman, the housewife, and to virtually every Kentuckian. While tobacco generates farm income of $300 million annually in Kentucky, it is estimated that the crop is worth some $1.5 billion each year to our total economy.

About 240,000 Kentucky families share in returns from the farm sale of tobacco, and with this income they buy new homes, automobiles, farm supplies, groceries, clothing, and other items. As a result, local businesses and labor are bolstered. In short, tobacco is vitally important to employment, income and economic growth in our Commonwealth. What does tobacco mean to you? A lot!

Soil-Test and Treat Fields to be Reinvigorated Now

Now is an excellent time to test soil and treat grass fields that you are planning to renovate this winter.

So make a good soil test. Divide the fields into 10- to 15-acre areas for sampling.

Selecting Corn Hybrids for Next Year

Many farmers will select next year's corn hybrids several months ahead of planting.

preferred hybrids may be exhausted so selection is delayed too long.

The most meaningful information on hybrids available to Kentucky corn growers is obtained by Kentucky research agronomists.

Use Tobacco Grower's Techniques to Show and Sell Excess Crop on Farm

Kentucky burley farmers can hold this year's excess crop and sell it on their 1972 marketing cards.

These showmen are the best tobacco farmers we have in the state, according to Ira Massie, UK Extension tobacco specialist.

for the grower who has produced in excess of 40 percent of his 1971 poundage allotment.

Here's how to do it: Strip and grade your excess crop in about as dry a state (case) as possible.

Another economically-sound procedure is to have a private plunk reedy your excess tobacco and place it in bags.

Retirement.

The end of work, or the beginning of worry?

Most people look toward retirement as a time of relaxation and enjoyment. And it can be if you prepare for it. But if you don't, it can be a time of worry. You can look back and think of a million ways that you could have saved, but didn't.

Well, there's no better time to think about retirement than now, while you're working. One easy way to save on a regular basis is by purchasing U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

Now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—on the Bonds you buy when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months Take stock in America. New Bonds pay a bonus at maturity.

John P. DeMarcus Named Vice President

John P. DeMarcus, Assistant to Governor Louis B. Nunn, has been named vice president of Northern Kentucky State College.

Dr. Frank Steely, president of Northern Kentucky State College, said DeMarcus, 33, was his own "personal choice" for the position.

"I doubt if many people in northern Kentucky know how much he has done for the school," Steely said.

DeMarcus was appointed by the governor to work on the college's development in 1968 when the school was authorized by the legislature.

Steely described DeMarcus as "a most competent" man. "I challenge anyone to find a more competent person for the job," he said.

DeMarcus is married and has two children. He holds the bachelor's degree in history and political science and the master's degree in history and public administration.

He was formerly research analyst for the Legislative Research Commission and Director for the minority office in the Kentucky Legislature. He also is author of several articles in history and political science.

DeMarcus, son of Kentucky House Minority Leader Harold DeMarcus, is married and has two children.

He holds the bachelor's degree in history and political science and the master's degree in history and public administration.

He was formerly research analyst for the Legislative Research Commission and Director for the minority office in the Kentucky Legislature. He also is author of several articles in history and political science and is a veteran of the United States Army.

The drive for toys will continue through Saturday, December 18.

Kentucky Utilities File For Rate Increase

Kentucky Utilities Company has filed with the Public Service Commission of Kentucky for an increase in its electric rates. KU serves approximately 264,000 customers in 78 counties in central, southeastern and western Kentucky. Under the proposed rates KU's average residential customer, who now uses approximately 540 kilowatt hours a month, will pay about 65 more a day.

The filing was made with the Commission in Frankfort on November 22.

W.A. Duncan, KU's president, said that the increase in revenue is necessary to meet the ever increasing cost of providing utility service so as to permit the Company to earn a fair return on the $425,000,000 investment in its present electric service facilities. Mr. Duncan also observed that the Company's construction program for the next six years will require the investment of an additional $450,000,000 in new and improved facilities, and that investor confidence that regulatory agencies will permit the company to earn a fair return on such additional invested capital will be necessary in order to enable the Company to raise funds of such magnitude.

Increases are proposed in the rates for all classes of service subject to the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission of Kentucky. The Company also expects to file with the Federal Power Commission, at a later date, for increased rates or services subject to the federal commission's jurisdiction.

Xmas Program Is Dec. 2

The Jaycees Christmas Program will be held Thursday night, December 2 in front of The Bank of Mt. Vernon on Main Street beginning at 7 p.m.

Welcome will be given by Sam Ford, Jaycees President, The Soul Seekers, led by Bro. David Woods, will present a selection of Christmas Music, and the Christmas lights will be turned on, to officially open the Christmas season in Mt. Vernon, by Mayor Ed Winstead.

The proposed rates are expected to produce approximately $14,000,000 a year in increased gross revenue to KU and after giving effect to federal, state and local taxes, the net increase to KU would amount to about $7,000,000.

LEE VERNON L. MURPHY DIES AT RESIDENCE

Frankfort Watchline

LA Gov.-elect Julian Carroll says those who see trouble ahead between him and Gov.-elect Wendell Ford should take another look.
"I intend to co-operate as a member of the team during four years of this administration," Carroll vows. He calls this an extension of his general election campaign, when "I never made a speech without asking them to vote for Wendell Ford."
He discounts talk that scars simply must be reopened from the primary when he ran with former Gov. Bert Combs.
Carroll says joining forces with Ford afterwards was a matter of "renewing an old friendship."
His view of suggestions that he should have broken away from the Democratic ticket was that it could only have pushed the party toward defeat and he asserts: "I never did think much of being president of a defunct corporation."

Practically plays a role in Carroll's present attitude too.
He says smooth working relationships will require good attitudes and compatible staffs on both his and Ford's behalf.
But Carroll adds, "I'm he who has all the marbles."
So the Paducah attorney heads into the crucial early days of the administration and its first legislative session intending "to go about the business of doing my job."
He's deeply interested in the Legislative Research Commission, which he'll head, and plans to be active in other areas.
Carroll would rather talk about that than his political future.

"I feel very strongly about age who's just been elected to office," he says. "He ought to go about the business of serving the people instead of being a candidate for another position."
But he's obviously in the running for governor in 1975 or the U.S. Senate in 1974. As he acknowledges:
"I will seek further political office."
Former Gov. Edward Breathitt says only a change in Sen. John Sherman Cooper's decision to retire can keep him out of next year's Senate race. And he isn't passing up any prospects.
He knows Gov.-elect Ford will back his campaign chairman, State Senate Majority Leader Walter "Doc" Huddleston, if Huddleston runs as he's expected to.
Breathitt says he can understand this, but he had lengthy private conversation with Ford about the situation.
No commitments, but if....

Some Republicans still can joke about hard-driving state legislator Chairman J.R. Miller.
One Highway Department employee, asked about his chance of keeping his job, said he'd probably go ahead and quit.
"Otherwise," he said, "J.R. Miller might stop the inaugural parade and come over and kick me out personally."

Carter Comments

Congressman Tim Lee Carter and kick me out personally."
With all the battles brewing for the 1972 Legislature, it may be spared any real troubles with the Ford administration's plans for reorganizing state government.
Aside from creating a Department of Urban Affairs by Statute, most of the changes will be carried out by executive action.
Realism dept. Two Nunn administration aides were assisting a public address system for an event on the patio behind the Capitol.
One, wanting to plug in the electric cord, tapped on the office window of the governor's press secretary, Larry Van Hoose, and said, "We can't do anything without power."
Van Hoose replied: "Aid don't you ever forget it."

OEI FUNDED GARDENS AID DISADVANTAGED
When someone mentions "backyard" the usual connotations don't come to Roy McDonald's mind. Instead of grass, flowers, and the like, he sees cora, tomatoes, beans, asparagus--the whole range of garden vegetables.
As Director of the Emergency Food and Medical Services (EFMS) program in Hopkinsville, McDonald has been encouraging the disadvantaged to plant gardens. Even a small plot will do, he says.

Hunting & Fishing

Most small game hunters are bent on getting into the field on the very first day of the season. Their fever is running high after a year's layoff and they figure to get into the rabbit, quail and grouse, as well as squirrels, before the other hunters "get them all."
Of course, their fears are unfounded. Actually the best hunting usually occurs after two or three weeks of the season have passed and sometimes even into the new year. During the early part of the season the hunter is disgruntled. First he is likely out of condition physically, and so are his dog, Alas, he has an itchy trigger finger and his shooting suffers.
The cover is so thick during this period that a hunter is less apt to sight his quarry as the game finds denser places in which to hide. If the weather is hot, the dog is not to "run down" after a few hours, and his master is in about the same shape.
And, in the early days every person who has any idea of hunting tries to get into the fields, causing a crowded condition. The same field may be hunted a half dozen times a day by different groups of hunters.
True, a great deal will be garnered the first day. With so many hunters in the field, the game is at a distinct disadvantage and the hunter has the edge. For instance, a once jumped rabbit that has eluded a hunter may be ousted more easily from his temporary hiding place by a second or third group. The same is true of coveys of birds. After having been shot into and scattered they may not have time to reassemble into a covey before another band of hunters and dogs invades their individual sanctuary.
So it's not all that important to get into the fields in the early days of a season. There will be plenty of game left, as other hunters, will not hurt the population a great deal.
A few years ago a leasing group in another state released a given number of rabbits in a fenced-in area in which there was sufficient food and cover and water. This was prior to the hunting season. It was determined that the rabbit-

Capitol Digest

A plan to expand the rehabilitation of public assistance recipients has been approved by Economic Security Commissioner Merritt S. Detsz Jr.

In announcing the program Detsz said "every available resource should be utilized to serve eligible welfare recipients" and "expand, improve and promote the most effective way to rehabilitate the public assistance recipient."

The Department of Education's Rehabilitation Services Division also will participate in the program.

Funds for the three-year expansion project total $1,180,000 of which $1,062,000 are federal funds.

The funds will be used to rehabilitate money recipients only. No pending cases, food stamp recipients or medical only cases will be considered.

Detsz said attention will be focused on disabled youth and adults who are receiving AFDC (Aid to Families with Dependent Children) at the time of referral for rehabilitation services.

Four jointly housed Public Assistance-Rehabilitation offices will be established under the program in paducah, Louisville, Ashland and Hazard.

About 186 persons will be rehabilitated under the program in each of its three years.

The Livingston FHA Club's Cleanup Committee decided to improve the looks of Livingston Saturday and held a town and school cleanup. On the committee are, from left: Bonnie Hellard, Anita Smith, Wanda Reed, Laura Holland, Hazel Marshall, Sharon Cameron and Beverly Carter.

but often are relied upon by public officials (or until) an issue is decided in court.

Atty. Gen. John B. Breckinridge held that records of abandoned property passed to the state are not open to a general, unlimited inspection by the public.

Instead a citizen's search of such records must be confined to those records "specifically designated" in advance by the citizens.

Another opinion stated circuit court clerks should deny newspaper reporters access to court records "where disclosure would be detrimental to the public interest."

The opinion, however, would permit disclosure in those cases where common law interest exists.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles Runyon described common law interest as that which would enable the requesting party "to maintain or defend an action (in court) for which the request or record sought can furnish evidence or necessary information."

PANEL SEEKS TO SIMPLIFY CONSTITUTIONAL REVISION

A legislative subcommittee has recommended the Kentucky Constitution be amended to provide easier machinery for revising the 80-year-old document.

The subcommittee asked the Legislative Research Commission to draft a bill for consideration by the Joint Interim Committee on Elections and Constitutional Amendments.

If approved by the committee and passed by the legislature next January, the proposal would provide for a limited call for a Constitutional Convention.

The state Constitution provides for submission of only two amendments to the voters at one time and if an amendment fails it cannot be resubmitted within five years.

It also provides that a proposal to seek a revision convention must be approved by two consecutive sessions of the legislature.

The subcommittee recommended the constitution be amended to provide that convention proposal may be approved by one session and submitted to the voters the following November.

OPINIONS WOULD LIMIT NEWSMEN'S SCRUTINY

The state attorney general's office has handed down opinions challenging the rights of public and newspaper reporters to examine public records.
